

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE present volume forms part of a series of Calendars of the Close Rolls from the reign of Edward II. to that of Edward IV. the object and character of which are explained in the Preface to the first volume for the reign of Edward II. (A.D. 1307—1313.) The text has been prepared, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, M.A., Fellow of Exeter College, Oxford. The Index has been compiled by Mr. C. H. Woodruff, B.C.L., Mr. Stevenson having assisted him by identifying most of the places.

1 EDWARD III.—PART I.

MEMBRANE 28.

Memorandum, that the king, on 24 January, to wit on Saturday before the Conversion of St. Paul, 1326[-7], caused his peace to be proclaimed and published in the city of London by the following words :

‘Whereas Sir Edward, late king of England, has, of his good will and by the common counsel and assent of the prelates, earls, and barons, and other nobles, and of all the commonalty of the realm, resigned the government of the realm, and has granted and willed that the government of the said realm shall come to Sir Edward, his eldest son and heir, and that he [Edward] shall govern, reign and be crowned king; for which reason all the magnates have done homage. We proclaim and publish the peace of our said lord Sir Edward the son, and command and prohibit firmly on his behalf to one and all, under pain and peril of disinherittance and of loss of life and limb, that no one infringe the peace of our said lord the king, for he is and will be ready to do right to one and all of the said realm in all matters and against all persons, as well to small men as to great. And if any one have anything to demand from another, let him demand it by way of action [of law], without using force or other violence.’

[Fœdera.]

Jan. 29.
Westminster.

To the sheriff of York. Order to cause proclamation to be made, immediately upon sight of the presents, of the king’s peace, the king having undertaken the government of the realm upon his father’s resignation.

[Ibid.]

By K.

The like to all the sheriffs of England and to the following :

The warden of the Cinque Ports, or to him who supplies his place.

The bishop of Durham.

The justice of Chester, or to him who supplies his place.

The justice of North Wales, or to him who supplies his place.

The justice of South Wales, or to him who supplies his place.

The justiciary of Ireland, or to him who supplies his place.

The mayor and bailiffs of Winchester.

Elizabeth de Burgo’s bailiffs of Sudbury.

The mayor and bailiffs of York.

The mayor and bailiffs of Canterbury. [Ibid.]

Jan. 28.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The prior of St. Oswald’s, Nostell has besought the king, by petition exhibited before him and his council in parliament, to cause allowance to be made to him in the debts due from him for 102*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.*, due to him from the late king for divers goods and victuals taken from him by Roger de Horsle, then constable of Bamburgh castle, for the munition of that castle, as appears by a bill under the seal of William, archbishop of York, late keeper of the late king's wardrobe, which is in the prior's possession, the prior being indebted to the exchequer for certain tenths granted to the late king: the king orders the treasurer and barons to examine William's account when he was keeper of the wardrobe, and if they find that Roger took the prior's goods and victuals to the aforesaid value for the late king's use, and that the prior has not been satisfied therefor or for any part thereof, to cause the said sum or what remains unpaid thereof to be allowed to the prior in the debts due to the exchequer for the tenths aforesaid.

By pet. of C.

To the same. Order to cause allowance to be made to Henry son of Henry de Percy in the debts due from his father for 197*l.* 11*s.* 1*½d.*, which he has prayed, by petition exhibited before the king and his council in parliament, to have allowed to him, wherein he states that Edward I. was indebted to Henry de Percy, his father, of whom he is the heir, in the aforesaid sum for the wages of the said Henry the father and his men in the aforesaid king's service in Scotland, and for recompence for his horses there lost, as appears by two bills of the wardrobe of the said king. By pet. of C.

Jan. 29.
Westminster.

To the sheriff of Nottingham. Order to pay 10*d.* a day to Richard Ofthebrok and Simon de Depyng', the king's huntsmen, whom the king is sending to that county to take large birds (vulturibus) in the king's stews and ponds in the sheriff's bailiwick, for themselves and dogs for so long as they shall stay there or until further orders.

Feb. 8.
Westminster.

To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to take into the king's hands the manor of Stapelford, which belonged to Hugh le Despenser, late earl of Winchester, who was hanged for felony, and to keep the same safely, as the king is given to understand that the sheriff has not taken the manor into the king's hands, as he ought to have done in accordance with the order of the king before he received the government of the realm to take into his hands the lands, goods, and chattels of the said Hugh.

Jan. 30.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge the executors of William de Bereford, the elder, of 76*l.* yearly, due from him to the exchequer for the custody of the manor of Halesworth, co. Suffolk, and the manor of Kettringham, co. Norfolk, and certain lands in Melton, in the same county, and of certain lands in Pudele, co. Huntingdon, and of certain lands in Weston, co. Hertford, and of certain lands in Kettringham, co. Norfolk, which belonged to John de Argenteyn, deceased, tenant in chief of the late king, in whose hands they were by reason of the minority of John, son and heir of the aforesaid John, and which were extended at 72*l.* 19*s.* 10*½d.* yearly, the late king having committed the custody thereof to the said William during the heir's minority, as the late king granted the aforesaid 76*l.* yearly to Simon de Bereford, in consideration of his good service, to be received from William's executors until the heir come of age, which grant the king accepts.

To the aforesaid executors. Order to pay the said 76*l.* yearly to Simon.

To the receiver of Kaermerdyn, for the time being or to come. Order to receive from the burgesses of Kaermerdyn at the said exchequer the ferm for their town specified in the late king's commission, by virtue whereof they hold the town of the king at fee-farm, and to cause acquittances to be made to them for all payments thereof hereafter made by them, as they have besought the king by petition before him and his council in parliament to grant that they may pay their ferm to the said exchequer and may receive acquittances therefor from the king's receiver there, because express mention is not made in the said commission whether the ferm ought to be paid to the exchequer of England or to the exchequer of Kaermerdyn.

By pet. of C.

Feb. 7. To the sheriff of Northumberland. Order to cause the prior of Brynkeburn to have seisin of 6 acres of land and of a moiety of a toft in Overtirwhit, which John son of Richard de Overtirwhit held, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that the land and moiety have been in the late king's hands for a year and a day and are still in the king's hands, and that John, who was hanged for felony, held them of the said prior, and that Bartholomew Benet has had the year and day thereof and ought to answer to the king therefor.

Feb. 10. To Matthew Broun, escheator in cos. Lincoln, Rutland, and Northampton. Order not to intermeddle further with 20*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* of yearly rent in Wellesby of the abbot of Meaux, and to restore to the abbot any issues thereof received by him, the escheator having certified the late king that he took the rent into the late king's hands because it was found by an inquisition taken before him that the abbot acquired the aforesaid rent in the town of Olee (sic) issuing in the town of Wellesby to him and his house from the abbot of Wellou by a charge that the abbot of Wellou made to him without the late king's licence, as it appears to the king by the letters of king Edward I. that he granted licence to the abbot of Meaux of that time to give and assign the said manor of Wellesby to the abbot of Grymesby, who is also called the abbot of Wellou, and the king understands that, by the agreement then made between the abbots, the manor of Wellesby was charged with the said rent.

Feb. 3. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance to be made to Walter de Shependon, in the debts due from him to the exchequer, for 30*l.* 5*s.* 1*d.*, to wit 27*l.* 11*s.* 9*d.* which the late king owed to him for his fee and summer robe for the 7th year of the said king's reign, and for recompence for his horses lost at Striweilyn on 24 June, in the aforesaid year, and for 4 marks for his summer robe for the 11th year of the reign, as appears by two bills of the late king's wardrobe in Walter's possession, as Walter has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause such allowance to be made to him. By pet. of C.

Feb. 4. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Like order for the allowance to Walter de Waldeshof of 61*l.* 14*s.* 4*d.*, which the late king owed to him for money paid by him when he was the late king's butler for the latter's expenses, as appears by two bills of the wardrobe in his possession. By pet. of C.

MEMBRANE 27.

Feb. 2. Philip de Cesterfeld, imprisoned at Notingham for the death of John de Westminister. Mamsfeld, has letters to the sheriff of Nottingham to bail him until the first assize.

Feb. 5. To John de Barewe. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Lurtport near Hereford, co. Hereford, which is in his custody by the late king's commission, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by Richard de Baskervill, Roger de Baskervill, and John de la Felde by the late king's order that William Wyne held the manor on the day of his death of Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee, and that he held no lands of the late king in that county on the day of his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, and that his son John is his next heir and was aged seven years on 12 June, in the 18th year of the late king's reign.

Feb. 10. To John de Blomvyll, escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Westminister. Huntingdon, Essex, and Hertford. Order to pay to Richard le Mareschal

25*l.* out of the issues of his bailiwick for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the late king's grant, of 23 September, in the 11th year of his reign, of 50*l.* yearly by the hands of the escheator this side Trent, in aid of Richard's maintenance, who is wholly ruined by the Scotch rebels.

Feb. 13. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance Westminster. to be made to the aforesaid escheator for 25*l.* paid by him in execution of the preceding order.

Feb. 12. To the sheriff of Stafford. Order to cause a verderer for the forest of Westminster. Cannok, in that county, to be elected in place of Thomas de Rolleston, who is insufficiently qualified.

Feb. 13. To the sheriff of Sussex. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Westminster. elected in place of Robert de Lockesle, who is insufficiently qualified.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to account with H. (sic) bishop of Hereford, whom the late king lately sent to the Roman court for certain of his affairs, for his costs and expenses about the said affairs and for the expenses of himself and household, and to allow to him the costs and expenses about the said affairs and 4 marks daily for the expenses of himself and household whilst in the said service, as was ordained by the late king and his council at another time. By C.

Feb. 18. To John de Roche and Robert de Norton. Order to come to the king Westminster. in England upon sight hereof, although the late king committed to them the custody of the islands of Gernereye, Jereseye, Serk, and Aurneye by his letters patent. By K. on the information of the bishop of Winchester.

Feb. 6. To John de Boseham, keeper of the manors of Eybury and La Nayte near Westminster. Westminster. Order to cause the aforesaid manors to be delivered to the abbot of Westminster, and to remove thence the goods and chattels of the late king, causing them to be kept safely until further orders, as the abbot has shewn, by his petition before the king and his council, that whereas the late king accepted the abbot to the temporalities of the abbey and restored the same to him on 27 January, in the 10th year of his reign, he nevertheless retained the aforesaid manors, which are parcels of the temporalities aforesaid and of the glebe of the church of St. Peter, Westminster, and he has prayed the king for remedy, and it fully appears in certain letters patent of the late king made to the abbot and convent for the indemnity of their right in the manors, which have been produced before the king's council, that the late king held the said manors to have certain easements therein by the will and permission of the abbot and convent only, and had and claimed no other estate therein. By pet. of C.

Feb. 7. To Adam le Boghier, keeper of the manors of Hathelseye and Carleton Westminster. and of other lands of Nicholas de Stapelton in co. York, in the king's hands for certain causes. Order to restore to the said Nicholas the manors and lands aforesaid, together with the issues of the same and the arrears of farms that did not come to the late king's hands, Nicholas having shewn by petition before the king and his council that whereas he made fine with the late king, because he was a member of the household (familiaris) of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, in 2,000 marks to save his life and to have restoration of his lands, which were then taken into the late king's hands, and for recognition of the trespass committed by him, as was charged upon him, he obliged himself and his heirs and all his lands to the said king for the payment of two tuns of wine yearly to the exchequer for ever, nevertheless his lands and tenements and the charters and muniments touching them have always been in the late king's hands from that time, and are still in the king's hands, and he has prayed the king to cause his lands, charters and muniments to be restored to him; as the king wishes to accede to this request, because it was agreed and granted, by the assent of the prelates, earls, barons, and proceres and whole community of the realm, in the present parliament at Westminster that all the lands that were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel (querelle) of the aforesaid earl shall be restored in full, together with the issues thereof and the arrears of fermes that have not come to the late king's profit. By pet. of C. [10041.]

Feb. 7.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the aforesaid Nicholas to be discharged and acquitted of the said fine of 2,000 marks and of the rent of two tuns of wine yearly, in accordance with his petition before the king and his council, as the king wishes to accede to his request, because it was agreed and granted in the aforesaid parliament that all fines, ransoms, and obligations made by reason of the said quarrel shall be annulled and cancelled. By pet. of C. [10041.]

To Henry de Threlkeld, keeper of the lands of the aforesaid Nicholas in co. Westmoreland. Order to restore the said lands (in the same words as the preceding order to Adam le Boghier).

The like to the following keepers:

The keeper of certain lands of Nicholas in co. Surrey.

Thomas Deyvill, keeper of the manor of Oustwyk and other lands of Nicholas in co. York.

John de Kilvyngton, keeper of the manor of Wath and of other lands of Nicholas in the same county.

John de Lancastria, keeper of the manor of Eston and of other lands of Nicholas in co. Lancaster.

The keeper of Suth Duffeld belonging to Nicholas in co. York.

Feb. 7.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Like order to the preceding to discharge and acquit Adam de Everyngham of Birkyn of 250 marks, the remainder of a fine of 400 marks made by him with the late king to save his life and to have his lands again, because he was of the household (familiaris) of the aforesaid earl. By pet. of C. [8158.]

The like in favour of Robert de Raygate for his fine of 5 marks, whereof he paid 6s. 8d.

Feb. 7.
Westminster.

To the keeper of the lands of the honour of Pontefract. Order to restore to Robert de Raygate 200 sheep, taken into the late king's hands and delivered to the keeper because Robert was of the household of the aforesaid earl, as he has shewn, by petition before the king and his council, that whereas he made fine with the late king in 200 marks for the above reason, to save his life and have his lands, and paid that sum to the late king, the keeper defers delivering the aforesaid sheep to him, wherefore he has prayed the king for a remedy. By pet. of C.

Feb. 16.
Westminster.

To John de Insula, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to deliver to the chaplains celebrating divine service in the king's chapel of the castle bread, wine, and oil, and other small necessities for the maintenance of divine service.

Feb. 3.
Westminster.

To the bailiff of Holderness. Whereas the king learns by inquisition taken by Robert de Hedon and Robert de Burton by the late king's order that the men of Hedon are free burgesses, and that they and their ancestors from time out of mind have held in free burgage, and that they have used the liberties and free customs belonging to a free borough, and Edward I. had no oven (furnum) in the town at the time when it came to his hands, and that each burgess had, and had power to have, at his will an oven to bake bread for sale and for his own use until Thomas de Normanvill, sometime bailiff of Holdernessee, to wit in 16 Edward I., erected an oven there, and demised it at ferm to Henry le Taillour, then bailiff of that town, and that Henry distrained, by the coercion and colour of his bailiwick and not of right, the men of that town, both burgesses and others, to bake bread for sale at the said oven; the king orders the bailiff of Holdernessee not to distrain the burgesses of Hedon to bake at the king's oven aforesaid against their will.

By p.s.

- Feb. 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to pay 100 marks Westminster. to the prior of Ware, in payment of the sum lent by him to the late king, who received the money on 10 July, in the 13th year of his reign, by the hands of J. bishop of Winchester, then his treasurer, and by the hands of the chamberlains of the exchequer, which sum the late king ought to have paid to the prior at Martinmas following or to have allowed it to the prior in the tenth or other contributions due from the prior, as appears by the late king's letters patent in the prior's possession, and the money has not been paid or allowed to the prior, as he says, the prior having besought the king by petition in parliament to cause payment of the said sum to be made to him.

MEMBRANE 26.

- Feb. 11. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the Winchester. burgesses of Newcastle-on-Tyne to have respite until Easter next and for two years from then for the debts due from them to the exchequer for divers victuals sold to them in the late king's time, as the king wishes to shew them special grace, they having suffered much damage for some time by the frequent comings of the Scots into those parts.

By pet. of C.

The like in favour of the following:

The men of co. Northumberland.

The men of Cumberland.

The citizens of Carlisle.

The men of co. Westmoreland.

By pet. of C.

- Feb. 10. To the same. Order to allow to Richard de Wygornia, king's clerk, Westminster. keeper of the king's mine of Birlond, co. Devon, in his account at the exchequer 102*l.* 14*s.* 0*d.* and 17*l.* 6*s.* 0*d.*, which he delivered by the king's order in silver plates and in counted money respectively to Queen Isabella, the king's mother, by the king's order, the king having granted the same to her.

By p.s. [67.]

- Feb. 5. To Anthony de Lucy, keeper of the lands that belonged to Andrew Westminster. de Harcla in the manor of Penreth. Adam son of Robert de Penreth has shewn the king by his petition in parliament that he sought from the late king, by petition before him and his council, a messuage and a carucate of land in Penreth, whereof John de Harcla had disseised him and whereof John had enfeoffed Andrew de Harcla, his brother, together with other lands that belonged to John, which messuage and land came to the late king's hands by the forfeiture of the said Andrew and are now in the king's hands, and the late king appointed Henry de Malton, Robert de Barton, and John de Skelton to make inquisition concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition taken before the said Robert and John that Adam was seised in his demesne as of fee of the messuage and land until the said John de Harcla, half a year before his death, disseised him thereof, and that John made a charter to Andrew of the said messuage and land and of all other lands that he had elsewhere, and that John died before Andrew had full seisin of the messuage and land or of the other lands, and that

Andrew nevertheless put himself in seisin in the said messuage and land immediately after John's death, and held them thus until he was convicted of enmity and rebellion against the late king, and that the messuage and land were taken into the late king's hands by reason of Andrew's rebellion, and that they are now in the king's hands, and that Adam did not remit or quit-claim his right in the messuage and land to John or to Adam, and did not change his estate therein in any manner, wherefore Adam has prayed the king to restore the messuage and land to him: the king orders the keeper to deliver the messuage and land to Adam, as he finds the premises are true, the inquisition having been inspected and examined by his council in parliament.
By pet. of C. [3264.]

Feb. 10. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to cause a coroner for that county Westminster. to be elected in place of William le Horder of Southampton, who is insufficiently qualified.

Feb. 15. To the sheriff of York. Order to cause a verderer for the forest of Westminster. Pykeryng to be elected in place of William Thurnef, deceased.

Feb. 16. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order not to compel Westminster. Matthew Broun, the late king's escheator, to account at the exchequer for the issues of the temporalities of the priory of Freston, which is a cell of the abbey of Croyland, for the time of the last voidance of the abbey, and to cause him and the abbot and prior to be discharged and acquitted of the issues at the exchequer, as the abbot has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that although the king or his progenitors had not at any time past the custody of the priory or of its temporalities at the times of voidance of the abbey, and did not receive any issues or profits from the temporalities by reason of such voidances, and the escheators did not in any way intermeddle with the priory or its temporalities, the said Matthew took the temporalities aforesaid into his hands by reason of the last voidance of the abbey, by reason whereof the treasurer and barons intend charging the escheator with the issues of the temporalities and to levy them for the king's use, and the abbot has prayed the king for remedy, and it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator by the late king's order and by certificate of the treasurer and barons made by the late king's order that the priory was not taken into the hands of the late king or of any of his progenitors at the times of voidance of the abbey, and that answer was not made to him or his progenitors for the issues of the priory by reason of the voidance of the abbey, and that the escheators or other ministers of him or of his progenitors did not intermeddle with, or receive anything from, the temporalities or other goods pertaining to the priory.

To Matthew Broun, escheator in cos. Lincoln, Northampton, and Rutland. Order not to intermeddle further with the temporalities of the priory aforesaid, and to restore the issues thereof to the said abbot and prior.

Feb. 19. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allow-

To Simon de Grymesby. Whereas Thomas, late abbot of Thornton-on-Humbre, impleaded Gervase Avenel and Joan his wife, in the 9th year of the late king's reign, by writ of right dated 18 February, in the same year, before William de Bereford and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, concerning a messuage, a mill, and three carucates of land, except two bovates, in Carleton near Basingham, the abbot claiming the tenements as the right of his church of St. Mary of Thornton, and the abbot recovered the same against Gervase and Joan by consideration of the court on the morrow of the Purification, in the 10th year of the late king's reign, without collusion between the abbot and them, as appears by the record and process of the suit seen and examined before the king and his council in parliament, and abbot Thomas was put in seisin of the tenements by virtue of the above consideration by the late king's writ of judgment, and long continued his seisin thereof, and Master John Walewayn, the late king's escheator this side Trent, asserting that Gervase and Joan adhered to the Scots before the suing out of the said writ, disseised abbot Thomas of the tenements by order of Hugh le Despenser, who entered them after the disseisin and occupied them all his life by his power, and they are now in the king's hands by his forfeiture; wherefore the present abbot has prayed the king by his petition before the king and his council to provide a remedy; the king, wishing to be certified concerning the premises, appointed Henry de Fenton, John Daubeneye, and John de Crosholm, the younger, to make inquisition by the oath of men of the county of Lincoln in the presence of William Trussebut, who mainperned before the council to make suit for the king and his right in this behalf; and it is found by the inquisition that Gervase and Joan were at the late king's faith and peace on the days of the suing out of the writ and of the rendering of judgment aforesaid, and that abbot Thomas was seised of the tenements by virtue of that judgment for nine weeks and more, and that de Grandon, then sheriff of Westmoreland, for the residue of his account rendered at the exchequer for provisions of victuals for the late king's use by writ of the exchequer and by a tally levied at the exchequer in the name of the said Nicholas for the said money, and the said Nicholas paid the 40*l.* aforesaid to Robert de Clifford by virtue of a writ under the late king's privy seal before the said writ of the exchequer and tally came to him, and although Ranulph has not received the money and the tally remains intact in his possession, he is nevertheless charged in his account rendered in the late king's wardrobe with the aforesaid 40*l.* by the pell of the memoranda of the exchequer, by virtue of the aforesaid assignment; wherefore he has prayed the king to cause 40*l.* to be paid to him at the exchequer or an assignment therefor to be made to him, in recompence for the aforesaid 40*l.*; the king therefore orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay him 40*l.* or to cause an assignment therefor to be made to him, receiving from him the tally aforesaid. By pet. of C. [8536.]

March 6. To John de Insula, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to pay to Westminister. Gilbert Pipot, fletcher (attilliatori) in that castle, the arrears of his usual wages for the time that John has been constable, and to pay him the same henceforth.

To Walter de Friskeneye. Order to intend the holding of pleas before the king together with Geoffrey le Scrop and others appointed for this purpose. By K. & C.

March 7. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter- Westminister. meddle further with the lands of Walter de Pavely, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by William de Weston, the late king's escheator in cos. Kent, Surrey, Sussex, Kent (sic), Middlesex, and in the city of London, that he held no lands in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king.

Feb. 15. To John de Blomvill, escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Westminister. Huntingdon, Essex, and Hertford. Order to deliver to Thomas le Blount and Juliana his wife the following of the advowsons of the purparty of John de Hastyng', kinsman and co-heir of Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, which the king has assigned to them as Juliana's dower of John's purparty, her late husband: the advowson of the church of Sperham, co. Norfolk, of the yearly value of 40*l.*; the advowson of the church of Sutton, in the same county, of the yearly value of 10*l.*; the advowson of the church of Esthanigfeld, co. Essex, of the yearly value of 20 marks; the advowson of the church of Thoriton, in the same county, of the yearly value of 100*s.* By pet. of C. [13479.]

March 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to account with Westminister. John de Gisorz, late keeper of the Tower of London, for his costs and expenses about the custody, and to certify the chamberlains of what they shall find to be due to him, so that the treasurer and chamberlains may cause to be done what the king shall order in this matter, as John has besought the king to cause him to be satisfied for a hundred and a half and 3 lbs. of wax and for three tuns of wine, expended by him by reason of the said custody in addition to the other costs and expenses. By pet. of C.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to the said John what they shall ascertain by the aforesaid certificate to be due to him.

By the said pet.

March 10. To John de Flete. Order to deliver to John de Kynardeseye, Michael Westminister. de Meldon, and Elias de Stapelton, executors of the will of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, all the goods and chattels of the earl in the Tower of March 9. To Robert Baynard. Order to intend the holding of pleas before the king Westminster. together with Geoffrey le Scrop and others appointed for this purpose.

By p.s.

March 10. To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the Westminster. king. Order to admit the said Robert as their fellow for this purpose.

By p.s.

March 12. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Westminster. Eleanor, late the wife of Thomas Mauduyt, tenant in chief of the late king, a third of the manor of Wermenstre, co. Wilts, of the yearly value of 48*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.*, and a third of the manor of Westbury, in the same county, of the yearly value of 9*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.*, which the king has assigned to her as her dower.

March 14. To the same. Order not to distrain the abbot of St. Catherine-du-Mont, Westminster. Rouen, dwelling in parts beyond sea, for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king in England, as he has done fealty to the king.—Thomas Hotoft received the fealty by writ.

March 10. To the sheriff of Oxford. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Westminster. elected in place of Thomas de Grauntpoint, deceased.

To the same. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of William de Wetewang, who is insufficiently qualified.

March 12. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance Westminster. to be made to Robert de Coventre, in the debts due from him to the exchequer, for 51*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* due to him from the late king for corn taken for his use, as appears by the account of William de Melton, late keeper of the said king's wardrobe, if they find by inspection of the said account that this sum is due to Robert, who has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the said sum to be allowed to him as above, he being indebted to the exchequer in 30*l.* 19*s.* 11½*d.* of the remainder of his account for the time when he was keeper of the lands in co. Northumberland and in the bishopric of Durham that the late king caused to be taken into his hands as forfeited.

By pet. of C.

March 6. To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to cause Richard de Lungespy to Westminster. have seisin of a messuage and a virgate and 6 acres of land in Lodynton, as the king learns by inquisition that the late king caused to be taken by John Daundelyn, then sheriff of that county, that Robert de Lungespy, who was outlawed for felony, held the premises of the said Richard, and that they have been in the late king's hands for a year and a day, and that they are still in the king's hands, and that John de Sancto Mauro, late sheriff of that county, had the year, day, and waste thereof, and ought to answer to the king for the same.

March 12. To the sheriff of Hertford. Order to cause a coroner for that county to Westminster. be elected in place of Laurence de Bottele, who is disqualified by infirmity and age.

March 10. To the sheriff of Surrey. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Westminster. elected in place of Nicholas de Stafhurst, deceased.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The burgesses of Oxford have shewn the king, by petition in parliament, that whereas the late king—at the prosecution of the said burgesses by petition in parliament [6569] at Westminster, in the 17th year of his reign, suggesting that whereas they, by the charters of the king's progenitors, hold at fee-farm the town of Oxford with all liberties that the city of London has, and that emends of the breach of the assize of bread and ale in the town and suburbs have always been annexed and assigned in aid of the said ferm from time out of mind, until Edward I., about the 20th year of his reign, caused the assize to be seized into his hands, at the procurement of the chancellor and scholars of the university and of the sheriff of the county of Oxford, without the burgesses being called in judgment, since which time Edward I. and Edward II. received the profit of the assize, and that although the assize was granted to others at a rent of 100*s.* yearly to the exchequer from the time of its being taken into the said king's hands, nevertheless the burgesses were charged with the whole ferm of the town at the exchequer from the time of the taking of the assize into the said king's hands as if the assize had been in their hands,—ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer concerning the premises, and to certify him of the time, manner, and cause of the assize being taken into the hands of Edward I., and they certified that Henry III. granted and ordered by his charter that the bakers and brewers of Oxford should, on their second trespass against the assize of bread and ale, lose the bread and ale made contrary to the assize, and that the bread and ale should be forfeited to the king, and that Edward I., upon being given to understand that, after many trespasses had been made by the bakers and brewers of the town and left unpunished, the mayor and bailiffs had not made sufficient answer for the issues of the aforesaid bread and ale thus forfeited to Henry III. and to him, whereby the trespassers assumed greater boldness in offending, provided by his council that the constable of Oxford castle should receive all issues from the forfeiture of the aforesaid bread and ale, and should be charged therewith, and should answer therefor at the exchequer, and thereupon ordered the keeper of the castle to receive and answer for all such issues, and that they found nothing else in the exchequer concerning the assize aforesaid; wherefore the burgesses have besought the king to cause the said 100*s.* wherewith they are charged yearly to be allowed to them, and that they may be discharged thereof; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to have advisement by the inspection of the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer concerning the time, manner, and cause of the assize being taken into the hands of Edward I., and whether the burgesses had the assize in aid of the ferm of the town or not, and if so, by whose grant, and how, and from what time, and how much the assize used to be worth to them yearly, and how much is now answered to the king therefor, and if they find that the burgesses had the emends of the assize in aid of their ferm, and that answer is made to the king for the said 100*s.* yearly for the assize, they are then to cause due allowance thereof to be made to the burgesses according to their discretion. By pet. of C. [12989.]

To the keeper of the manor of Stretton, co. Oxford. Order not to intermeddle further with the said manor, and to restore the issues thereof from the time of the death of the aforesaid Hugh to the said James, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John Loveday and William de Sharesull, by the late king's order, that Ela de Audele, on Monday after St. Frideswide, 1 Edward I., granted to Hugh de Audele, her son, now deceased, the said manor, to him and the heirs of his body, and that Hugh continued his seisin thereof by virtue of the grant from that day until it was taken into the late king's hands with his other lands, and that it is in the king's hands solely for this reason, and that it is held of Ebulo Lestraunge and Alesia his wife, as of Alesia's right, by the service of a third of a knight's fee for all service, and that James de Audele, son of the said Hugh, is his next heir and is of full age.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The executors of the will of Thomas de Barcleie have shown the king, by their petition before him and his council, that whereas they lately had the administration of the goods and chattels of the deceased by delivery from the ordinary of that (sic) place, to wit the corn in the barns, the beasts, and divers other things in his manors, for the execution of his will, John de Hampton, late sheriff of Gloucester, John Sturmy, and others took the said goods and chattels into the late king's hands by his order, and detained them from the executors until James de Broghton, who afterwards had the custody of the castle and lordship of Berccleye by the late king's commission, occupied and sold the said goods and chattels, and levied the money thence arising for the late king's use, and detained the money in his possession, so that the executors could not have free administration thereof as they ought to have; wherefore they have besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to examine the account of the said James for the time when he had the custody of the castle and lordship, and if they find that he accounted for the goods and chattels aforesaid and paid the money thence arising to the late king, to cause the executors to have allowance for the money thus paid in the debts due from Thomas to the late king, and if James has not accounted for the goods and chattels, to cause him to come before them at the exchequer, and to cause justice to be done to the executors.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause a recognisance for 2,460*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.* made to the late king by J. bishop of Winchester to be cancelled, and to discharge the bishop of what still remains to be paid of the above sum, the bishop, after he had been promoted to the bishopric by the pope, having been hindered for a long time from receiving his temporalities by reason of certain impeachments that Master Robert de Baldok and other rivals made against him after he had offered his fealty to the late king for the temporalities, during which time the late king received the issues and profits of the temporalities in full, and the bishop made a recognisance to him for 10,000*l.* payable at pleasure in order to obtain the temporalities, for which 10,000*l.* the late king willed that he would be satisfied for 2,000*l.* and that the residue thereof should be put in respite depending upon the bishop's conduct, and afterwards, when the bishop's fealty had been taken and his temporalities had been restored, the bishop made another recognisance to the late king in the above sum of 2,460*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.* for the corn then growing in the lands of the bishopric and for divers other things, of which sum a certain part has been paid by the bishop and a certain part remains to be paid, and the bishops of London and Hereford, who were afterwards sent to the late king for certain causes, informed the king amongst other things upon their return that the late king answered, for the discharge of his conscience, that it was not his intention that anything of the said recognisance for 10,000*l.* should be taken, and he willed, for the issues and profits of the temporalities levied and received by him against conscience, that what remained unpaid of the aforesaid recognisance for 2,460*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.* shall be remitted to the bishop. The king has ordered J. bishop of Ely, his chancellor, to cause the said recognisance for 10,000*l.* in the late king's rolls of chancery to be annulled and cancelled.

Feb. 16. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the Westminster. master and brethren of St. Leonard's hospital, York, to be discharged of 90*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.* of the 190*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.* exacted from them by summons of the exchequer for tenths, tallages, and other subsidies of the time of Edward I., and to permit them to pay the remaining 100*l.* at the rate of 10 marks yearly, as the king has pardoned them the aforesaid sum and granted them such respite because the hospital, which is of his patronage, is much depressed by divers oppressions and grievances. By p.s. [123.]

Feb. 5. To the same. Order to discharge Adam de Swylington of 237½ marks, Westminster. the remainder of a fine of 1,000 marks made with the late king to save his life and to have his lands, of which sum the late king pardoned him 500 marks, as Adam has prayed the king to pardon him the said 237½ marks, he having been imprisoned at Tikhill because he was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and having made fine or ransom with the late king as above. By pet. of C.

March 3. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to William de Culpho Westminster. 17*l.* 1*s.* 5½*d.* due to him for divers things bought by him for the expenses of the household of John de Eltham, the king's brother, as appears by a bill of the treasurer in his possession, as William has besought the king to cause the above sum to be paid to him so that he may pay the men from whom the said things were bought, he having rendered his account of the expenses of the said household before the treasurer and barons by the king's order.

Feb. 16. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to deliver the town
Westminster. of Scardeburgh to the burgesses thereof, to hold it as they were wont to hold it before it was taken into the late king's hands, as they have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council in parliament, that the king's progenitors by their charters, which the late king confirmed, demised and granted the town to them at fee-ferm, rendering yearly therefor 66*l.*, by pretext whereof they and their ancestors held the town peacefully and quietly until the late king lately caused it to be taken into his hands without cause, and they have prayed the king for remedy, and it appears by the charters and confirmation aforesaid exhibited in chancery that the town was demised to the burgesses at fee-ferm as is aforesaid, and it is found by a certificate made by the chancellor before the king and his council that the late king caused the town to be taken into his hands by a writ enrolled in the rolls of chancery by these words 'for certain causes,' without any other cause being specified in the writ; which cause is adjudged as naught by the king and his council in parliament.

Feb. 12. To the steward of Gower. David Baret has besought the king, by peti-

Feb. 1. To the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk. Whereas Hugh Daudaley, the Westminster. younger, bound himself in writing and by oath to the late king that he would assist him in all things all his lifetime, and that he would not eloign himself from the said king for anything that might happen, and granted that, if he contravened any of the things contained in the said writing, the late king might take all his lands into his hands and execute the other things contained in the writing; and although the late king frequently ordered Hugh to come to him on certain days and places to obey his orders and pleasure concerning the premises, Hugh did not come, breaking the obligation and oath aforesaid; wherefore the late king ordered the sheriff of Gloucester to go in person to Hugh's manor of Thornbur[y], and to summon Hugh to be before the king at Gloucester on Friday before St. Ambrose, to wit 3 April, in the 14th year of the king's reign, to show cause why the manor should not be taken into the king's hands with all his other lands, according to the form of the deed aforesaid, and why the other things contained in the deed should not be put into execution, and to do and receive further what should be considered by the king and his council; at which day the sheriff returned to the late king that he had been to the said manor, and had caused Hugh to be summoned as aforesaid by William de Westbrok of Thornbur[y] and William de Wetawere of the same; at which day Hugh, being many times called, did not come; wherefore, the process in the matter being continued until Wednesday following, it was considered by the late king's council that all Hugh's lands, goods, and chattels should be taken into his hands, according to the form of the said deed, and the late king caused them to be taken and kept in his hands by virtue of the process and consideration aforesaid, and ordered that answer should be made to him for the issues thereof until he should cause other ordinance to be made, as appears by the rolls of the late king's chancery; and the consideration and process aforesaid, after they had been recited, examined, and discussed in the present parliament at Westminster at Hugh's prosecution, are annulled. The king orders the sheriff to restore to Hugh all his lands, goods, and chattels in the sheriff's custody.

Feb. 13. To Henry de Seccheford. Order to deliver to William de Hedersete or Westminster. to Richard de Meruheton, clerk, his substitute, by indenture the smaller part of the king's seal for receiving recognisances of debts according to the statute of merchants in the city of London, and all rolls and memoranda concerning the office in his custody, as the late king committed the custody of the said part to William, for life, by letters patent, with provision that he might execute the office by himself or by another sufficient clerk for whom he would answer, and William substituted the aforesaid Richard in his place, who executed the office until it was committed to Henry by the late king during his pleasure, contrary to the letters patent aforesaid, wherefore William has prayed the king to provide a remedy.

Feb. 8. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to Westminster. Thomas de Boulton, knight, the manor of Hildriskelf and certain lands in Galmthorp, to hold as long as the lands of Ralph, late baron of Graystok, tenant in chief of the late king, are in the king's hands, as it was found by inquisition taken by the late king's order by Thomas de Burgh, his escheator beyond Trent, concerning the lands of the said Ralph, that Ralph held the aforesaid manor in fee of John le Bygot and the said lands of Ralph de Nevill, and that the manor and lands are charged to Thomas in 20 marks, two robes, one with fur lining (pelura) and the other with linen lining (linura), and a saddle suitable for a knight yearly, to be received during his life, and it appears by another inquisition taken by the said escheator that Thomas was seised thereof by virtue of a deed made to him by the said Ralph, and that he continued his seisin thereof until Ralph's death, and the late king thereupon ordered the aforesaid Simon, then his escheator in cos. York, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmoreland, by divers writs to pay to Thomas the arrears of the aforesaid 20 marks, robes, and saddle from the time when the lands came to the said king's hands by Ralph's death, and to pay Thomas the same so long as the lands were in his custody, out of the issues of the aforesaid manor and lands, and Simon has signified to the king that he could not execute the said order, because the manor and lands thus charged with the 20 marks, robes, and saddle are extended at 12*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* only, and the issues thereof are insufficient to pay the said 20 marks, robes, and saddle yearly, and Thomas has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the manor and lands to be delivered to him in allowance of the above charge. By pet. of C.

Feb. 8. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order not to compel John Westminster. de Drokenesford, bishop of Bath and Wells, to recite his account rendered of the time when he was keeper of the wardrobe of Edward I., but to regard his account as rendered, and to appoint auditors to audit the remainder of the account that has not yet been rendered, and to cause such justice to be done to the bishop upon the rendering of his account as other keepers of the wardrobe have upon the render of their accounts, as the bishop has shewn, by his petition before the king and his council, that whereas he rendered his account of the time when he was keeper of the aforesaid wardrobe until the end of the 34th year of the reign of Edward I., before John de Insula, John de Foxle, Master Richard de Abyndon, Master John de Everdon, Adam de Lymbergh and Robert de Notingham, auditors appointed by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, and although the said auditors audited and examined the account with great deliberation and care, he was nevertheless distrained and compelled to recite all the aforesaid account by the procurement of certain of his rivals, contrary to the law and custom of account, and especially of accounts of the wardrobe, which are testified by the controller. To the same. Order to deliver to the archbishop of Rouen all his lands, fees and advowsons, and the goods and chattels found in the same, and the arrears of the ferm due to the late king for the same from Master Peter de Galiciano, as the archbishop has besought the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the premises to be delivered to him, shewing that they were taken into the late king's hands with the lands, etc. of alien prelates and men of religion of the power of the king of France in this realm, and that the late king committed the archbishop's lands to the aforesaid Peter to hold at will for a certain yearly ferm, the said king retaining in his hands the knights' fees and advowsons, and that the said king also delivered to Peter the goods and chattels aforesaid by mainprise to answer therefor at his will, and the king has restored the lands, etc., aforesaid to the archbishop by the assent of the prelates, earls, barons, and other magnates in the present parliament, and has granted to him the arrears of the above ferm. The treasurer and barons are ordered to acquit Peter and his mainpernors of the lands, goods, and chattels, and arrears of the ferm aforesaid. [Fœdera.]

Feb. 16.

To the same. Order to deliver to the burgesses of Scardeburgh the manor of Whallesgrave, to hold as they were wont to hold it, as they have shewn the king, by their petition before the king and his council, that the king's progenitors demised and granted by their charters, which the late king confirmed, the manor to the said burgesses at fee-ferm, rendering yearly therefor 25*l.* at the exchequer, and that they and their ancestors held the manor by virtue thereof from the time of the making of the demise peacefully and quietly until the late king caused it to be seised into his hands without cause, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy, and it appears to the king by the charters and confirmations aforesaid, which were shewn in chancery, that the manor was demised to the burgesses at fee-ferm as is aforesaid, and by the testification made by the chancellor before him and his council that the late king caused the manor to be seised into his hands by a writ enrolled in the rolls of chancery by these words 'for certain causes,' which cause is adjudged naught by the king and his council in parliament.

To Thomas de Warthecop, keeper of the forfeited lands in co. —, etc. (sic). Order to deliver to Ermeiarda, late the wife of John de Harcla, the manor of Whithalle and certain tenements in Ucmaby, as the king learns by inquisition taken by Thomas de Burgo, the late king's escheator, that Robert de Mulcastre enfeofed the said John and Ermeiarda jointly of the said manor and lands for their lives, with remainder to Henry their son and his heirs male, with reversion, in case he died without an heir male of his body, to the right heirs of the said John, and that John and Ermeiarda continued their seisin of the manor and lands from the time when they were enfeofed thereof by the said Robert until the day of John's death without impediment, and that immediately after John's death Andrew de Harcla, the late king's enemy and rebel, entered the manor and lands by pretext of a feoffment thereof made to him by John, and that he held them until he was captured at Carlisle, and that they were taken into the late king's hands by Andrew's forfeiture, and are still in the king's hands, and Ermeiarda has now besought the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the manor and lands to be restored to her as her right by virtue of her joint acquisition aforesaid.

To the king's keeper of the manor of Rye. Order to pay to the prior of Holy Trinity, York, the arrears of a yearly rent of half a mark from the time when the manor came to the late king's hands, and to pay him the same rent yearly until further orders, as a fine was levied in the court of Henry III., in the 36th year of his reign, before Roger de Thurkelby and his fellows, justices of the Bench, between Geoffrey, formerly prior of Holy Trinity, York, demandant, and William de Rye, tenant, concerning 30 acres of land in Rye, and between the said Geoffrey, demandant, and William, deforciant, concerning the reasonable estovers that the prior exacted to have in William's wood in Rye, by which fine William acknowledged the aforesaid land to be the right of the prior and his church of Holy Trinity, York, and the prior, for this acknowledgment, granted the land to William, to be held by him and his heirs of the prior and his successors and his church aforesaid, rendering therefor half a mark yearly for all service, suit of court, custom, and exaction, as appears by the fine, and it is found by an inquisition taken by the late king's order that all the priors or the said church were seised of the rent of half a mark by the hands of William de Rye and his heirs from the time of the levying of the fine until the manor came to the late king's hands by the rebellion of Robert de Rye, who was in the company of the earl of Lancaster, and that the 30 acres by reason whereof the prior exacts the rent are parcel of the said manor, and are in the king's hands with the remainder of the manor for the reason aforesaid, and that the 30 acres are held of the prior by the aforesaid service of half a mark by virtue of the said fine, and that they are worth 30*s.* yearly in all issues, and that the rent has not been paid from the time when the manor came to the late king's hands. detained them in his hands for three years, and presented to divers benefices pertaining to the bishop's collation by reason of the temporalities being in his hands, and caused the bishop to be impleaded by divers writs in divers places because he did not admit the persons thus presented, by pretext whereof the bishop was amerced in many ways and put to grievous issues, which amercements and issues are now exacted for the king's use by summons of the exchequer, and the bishop has besought the king to cause him to be discharged of such amercements and issues at the exchequer; the king, although the issues are by right forfeited by contumacy, wishing to shew the bishop special favour in consideration of his good service, orders the treasurer and barons to search the rolls of the exchequer concerning such issues and amercements, and to have advice, if need be, by the rolls and writs of the justices before whom the issues were adjudged to be forfeited, and to cause him to be acquitted of the said issues and amercements. [Fœdera.]

Mar. 5. To Roger de Waltham, late keeper of the late king's wardrobe. Gilbert Westminister. de Wyggeton, king's clerk, has shewn the king that although, when he was clerk of the said wardrobe, he made divers deliveries, expenses, payments, and allowances by the late king's order, and shewed the parcels of the same upon his account before the said Roger, nevertheless Roger has hitherto deferred allowing him the said parcels because Gilbert had no warrant therefor in his possession; as it is testified before the king that Gilbert made by the late king's order the deliveries, expenses, payments, and allowances contained in a roll that the king sends to Roger sub pede sigilli, the king orders Roger to view the said roll and to allow to Gilbert the parcels aforesaid.

Feb. 25. To the keeper of the manor of Sandhale, in the king's hands. Order to Westminister. pay to L. bishop of Durham the arrears of a rent of 25s. yearly from the time when the keeper received the custody of the manor, and to pay him that rent henceforth out of the issues of the manor, if he ascertain that the manor is held of the bishop by the rent aforesaid, and that the bishop and his predecessors received the rent by the hands of the lords of the manor, as the bishop has shewn to the king that the manor is held of him by the said rent as of his church of Durham, and that the keeper detains the rent from him from the time when he received the custody of the manor of the late king's commission, although the bishop and his predecessors received the rent at all times past by the hands of Roger Damori, late lord of the manor, after whose death the manor came to the late king's hands, and by the hands of other lords of the manor.

Feb. 25. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause brother Westminister. Peter Marie and Stephen Power, late keepers of the lands of the abbot of Fécamp, to be discharged of the fixed sum (certo) due from them to the exchequer for the said lands from 18 February last, when the king took the fealty of brother Peter Rogerii, abbot of Fécamp, for the lands that he holds of the king in England, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the death of brother Robert Deputot, late abbot of the said place.

Feb. 3. To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Order to admit John de Shir- Westminister. bourn to execute the office of coroner in that city as the substitute of Benedict de Folsham, the king's butler, to whom the office of coroner in the city pertains, when required by Benedict, taking the oath of office from the said John, as Benedict cannot attend to the execution of the office in person by reason of certain affairs of the king that he has in hand in divers parts of the realm, and he has substituted John in his place.

Feb. 29. To the sheriff of Kent. Anthony Usus Maris and Anthony Citron, Westminister. merchants of Genoa, have shewn to the king that whereas they lately caused certain silk cloth and other goods and wares to the value of 500*l.* to be placed in a ship of John Goliard at Sluys (Lescluse) in Flanders, in order to carry them to London to make their profit thereof, certain mariners and other malefactors in the galley of Badinus de Forde met the ship on her voyage in the water of Thames near Graveshede, and captured her by armed force, and took her with the goods in her to Wynchelse, and there divided the goods amongst themselves and had their will thereof, wherefore the said merchants have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the sheriff to cause the goods and wares of the said merchants, in whose hands soever they may be found, to be arrested, and to cause them to be kept safely without diminution until further orders, certifying the king of his proceedings without delay.

The like to the sheriff of Southampton concerning goods and wares to the value of 500*l.* taken to Portesmouth.

Feb. 24. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to pay to Mary, a nun of Aumbresbury, Westminister. the late king's sister, the arrears of 20*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* yearly for the time of the sheriff's office, and to pay her that sum yearly hereafter, in accordance with the late king's grant of 10 April, in the 10th year of his reign, of the aforesaid sum from the sheriff of the said county for her life, in part payment of the 100 marks [yearly] that he had granted to her in aid of her maintenance, which grant the king accepts. By K. & C.

Feb. 25. To Benedict de Fulsham, the king's butler. Order to cause the afore- Westminister. said Mary to have the arrears of the 10 tuns of wine yearly of the king's right prise in the town of Southampton for the time that he has been butler of the late and present kings, and to cause her to have the said 10 tuns yearly hereafter, in accordance with the late king's grant of 10 April, in the 10th year of his reign, of the 10 tuns yearly, each as of the value of 40*s.*, to her for life in part payment of the aforesaid 100 marks. By K. & C. [Fadera.]

Feb. 13. To Master Henry de Clyf, keeper of the rolls of chancery. Order to Westminister. search the said rolls and to cancel and annul all recognisances, fines, and ransoms therein made to the late king by Gilbert Talebot because he was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, as Gilbert has shewn the king, by his petition before him and his council, that he was taken and imprisoned for the above reason, and his lands, goods and chattels were taken into the late king's hands, and he acknowledged that he owed to the late king 200*l.* to save his life and 2,000*l.* and a tun of wine or 40*s.* to be paid at certain terms to have his lands again, which sums are now exacted from him by summons of the exchequer, and he has prayed the king to cause the said recognisances to be cancelled, and it is agreed in the present parliament that all fines, ransoms, and recognisances made by reason of the said quarrel shall be cancelled. The king has ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to cause the aforesaid recognisances in the exchequer by the estreats of the aforesaid rolls to be cancelled and annulled. By pet. of C. Matthew Broun, late escheator in cos. Lincoln, Northampton, and Rutland, concerning the manor of Toucestre.

April 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to receive a clerk Peterborough. to be deputed by William de Sancto Mauro, sheriff of Northampton, to make the sheriff's proffer at the exchequer upon this occasion, as the king has granted the sheriff licence to make his proffer by one of his clerks upon this occasion, in response to the sheriff's petition, setting out that he has been the king's sheriff of the said county for fifteen days only, and that he has been so hindered by the king's stay in that county and by certain other affairs of the king that he cannot come to the exchequer on the morrow of the Close of Easter next in person to make his proffer there according to custom.

March 9. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent, or to him who supplies Westminster. his place. Order to pay to Joan de Torthorald 20 marks yearly from the issues of the escheatry, as the king has granted her that sum yearly in aid of her maintenance until he shall cause other ordinance to be made for her estate.

Feb. 12. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to the Westminster. bailiffs and men of Great Yarmouth, in the debts due from them to the king, what they shall find by an account to be made with the said bailiffs and men that the latter expended by the late king's order, he having, on 26 October, in the 3rd year of his reign, sent John de Enefeld, his serjeant-at-arms, to that town to choose two good ships, each of which was to have forty men well provided with arms, in order to provision his town of St. John of Perth with victuals by the said ships, when he ordered the bailiffs and men by his writ to be aiding and intendent to the said serjeant in this matter, and that they should cause the said ships to be prepared with suitable tackle and to be provided with the said fencible men, so that the ships should be ready within eight days of the receipt of his writ and should leave that town for Berwick-on-Tweed, in order to carry the victuals from Berwick to St. John's town, and ordered them to pay the wages of the men in the ships from their leaving Yarmouth until their return thither out of the ferm of that town, as the bailiffs and men have shewn the king that

To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Whereas the late king, upon being given to understand that the society of the merchants of the Scali of Florence was dissolved, and that the merchants of the society conversing in his realm, who were bound to him and some of his subjects, merchants and others, in divers sums, intended leaving the realm furtively and secretly with their goods and to defraud the king and his aforesaid subjects of their debts, ordered the mayor and sheriffs of London to cause all merchants of the society in their bailiwick to be arrested, and to cause them to be detained safely and fittingly, and to cause all their goods, chattels, and wares and the debts due to them to be arrested and kept safely without diminution, until otherwise ordered; afterwards, because Master John de Pinibus, archdeacon of Basaz, Master Thomas de Loco, Anthony Usus Maris, and Gaduch[us] Boch', merchants dwelling in London, had mainperned before him and his council to have the bodies of Cerbius Tentini and Landus Omodei, proctors and servants of the merchants of the said society, before him or his justices at his pleasure, the said king ordered the mayor and sheriffs to supersede entirely the arrest of Cerbius and Landus, and ordained that all the goods and wares of the merchants of the Scali, appraised, or to be appraised, at their true value, and their debts should be delivered to Taldus Valoris and his fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, and to Boniface de Peruchiis and his fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi of Florence, by indentures to be made between them and the sheriffs within whose bailiwicks the goods, wares, and debts should be found concerning the same and their true value; nevertheless the goods and wares of the said merchants of the Scali found and arrested in the city of London are still in the hands of Hamo de Chigwelle, then mayor of the city, and not in the hands of Taldus and Boniface as the said Cerbius and Landus say, and Cerbius and Landus have prayed the king, by their petition before him and his council, to cause the said goods and wares in the city aforesaid to be delivered to them, by mainprise to answer to the king and their other creditors in the realm for the debts due from them, in so far as the said goods and wares and the debts due to the said merchants of the Scali are sufficient; as the aforesaid archdeacon, Anthony Usus Maris, Master Thomas de Loco, Anthony Ceteron and Anthony Marosel, merchants of Genoa, Gerard Boche, merchant of Luca, and Silvester de Riche, merchant of Florence, have mainperned before the king in chancery, by the assent and will of Cerbius and Landus, to answer to and satisfy the king and other creditors of the said society of the Scali at the king's order for the debts due to the king and their other creditors, so far as the goods and wares and the debts to be delivered to them shall suffice, the king orders the mayor and sheriffs to cause the goods, wares, and debts of the said merchants of the Scali to be released, and to cause them to be appraised before them in the presence of Cerbius and Landus and of the said mainpernors, or of their attorneys, by the oath of men of the city, and to cause them to be delivered to the mainpernors or their attorneys by indenture to be made between the mayor and sheriffs and the mainpernors or their attorneys, in order that the king and the other creditors may be satisfied therefrom in form aforesaid, sending to the king under their seals a transcript of the indenture making mention of all their proceedings in this matter.

chief of the late king as of the honour of Peverel, to be married according to the late king's grant of his marriage to the bishop, or to be before the king in fifteen days from Easter, to answer to him and the bishop concerning the heir, as the late king, on 11 November, in the 12th year of his reign, granted the marriage of the said heir to William, as of the value of 100 marks, in part satisfaction of 575 marks, for which William had, by the said king's will, satisfied Walter de Gosewyk, merchant and burgess of Berwick-on-Tweed, for money due to Walter from the said king for certain causes, and the said king, forgetting the above grant, granted the marriage of the heir to the said John de Bek on 2 September last, for a fine of 40 marks, and the bishop has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the heir's body, which is in the custody of John de Bek, to be delivered to him, in accordance with the aforesaid grant. The king wills that John de Bek shall be discharged of the aforesaid 40 marks. By pet. of C.

Feb. 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance
Westminster. to be made to Richard de la Pole, keeper of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Kyngeston-on-Hull, for 100*l.* paid by him out of the issues of the custom to Henry de Percy, receipt whereof the latter has acknowledged before the king in chancery, in execution of the king's order, when he was keeper of the late king's realm, by writ under the seal that he then used to pay the above sum to Henry, to whom he had granted that sum for the expedition of certain of the king's affairs in the northern parts.

Feb. 6. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-Westminster. meddle further with the lands of Robert son of Richard de Shupton, and to restore the issues thereof to Robert without diminution, as the late king, understanding that Robert, who held of him in chief, had died, ordered Thomas de Burgh, then escheator beyond Trent, to take Robert's lands into his lands, and Robert has now appeared before the king in chancery in good health, and has prayed that his lands and the issues thereof from the time when they were taken into the late king's hands may be restored to him.

March 14. To the sheriffs of London. Whereas at the complaint of Geoffrey le Westminster. Lacer of London, merchant, to the late king, that whereas he went, in the 9th year of the said king's reign, with his goods and wares to the value of 1,050*l.* to Bologna, in the parts of Lombardy, to trade there with the same, and was robbed of his goods aforesaid within the district, liberty, or jurisdiction of Bologna Grassa in Castel Franco and in the bridge of St. Ambrose by Henry de Bocadeferiis and James his brother, and by Guido Thomasii and other malefactors of the said district, the late king frequently requested the podestà, anciani, and community of the said city of Bologna by his special letters to cause restitution of the said goods to be made to Geoffrey, together with satisfaction for the damages incurred by him; but although Geoffrey, by himself and his attorneys, pressed them frequently for justice according to the said letters, they caused restitution of 200 pounds of Bologna only to be made to him, and have done nothing concerning the restitution of the remainder, but have failed altogether to do him justice, as appears by the letters patent of the mayor and aldermen of the city of London under their common seal sent to the king, and by other evidences exhibited in chancery: the king, being unwilling to refrain any longer from providing the said Geoffrey with justice, orders the sheriffs to cause all goods and wares of the men and merchants of the lordship, power, jurisdiction, and district of the city of Bologna Grassa aforesaid, except victuals, to be arrested to the value of the remaining 1,300 pounds of Bologna, and to cause them to be kept safely without diminution until further orders, certifying the king of their proceedings. March 1. To the keeper of the lands of the honour of Pontefract. Order to cause Westminster. to be delivered to Robert de Raygate 240 sheep of his with their issue and other his goods and chattels, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, as it is agreed in the present parliament that all those who were of the said quarrel, in the late king's time, to pursue Hugh le Despenser, the elder, and Hugh le Despenser, the younger, shall have their goods and chattels again, because the quarrel has been adjudged good and just in the said parliament, and the judgments against those who were of the said quarrel have been wholly annulled.

April 16. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to appoint some of Peterborough. the king's subjects in every county, by letters patent under the exchequer seal, to make diligent scrutiny of counterfeit and clipped (tonsata) money, and to take such money into the king's hands and bring it to the exchequer, and to do all other things that the treasurer and barons shall think fit for the indemnity of the king and his people in this behalf, as the king is given to understand that divers men, alien and natives, are bringing into the realm a certain money counterfeit to the sterling, and weighing less and having the same circumscription, and commonly use the said counterfeit and other clipped money in the realm. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas Edward I. granted to Christiana de Mariscis, lately deceased, the manors of Langele and Wyrardesbury, co. Buckingham, for 100 librates of land, and the manor of Oveston, co. Northampton, for 50 librates of land, to have for her life; and he afterwards granted that her executors should hold the said manors for three years after her death, and should receive the issues thereof for that time for the execution of her will; and after Christiana's death, her executors, at Michaelmas, in the 6th year of the late king's reign, to wit for half [a year] after her death, rendered the manors of Langele and Wyrardesbury into the late king's hands, and he, wishing to make them compensation for what was wanting of the value of the said manors for the two and a half years due to them, granted that they should hold the said manor of Oveston for 7½ years from Michaelmas aforesaid; and afterwards, by reason of an agreement between the executors and Robert de Appelby, clerk, that they should demise to him the said manor until the end of the aforesaid term, at a yearly rent of 50*l.*, and that he should have the goods and chattels of the deceased in the manor at a reasonable appraisement, the said Robert, on the eve of Midsummer, in the 8th year of the late king's reign, ejected the executors from the said manor and occupied the goods and chattels of the deceased in the said manor to the value of 96*l.* 8*s.* 0*d.*, contrary to the executors' will, besides 24*l.* 3*s.* 0*d.* received by him from the issues of the manor from the time of the ejectment aforesaid until the manor came to the late king's hands, as appears by an inquisition made by the said king's order; and the said manor came to the aforesaid king's hands, with the goods and chattels aforesaid, by reason of trespasses that Robert committed against him, after Martinmas, in the 9th year of his reign; and the said king, at the petition of the executors to shew them grace concerning what was wanting of the said term of 7½ years, considering that, when the manor came to his hands by reason of the aforesaid trespasses, 4½ years of the said term had still to come, which, according to the agreement aforesaid, extended to the value of 225*l.*, granted to them, on 17 November, in the 10th year of his reign, 300*l.* to be paid to them at the exchequer by instalments of 50*l.* at Easter and Michaelmas yearly, as contained in his letters patent; and now it is shewn to the king, on behalf of Thomas Wace, one of the executors of Christiana's will, and on behalf of Philip de Cosseby, executor of the will of Philip, formerly rector of the church of St. James, Garlekheth, London, Thomas's co-executor of Christiana's will, that although the said terms have elapsed long ago, and the late king ordered his treasurer and chamberlains to pay to Thomas and Philip the arrears of the said 300*l.*, nevertheless 100*l.* thereof still remain unpaid, and they have besought the king, by their petition before him and his council, to cause the said sum to be paid to them: the king therefore orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to Thomas and Philip the said 100*l.*, if they are in arrear, or to cause a suitable assignment therefor to be made to them.

Feb. 10. To the treasurer, barons, and chamberlains of the exchequer. Order to Westminster. cause payment to be made to Nicholas de Bolevill of the arrears of 20*l.* yearly from the exchequer from 25 August, in the 15th year of the late king's reign, when the late king took his homage after he came of age, and to pay him that sum yearly henceforth, as he has shewn the king, by the petition before him and his council, that Henry III. granted to Nicholas de Bolevyll, his grandfather, of whom he is the heir, that he should receive 20*l.* yearly at the exchequer, in place of the 20*l.* that the said king previously granted that he should receive at the exchequer until he should provide him with 20*l.* of the land of wardships and escheats, until such time as the said king should provide him or his heirs with 20*l.* yearly of the lands of wardships and escheats, by virtue of which grant the said Nicholas, the grandfather, was seised of the said 20*l.* yearly until his death, since which time neither Nicholas his son, father of the petitioner, a minor in the wardship of Edward I., nor the petitioner, who was afterwards a minor in the late king's wardship after his father's death, have received anything of the said 20*l.* yearly; wherefore Nicholas has prayed the king to provide a remedy.

issues thereof from the time when they were taken into the late king's hands, the lands, goods, and chattels having been taken into the late king's hands because it was presented, by an inquisition taken by his order at Hereford, before his justices to hold pleas before him, that the bishop was of the agreement and adhesion of Roger de Mortuo Mari of Wygmore, who was then reputed a rebel, and that he sent certain men-at-arms in aid of Roger against the said king, and the bishop, being addressed before the justices and before the said king, alleged that he ought not and could not reply in this behalf without offence to God and holy church and without the pope's licence, and that the justices ought not to proceed to take the inquisition, and, although the bishop did not place himself upon any inquisition, the justices proceeded to take inquisition at Westminster, whereby it was found that he was of the above agreement and adhesion, and that he sent men-at-arms as above, and it was therefore considered by the justices that the bishop should remain as convicted thereof in the hands of W. archbishop of Canterbury, and that his lands, goods, and chattels should be seized into the late king's hands, as is contained in the record and process therein, which the king has caused to come before him and his council; and as the bishop, asserting by his petition before the king and his council error in the record and process, has prayed the king to provide a remedy, and it is found, upon the record and process being recited and examined before the king and his council and also in parliament, that errors have intervened in the record and process, and that the record and process are wholly erroneous, whereupon it was considered by the king and his council, by the assent of the whole parliament, that the record and process shall be annulled, and that the bishop shall have again his lands, goods, and chattels, and the issues thereof from the time when they were taken into the late king's hands. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Alexander de Bergh has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas Robert Wawayn—by consideration had between him and Hugh le Despenser, the younger, in order that Hugh might have Alexander's manor of Haterbergh by lordship and power—obtained a commission under Alexander's name of the custody of the castle and town of Scardeburgh for 120*l.* yearly, Alexander being wholly ignorant thereof, and that Robert detained the commission in his possession long afterwards, and levied a great sum of money from the issues of the castle and town aforesaid after the date of the commission, and afterwards delivered the commission to Alexander, the treasurer and barons intend to charge Alexander in his account with the issues received by Robert after the date of the commission aforesaid, and he has prayed the king to have consideration of the damages and grievances sustained by him from the Scots and of the poverty of the said Robert, and to cause the debts that Alexander and Robert owe for the ferm aforesaid, and for victuals delivered to them in the late king's time to be attermined; as it is testified before the king and his council that Robert obtained the aforesaid commission in Alexander's absence, and levied a great sum of money from the castle and town before he delivered the commission to Alexander, and that Alexander suffered many damages at the hands of the Scots and by Robert's falsity, the king has granted to Alexander and Robert

March 13. To the justices of the Bench. Isabella, late the wife of Henry Nasard of Westminster. London, and Stephen de Abyndon have shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas the said Henry was indebted to Edmund, late earl of Arundel, in 1,000 marks, and made a recognisance for that sum to the earl before William de Bereford and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, and for greater security, the said Stephen made a recognisance to the earl for 1,000 marks, so that both recognisances for 2,000 marks were made for 1,000 marks, as appears by a deed of the earl, containing that both recognisances should be cancelled upon payment of 1,000 marks, and although Henry paid 1,000 marks to the earl and received the earl's letters of acquittance, the earl refused to withdraw the said recognisances for 2,000 marks and to cause letters of acquittance to be made to Stephen for the 1,000 marks acknowledged by him, but prosecuted by his lordship against Stephen to levy that sum over again until Stephen made another recognisance to the earl for 600 marks before Geoffrey Lescrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the late king; wherefore Isabella and Stephen have prayed the king to provide a remedy, the goods and chattels and debts of the earl having come to him by forfeiture: as it appears by the earl's deed, exhibited before the king and his council in parliament, that the two recognisances were made to the earl for security for 1,000 marks, which the earl received from Henry in full, as appears by his deed of acquittance made to Henry, also exhibited before the king and his council, and A. bishop of Hereford has testified before the king and his council that the earl acknowledged before him, when he was about to die, that the recognisance for 600 marks was made to him by Stephen to have acquittance of the aforesaid 1,000 marks, and that he had been fully satisfied for all debts due to him from Henry and Stephen by any recognisances, and requested the bishop to testify this to the king and his council in exoneration of his soul, the king orders the justices of the Bench to cause the said recognisances for 2,000 marks to be withdrawn and cancelled.

By pet. of C. [8458.]

Like writ, as in the schedule appended hereto, is directed to Geoffrey Lescrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king, to withdraw and cancel the said recognisance for 600 marks.

March 1. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Thomas de Houk has Westminster. shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that he, by the late king's orders, kept Margaret, daughter of Hugh le Despenser, the younger, in his house with a nurse and a great household for more than three years at his cost, and he owes to the exchequer 22 marks 6s. 8d. for a yearly rent of 5 marks 1d., wherewith his manor of Houk was charged, to be paid to the lord of the honour of Pontefract, from the time when Henry de Lacy, late earl of Lincoln, acquired that rent, and he has prayed the king to cause the aforesaid sum to be allowed to him in part recompense for the costs aforesaid; as W. bishop of Norwich has testified before the king and his council that Margaret stayed with Thomas with a nurse and a great household for the aforesaid time at the cost of Thomas by the late king's order, the king orders the treasurer and barons to cause the aforesaid sum to be allowed to Thomas in the arrears of the said rent, and to cause Thomas Deyvill, keeper of the honour aforesaid, to be discharged of the same in his account.

By pet. of C.

March 8. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the Westminster. clergy of the bishopric of Carlisle to be discharged of all debts due to the exchequer for tenths and for other causes to the king's progenitors, except debts for victuals bought from the late king, as they have prayed the king, by their petition before him and his council, to pardon them the debts due from them for tenths granted to his progenitors, because they are unable to pay them owing to their impoverishment by the frequent comings of the Scots into the bishopric, the king having granted to the community of the counties of Cumberland and Westmoreland pardon of all debts due to him from the times of his progenitors, except debts for victuals bought from the late king, and the said clergy are of the aforesaid community.

March 9. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle Westminster. further with the lands of Roger de Burghfeld, and to restore the issues thereof, as it appears by inquisition taken by Thomas de Harpeden, late escheator in cos. Wilts, Southampton, Oxford, Berks, Bedford, and Buckingham, that Roger held no lands in chief on the day of his death of the late king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services.

Feb. 22. To Thomas de Harpeden, escheator in cos. Wilts, Southampton, Oxford, Westminster. Berks, Bedford, and Buckingham. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands that John de Gomeldon held of other lords than the king, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the late king's order that John held on the day of his death certain lands in Porton of the said king in chief as by the forfeiture of Hugh le Despenser, the younger, by homage and fealty and the service of a quarter of a knight's fee, and that he held no other lands of the king in chief as of the crown on the day of his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held on the day of his death certain lands in the same town in socage of Jordan Daunger, to wit by the service of 33s. yearly for all service, and that John de Gomeldon, his son, is his next heir and is aged twelve years.

Feb. 22. To Simon de Grymmesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-Westminster. meddle further with the lands of John de Evre, and to restore the issues thereof, as it is found by inquisition taken by the escheator by the late king's order that John held no lands of the late king in chief on the day of his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held on the said day divers lands of other lords by various services.

Feb. 24. To the constable of Bernard's Castle. Order not to intermeddle in any Westminster. way with anything touching regal jurisdiction in the bishopric of Durham, and not to exercise royal office within the same in anywise, as it is considered by the king and his council in the present parliament that the bishop of Durham shall have royal liberty within the liberty of his bishopric, as was granted in the time of Henry III. By pet. of C.

The like to the bailiff of Herte and Hertenesse.

March 8. To the mayor and bailiffs of Southampton. Firmin Aversdras and Westminster. Hugh Lenglache, merchants of Amiens, have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council, that whereas the late king ordained that the staple of wool, hides, and wool-fells should be held in certain places in his realm, and caused proclamation to be made that all alien merchants might come into his realm with their goods and merchandise in safety, and took such merchants into his protection, the said Firmin and Hugh came, by pretext of the said proclamation, to the aforesaid town with 80 quarters of woad (wayde) to trade with the same, and the mayor and bailiffs arrested the said woad by virtue of the late king's order to arrest the goods and wares of men of the power of the king of France, and still detain it under arrest, wherefore Firmin and Hugh have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the mayor and bailiffs to cause the woad to be delivered to Firmin and Hugh if they find that they came into the realm and that the woad was arrested after the proclamation aforesaid. By pet. of C. [159.]

The like to the sheriff of Southampton.

March 8. To the bailiffs of Shorham. Peter de Sancto Fuciano, merchant of Westminster. Amiens, has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas he came with his woad and other goods, to the value of 28*l.*, to the said town during the truce between the late king and the king of France, in order to trade there with the same, Thomas Moraunt, late bailiff of that town, arrested the woad and goods during the truce, and they are still detained under arrest, wherefore he has prayed the king for remedy: the king therefore orders the bailiffs to cause the woad and goods to be delivered to Peter, or to his attorney in this behalf, to make his profit therewith, if they find that he came to the town during the said truce, and that his goods were arrested by the said Thomas during the truce. By pet. of C.

March 8. To the mayor and bailiffs of Southampton. Thomas le Gras, Hugh Westminster. Lenglache, John de Sancto Fuciano, and Simon le Mascis, merchants of Amiens, have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council, that whereas the late king ordained that the staple of wool, hides, and wool-fells should be held in certain places within the realm, and caused proclamation to be made that all alien merchants might come into his realm safely and securely, and they came to the said town by virtue of the said proclamation with divers goods and wares in order to trade there with the same, the said mayor and bailiffs, by virtue of an order of the late king's to arrest all the goods of the men of the dominion of the king of France, arrested divers of their goods and jewels, to the value of 400*l.*, and their horses, price 100*s.*, and still detain the same under arrest, wherefore they have besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the mayor and bailiffs to cause the aforesaid goods, jewels, and horses to be delivered to the said merchants, if they find that they came into the realm by virtue of the said proclamation, and that the goods, jewels, and horses were arrested after the proclamation. By pet. of C. [169.]

To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king. Stephen de Abyndon has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas Henry Nasard in his lifetime owed to Edmund, then earl of Arundel, 1,000 marks, and made a recognisance therefor to the said earl before William de Bereford and his fellows, the late king's justices of the Bench, and in order to make greater security Stephen made another recognisance in the Bench aforesaid to the earl for the like amount, so that the two recognisances for 2,000 marks were made for 1,000 marks, as appears by a deed of the earl, containing that both recognisances should be cancelled upon payment of 1,000 marks, and although Henry paid 1,000 marks to the earl and had his letters of acquittance, the earl nevertheless refused to withdraw the said recognisances for 2,000 marks and to cause letters of acquittance to be made to Stephen for the 1,000 marks acknowledged by him, as is aforesaid, but prosecuted by his lordship against Stephen to levy that sum again, until Stephen, Robert de Welles, knight, and Richard de Betoyn, merchant, made another recognisance to the earl for 600 marks before the said Geoffrey and his fellows, the late king's justices to hold pleas before him; wherefore Stephen has prayed the king to provide a remedy, as the goods, chattels, and debts of the earl have come to him by the earl's forfeiture: as it appears by the earl's deed, exhibited before the king and his council in parliament, that the two recognisances were made to the earl for security for 1,000 marks, which the earl received from Henry in full, as appears by his deed of acquittance made to Henry only, likewise exhibited before the king and his council, and A. bishop of Hereford has testified before the king and his council that the earl, when he was about to die, acknowledged before him that the recognisance for 600 marks was made to him in order to have acquittance of the aforesaid 1,000 marks, and that he had been fully satisfied for all debts due to him from Henry and Stephen by any recognisances, and requested the bishop to testify this to the king and his council in exoneration of his soul, the king orders the said justices to cause the aforesaid recognisance for 600 marks to be withdrawn and cancelled.

an adherent of Bartholomew de Badelesmere and other contrarians, and granted him all his lands, goods and chattels, and ordered the said Richard to deliver to him his lands, goods and chattels in co. Kent. They are also ordered to cause Richard to be discharged of the goods and chattels delivered to Thomas by him.

To the same. Order to allow the prioress and nuns of Basdale, in the moor of Blakhou, to pay the 19*l.* due from them for the late king's victuals bought by them at Newcastle-on-Tyne, at the rate of 4*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.* yearly, and to cause the said terms to be enrolled.

March 10.
Westminster.

To Benedict de Fulsham, the king's butler, or to him who supplies his place in the port of Hull. Whereas lately, at the prosecution of W. archbishop of York—suggesting to the king that Athelstan, sometime king of England, the king's progenitor, granted by his charter to the archbishop of York and his successors all liberties in the water of Hull that heart might think or eye might see, and that afterwards Henry III. granted to Walter Giffard, then archbishop, that he and his successors should have and hold their port and prises there, as well of wines as of other merchandise there arriving, as Walter de Grey and other predecessors of the said Walter had, and that from the time of the said grant the predecessors of the archbishop had their prises of wines in the said water until the time of the grant of Henry III. in the same manner as the late king and his progenitors made and had such prises elsewhere in the realm, and from that time until Matthew Colombers, the butler of Edward I. hindered the archbishop thereof, and that the said archbishop and his predecessors were impeded frequently from that time from making and having their prises in the said water by the butlers of the late king, and that the late king appointed Henry le Scrop, William de Herle, John de Denum, and Adam de Hoperton to enquire by the oaths of men of co. York concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition taken accordingly before Henry and Adam, in the presence of Geoffrey son of Hugh, then bailiff of Hull, returned into the late king's chancery, which inquisition the king has caused to come before him, that Walter de Grey, sometime archbishop of York, and his predecessors from time out of mind had and held, as of the right of their church of York, their port and prises of wines arriving in the water of Hull, to wit receiving from each ship bringing over 20 tuns of wine for sale in the said water, two tuns of wine, one before and one behind the mast, paying 20*s.* for each tun thus prised (priso), until the 51 Henry III., when that king granted to Walter Giffard, then archbishop, that he and his successors for ever should have and hold their said port and prises in the water of Hull, as Walter de Grey and other predecessors of Walter Giffard had their port and prises freely and quietly, and that the aforesaid Walter Giffard and his successors had and held the port and prises from the time of the aforesaid grant peacefully as Walter de Grey and his predecessors had until 11 Edward I., when one Matthew Columbers, then the said king's butler, by reason of his hatred of William Wykkewane, then archbishop, took the prises of wines in the said water into the aforesaid king's hands, and of his own wrong impeded the archbishop from receiving such prises, by pretext of which hindrance the said William and his successors have been hitherto impeded from receiving the prises in the water aforesaid by the butlers of Edward I. and Edward II., and are thus impeded by the aforesaid Benedict, and that the aforesaid kings have had and held the said prises from the time of the impediment thus applied by Matthew; wherefore the archbishop has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause restitution of the prises to be made to him—the king, having consideration to the charter and inquisition aforesaid, and because Benedict has said nothing to the contrary in parliament before the king and his council, except that he found the king seised, and Stephen de Abyndon and Walter Waldeshof, butlers of the late king, who were ordered by divers writs to certify the late king and his council concerning the premises, have certified nothing that is to the contrary of the premises, except that they found the king's progenitors seised, and the treasurer and barons of the exchequer have certified the king and his council that they have not found that the king's progenitors were seised of such prises in the water of Hull before the making of the charter of Henry III., orders Benedict to amove the king's hand from such prises in the port of Hull, and to permit the archbishop to have his prises therein without impediment. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to William Deyncourt the manor of Blaunkeneye and Braunceston, co. Lincoln, with the soke, and a messuage in the bailey of Lincoln, and the manor of Graneby, co. Nottingham, as the king learns by inquisitions taken by the late king's order that Edmund Deyncourt held at his death no lands in his demesne as of fee of the late king in chief, but that he held the premises for life of the gift of Master Oliver Deyncourt and John Deyncourt of Parkehalle by fine levied by the late king's licence in his court, and that they ought to remain to the said William and the heirs of his body, and that the manors and soke are held of the king as of the crown by the service of one knight's fee, and that the messuage is held of the king by the service of 1*d.* yearly for all service, the king having taken William's homage for the manors and messuage aforesaid and rendered them to him; saving to Hamund de Mascy and Joan his wife, late the wife of Edmund son of John Deyncourt, kinsman of the aforesaid Edmund Deyncourt, the said Joan's dower of the manors and messuage, according to the form of a deed made by the said Edmund when the said Edmund son of John espoused her at the church door, to be assigned to them by the king.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to the aforesaid William the manors of Holmesfeld and Elmeton, co. Derby, except a messuage, 312 acres of land, 14 acres and 3 roods of meadow, and 52*s.* 4*d.* of rent in the latter manor, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Bolingbrok, late escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, and Derby this side Trent, by the late king's order, that Edmund Deyncourt held at his death no lands in his demesne as of fee of the late king in chief in his bailiwick, but that he held the aforesaid manors, with the above exceptions, for life of the gift of Master Oliver Deyncourt and John Deyncourt of Parkehall by fine levied by the late king's licence in his court, and that they ought to remain to William Deyncourt and the heirs of his body, and that they are held of the king as of the crown by the service of one knight's fee, the king having taken William's homage for the premises and rendered them to him; saving dower to the aforesaid Hamund and Joan as in preceding order.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with certain lands in Oxcroft, co. Derby, and to restore the issues thereof, which lands were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the death of the aforesaid Edmund Deyncourt, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Bolynbrok, the late king's escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, and Lancaster, that Edmund at his death held no lands of the said king in chief in his demesne as of fee by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held on that day the said lands in Oxcroft of John Folevill by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee, and that William Deyncourt, his kinsman, is his next heir and of full age; saving dower to the aforesaid Hamund and Joan as in the preceding order. March 13. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Henry, son and heir of Westminster. John de Grey, tenant in chief of the late king, has shewn the king, by his petition before him and his council, that whereas he stayed in the late king's service in Gascony from St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 17th year of the said king's reign, until the feast of St. Mary Magdalene following, during which time his father died, to wit at the feast of SS. Simon and Jude, and he could not therefore forthwith (recenter) leave the late king's service to prosecute his seisin of the lands that descended to him in inheritance after his father's death, according to the custom, and the executors of his father's will are bound to the king at the exchequer in 152*l.*, and he has prayed the king to cause that sum to be assigned to him by reason of his service aforesaid: the king, having consideration to the damages that Henry sustained by reason of his stay in the aforesaid service, and to the grateful service rendered by him to the king and his father, has granted to him 52*l.* of the aforesaid sum, and he therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause that sum to be levied from the executors and paid to Henry. To John de Denum, keeper of the lands that belonged to Philippa, late the wife of Roger de Bradeburn, in co. Derby, or to him who supplies his place. The aforesaid Philippa has shewn the king, by her petition before him and his council, that she, long before Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, prosecuted his quarrel against Hugh le Despenser, the elder, and others, acquired to her and her heirs in fee from Henry de Bradeburn, deceased, the manors of Bradeburn and Hogh, in the said county, and was seised thereof in her demesne as of fee until the late king's escheator in those parts unjustly amoved her from the manors and took them into the late king's hands, because the said Henry adhered to the earl in the aforesaid quarrel, pretending that the manors were Henry's and not hers, whereupon she afterwards prayed the late king to provide a remedy; and although it was found by an inquisition taken before Roger de Beler and his fellows by the late king's order that the manors were the right of Philippa by reason of the acquisition aforesaid, and they were delivered to her as her right by virtue of a writ of the late king's directed to the aforesaid keeper, and she was long seised of them by the aforesaid delivery, the late king caused them to be taken into his hands again because the inquisition did not say that it was taken in the presence of the keeper of the manors, and the manors are thus in the king's hands, wherefore she has prayed the king to provide a remedy: as it appears by the rolls of chancery that the manors were at first taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel aforesaid, which has been adjudged good and just by the king and the whole parliament, and the judgments rendered against those who were of the quarrel have been wholly annulled, the king orders the keeper to deliver the manors to Philippa, together with the issues and arrears of fermes for which answer has not been made to the late king.

Feb. 15. Westminster. To Robert de Insula, keeper of forfeited lands in co. Northumberland and in the bishopric of Durham. L. bishop of Durham has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas he has and ought to have, and he and his predecessors have always had hitherto from time out of mind, royal rights between the waters of Tyne and These in Northamshire and Bedelyngtonshire, co. Northumberland, and have exercised the said rights by themselves and their own ministers, and have done justice of all and singular things arising between the waters aforesaid and in the said places by themselves and their ministers, without the king or his progenitors or any bailiff or minister of the king or his progenitors intermeddling in any way, except in default of the bishop or his predecessors in exhibiting justice, by pretext of which royal liberties the bishop ought to have forfeiture of war in the liberty and places aforesaid, and Anthony, sometime bishop of that place, his predecessor, caused the castle and manor of Bernard's Castle with appurtenances, forfeited by John de Balliolo, formerly lord thereof, and the manor of Herte and Hertenesse, forfeited by Robert de Brus, formerly lord of that manor, within the liberty aforesaid, to be taken into his hands by virtue of such royal liberties, and held them thus peacefully for some time as the right of his church, until Edward I. caused him to be amoved from the castle and manors without judgment and without his being called, pretending that such forfeiture of war, both within the liberty of the bishopric and elsewhere, ought to pertain to him, and caused the castle and manors to be taken into his hands, although Henry III. revoked by his charter and council a collation that he made to Thomas de Clare of the manor of Gretham, in the liberty of the bishopric aforesaid, which manor belonged to Peter de Monte Forti and which the said king at that time believed pertained to him by Peter's forfeiture, when the said king granted that the bishop might have his will of the manor of Gretham and of other lands forfeited and escheated within his royalty aforesaid, in the same manner as the said king had of such lands forfeited to him elsewhere in his realm; and although the said bishop frequently sued in divers parliaments of the late king for justice in the premises, he could not obtain justice, and he has therefore prayed the king to provide a remedy: as it appears by the said charter of Henry III., exhibited before the king and his parliament, that the said king revoked by his council the aforesaid collation of the manor of Gretham, and granted that the bishop should have his will thereof and of other lands forfeited within the said liberty, as is aforesaid, and certain answers to divers petitions of the said bishop in the parliaments of the late king have been inspected and examined, made by the late king's council for the information of his right, which answers, with other memoranda touching the matter found in the treasury and chancery, the king caused to come before him and his council in parliament, and nothing is found therein by reason whereof the bishop ought to be excluded from his petition, it is agreed by the king and all his council in parliament that the bishop shall have his liberty of such forfeitures according to the tenor and effect of the charter aforesaid, and the king therefore orders the keeper to amove the king's hand from lands within the liberty of the bishopric aforesaid and in the said places of Northamptonshire and Bedelyngtonshire that are in the king's hands by forfeiture of war, and not to intermeddle further with the same. It is not, however, the intention of the king and his council that any one now holding lands of such forfeitures by the grants of the king's progenitors shall be amoved therefrom without answer by virtue of the agreement aforesaid. By pet. of C.

To Simon de Grymmesby, escheator beyond Trent. Whereas Lecia, late the wife of Ralph de Rugemund, demanded in the late king's court before William de Bereford and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, by the said king's writ, 4 messuages, 2 tofts, 15 bovates of land, 4 acres of meadow, and 10s. 11d. of rent in Holm near Pykhale, as her right and marriage, against John de Thornton, chaplain, and Alexander le Clerk of St. Leonard's hospital, York, and the said John and Alexander said in court that they were tenants of the said tenements on the day when the said writ was sued out, and Lecia afterwards recovered the tenements against them by consideration of the court, as appears by the record and process of the suit, which the late king caused to come before him and which have been seen and examined by the king and his council, and the king learns by an inquisition taken by Thomas de Eyvyll and Adam de Hoperton by the late king's order that John and Alexander were tenants of the said tenements on the day when the said writ was sued out, to wit 10 February, in the 14th year of the late king's reign, and that they, whilst the plea was pending before the justices aforesaid, enfeofed John de Hartcla of the said tenements, to wit in three weeks from Michaelmas, 15 Edward II., and that the said John [de Hartcla] within 15 days following enfeofed Andrew de Hartcla, his brother, of the aforesaid tenements, who held them until his death, by whose forfeiture they came to the late king's hands, and that Lecia could not have seisin of the tenements because they were thus in the late king's hands at the time of the recovery, and that the tenements that were in the late king's hands in Holm by Andrew's forfeiture are the same tenements that Lecia recovered against John de Thornton and Alexander, as is aforesaid, and that she never remitted them to John de Hartcla or to Andrew or made any estate thereof to them, and that she died whilst the matter was pending undiscussed, to wit on Monday before Christmas, 19 Edward II., in her bed by natural death, and that Richard de Ruchemund, chaplain, is her son and heir, and is aged 40 years, and that the tenements are held of Robert Coiguers by knight service, and are worth yearly in all issues 100s. : the king orders the escheator to deliver the aforesaid tenements to Richard, if they are in the king's hands solely by reason of Andrew's forfeiture. To the sheriff of Southampton and to the bailiffs of that town. Whereas the king—at the prosecution of Arnald Artinh, merchant of Gascony, by petition before him and his council, suggesting that whereas he came to Southampton with his goods and merchandise relying upon the late king's proclamations made at London and Bordeaux that strange merchants might come into England with their goods and merchandise safely and securely to trade therein with the same, the bailiffs of that town arrested him and his goods by virtue of an order of the late king's to arrest all merchants of the power of the king of France and all their goods and chattels, wherefore Arnald prayed the king to provide a remedy—ordered the bailiffs to certify him of the time when Arnald came to that town with his goods and merchandise, and at what time he was arrested and his goods taken into the late king's hands, and for what cause, etc., and they have signified that Arnald arrived

Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The abbot of Westminster has shewn the king, by petition exhibited before him and his council in parliament after the Purification, that whereas the king's progenitors granted to the abbots of that place, his predecessors, a tenth of the ferm of the town of Droitwich (de Wychio), in co. Worcester, for which tenth the present abbot and his predecessors have heretofore received 8*l.* yearly at the exchequer, as well in the times when the manor was in the hands of the king's progenitors as in the hands of others, as the abbot asserts that he can prove by the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, until the time when Edward I. granted the manor to Margaret his consort in dower, and Margaret paid the tenth to the abbot all the time that she held the manor, and the abbot has received nothing from the time of her death, to wit from the 11th year of the late king's reign, and was unable to receive anything because the late king granted the manor to Queen Isabella, who refused to pay the tenth for the time that she held it, and also because the late king granted the manor to Edmund, earl of Kent, to him and the heirs of his body, as of the value of 89*l.* 5*s.* 0*d.* yearly, and the earl, asserting that he was not bound to pay the tenth, refused to pay it to the abbot, and the abbot has prayed the king to cause the arrears of the said tenth to be paid to him, and to order the tenth to be paid to him henceforth: as the abbot has exhibited before the king and his council a charter of William the Conqueror, the king's progenitor, who gave the tenth to the abbot by the same charter and by the following words 'I have moreover given the tenth of Wych of the part that pertained to me, and I have again rendered to them the same part, which was unjustly taken away from them, which part king Edward had previously given to them,' and it is found by certificate made before the king and his council by the treasurer and barons that the abbots of Westminster were paid the said 8*l.* at the exchequer for the tenth aforesaid, sometimes in money, sometimes by allowances in the debts then owing by them to the exchequer, and also by the hands of the aforesaid Margaret for all her time, the manor being assigned to her as of the value of 81*l.* 5*s.* 0*d.* besides the fixed alms, until the ferm of the town was granted to Queen Isabella, who paid nothing of the tenth because the charter that she had made mention of the whole ferm without any exception of the tenth being made, and that the ferm is now granted to the said earl without any exception of the tenth being made, the king orders the treasurer and barons to cause the abbot to have allowance in the debts owing by him for the arrears of the said tenth for the time aforesaid. The king has ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay the tenth to the abbot henceforth out of the treasury. By pet. of C.

March 13. Westminster. Mandate in pursuance to the treasurer and chamberlains. By pet. of C.

March 17. Westminster. To Richard de Kenebrook, king's clerk. Order to sell the king's small ships and boats in his custody by the view and testimony of Alan le Palmere and Martin his brother, the king's carpenters, as shall seem best for the king's benefit, and to answer to the exchequer for the moneys thence arising, as the king learns from him that the said ships and boats deteriorate daily for lack of good custody and will be lost altogether shortly unless provision be made speedily. By bill of the treasurer. [Fœdera.]

March 17. Westminster. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Avelina, late the wife of John Giffard of Brymmesfeld, tenant in chief of the late king, the following of the said John's lands, which the king has assigned to her in dower: the castle and manor of Brymmesfeld, co. Gloucester, of the yearly value of 25*l.* 8*s.* 9½*d.*; the manor of Rokhampton, in the same county, of the yearly value of 27*s.*; a third of the manor of Begeworth, in the same county, of the yearly value of 11*l.* 18*s.* 1*d.*; a moiety of the manor of Stapelford, co. Wilts, of the yearly value of 18*l.*; the wood of Cayllye in Walles, co. Gloucester, of the yearly value of 6*s.* 8*d.*

March 23. Westminster. To Robert Power, chamberlain of North Wales. Order to pay the fees and wages of the justices, constables, and officers within his bailiwick from the time of his appointment, and to pay the same hereafter until otherwise ordered.

March 24. Westminster. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Agnes, late the wife of Roger de Elmerigg, tenant in chief of the late king, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

March 25. Westminster. To R. bishop of Salisbury. Signification that he may do what pertains to him at the presentation of the prior of Toft, proctor in England of the abbot of Préaux, of the power of the king of France, to the church of Speghetbury, co. Dorset, in that diocese, notwithstanding the king's writs of prohibition directed to him, the king having prohibited the bishop admitting any person to the church until it should be discussed in his court whether the advowson of the church pertained to him or to the prior, because he was given to understand that the church, which is of the said abbot's advowson, was vacated before the king, on 5 February last, restored the lands, fees, and advowsons of alien men of religion of the power of the king of France within this realm, which the late king had caused to be taken into his hands by reason of the war between him and the king of France, as the king learns by the bishop's letters patent and by the certificate of the sheriff of that county that the church began to be void by the death of Master Ralph Morel, the last rector, on Sunday after the Purification last, to wit on 8 February.

March 24. Westminster. To the sheriff of Dorset. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Bartholomew Payne, whom the king has removed from office because he is incapacitated by illness and age.

March 27. Westminster. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to the king's serjeant William le Mareschal, keeper of certain horses of the king's staying at Redyng', the necessary costs for the maintenance of the said horses, as used to be paid to Hugh Beaurepeir, the late king's keeper thereof. By p.s. [540.]

March 25. Westminster. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to desist from disquieting John de Warennas, earl of Surrey, for entering the manor and town of Theford, and to permit him to hold the same until further orders, and to restore to him any issues received thence, as the earl has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas he demised the manor and town to Ralph de Cobham for life, and entered the same after Ralph's death, and holds them at present, the escheator disquiets him because he entered the manor and town without the king's livery, and exacts the issues thereof from him for the king's use, wherefore the earl has prayed the king to provide a remedy, and he has found security before the king in chancery by Alan Talbot to answer to the king at the exchequer for the issues thereof if they ought to pertain to the king.

To John de Blomvill, late escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex, and Hertford. Order to deliver to the aforesaid earl all the issues of the said manor and town received by him.

March 12.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to cause the executors of Christiana de Mariscis to be satisfied by payment or assignment for 221*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.*, in accordance with the late king's order to Walter de Norwyco, then supplying the place of his treasurer, by writ of privy seal, to cause the stock (instaurum) and goods and chattels in the manors of Langele and Wyrardesbury, which manors Christiana held for life of the grant of Edward I. in exchange for certain lands in Ireland, whereof she had previously enfeoffed him, to be appraised by John de Mauwardyn for the use of the late king, and to cause the said executors to be satisfied for the above sum, at which the stock, goods and chattels were appraised in the presence of the executors, the late king having afterwards ordered Ingelard (Ingelrardo) de Warle, then keeper of his wardrobe, to cause the said sum to be paid to the executors without delay, but the executors have not yet obtained payment thereof, and they have not yet been satisfied thereof, as the king learns from their petition before him and his council, although the late king frequently ordered the treasurer and barons of his exchequer to call before them the said Ingelard and the executors, and to hear the reasons on both sides, and to cause the executors to be satisfied, and although Ingelard and the executors appeared before the treasurer and barons in accordance therewith.

Feb. 25. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Richard Westminster. de Perrers, sheriff of Essex, executor of the will of James de Perers, in the arrears of his account as sheriff 14*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, which the late king owed to James, a knight of his household, for his fee and robes between 1 December, in the 8th year of his reign, and the last day of January, in the 9th year, in the time of W. archbishop of York, then keeper of the wardrobe, as appears by a bill of the wardrobe delivered by James to Richard for a debt due to him, as Richard has besought the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the aforesaid sum to be allowed to him in the arrears of his account.

March 9. To the keeper of the manor of Assheton near Boyton. Order to Westminster. pay to John Torný of Werston the arrears of the yearly rent and robe mentioned below from the said manor, and to pay him the rent and robe hereafter for so long as he shall be keeper of the manor, as the king learns by inquisition taken by Adam Walronð and Peter Doynel that John Giffard of Brymmesfeld, on Sunday the feast of St. Thomas the Apostle, in the 9th year of the late king's reign, granted to the said John Torný and his heirs by deed, for a moiety of the manor of Stapelford granted to him and his heirs by the said John Torný, 10*l.* yearly from his manor of Assheton near Boyton, co. Wilts, and that he granted to the said John Torný by another deed 10*l.* yearly and a robe, price 20*s.* yearly for life from the said manor, and that he charged payment thereof upon the said manor, and that John Torný was seised of the said rent and robe by the said John Giffard by the aforesaid deeds from the feast of St. Thomas aforesaid, and that he received the rent and robe yearly for six years following by the hands of the said John Giffard and his bailiffs of the manor aforesaid, until the manor was taken into the late king's hands with other lands of the said John Giffard upon his death, and that the manor is now in the king's hands by the forfeiture of Hugh le Despenser, the elder, to whom the late king granted the manor, and that the manor is held of the heir of William Mautravers by fealty for all service.

Feb. 15. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause to be Westminster. allowed to Elizabeth, late the wife of David de Langeton, and executrix of his will, 84 marks due from her for a fine for the custody of the land and heir of David, and the marriage of his heir and for licence to marry whom she please, in the 98*l.* due from the late king to David for his stay in the castle of Werk, as appears by a bill under the seal of Robert de Wodehous, late keeper of the late king's wardrobe, in her possession, as she has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, to cause such allowance to be made to her.

The sheriff of Berks, for the manor of Bradefeld.

William la Zouche of Assheby, keeper of the king's land of Glamorgan, for the manor of Doneaphowys in Wales.

April 9. To Henry de Bisshebur[y], keeper of the castle of Duddeley and of the Peterborough. manors of Seggeleye, Swyneford, Rouleye Somery, and Prestwode, co. Stafford, and of the town of Duddeley, co. Worcester. Order to deliver to the aforesaid John de Sutton and Margaret his wife the said castle and manors, as the king—at their petition before him and his council in the last parliament, suggesting that Hugh le Despenser, the younger, asserting that John had adhered to Thomas, earl of Lancaster, caused him to be taken at Westminster, co. Middlesex, and to be kept in the late king's prison until he enfeoffed Hugh of the castle, manors, and town aforesaid, which are of his wife's inheritance, and until he made letters patent to William de Alveston to deliver seisin thereof to Hugh—appointed Adam de Brom, William de Sareshull, Robert de Swaleclyve, and Robert de Kelleseye to make inquisition concerning the premises by the oath of men of co. Middlesex, and also appointed Roger Hillary, Ralph de Perham, and Thomas de Norton to make inquisition by the oath of men of cos. Stafford and Worcester whether or not the aforesaid William delivered seisin of the said castle, manors, and town to Hugh, etc., and it is found by inquisition taken by Adam and William that Hugh took John at Westminster on Tuesday before St. Gregory, in the 17th year of the late king's reign, asserting that he had lately adhered to the said earl, and delivered him to Simon le Croyser to be kept in the prison of the late king's marshalsea, and Simon, who durst not resist Hugh, received him by Hugh's order, and detained him in prison for the three following weeks, within which time John, through the hardships and duress of the prison, and at Hugh's persecution, unwillingly and being forced against his will, made charters of feoffment to Hugh of the castle, manors, and town aforesaid, which are of his wife's inheritance, and also his letters patent to the said William de Alveston, then journeying to the parts aforesaid, to deliver seisin thereof to Hugh, and he thus remained in prison for the whole time until William returned to Westminster and testified that he had delivered the aforesaid seisin to Hugh, and it is also found by inquisition taken by the aforesaid Roger and Thomas, in the presence of the said keeper, that William de Alveston delivered seisin of the castle, manors, and town, which are of Margaret's inheritance, to Hugh by letters patent of the said John dated at Westminster on the day of St. Benedict next following after the aforesaid feast of St. Gregory, and that John le Botiller of Teukesbur[y] was then there in Hugh's name and took the fealties of the tenants of the castle, manors, and town, and that William de Alveston, after seisin had been thus delivered to Hugh, returned forthwith to Westminster to testify to Hugh the delivery of the seisin, and the king is unwilling that John and Margaret shall be prejudiced by pretext of the charters and letters aforesaid thus made in prison.

April 13. To the bailiffs of the city of Lincoln. Order to pay to William de Ros Peterborough. of Hamelak 75 marks of the ferm of their city for Easter term last, in accordance with the late king's grant of 22 August, in the 16th year of his reign, of 150 marks yearly from the ferm of the city of Lincoln and 150 marks yearly from the ferm of the city of York, to be received from the bailiffs of the said cities until the said king or his heirs should provide William or his heirs with 300 marks yearly of land or rent between the waters of Thames and Tees, or until the late king or his heirs should restore to William Werk castle, which William granted and quit-claimed to the late king.

The like to the bailiffs of the city of York.

April 15. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Orders to cause allowance to be made to the bailiffs of the city of Lincoln for the aforesaid Stamford. 75 marks, paid by them in execution of the preceding order.

The like in favour of the citizens of York.

April 13. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to Peterborough. William son of William le Latymer the manor of Danby, which was taken into the king's hands by reason of the latter's death, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that William le Latymer held the manor for life of the late king's gift, with remainder to the said William, his son, and that the manor is held of the king by the service of one knight's fee, the king having taken the son's homage.

To the same. Order to deliver to William son of William le Latymer the manors of Gamelsby and Unthank, co. Cumberland, and the issues thereof since 8 March last, as the king on that day pardoned the said William the son, for a fine that he made with the king, his trespass in acquiring the said manors to him and the heirs of his body from William le Latymer, who held them in chief of the king, and in entering them without the king's licence, which manors were taken into the king's hands by reason of the said trespass, the king having then granted to the said William son of William that he shall have and hold the manors aforesaid to him and the heirs of his body of the king by the services therefor due and accustomed, with remainder to Thomas son of William le Latymer and the heirs of his body, with remainder to Thomas le Latymer of Wardon and Warin his son, and to the heirs male of Warin's body, with reversion to the said William le Latymer and his heirs, as contained in the king's letters patent, and the king has now taken the homage of the said William son of William for the manors aforesaid.

April 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance Peterborough. to be made to the sheriff of Lincoln for 10*l.* paid by him to Wenthlana, daughter of Llywelín, late prince of Wales, a nun of Sempyngham, for Easter term last, in execution of the king's order of 23 February last to pay her 20*l.* yearly at Easter and Michaelmas in equal portions, the king having granted her 20*l.* yearly from the issues of the county of Lincoln in aid of her maintenance.

April 10. To the same. W. bishop of Norwich has shown the king, by petition Peterborough. before him and his council, that whereas the bishop's manors of Wylughby, Silkeby, Merston, and a third of the soke of Waltham, co. Lincoln, and the manors of Northduffeld, Thornton Styward, Orathorn, Rungeton, Preston-in-Cravene, Drax Paynel, and Yuclet, co. York, and the manors of Isle (Insula), Bradbury, Cokeshou, and Snaypegest, in the bishopric of Durham, and the ferm of the church of Estrington, co. York, were taken into the late king's hands and retained therein for a long time without reasonable cause at the procurement of certain of his rivals, and the late king's keepers of the manors and fermes aforesaid, sheriffs and other ministers levied therefrom issues to the value of 500*l.* for that time, and paid that sum into the late king's wardrobe and treasury, and although the manors and fermes aforesaid, with the goods and chattels in the same, were afterwards restored to the bishop by the late king's order, and the late king ordered the issues thereof for the said time to be delivered to the bishop, payment has not yet been made to him of the above 500*l.*, and the bishop has prayed the king to cause him to be satisfied for the said 500*l.*, or to pay him as much as was levied and paid thereof to the said king's use, or to cause satisfaction or assignment otherwise to be made to him: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause assignment to be made to the bishop upon wardships and marriages now in the king's hands or that shall next come to his hands, or to cause satisfaction to be made to him otherwise for what they shall ascertain, by inspection of the rolls of chancery or by the certification of the memoranda of the wardrobe or otherwise, was paid for the use of the late king of the issues aforesaid.

By pet. of C.

April 12. To John de Brympton, keeper of the manor of Bradefeld. Order to Peterborough. deliver the said manor to John de Sutton and Margaret his wife, as the king, at their prosecution, by petition before him and his council—suggesting that Hugh le Despenser had unjustly disseised them of the said manor, in co. Berks, which they held in fee of Margaret's inheritance, and that he unjustly detained the manor until it was taken into the late king's hands by his forfeiture, and praying the king for remedy—appointed William de Saresull, John le Moigne, and John Loveday to make inquisition by the oath of men of that county concerning the premises, and it is found by their inquisition that John and Margaret held the manor in fee of Margaret's inheritance, and were seised thereof in the 19th year of the late king's reign, until Hugh disseised them thereof, and so occupied and held the manor by his disseisin until it was taken into the late king's hands by his forfeiture, and that the manor came to the king's hands in this way, and is in his hands for this reason and for no other, and that John and Margaret did not remit or quit-claim the manor to Hugh, or change their estate therein in any way.

MEMBRANE 6.

March 7.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The abbot of St. Mary's, York, has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas he has accounted at the exchequer for the time when he and certain of his predecessors were collectors of divers tenths and aids granted to the late king by the clergy of England and of divers tenths imposed upon the clergy by the Roman court for the late king's use, and of the arrears of 987*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.* the sum of 170*l.* 15*s.* 9*d.* ought to have been levied of the temporalities of men of religion and of the tenths of churches and other ecclesiastical benefices in the northern parts wasted and destroyed by the Scots, and the abbot has been unable to levy anything of the latter sum by reason of the destruction aforesaid, and he has prayed the king to provide a remedy in this behalf: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to inform themselves as best they can concerning such benefices and temporalities wasted and destroyed in the parts aforesaid, and to discharge the abbot of the sum that they shall ascertain he was unable to levy by reason of the destruction aforesaid, charging each head of such debts according to the particulars concerning it. By pet. of C.

To the same. The aforesaid abbot has shewn, by petition before the king and his council, that John de Castre, the late king's keeper of Bernard's Castle, and William Druel, then receiver of the issues of the same, took corn of the abbot at Gaynford, within the bishopric of Durham, to the value of 45*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* for the garnisture and saving of the said castle, for the late king's use, in the 9th year of the reign, without any payment being made to the abbot therefor, and the abbot is indebted to the king in divers debts for the tenth for two years last collected by him, and he has prayed the king to cause the aforesaid 45*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* to be allowed to him in the debts due from him for the tenth aforesaid: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to examine the account of the said John and William rendered to the exchequer for the issues of the castle and victuals aforesaid, and if they find that they answered to the late king for the corn aforesaid, to cause the abbot to be allowed the price thereof in his said debts. By pet. of C.

Feb. 21.
Westminster.

To John de Kilvyngton, late keeper of the castle and honour of Pikeryng', co. York. Order to deliver to John de Kynardeseye, Michael de Meldon, and Elias de Stapelton, executors of the will of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, for the execution of his will, all the issues received by him from the castle and honour aforesaid and from the other lands of the earl in that county for the time that the said keeper had the custody thereof, for which answer was not made to the late king, and to deliver the earl's goods and chattels in his custody to the executors, as it is agreed in the present parliament that all those who were of the earl's quarrel in the late king's time to pursue Hugh le Despenser the elder, and Hugh le Despenser the younger, shall have their lands again, which were taken into the late king's hands as forfeited, and also the issues and arrears of fermes for which answer was not made to the late king, and also their goods and chattels still in the king's hands, because the quarrel is adjudged good and just in the said parliament and the judgments against those who were of the quarrel have been annulled. By K. and C.

Vacated, because it was restored.

The like to the following:

John de Leyk, keeper of the castle and honour of Tuttebury.

John de Lancastria, keeper of the castle and honour of Lancaster.

William de Tatham, keeper of the said earl's lands in Blakeburnshire and Bouland.

Thomas Deyvill, keeper of the castle and honour of Pountfreit.

Richard de Moseley, keeper of the castle of Sandale and Wakefeld.
 Odo (Edoni) de Stoke, keeper of the castle of Kenyilleworth.
 Robert de Hungerford, keeper of the said earl's lands in Wiltshire.

March 25. To Robert Power, chamberlain of North Wales. Order to pay to Giles Westminster. de Bello Campo, to whom the king has committed the custody of the castle of Beaumaris and the shrievalty of Kaernarvon, during pleasure, in the same way as John de Sapy lately had the custody by the late king's commission, or to him who supplies his place the usual fees and wages for himself and for the prisoners there, as was usual in the late king's time.

March 21. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle Westminster. further with the lands that belonged to John Haddock, a madman and idiot, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of his madness, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by an inquisition taken by the escheator that the said John held at his death no lands in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held at his death divers lands of John de Appeton by various services.

March 14. To the bailiffs of the city of Hereford. Order to cause John Hamelyn Westminster. to be delivered from prison in that city, as the sheriff of Hereford has returned to the king, in response to his order to certify him of the cause of John's arrest, that he caused the bailiffs to have return of the king's writ according to the liberty of the city, and that the bailiffs had answered to him that they caused the said John, notoriously a rebel and an adherent of the enemies of Queen Isabella and the king, to be attached and imprisoned by virtue of an order of the said queen and of the king before his accession to arrest and keep safely all persons then adhering notoriously to their enemies, and it is now shewn the king on behalf of John that he never adhered to the enemies of the said queen or of the king, and that he is prepared to stand to right when the said queen or the king will speak against him concerning the premises, and Andrew Pendok and William Strug of co. Gloucester, John de Aulton of co. Southampton, and Thomas de Shirig of co. Somerset have mainperned before the king in chancery to have the said John before the king in fifteen days from Easter Sunday to stand to right.

March 25. To Roger de Mortuo Mari of Wygemor. Order to cause 20*l.* yearly to Westminster. be paid to the prior and monks of St. Mary's, Bergeveny, for so long as he shall have the custody of the lands of John de Hastings', tenant in chief of the late king, which the king committed to him during the minority of John's heir, as the said John granted by his charter, which the king has inspected, to the prior and monks and their successors, for the health of his soul and the souls of his ancestors and successors, in augmentation of the estate of the priory and of the maintenance of the monks there, 20*l.* yearly to be received from his manor of Penros in Wales, until he or any of his heirs should provide the prior and monks with a lay fee or ecclesiastical benefice to the value of 20*l.* yearly in perpetual arms, and the prior and monks have received the said 20*l.* yearly from the time of the grant before and after John's death, and they have not been provided with a lay fee or ecclesiastical benefice in lieu thereof.

To the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer. Order to discharge Walter de Norwyco of the ferm of certain lands that belonged to William de Huntingfeld, tenant in chief of the late king, and of a third of the manors of Huntingfeld and Boeng, from 8 March last, when the king took the homage of Roger de Huntingfeld, son and heir of William, for his father's lands, and rendered them to him, the late king having committed the custody of the said lands and of the third of the said manors, which Sibyl, late the wife of William, held in dower of the inheritance aforesaid, and which were taken into the late king's hands upon her death, to the said Walter during the minority of the heir for a certain term.

March 23. To the sheriff of Sussex. Order to cause all the king's goods and Westminster. chattels in the manor of Rethersfeld and the corn sown in the demesne lands of the manor to be appraised and delivered to Alesia, late the wife of Edmund, earl of Arundel, or to her attorney by indenture, and to send the said indenture containing the price of the goods, chattels, and corn aforesaid to the exchequer with this writ, to be delivered to the treasurer and barons so that the price may be levied for the king's use, as Alesia has besought the king to grant her the said goods, chattels, and corn at a certain price, the said manor having been granted to her by the king in aid of the maintenance of herself and her boys until other ordinance should be made for her, and Robert de Estdon and William de Northoo of that county have mainperned in chancery on her behalf to answer for the price of the goods, chattels, and corn aforesaid.

The like to the following :

The sheriff of Southampton, for the manors of Mapelderwell, Berton, and Farlington.

The sheriff of Berks, for the manor of Stanvord.

The sheriff of Gloucester, for the manors of Marston and Fayreford.

March 1. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle Westminster. further with certain lands in Hounspell, co. Somerset, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the death of Herbert de Marisco, tenant in chief of the late king, and to restore the issues thereof to Isabella de Roges without diminution, as, upon its being found by inquisition taken by Robert de Bikkemore, the late king's escheator in cos. Cornwall, Devon, Somerset, and Dorset, that Herbert demised the said lands to Isabella for life, and that the lands are worth 10*l.* yearly in all issues, the king ordered the said Robert not to intermeddle further with the said lands and to restore the issues thereof to Isabella without diminution, and Robert was removed from office before he had executed the said order.

April 18. To the same. Order to pay to Richard le Mareschal 25*l.* out of the Stamford. issues of his bailiwick for Easter term last, in accordance with the late king's grant of 23 September, in the 11th year of his reign, of 50*l.* yearly in aid of his maintenance from the issues of the escheatry this side Trent, because Richard was ruined by the Scots.

April 23. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow the said Stamford. 25*l.* to the aforesaid escheator, which he has paid by virtue of the preceding order.

April 22. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain the Stamford. abbot of Evesham for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as the king has taken his fealty.

The like in favour of the following :

Feb. 13. To Thomas de Eyvill, keeper of the castle of Pontefract and receiver of Westminster. the issues there. Order to pay to Ralph de Bulmere 60*l.* by indenture, as, according to an account made with him, the wages of himself as a banneret and of two knights and other men-at-arms from 22 November last amount to more than 60*l.*, on which day William de Ros of Hamelak, whom Queen Isabella and the king before his accession appointed keeper of co. York, and to whom they granted power to take into their hands the castle aforesaid, and to ordain for the safe custody thereof, deputed Ralph with ten men-at-arms for the custody of the said castle at the king's wages. By p.s.
[Fœdera.]

April 5. To the sheriff of Huntingdon. Simon Hourgis, merchant of Amiens, Huntingdon. has shewn the king that whereas the late king ordained that the staple of wool, hides, and wool-fells should be held in certain places in the realm and not elsewhere, and caused proclamation to be made throughout his realm that all alien merchants should come into his realm with their goods and wares safely and securely, and for their greater security took alien merchants into his special protection, and Simon, confiding in the said proclamation, came to Huntingdon with divers goods and wares to trade there with the same, the sheriff took him at Huntingdon and arrested divers of his goods and wares by virtue of an order of the late king to arrest men and merchants of the power of the king of France with their goods and chattels, and still detains him in prison and keeps his goods and chattels under arrest, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the sheriff to cause Simon to be delivered from prison and his goods and wares to be released from arrest and delivered to him, if he ascertain that Simon came to that town confiding in the said proclamation with his goods and wares, and that he and his goods and wares were arrested by virtue of the said order of the late king. By p.s. [581.]

March 25. To the mayor and bailiffs of Southampton. Peter de Sancto Fuciano, Westminster. Robert de Sancto Fuciano, John Roundel, and Hugh Lengleche, merchants of Amiens, have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council, that whereas they came to that town, during the truce between the late king and the king of France, with 19 sarplers of wool containing 23 sacks and 46 nails of wool, price 20*5l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and 12 barrels of woad, price 128*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*, for the purpose of trading there with the same, John Clyve and Hugh Sampson, late collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and woolfells in the port of that town, and the mayor and bailiffs of the town arrested the wool and woad during the truce aforesaid, and the wool and woad were afterwards sold by the late king's order to Thomas de Bynedon, burgess of that town, and the money thence arising is still in his hands under arrest, wherefore the said merchants have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the mayor and bailiffs to cause the said money to be released from arrest, and delivered to the said merchants, if they ascertain that the merchants came to that town during the truce aforesaid, and that the wool and woad were arrested during the truce and were sold to the said Thomas, and that the money therefor is still in his hands. By pet. of C.

March 8. To the same. Order to release the aforesaid wool and woad from arrest, and to deliver it to the said merchants, if they ascertain that the merchants came to that town with the wool and woad during the truce aforesaid, and that the wool and woad were arrested during the truce. By pet. of C.
Westminster. The like to the sheriff of Southampton 'de verbo ad verbum.'

March 25. To Thomas de Bynedon, Burgess of Southampton. Order to deliver to the aforesaid merchants the money arising from the said wool and woad, if he ascertain that they came to the town during the aforesaid truce, and that the wool and woad were arrested during the truce. By pet. of C.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Walter de Norwico of the ferm of certain lands that belonged to William de Huntingfeld, tenant in chief of the late king, and of a third of the manors of Huntingfeld and Beeng, from 8 March last, when the king took the homage of Roger de Huntingfeld, son and heir of William, for his father's lands, and rendered them to him, the late king having committed the custody of the said lands and of the third of the said manors, which Sibyl, late the wife of William, held in dower of the inheritance aforesaid, and which were taken into the late king's hands upon her death, to the said Walter during the minority of the heir for a certain ferm.

Feb. 28. To the justiciary of Ireland for the time being or to come, or to him who supplies his place. Order to deliver to James le Botiller, son and heir of Edmund le Botiler of Ireland, the issues of his father's lands from 2 December, in the 19th year of the late king's reign, when the said king took his homage for his father's land, and rendered the same to him, as it is now shewn to the king on behalf of the said Edmund (sic), by petition before him and his council, that although he entered the lands in Ireland that are of his inheritance by pretext of the said order, the issues thereof from the said 2 December until 18 March following are detained from him. By pet. of C.
Westminster.

Feb. 5. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to receive from Benedict de Fulsham and John de Causton, late sheriffs of London and of the county of Middlesex, 300*l.* for the said shrievalties for their time, and to cause them to be discharged and acquitted of what is exacted from them over that sum for the said shrievalties for the time when they were sheriffs, as they have shewn the king that whereas his progenitors, kings of England, granted by their charters to the citizens of London the shrievalties aforesaid for 300*l.* yearly, to be held for ever, as is contained in the said charters, which the king has confirmed by his charter, and he has granted that nothing shall be exacted from the citizens beyond the 300*l.* for the shrievalties aforesaid, nevertheless the said Benedict and John are charged upon their account for that time with 400*l.* for the shrievalties aforesaid, which sum runs in demand against them contrary to the tenor of the charters aforesaid and the king's grant; wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy. By pet. of C.
Westminster.

March 1. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with certain lands in Hounesfell, co. Somerset, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the death of Herbert de Marisco, tenant in chief of the late king, and to restore the issues thereof to Isabella de Roges without diminution, as, upon its being found by inquisition taken by Robert de Bikkemore, the late king's escheator in cos. Cornwall, Devon, Somerset, and Dorset, that Herbert demised the said lands to Isabella for life, and that they are held of Richard Cogan, knight, by the service of  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. yearly, and that they are worth 10*l.* yearly in all issues
Westminster.

March 8. To Drogo Barentyn, keeper of the manor of Avynton, in the king's hands by the forfeiture of Hugh le Despenser, late earl of Winchester. Order to deliver the aforesaid manor to Emelina Longespee, as the king learns by inquisition taken by William de Harden and Robert de Hungerford that Emelina was seised of the manor by the demise of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, who demised it to her by deed for life in May, in the 7th year of the late king's reign, and that she was seised thereof and continued her seisin until 24 July, in the 16th year of the said king's reign, when the aforesaid Hugh disseised her of the same, and thus Hugh occupied the manor all his life by this disseisin, and that Emelina did not remit the manor to Hugh or change her estate therein in any way, and that the manor is in the king's hands by Hugh's forfeiture, and is held of the earl of Salisbury by the quarter of a knight's fee, and is worth in all issues 12*l*.

March 12. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 60*l*. 2*s*. 0*½d*. to be paid to Richard de Shupene, merchant, out of the issues of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London, or to cause that amount to be allowed to him in the money to be rendered on his wool to be taken out of that port, as he has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that the late king, by his letters patent under his seal called 'koket' of London, acknowledged that he had received the above sum as a loan from Richard, then a native merchant, in the 12th year of his reign, by the hands of William de Hedersete and William de Rude, then collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London, and granted by the same letters that Richard should be satisfied for the said sums out of the issues of the custom aforesaid, and he has not been satisfied for the same sum, wherefore he has prayed the king to cause that sum to be paid to him out of the issues of the said custom or to be allowed to him as above. By pet. of C.

March 14. To Ralph de Bereford, John de Scures, and John de Ticheburn. Whereas lately—at the prosecution of Margery, late the wife of Robert Lewer, by petition before the king and his council, suggesting that she had arramed an assize of novel disseisin before the said Ralph, John, and John against Ralph de Camoys and Elizabeth his wife, and Hugh their son, and others named in the original writ, concerning a tenement in Westbury, and that the said Ralph, Elizabeth, and Hugh in pleading before Ralph, John, and John proffered a charter of the late king's, whereby they asserted they held the tenement put in view of the grant of the said king, and alleged that they ought not to answer without the king, and that Ralph, John, and John deferred proceeding further in the assize for this reason—the king ordered the said Ralph, John, and John to proceed to the taking of the said assize according to the law and custom of the realm, notwithstanding the allegation aforesaid, and ordered them not to proceed to render judgment therein without consulting him; and afterwards the king, being given to understand that they had taken the assize by virtue of the said order, ordered Ralph to send to him the tenor of the record and process of the assize under his seal, and it is now found by the tenor of the assize aforesaid, thus sent to the king and seen and examined by him and his council, that Ralph, Elizabeth, and Hugh disseised Margery of the manor of Westbury, which she placed in view, long before the making of the said charter, which they afterwards acquired from the late king: the king therefore sends the tenor aforesaid enclosed in the presents to Ralph, John, and John, and orders them to proceed to render judgment in the assize aforesaid with all speed, notwith-

March 4. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the men of Westminster. the community of the county of Lancaster to be discharged and acquitted of fines for trespasses, and for escapes of thieves, and for having writs, and forfeited issues, and all amercements, and chattels of felons and fugitives of all the times of the king's progenitors until the first year of the late king's reign, as the king has pardoned them the same in response to their petition before him and his council, praying that he would pardon them all the debts exacted from them by summons of the exchequer for all the times of his progenitors until the first year of the late king's reign, in recompence for the damages and losses suffered by them by the burnings, robberies, and imprisonment at the hands of the Scots and other rebels and malefactors, and also all chattels of felons and fugitives of the time aforesaid. By pet. of C.

March 4. To the same. Order to cause each of the men of the aforesaid community Westminster. to have moderate attermination according to his estate at their discretion for all debts due from the men of the said community to the exchequer for fines and ransoms made by them before Hervey de Staunton and his fellows, the late king's justices to hold pleas before him. By pet. of C.

March 10. To the same. Order to receive from John de Cotom and Gilbert de Westminster. Mordon, late sheriffs of London and co. Middlesex, 300*l.* for the said shrievalties for their time, and to cause them to be discharged and acquitted of what is exacted from them over that sum for the said shrievalties for the time when they were sheriffs, as they have shewn the king that whereas his progenitors, kings of England, granted by their charters to the citizens of London the shrievalties aforesaid for 300*l.* yearly, to be held for ever, as is contained in the said charters, which the king has confirmed by his said charter, and he has granted that nothing shall be exacted from the citizens beyond the 300*l.* for the shrievalties aforesaid, nevertheless the said John and Gilbert are charged upon their account for that time with 400*l.* for the shrievalties aforesaid, which sum runs in demand against them contrary to the tenor of the charter aforesaid and the king's grant, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy. By pet. of C.

March 4. To John de Lancastria, keeper of the lands that belonged to Robert de Westminster. Holand in co. Lancaster, in the king's hands. Order to amove the king's hand from a third of a messuage and of 60 acres of land, and of 8 acres of meadow, and of 180 acres of pasture and several wood in Haydok, and from a third of a messuage of 15 acres of land in Orel, and from a third of a messuage and of 120 acres of land, and of 8 acres of meadow in Barton-near-Mancestre, and from a third of a messuage and of 7 acres of land and of 60 acres of pasture in Swynton near Le Hope, and from a third of a messuage and of 44 acres of land, and of 6 acres of meadow, and of 62 [acres] of several pasture, and of 10*s.* of rent in Heton near Fanfeld, and to permit William de Multon and Joan his wife to have the same, as it is found by inquisition taken by Robert de Notyngham and Gilbert de Syngelton in the keeper's presence by the late king's order that the said Joan was dowered of the premises after the death of William de Holand, her former husband, by the assignment of Robert de Holand, brother and heir of the said William de Holand, and that she continued her seisin thereof at her will, and that she afterwards demised the premises to the said Robert at ferm, to be held from year to year at her will, until she was ejected thence by John Travers and William de Tatham after Robert's forfeiture, and that Robert had no other estate in the tenements except in name of ferm during her will, and that William de Holand was seised in his demesne as of fee of the lands aforesaid on the day of his death, so that Joan ought to be dowered of a third thereof, and that William de Multon and Joan or Joan by herself have not remitted or quit-claimed their right to the dower to any one, and have not changed their estate therein in any way, and that there is no cause why Joan ought not to be dowered of the tenements whereof William de Holand died seised in his demesne as of fee, and that Joan was the wife of the said William de Holand on the day of his death.

April 6.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Richard de Perers, in the debts due from him to the exchequer, 99*l.* 18*s.* 5*d.* due to him from the late king for money paid by him to William de Wendovere and his fellows, soldiers (soldarii), for the arrears of their wages for staying in divers garrisons in Scotland, and for recompence for their horses lost in the said king's services in the garrisons aforesaid, in the 5th, 6th, and 7th years of his reign, as appears by a bill of the said king's wardrobe in Richard's possession, as Richard has besought the king to cause the above sum to be allowed to him in the debts due from him for the time when he was the late king's sheriff of Essex and Hertford. By pet. of C.

March 5.
Westminster.

To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Bartholomew de Assheburnham, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by William de Weston, late escheator in cos. Surrey, Sussex, Kent, Middlesex, and in the city of London, that Bartholomew held no lands at his death in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held the manor of Essheburnham of John de Britannia, earl of Richmond, in barony by knight service.

March 4.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to cause to be paid to Dougal Macdowell, executor of the will of John Daragill, what they shall find was in arrear to John at the time (a tempore) of his death of the 200 marks yearly granted to him by the late king, as Dougal has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the arrears to be paid to him in order to pay John's debts therewith, Dougal having shewn in his petition that when John returned to England from the late king's service in Ireland in the 9th year of his reign, the late king, because John was then impotent, so that he could not labour any more, and his lands in Scotland had been destroyed and wasted, ordained that he should dwell in London with his household, and that he should receive 200 marks yearly for his maintenance, and thereupon ordered his treasurer and chamberlains to pay John that sum yearly, and that although John dwelt at London for a year and a half after the said ordinance, when he died, he only received 100 marks for that time from the treasurer and chamberlains, for which reason John was indebted to divers men at the time of his death for debts for his maintenance, which debts are now exacted from Dougal. By pet. of C.

April 16.

To the collector of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Boston. Whereas Edward I. was indebted at his death by letters patent to divers men of the duchy [of Aquitaine] for the arrears of their wages of the time when they were in his army in the duchy, of which men Peter de Besaz is the proctor, and of the said debts 735*l.* sterling are still in arrear, wherefore the late king, at Peter's prosecution, ordered the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer of Dublin to pay this amount to

Peter, in the name of the said men, out of the first moneys of the issues of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the ports of Dublin and Droghda in Ireland; and Peter has now brought back into chancery and restored the writ of the late king ordering this payment, and has besought the king to cause payment to be made to him from the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in Boston or Kyngeston-on-Hull; and the king, pitying Peter's estate and wishing to accede to his supplication for the discharge of the souls of the king's grandfather and father, has granted that Peter may have and receive the 735*l.*, in the name of the said men, from the first moneys received of the issues of the custom at Boston by the hands of the collectors thereof, and he ordered the collectors to pay Peter this sum accordingly as speedily as possible, notwithstanding any order directed to them by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to carry the money from the custom to the exchequer: the king, wishing to hasten the payment, orders the collectors to pay 200*l.* to Peter out of the money collected by them and in their custody, notwithstanding any order of the treasurer or barons to carry the money from the issues of the custom to the exchequer.

March 10.
Westminster.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to admit Henry, son and heir of John de Grey, tenant in chief of the late king, to cause Robert de Sapy to come in the king's name to the exchequer to render account of the issues of the castle of Wilton, co. Hereford, and of the manor of Kempeleye, co. Gloucester, from 1 November in the 17th year of the late king's reign, until 15 March following, and to cause Richard de Grey of Codenovere to come in like manner to render account of the issues of the said castle and manor and of all the lands that descended to Henry from the aforesaid 15 March until the feast of St. Mary Magdalene after the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 17th year aforesaid, and to cause the money found to be due from Robert and Richard after they have rendered account to be paid to Henry, as Henry has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas he was in Gascony in the late king's service by his order from the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 17th year of his reign, until the feast of St. Mary Magdalene following, during which time his father died, to wit at the feast of SS. Simon and Jude, and he could not forthwith leave the said king's service to prosecute his seisin of the lands that descended to him in inheritance after his father's death, and the said Robert and Richard had the custody of the aforesaid castle, manor, and lands for the periods aforesaid by the late king's commissions to answer to him for the issues thereof, and they have not yet accounted for the issues in the exchequer and have not paid anything thereof to the king or his father, wherefore Henry has prayed the king to restore to him the issues received by Robert and Richard from the lands aforesaid, and the king, in consideration of the damages sustained by Henry by his stay in the said service and of the grateful service rendered by him to the king and his father, has granted to him the issues of the castle and lands levied by Robert and Richard for which answer has not yet been made to the king or to his father, and wills and grants that Henry shall be admitted at the exchequer in his name to cause Robert and Richard to come to the exchequer to render account.

town of Wismere, in the lordship of Henry de Matlenbergh, lord of Wis-mere, Rustok, and Stralsund (Stravensonde), and Arnald had gone to the towns of Lübeck (Lubish) and Hambergh with their goods, the late king frequently requested the said Henry and the burgomasters, schöffen, aldermen, and commoners (cōmarios) of the towns of Lübeck and Hambergh by his special letters to cause justice to be done to the aforesaid citizens for the sums thus due to them from John and Arnald and for their damages; and the said Henry and the burgomasters, schöffen, aldermen, and commoners, having received the late king's letters, did nothing in response, although they were frequently requested by the attorneys of the said citizens specially sent to those parts, but altogether failed to do them justice, as the mayor and community of the said city, having full information and proof of the matter, have testified to the king by their letters under their seal: the king, who is bound to aid all and singular his subjects in their just quarrels, not wishing to refrain any longer from aiding the aforesaid citizens in the recovery of their debts, orders the sheriffs to arrest all the goods and wares of the men and merchants of the lordship and power of the said Henry and of the said towns of Lübeck and Hambergh within their bailiwick to the value of 200*l.*, in part payment of the aforesaid 455*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.*, and to cause the same to be kept safely until the said citizens have been satisfied for the aforesaid 200*l.* together with their damages, or until further orders, certifying the king of their proceedings. The king has ordered the sheriff of Lincoln to arrest goods in like manner to the value of 127*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.*, and the bailiffs of Kyngeston-on-Hull to arrest goods in like manner to the value of 127*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.*, in full payment of the aforesaid sum.

May 2.
Nottingham.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Thomas le Blount and Juliana his wife to have all the goods and chattels in the manors of Sutton, Wynferthyng, Juvenellesbur[y], Suthanyfeld, Thurton, Reydon, and Toucestre, and in certain lands in Fanges and Assheden, and in a messuage in Suthwerk, which manors, lands and messuage were assigned to them by the king as Juliana's dower, and which came to the king by the forfeiture of Hugh le Despenser, the younger, to whom the late king committed the custody of the said manors, lands and messuages during the minority of the heir of John de Hastynges, and to cause Thomas and Juliana to have all the issues of the manors, messuage, lands and tenements pertaining to the king by reason of the premises for which answer has not yet been made to the late king, as the king has granted to Thomas and Juliana, in recompence for the damages sustained by them by the detention of Juliana's dower of the purparty falling to John de Hastynges, her former husband, of the lands of Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, all the goods and chattels in the manors assigned to them for Juliana's dower, and all issues thereof for which answer has not yet been made to the king or to his father.

March 25.

To Thomas de Bynedon, burgess of Southampton. Peter de Sancto Fuciano, Robert de Sancto Fuciano, John Roundell, and Hugh Lengleche, merchants of Amiens, have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council, that whereas they came to that town, during the truce between the late king and the king of France, with 19 sarplers of wool, containing 23 sacks and 46 nails of wool, price 205*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and 12 barrels of woad, price 128*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*, for the purpose of trading there with the same, John de Clive and Hugh Sampson, late collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of that town, and the mayor and bailiffs of that town arrested the wool and woad during the truce aforesaid, which were afterwards sold by the late king's order to the aforesaid Thomas, who made a recognisance in the exchequer to the late king for 369*l.* 5*s.* 2½*d.* for

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with a toft and a bovate of land in Thorp, within the wapentake of Wirkesworth, co. Derby, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Bolingbrok, the late king's escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, and Lancaster, that Juliana, daughter of William Morsel, held the toft and bovate of the late king in chief on the day of her death in socage, by the service of 2s. yearly and by suit to the wapentake aforesaid from three weeks to three weeks, and that the toft and bovate are worth 2s. yearly beyond the aforesaid rent repaid, and that she held no other lands of the late king or of others on the day of her death, and that Henry her son is her nearest heir and is aged 40 years, and the king has now ordered the aforesaid wapentake with the rent, farms, and all appurtenances to be delivered to Henry, earl of Lancaster, as brother and heir of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, who held the wapentake in chief of the late king.

To the same. Order to assign to Alesia, late the wife of Edmund, earl of Arundel, by letters patent under the exchequer seal, out of manors and lands in the king's hands, the value of the following manors, which the king lately granted to her in aid of the maintenance of her and her children: the manor of Berton, co. Southampton, of the value of 34*l.*; the manor of Stanvord, co. Berks, of the yearly value of 130*l.*; and the manor of Rethersfeld, co. Sussex, of the value of 106*l.* yearly: as the king now understands that the manor of Stanvord is in the seisin of Henry, earl of Lancaster, the manor of Rethersfeld is the seisin of Hugh Daudele, and that the manor of Berton is of the inheritance of the heir of John de Berewyk, who has now come of age.

To Thomas de Warthecoppe, keeper of the manor of Hoff, in the king's hands. Order not to intermeddle further with the said manor, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Skelton and Robert Parnyng, by his order, that Ranulph de Dacre demised the manor to Master Michael de Harcla for life on Sunday after the Purification, in the 16th year of the late king's reign, by indenture, and that Ranulph never afterwards remitted his right therein or changed his estate therein in any way, and that the manor came to the late king's hands by reason of Michael's adhesion to the Scots, and is still in his hands for this reason and for no other, and that the manor is held of Robert de Clifford by the service of 9s. for cornage for all service, and that it is worth yearly in all issues 5 marks.

To H. bishop of Lincoln. Whereas the king lately presented his clerk John de Ixworth to the church of Merkefeld, void and pertaining to his donation by reason of the lands that belonged to Robert de Holand being in his hands, and the prior of Charleye, scheming to impede the king in his behalf, likewise presented William de Sallowe, chaplain, his clerk, to the said church, and the king prohibited the bishop admitting any person to the church until it should be discussed in his court whether the advowson pertained to him or to the aforesaid prior; as the prior has now asserted

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to Margaret, late the wife of Bartholomew de Badelesnere, the manor of Addridele and the advowson of the same, co. Salop, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Bartholomew and Margaret acquired them jointly, in the 5th year of the late king's reign, from William de Monteforti, knight, to have to them and the heirs of Bartholomew, and that Margaret continued her seisin thereof jointly with Bartholomew peacefully for three years, until Bartholomew granted the manor and advowson to the late king in exchange for the castle of Ledes, co. Kent, and that the manor and advowson are held of the king in chief by knight service, and are worth (valet) 40*l.* yearly in all issues, and the king, considering that the exchange was made in prejudice of the crown, and willing that the castle shall remain to him and his crown, notwithstanding the said exchange, has rendered the manor and advowson to Margaret, to hold as she held it before the exchange.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. To the justiciary and chancellor of Ireland, for the present or for the future. James le Botiller of Ireland, son and heir of Edmund le Botiler of Ireland, tenant in chief of the late king, has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas the prise of wines of Ireland, whence he derives his surname (unde cognomen suum gerit), and he and his ancestors have derived their name from time out of mind, pertains to him, to wit a tun of wine before the mast and a tun behind the mast from each ship laden with wines for sale coming to that land to the cities of Dublin, Drogheda (Drochda), Waterford, Cork, and Lymeryk, for 40*s.* to be paid to the merchants from whom the wines are taken, of which prise his ancestors have always hitherto died seised in their demesne as of fee from the time aforesaid, and the late king took his homage for all the lands that Edmund his father held at his death in chief, and ordered the justiciary for that time to deliver them to him, nevertheless the said justiciary has deferred delivering the prise of the wines to James because express mention of it is not made in the writ, which only mentions lands and tenements, wherefore James has besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the justiciary and chancellor to inspect the inquisitions made by the late king's orders concerning the lands that belonged to Edmund in Ireland, and if they find that the prise of wines was extended amongst the lands therein contained, and that it was taken into the late king's hands, to cause it to be delivered to James. If the prise was not extended amongst the lands and was not taken into the late king's hands upon Edmund's death, they are ordered to call before them those who ought to be called, and to take information by inquisition or otherwise whether Edmund was seised of the prise in his demesne as of fee on the day of his death, and whether the prise was taken into the late king's hands by reason of his death, and [if so], they are to cause James to have seisin of the prise.

March 10. To the treasurer and barons. Order to cause 47*l.* 19*s.* 2½*d.* to be paid out Westminster. of the issues of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London to Roesia de Bureford, executrix of the will of John de Bureford, late citizen of London, or to cause that sum to be allowed to her out of the custom on her wool to be taken out of that port, as she has shewn the king, by petition before the king and his council, that the late king acknowledged, by divers letters patent under the seal called 'coket' of London, that he has received by way of loan, in the 11th and 12th years of his reign, from the aforesaid John, then a native-born merchant, the aforesaid sum by the hands of William de Hedersele and William de Rude, then collectors of the custom in the said port, and he granted by the said letters that John should be satisfied for this sum out of the issues of the custom aforesaid, as contained in the said letters in her possession, for which sum satisfaction has not yet been made to John or to any one in his name, and she has prayed the king to cause it to be paid to her or allowed to her as above.

March 6. To the same. John de Causton, citizen of London, and Eva his wife, Westminster. executrix of the will of Simon de Abyndon, Eva's late husband, have shewn the king that Edward I. was indebted to Simon in 25 marks for cloth taken from him for the said king's use, in the 31st, 33rd, and 34th years of his reign, by Ralph de Stokes, then keeper of his wardrobe, as appears by three bills under Ralph's seal in their possession, and they have prayed the king to cause the above sum to be allowed to John in the debts due from him to the exchequer of the time when he was one of the sheriffs of London: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause allowance to be made accordingly, if they ascertain that the cloth was thus taken for the late king's use, and that the late king owes Simon the said sum for this reason, and that satisfaction therefor has not been made to Simon or any one in his name. the cloth was worth 22½ marks, and that he has not been satisfied for that sum, and he has prayed the king to cause that sum to be allowed to him in the debts due from him to the exchequer of the time when he was one of the sheriffs of London: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause allowance to be made accordingly, if they find, by examination of the aforesaid process in the exchequer between the said John and John, that the cloth was of the assize and ought not to have been forfeited, and was of the value of 22½ marks, and that Ralph was charged in his account at the exchequer with the cloth.

And the king's words on his coronation were as follows under oath:

'Sire, will you grant and keep and by your oath confirm to the people of England the laws and the customs granted to them by the ancient kings of England, your rightful predecessors devout to God, and especially the laws, customs, and franchises granted to the clergy and the people by the glorious king Saint Edward, your predecessor?'—Answer: 'I grant and promise them.'

'Sire, will you observe to God and Holy Church and to the clergy and people peace and accord in God entirely, according to your power?'—Answer: 'I will observe them.'

'Sire, will you cause to be done in all your judgments equal and right justice and discretion in mercy and truth, to your power?'—Answer: 'I will do so.'

'Sire, will you grant to hold and keep the rightful laws and customs that the commonalty of your realm shall choose, and will you defend them and strengthen them, to the honour of God, to your power?'—Answer: 'I grant and promise these.' French.

John de Lynham puts in his place David de Wollovre and Roger Basset to challenge an inquisition made by the king's writ of diem clausit extremum concerning the death of Francis de Aldham.

Be it remembered, that on 3 February, in the first year of the reign of King Edward, son of King Edward, son of King Edward, son of King Henry, certain petitions were shewn in the parliament then held at Westminster, by the knights and the commune of the quarrel of the earl of Lancaster, in the form following: 'To our lord the king, etc., pray the knights and the commune unjustly disinherited, imprisoned, robbed, banished, and exiled, who were of the quarrel of the noble earl of Lancaster, that they may be restored to their lands with the issues since the time when they were unjustly seized.' To which petition it was answered, by the common assent of all the parliament, that all the lands and tenements, as well in Ireland and Wales as in England, that were seized by reason of the quarrel of the earl of Lancaster, which has been affirmed good by all the parliament, shall be restored with all the issues and arrears of fermes for which the king has not been satisfied (servi).

Also the knights and the commune aforesaid pray that they may have recovery of their goods and chattels whereof they were despoiled and robbed wrongly, with all the wastes and damages that they have received in their said lands by the keepers. To which answer was made by the common assent of all the parliament that all their goods that can be found to be in the king's hands shall be restored, and they shall have recovery of their other goods taken by others against the takers. As to the wastes and destructions made by the keepers or fermors, they shall have their recovery against the keepers or fermors.

Also the said knights and commune pray that it may please the king to revoke, reverse, and annul all manner of outlawries, banishments, fines of lands, ransoms, recognisances, obligations, penalties, sales of land and gifts made by force or by duress (durte) to Hugh le Despenser, the father, or to Hugh le Despenser, the son, after their exile, to Edmund, earl of Arundel, to Robert de Baldok, to Walter de Stapelton, late bishop of Exeter, or to any other who may be found to be of their adherence. To which answer was made by the common assent of all the parliament that the outlawries and banishments made by reason of the quarrel shall be reversed and annulled, and that the arrears of ransoms shall be annulled. As to fines for trespasses, obligations, recognisances, penalties, and ransoms by reason of the said quarrel, those made in chancery shall be condemned, and they shall have writs to the exchequer and elsewhere to condemn them, whatever part thereof they may have paid (faitz). As to fines and sales of land and gifts made by force and duress, it is agreed and adjudged that fines, gifts, and recognisances of land made and levied after the exile to the persons named, etc., by force and duress shall be defeated, and that of this an article of the statute shall be made.

Also the knights and the commune aforesaid pray that it may please the king and his council to ordain in this parliament by statute that none of those who came with him or his mother into his realm or who came specially for their aid shall be impeached, aggrieved, molested, or damaged in any court for matter that was done for the pursuit of Hugh and Hugh, or of any of their adherents, traitors and enemies of the realm, from the day of their arrival until the day of his coronation. To which petition it was answered by the common assent of all the parliament that it shall be ordained by statute that none of those who lately came into the realm with the king or his mother, and none of those who dwelt in the realm and afterwards came in aid of the king and his mother, as is above said, shall be impeached, molested, or aggrieved in the court of the king or of any other for the taking of persons, castles, or chattels, death of men, or other matters done in the said pursuit from the day when the king and queen arrived until the coronation, as is above said; provided nevertheless that malefactors who did trespasses or other evil deeds apart from the pursuit to the good men of the country may not cover themselves by this statute, but shall be responsible to the law.

Also the knights and the said commune pray that those of the quarrel who escaped from prison may have charters of pardon for their escape without giving anything therefor. To which petition it was answered and agreed by common assent, etc., that they shall have them without giving anything that pertains to the king.

Also, on the 13th day of the same month of February, it was agreed by common assent of all the parliament that the knights and all the others of the quarrel, etc., in pursuit of Sir Hugh le Despenser, the father, and the son, and the other evil councillors of the king and enemies of the land, shall be restored to their lands and tenements, as well those that they had in demeane as in reversions, franchises, fees, bailiwicks, offices, advowsons of churches, and all other things pertaining thereto in England, Wales, and Ireland that were taken into the king's hands by reason of the said quarrel, to whose hands soever the said lands, tenements, and the other things may have come, as well infants under age as others, by feoffment or otherwise; but it is not the council's intention that those who have sold, released, or quit-claimed their lands of their free will shall be restored by this agreement.

It is also agreed that ladies and widows who have purchased lands and inheritances, and whose dowers were seized into the king's hands by reason of the said quarrel, shall be meanwhile restored to their lands, in the same manner as men of the quarrel aforesaid.

It is also agreed that all those who have lands of the king's gift that were taken into the king's hands at another time by reason of the quarrel aforesaid, shall answer for the issues of the said lands for the time that they have held them to those to whom the lands belonged, in the same manner as if they had been keepers, especially as the king took no profit; and if waste or destruction have been done in their time, they shall answer [therefor] in the same manner.

Also that presentments and collations of benefices of holy church made by the king, the clerks whereof were of the said quarrel and are still alive, and some of whom are dead, which presentments and collations pertained to the men of the quarrel after the death of the said earl, whether with cure or without cure, shall be revoked as quickly as the law of holy church will allow. French. The prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England prays the king and his council that whereas the lands that belonged to the [order of the] Temple ought by statute to be ordained and delivered to the said Hospital, the said lands shall be excepted in the statute, and the writs that shall be made to the disinherited men to have their lands again—[Incomplete.]*

Pleas before the king and his council at Westminster, in the presence of the king, the proceres and magnates of the realm in parliament assembled, on the morrow of the Purification of St. Mary, 1 Edward III.

Henry de Lancastria, brother and heir of Thomas, sometime earl of Lancaster, came into this parliament, and exhibited before the king, the proceres and magnates of the realm and the king's council a petition to this effect: The aforesaid Henry prays the king that, whereas the said Thomas was unreasonably adjudged to death before the late king and his council at Pountfreit, in the 15th year of his reign, by an erroneous process then made against him, by which judgment he was put to death and his heirs were disinherited, the record and process whereof are in the chancery, it may please the king to order the chancellor to cause the record and process of the judgment to come here in parliament, and that they may be recited and examined, so that any error in them may be redressed, and that right may be done in the matter to Henry, as brother and heir of Thomas, and that his inheritance may be delivered to him. French.

By pretext of which petition, the chancellor was ordered by the king to search the rolls of the late king's chancery for the aforesaid year, and to cause the record and process aforesaid to be brought here in parliament, etc.; and the chancellor afterwards proffered the record and process here in these words:

'Pleas of the crown held before the Lord King Edward, son of the Lord King Edward, held in his presence at Pontefract on Monday before the Annunciation, in the 15th year of his reign. Whereas Thomas, earl of Lancaster' [etc., as in Fædera, ii. 479, to quod executio tantummodo fiat super ipsum Thomam comitem quod decapitetur].

And hereupon, in the presence of the king and the proceres and magnates of the realm and others here in parliament, the record and process aforesaid having been recited and read, the said Henry is asked for what reason he has caused the record and process to come here; and he says that he is the brother and heir of the said earl, and that he has caused the record and process aforesaid to come here by reason of the errors in the same, which he prays may be corrected, etc. And he is told to shew the errors, etc. And he says that there is error in this, that whereas every liege man of the king taken for seditions, homicides, robberies, arson, and other felonies in time of peace, and in whatsoever court of the king's he may be brought, ought by the law and custom of the realm to be arraigned of such seditious and other felonies charged against him, and ought to be put to answer, and ought to be convicted thereof by law, etc., before he be adjudged to death, nevertheless, although the said Thomas was a liege man of the late king, etc., and was taken in time of peace and brought before the said king, the said king, etc., recorded that Thomas was guilty of the seditious and felonies contained in the aforesaid record and process, without arraignment him thereof or putting him to answer, as is the custom according to the law, etc., and thus Thomas was adjudged to death in error and against the law of the land in time of peace without arraignment or answer, since it is notorious and manifest that all the time during which Thomas was charged with doing the evil deeds contained in the record and process, and also the time when he was taken, and when the late king recorded that he was guilty, etc., and the time when he was adjudged to death was a time of peace, especially as during all that time the chancery and other places (placee) of the king's court were open, and law was done in them to each person, as was usually done, and the late king never rode with banners unfurled during that time; the late king, etc., therefore ought not to have thus recorded against the earl in such time of peace, and ought not to have adjudged him to death without arraignment and answer. He also says that there is error in this, that whereas Thomas was one of the peers and magnates of the realm, and it is contained in Magna Carta that no free man shall be taken, imprisoned, or disseised of his freehold or liberties or free customs, or be outlawed or exiled, or destroyed in any way, and the king shall not go against him or send against him except by lawful judgment of his peers or by the law of the land, the said Thomas was erroneously adjudged to death by record of the king, as is aforesaid, in time of peace without arraignment or answer or lawful judgment of his peers, contrary to the law, etc., and contrary to the tenor of Magna Carta; wherefore he prays that the said errors may be corrected and that the judgment aforesaid may be annulled as erroneous, etc., and that he may be admitted to his inheritance as brother and heir of the said Thomas, etc. And as, the record and process aforesaid having been inspected and fully understood, it is considered by the king, proceres, magnates and whole community of the realm in the said parliament, that, by reason of the errors aforesaid and others in the record and process, the judgment rendered against the said earl Thomas shall be revoked and annulled as erroneous, and that the aforesaid Henry shall be admitted as brother and heir of the said Thomas to demand and have his inheritance, making due process therefor as is the custom, and that he shall have writs to the chancellor and justices in whose places (placeis) the record and process are enrolled to cause the record and process to be cancelled and annulled, etc. [*Rot. MEMBRANE 4d.

May 1.
Nottingham.

To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Whereas the late king ordained that the staples of merchants and merchandise, and especially of wool, hides, and wool-fells, and tin, should be held at certain places in England, Wales, and Ireland, and not elsewhere, to wit at Newcastle-on-Tyne, York, Lincoln, Norwich, London, Winchester, Exeter, and Bristol, for England, and at Droghda and Cork for Ireland, Shrewsbury, Kermeryn, and Kaerdif for Wales, and for tin of Cornwall at Loetwythiel and Treureu, and for tin of Devon at Asperton, and it is contained in the said articles that merchants of England, Wales, and Ireland bringing wool, hides, and wool-fells and tin to any of the staples aforesaid shall not take the same elsewhere out of the king's power unless they have previously stayed in the staple with the said goods for forty days, after which time they can take their merchandise whither they will within or without the king's realm without holding or making any staple elsewhere; the king, wishing this ordinance to be observed, and because it is contained in certain letters of the late king sent to some of the aforesaid staples that merchants coming to those staples with their merchandise aforesaid should be bound to stay there for fifteen days only, and in the letters sent to the mayor of London mention was made of a stay of forty days, and the king wishes to remove this ambiguity, and that the same stay shall be observed in all the staples, orders the mayor and sheriffs to cause the aforesaid ordinance to be proclaimed in the city, and to be observed in all its articles, informing all persons that the king's intention is that all and singular merchants coming to the staple of that city, or to any other staple within his realm and power, with the aforesaid merchandise shall stay in such staple for forty days before they go thence with their merchandise: all which things the king has ordered to be published in the places of the other staples.

To the burgomasters, échevins, and community of the town of Bruges. The king learns from the mayor and certain citizens of London that the burgomasters, échevins, and community have complained to them by their letters that, after the truce was concluded between the king, for his subjects, and them and others of Flanders, their adherents, certain malefactors of Sandwich and Winchelse were alleged to have taken a ship of the town of Newport, laden with divers wares to the value of 200*l.*, on the sea near Boulogne, and that, after they had slain the mariners thereof, they took it whither they would. The king is much disturbed at hearing of this, and he is very desirous that such an offence shall be severely punished, and he therefore signifies to the burgomasters, échevins, and community that if they or the persons who have suffered damage will send proctors or envoys to him to obtain justice, he will be prepared, according to the requirements of the truce, to exhibit justice to them in all things with all speed, and to punish the offenders upon conviction so severely that others doing the like shall be struck with fear. It is not fitting that the truce shall be broken by reason of this offence, if it have been so committed, since safety cannot easily be provided against the attacks of such pirates, and it will not be the king's fault if attempts against the truce be not duly emended.

To William la Zouche of Assheby, keeper of the land of Glaumorgan. Order to ascertain by inquisition and otherwise what lands of the king's and of others Griffin, John, Meurik, Roger, William, and Llewelin, sons and heirs of Llewelin de Bren, have entered, under colour of the king's grant that they should have all the lands that belonged to their father and the lands that were of their acquisition in the fees of Seigheneth and Meskyn, made in response to their petition, shewing that Hugh le Despenser, the younger, had fraudulently caused them to be disinherited and disseised thereof, and under colour of the king's order to the late keeper of the land of Glaumorgan to maintain them in possession of the said lands until the last parliament, the king having afterwards ordered the said William to permit them to retain and have the said lands; and to resume into the king's hands the lands that he shall find that they have entered against the king and his said tenants, and to do further what he shall think fit for the king and the tenants, according to right and the custom of those parts, as the king is given to understand that Griffin, John, Meuric, Roger, William, and Llewelin have entered divers lands of his and of his tenants in those parts under colour of the aforesaid grant and orders, and that they still occupy them.

May 6.
Nottingham.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Maurice de Suthpederton, clerk, who was born of the power of the king of France, has shewn the king that the late king, by reason of the war between him and the king of France in the duchy [of Aquitaine], caused a messuage, 50 acres of land, 6 acres of meadow, and 6s. 1d. of yearly rent in Suthpederton, which Elias Daubeneye demised to Maurice for life, to be taken into his hands with the lands of alien men of religion, and Maurice afterwards received the tenements of the late king, by commission of his exchequer, for 60s. yearly to be rendered to the exchequer for so long as the tenements should remain in his hands, and Maurice has prayed the king to discharge him of the said rent: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to discharge Maurice of the aforesaid rent, if they ascertain that the tenements were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the war aforesaid, and that Maurice received them from the late king in form aforesaid; provided that any arrears of the said rent be levied for the king's use.

To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to deliver to Margaret, late the wife of John Giffard, 200 acres of wood pertaining to the manor of Walles, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Annesle and Robert de Aston that Margaret and John her son acquired the said manor to them and to John's heirs from Adam Caylli, of whom John le Caylli held it for life, by reason of which acquisition John le Caylli attorned himself of his fealty to Margaret and John her son, and that Margaret and John her son, in the 11th year of the late king's reign, recovered the aforesaid 200 acres of wood as appurtenant to the manor against the said John le Caylli, tenant for life of the manor, before the justices of the Bench by writ of waste, and after the recovery Margaret granted to John her son that he should hold the wood sole for life, and that she made no other estate thereof to him, nor remitted her right nor changed her estate therein in any way, and that the wood was taken into the late king's hands after the death of John Giffard as forfeited, by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, in the fifteenth year of his reign, and that it is still in the king's hands for this reason, and that the whole manor is held of the bishop of Worcester by the service of half a knight's fee, and that the wood is worth yearly in all issues half a mark.

To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to deliver to the aforesaid Margaret the manor of Side, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the aforesaid John and Robert that the said Margaret and John her son acquired the manor from Adam Caylli, to them and to John's heirs, and that Margaret afterwards granted to John that he should hold the manor sole for life, and that she made no other estate therein to him, nor remitted her right therein in any other way, and that the manor was seised into the late king's hands in the 15th year of his reign, after John's death, as forfeited to him by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and that the said king, in the same year, gave the manor to Hugh le Despenser, late earl of Winchester, to hold for life, with remainder to Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and to his heirs, and that Margaret never remitted the manor to the earl nor changed her estate therein in any way, and that the manor was taken into the late king's hands by Hugh's forfeiture, and that it is still in the king's hands for this reason, and that it is held of John de Acton by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee, and is worth yearly in all issues 4*l.* 1*s.* 3*d.*

March 13. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage, 55 acres of land, 10 acres of meadow, and 6 acres of pasture in Westminster, as the king learns by inquisition taken by Robert de Asshele and Robert de Swalclif that William Pente of London, at the feast of St. Thomas the Apostle, in the 7th year of the late king's reign, demised the tenements aforesaid, which he had of the inheritance of Thomas Pente, his father, to John de la Beche, for the term of sixteen years, rendering therefor 5 marks yearly, with power for William to enter the tenements and hold them quit of the said John whenever the rent should be wholly or partly in arrear, and that John paid him 20 marks for the first four years at the time of the demise, and that John held the tenements from that time until Palm Sunday, in the 15th year of the late king's reign, without paying anything therefor to William, upon which day the late king caused the tenements to be taken into his hands because John was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and detained them in his hands from then, and they are thus in the king's hands, and that William did not remit the tenements to the late king or to the aforesaid John, and did not change his estate therein in any way, and that the tenements are not held of the king, and it has been agreed by the king, the prelates, earls, barons, and community of the realm that those who were of the said quarrel shall have again their lands that were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel.

March 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the late king's commission to John de Erleye of the lands of John de Wroxhale to be annulled, and to cause him to be discharged of the ferm of 53*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and of the arrears thereof for which answer has not yet been made to the king or his father, as the king lately commanded him to deliver the issues and the arrears of the fermes of the aforesaid lands to the said John de Wroxhale, who was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, in accordance with the ordinance in the late parliament at Westminster, as John de Erleye has shewn the king that the late king, on 22 October, in the 19th year of his reign, committed the said lands to him for six years from Michaelmas preceding at the aforesaid ferm, and he has prayed the king to annul the said commission and to discharge him of the ferm and its arrears.

Feb. 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John de Westminster. Nevyl to be discharged of 450*l.*, the remainder of a fine of 500*l.* made by him with the late king, because he was a member of the household of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, to save his life and to have his lands again, as he has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to remit and pardon this sum, and it has been agreed in the present parliament that all fines and ransoms made by reason of the said earl's quarrel shall be annulled and cancelled.

May 7. To William Coterel. Order to deliver to Matilda, late the wife of Nottingham. William le Wyn, and executrix of his will, all the issues of William's lands, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, for the time when William Coterel had the custody thereof, and the rents and the arrears of fermes of the said lands for which answer was not made to the late king, and also the goods and chattels of the said William le Wyn in his custody, as it was agreed in the parliament at Westminster that those who were of the quarrel of the said earl shall have their lands again, and the fermes, rents, arrears, etc.

To the steward of the castle and honour of Knaresburgh, and keeper of the chace there, and to him who supplies his place. Whereas, at the suggestion of the prelates, earls and barons, and community of the realm in the parliament at Westminster that the perambulations made by order of Edward I. in his forests and granted and confirmed by him and the late king were not observed, and that perambulations in certain of the forests had not been made according to the grants of the said kings, the king granted that the perambulations aforesaid thus granted and confirmed should be held and observed for ever under the metes and bounds contained in the late king's letters patent; the king wills that the perambulations that were not then made in some of the forests shall be made as quickly as possible by his subjects to be appointed for this purpose; and he now understands that although in the free chace aforesaid—which he has assigned, together with the castle and honour, to Queen Isabella for life—no perambulation was made in the times of Edward I. or Edward II., and although he has appointed no men to make such perambulation, nevertheless certain persons have made a perambulation in the chace aforesaid by their own authority, and have placed bounds and hedges (divisas) in the king's soil there without his assent, and chase and take beasts, fell oaks, and presume to do other things in places thus put by them outside the chace to the prejudice of the king and his mother: the king therefore orders the steward, or him who supplies his place, to go to the chace in person, and to survey the perambulation thus made and the bounds and hedges thus placed, and if he find that any places have been placed outside the chace by the perambulation, he is to take them into the chace again, and to cause them to be kept in the chace as they were wont to be in the times of the king's grandfather and father, until otherwise ordered.

June 2.
York. To William Husey. Order to deliver to Roger son of John Husey, kinsman and heir of John de Berewyk, the manor of Heggecourt, which is of Roger's inheritance, and which is in William's custody by demise from Master Gilbert de Middelton, archdeacon of Northampton, to whom the late king committed the manor during Roger's minority, as the king has taken Roger's homage for the lands that the said John de Berewyk held in chief of the late king, Roger having proved his age before William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent.

To William de la Becche. Order to deliver to the aforesaid Roger the manors of Thoppesfeld and Northyngton, of his inheritance, which are in William's custody by the late king's commission.

June 7.
York. To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to cause the abbot of Swynesheved to have seisin of a messuage, 4 acres of land, and an eighth of an acre of meadow in Great Hale, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that they were held of the abbot by John son of Elias le Couper, who was hanged for felony, and that they were in the late king's hands for a year and a day, and that Matthew Broun, the late king's sub-escheator in that county, had the late king's year, day, and waste thereof, and ought to answer to the king for the same.

June 6.
York. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. W. bishop of Norwich has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas the late king was bound by letters patent under his privy seal to Walter de Goswyk, merchant and burgess of Berwick-on-Tweed, now deceased, in 575 marks, and the bishop, before he became bishop, satisfied Walter by the late king's will, and the bishop was satisfied for 100 marks only of this sum in the late king's time, and he has prayed the king to order payment of the remaining 475 marks to be made to him, notwithstanding that the aforesaid letters do not say who ought to be charged with this sum against the king: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the said letters, and to cause assignment to be made to the bishop for the remainder of the said sum upon wardships and marriages, or to cause suitable satisfaction to be made to him otherwise, notwithstanding that the aforesaid letters do not say who ought to be charged with the money. By pet. of C.

June 9.
York.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors of Mildenhale and Greywelle, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Meriet held them on the day of his death by the courtesy of England of the inheritance of Mary, his late wife, and that Reginald de Mohun, the late lord of the manors, gave them to William his son, to him and the heirs of his body, and that Eleanor and Mary, William's daughters, died without heirs of their bodies, and that the manors ought to revert to John de Mohun, kinsman and heir of the said Reginald, by the form of the gift aforesaid, and that the manor of Greywelle is held of the castle of Odiham, in Queen Isabella's hands, by divers services, and that the manor of Mildenhale is held of the earl of Salisbury as parcel of the manor of Aldebourne by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee.

June 8.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Henry, son and heir of John de Grey, tenant in chief of the late king, has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that whereas he stayed in the late king's service in Gascony from the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 17th year of his reign, until the feast of St. Mary Magdalene following, during which time his father died, to wit at the feast of SS. Simon and Jude, and Henry could not forthwith leave the said king's service to prosecute his seisin of the lands that descended to him in inheritance after his father's death, as the custom is, and Richard de Grey, to whom the late king committed the custody of the said lands, rendering therefor 500 marks yearly to the exchequer, had the lands at ferm from 15 March, in the 17th year, until the said feast of St. Mary following, and answered to the late king for nothing for that time, and Henry has prayed the king to cause what is due from Richard for the aforesaid time to be restored to him; the king, in consideration of the damages sustained by Henry in the said service and of his grateful service to him and his father, has granted to him what is thus owing by Richard to the exchequer, and he therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause to be levied and paid to him what they shall find to be due from Richard for the said time. ## MEMBRANE 23.

- June 10. To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order to cause dower to York. be assigned to Isabella, late the wife of Henry de Notingham, tenant by knight service of the heir of Roger Beler, tenant in chief of the late king, a minor in the king's wardship.
- June 8. To L. bishop of Durham. The king lately—upon being given to York. understand that the bishop had entered the manor of Hert and the lands pertaining to it, in the king's hands, by force and arms, and had occupied the king's goods and chattels found therein, and had levied the issues, ferms, and rents pertaining to the king for his own use—ordered the bishop to cause to be corrected and amended what had been attempted by him or his men against the king in his behalf, and to cause to be restored to the king's keepers there the goods and chattels, issues, ferms, and rents received by the bishop or his men, and to certify the king of his proceedings; and the bishop has signified to the king that he had ordered his ministers not to intermeddle with the manors and tenements in any way, and to restore to the king's keepers any goods and chattels, or issues, ferms or rents thus occupied or levied by them, and that if they refused to do so, he would himself cause the premises to be done, and would cause any excesses committed by his ministers to be corrected and amended, and that the goods found in the manor and lands, the issues, ferms, and rents had not come in any way to his hands or profit: as the bishop's ministers have not yet restored the manor and lands and issues, ferms, and rents, as the king is given to understand, he again orders the bishop to cause the manor and lands, and the goods and chattels, and the issues, ferms, and rents received by his ministers to be restored without delay to Robert de Clifford, to whom the king has committed the custody of the manor, lands, and tenements aforesaid, or to William Fauvel and Thomas de Wheteleye, attorneys of the said Robert in this behalf, so that it may not behove the king to apply a heavier hand, in the bishop's default.
- June 9. To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle York. further with a messuage and a carucate of land of William de Chevereston in Shupton, and to restore the issues thereof, as Robert de Bikkemore, late escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Devon, and Cornwall, has returned to the king that he took the messuage and land into the king's hands because Emma de Gorges, who held them of the king as of the honour of Cristchirch, in the king's hands, enfeoffed the said William thereof without the king's licence.
- June 6. To the same. Order to cause a third of the manor of Somerford Keynes, York. which manor is of the yearly value of 12*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, and a third of the manor of Chelworth, which manor is of the yearly value of 103*s.* 4*d.*, and a third of 10 marks of yearly rent in Piriton and Chelworth to be assigned and delivered to Eleanor de Keynes, late the wife of Robert de Keynes, as the king has assigned the same to her in dower, in response to her petition, because he learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that the said Robert, in the time of Edward I., after his marriage with Eleanor, enfeoffed Hugh le Despenser, late earl of Winchester, of the said manors and rent,

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Uggele, co. Essex, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Blomvill, late escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex, and Hertford, that William Tochet held no lands in chief of the late king at his death, but that he was seised of the said manor in his demesne as of fee, and that it is held of John de Claveryng by the service of a knight's fee, and that Richard Tochet, William's brother, is his next heir and is of full age.

June 5.
York.

To John de Orreton, Robert de Barton, John de Skelton, Anthony de Lucy, and Adam de Hoperton. Order to continue until the king's return from the north, or until otherwise ordered, the plea commenced between Alexander de Moubray and Walter, abbot of Fountains, and others named in the original writ, by virtue of the king's appointment of the said John, Robert, and John, as his justices to hear and determine a trespass committed upon Alexander at Castelbrig by the abbot and others, the king having afterwards associated Anthony and Adam with the aforesaid justices, as the king now understands that many of those indicted of the said trespass before John, Robert, and John are setting out in the king's service against the Scotch rebels, and the king considers that his expedition may be retarded by such indictments.

May 28.
York.

To Simon de Gryme[s]by, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage, three tofts, 80 acres of land, and 7 acres of meadow in Iselbek, or with the extent of the same, and to restore the issues received thence since Wednesday (die Martii) after the Exaltation of the Holy Cross last to John son of John de Iselbek, if they be in the king's hands by reason of the disseisin and occupation mentioned below, as John has shewn the king that Ingelram de Beuver, the late king's sub-escheator in co. York, disseised him of the said tenements, which Gilbert de Stapelton, then escheator in that county, occupied by virtue of this disseisin in the late king's name, and Gilbert delivered them to Thomas de Burgh, afterwards the late king's escheator there, and Thomas afterwards demised them to John de Redyngges, rendering therefor 30s. yearly to the late king, and that, although the said John son of John recovered the premises against the said Ingelram and John de Redyngges by the recognition of an assize of novel disseisin before William de Herle and his fellows, the late king's justices to take assizes in that county, and holds them at present, nevertheless the aforesaid Simon exacts the extent of them from him and molests him concerning his possession, and it appears by the record and process of the assize, which the king has caused to come before him, that John son of John recovered the said lands against Ingelram and John de Redyngges on the Wednesday (die Mercurii) aforesaid.

June 1.
York.

To John le Porter. Order to deliver to Richard Tuchet, brother and heir of William Tuchet, all the issues and arrears of fermes received by him from the lands of the said William, who was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, for which answer has not been made to the late king, in accordance with the agreement in the parliament at Westminster for restitution to those who were of the said quarrel.

June 12.
York.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. William Andren, merchant of Mountpeliers, has shewn the king that whereas he caused divers sorts of spices and other wares for sale, to the value of 154*l.* 13*s.* 0*d.*, to be brought into England in time of peace, the spices and wares were taken at Porcestre by certain mariners of the late king, and were afterwards delivered to

Thomas de Usflete, then clerk of the said king's great wardrobe, by Robert de Holdene and Godfrey de Rudham by the late king's order, and, although the spices and wares came to the late king's profit, he has not been satisfied for them in any way, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: as the said Thomas, being addressed concerning the premises before the king in chancery, has acknowledged that he received 9 bales of 'drogges' of 'spicerie,' price 40*l.*; 8½ bales of 'pioignie,' price 6*l.* 18*s.* 0*d.*; 15 bales of gingerbread (gingebred) and pignolat (pyonade), price 40*l.*; a bale and a half of 'fenoille,' price 15*s.*; a bale of anniseed, price 20*s.*; a bale of licorice juice (judelicoriz), price 18*s.*; two barrels of honey, price 50*s.*; 184 empty boxes, price 40*s.*, of the spices and wares aforesaid, and sold them by the late king's order to Raymund de Burdeaux of London, 'spicer,' for 93*l.* 19*s.* 0*d.*, to be paid to the late king's exchequer, and also that he received 2,262 lbs. of almonds, 105 lbs. of 'pynes,' 2 bales of gingerbread (gingebred) and pignolat (pyonade), and 57 flaskets (flasketta) for the expenses of the said king's household, where-with he is charged in his account of the 18th year of the reign rendered in the exchequer, and that the said almonds, 'pynes,' ginger, and pyony, and flaskets were worth 27*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.*, and that William has not yet been satisfied for any of the spices and wares aforesaid, the king orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay the said 93*l.* 19*s.* 0*d.* and 27*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.* to the said William, or to his attorney in this behalf.

June 9.
York.

To the mayor of the city of York. The king learns from the complaints of the native and alien merchants frequenting the staple of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the city of York that, although they have bought wool, hides, and wool-fells in the aforesaid staple, and have stayed there, and have done what they ought to do according to the ordinance of the staple, nevertheless they are not permitted to go to other places with their wares, because they have not letters testimonial of the mayor of that staple, and cannot have such letters because no one has yet been made mayor of that staple, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the mayor of the city to cause his letters testimonial to be made under the seal of office of the said staple, which seal is in his custody, for all merchants coming to that staple when they have done what ought to be done according to the ordinance of the staple. The king wills that credence shall be given to such letters until a mayor of that staple shall be made, or until otherwise ordered, and that the letters shall be allowed by the receivers of his customs (customarios) and by his other ministers.

June 15.
York.

To the justiciary of Ireland. Order not to grant any letters of pardon for felonies in the king's name without the assent of the whole of the king's council there, and not to cause any prisoner or hostage taken in the time of John Darcy, late justiciary of Ireland, and detained in prison at the time of John's return from those parts, to be released except according to the law and custom of those parts or by the assent of the whole council.

By K.

To the treasurer of Ireland. Order to make payments, terms of payment (atterminaciones), and respites of the king's debts in Ireland by the June 15. To Nicholas Fastolf. Order to aid and counsel the treasurer of Ireland York. as above.

By K.

June 16. To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle
York. further with two parts of the manor of Upwymbourne, co. Dorset, and two parts of the manor of Kynsteneston, in the same county, and to restore any issues received thence from the time of the death of Edmund de Plescy, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Edmund and Matilda his wife held on the day of his death the two parts of the manor of Upwymbourne jointly of the feoffment of William de Littelton, vicar of the church of Caneford, made to them and Edmund's heirs, and by fine levied in the late king's court, and that they held on the said day the two parts of the manor of Kynsteneston of the feoffment of John de Gretelyngton, chaplain, made to them and to Nicholas, their son, and to Nicholas's heirs, and by fine levied in the late king's court, and that the former manor is held of Elizabeth de Burgh and the latter manor is held of John de Warennia, earl of Surrey.

June 17. To John de Crumbwell, keeper of the Forest this side Trent, or to him York. who supplies his place. Order to deliver John de Sancto Licio of Stoke and Andrew his brother, imprisoned at Notyngham for trespass of venison in Shirwood forest, to twelve mainpernors for each of them, who shall undertake to have them before the justices in eyre for Forest pleas in co. Notyngham to stand to right concerning the said trespass.

June 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Robert Banyard has York. shewn the king that whereas he was assigned in the late king's time to deliver gaols in cos. Norfolk and Suffolk, and to make inquisitions and other offices in those counties, and has laboured in these offices for four years at his own cost, and divers emoluments have come to the exchequer from fines, amercements, and issues forfeited before him, he has received no money for his fee from the late king or from the present king, and he has prayed the king to cause some remission to be made to him in the debts due from him to the exchequer, in consideration of his labour: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to consider the time during which Robert has served the king and his father in the said offices, and the profits that have come to the exchequer from his labour, and to cause him to have such pardon or remuneration in the debts due from him as shall seem fit according to their discretion, and as they shall find was done to others in like case.

MEMBRANE 22.

June 8. Agnes, wife of Adam de Stanleze, imprisoned at Knaresburgh for the York. death of John son of Adam de Stanleze, has letters to the sheriff of York to bail her until the first assize.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. John de Siggesson has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that the king owes him divers sums of money for his fee and wages of the time when he was in the late king's service in the marches of Scotland, as appears by certain bills of the late king's wardrobe in his possession, and he is indebted to the king in divers sums at the exchequer, and he has prayed the king to cause the money due to him for his fee and wages to be allowed to him in the debts due to the exchequer: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to examine the aforesaid bills and to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, and to allow to John in the said debts what they shall find to be due to him for his fee and wages aforesaid. By pet. of C. [15467].

June 10.
York.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the head of the king's pond at Clipston to be repaired by the view and testimony of Robert de Clipston, bailiff of the manors and town of Clipston, as the king understands that the said head is so weakened by flood (cretinam) and overcharging of the water that it is feared that it will be broken and the fish in the pond will be lost, unless it be speedily repaired. By p.s. [926].

June 9.
York.

To Walter Wogan, escheator in Ireland. The king has assigned to Margaret, late the wife of Bartholomew de Badelesmere, aunt (amila) and co-heiress of Thomas son of Richard de Clara, tenant in chief of the late king in Ireland, the following of the knights' fees of the said Thomas: a fee in Blentirlethan, which Richard de Caunteton holds, of the yearly value of 60s.; a fee in Gortelgyn, which Thomas son and heir of Robert de Lesse holds, of the yearly value of 20l.; a fee in Offerwes, which James Ketyng' holds, of the yearly value of 10l.; a quarter of a fee in Cachusshok, which Richard son of John holds, of the yearly value of 40s.; three fees in Le Ninch, which John son of John le Poer holds, of the yearly value of 100s.; a quarter of a fee in Robertescastel, which Nesta de Doundeveneld holds, of the yearly value of 10l.: to have as her purparty, which the king has rendered to her. The king has also assigned to her the following of the knights' fees that Isabella, late the wife of Gilbert de Clare, holds in dower or for term of her life of the aforesaid inheritance, after Isabella's death: three fees in Roskelan, which the heir of Gilbert le Waleys of Roskelan holds, of the yearly value of 10 marks; a moiety of a fee in Gleumans, which Richard Cantok holds, of the yearly value of 40s. He has also assigned to Margaret the following of the fees that Emelina, late the wife of Maurice son of Maurice, holds in dower or for term of life of the said inheritance, after Emelina's death: 1½ fees in Offerwes, which Thomas de Dene holds, of the yearly value of 10 marks; a fee in Colaghkerduf, which Andrew Lercedeakne holds, of the yearly value of 40s. He has also assigned to Margaret the following of the fees that Joan, late the wife of Richard de Clare, holds in dower or for term of her life of the said inheritance, after Joan's death: a sixth of a fee in Brounry, which Patrick de Losse holds, of the yearly value of 100s.; a twentieth of a fee in Shandir, which James Crompt holds, of the yearly value of 16s. The king therefore orders the escheator to deliver to Margaret or to her attorney the fees that belonged to the said Thomas, her kinsman, on the day of his death, and to deliver to her the said fees held in dower or for term of life, to be entered after the death of Isabella, Emelina, and Joan.

To the same. The king has assigned to the aforesaid Margaret the following of the advowsons of the said Thomas, as her purparty: the advowson of the church of Ardrahyn, of the yearly value of 10 marks. He also assigned to her the advowson of the church of Yoghull, with the vicarage of that church, of the yearly value of 30l., which Emelina de Longespeye, late the wife of Maurice son of Maurice, holds in dower or for term of her life, after the death of Emelina. The king therefore orders the escheator to deliver to Margaret the advowson of Ardrahyn, and to assign to her the advowson of Yoghill with the vicarage, to be entered after Emelina's death.

June 10.

he cannot attend to the execution of this office without great damage, by reason of the arduous affairs touching him in this realm. By K.

To Thomas le fuitz Johan, earl of Kyldare, justiciary of Ireland. Order to appoint some one to hold pleas before the king (sic) in the said Henry's place until otherwise ordered by the king.

June 2.
York.

To the sheriff of Buckingham. Order to cause the liberty of the town of Neuportpaynel, taken by him into the king's hands, to be replevied to Joan Butetourt until further orders, as the king wishes to shew her special grace concerning the taking of the liberty into his hands.

June 8.
York.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas lately—at the petition of Master Geoffrey de Eyton, clerk, before the king and his council, suggesting that Ralph Restwald, late constable of Wallinford castle, took seven quarters of Geoffrey's wheat at Upton, price 7*l.*, by colour of his bailiwick and without warrant, and that Ralph acknowledged before the treasurer and barons that he had taken from Geoffrey, by virtue of a commission of the late king to provide victuals for the said castle, which commission he then produced, seven quarters of wheat, price 60*s.* 8*d.*, and made a tally for that sum to Geoffrey, because he had no warrant by the commission for making any payment for the victuals, wherefore Ralph went without day and Geoffrey was told to sue against the late king in this behalf, if he saw fit—the king ordered the treasurer and barons to certify him in chancery of the whole process before them between Geoffrey and Ralph in this matter, and it is found by their certificate that Ralph acknowledged before them that he took the seven quarters as is aforesaid, which were then appraised at 60*s.* 8*d.*, and that he made a tally for that sum to Geoffrey, and that he had no order or warrant to make any payment for the corn, and it was decided as above by the barons: as Geoffrey has now besought the king to cause payment of the said money to be made to him, the king orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay him the said 60*s.* 8*d.*

June 4.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king learns that Alan de Eccleston owes him 12*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* for a fine made with the late king before Hervey de Staunton and his fellows, justices appointed to make inquiry concerning divers trespasses in co. Lancaster, for certain trespasses wherewith he was charged, and that he is unable to pay that sum at present, the king orders the treasurer and barons to have consideration of the lands, goods and chattels that Alan has at present, and to the quantity of the aforesaid debt, and to cause it to be attermined according to their discretion and the form of the ordinance made in the late parliament at Westminster concerning the attermination of such debts.

June 15.
York.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Matilda, late the wife of Edmund de Plescy, tenant in chief, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

May 26.
York.

To William de Tatham. Order to deliver to John de Kynardeseye, Michael de Meldon, and Elias de Stapelton, executors of the will of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, the wardships, marriages, and fermes, and lands that were in the earl's hands, when his lands were taken into the late king's hands by reason of his quarrel, by reason of the minority of heirs in his custody, and the bodies of such heirs, and all issues from the said lands for the time when William had the custody of the lands by the late king's commission, and the arrears of fermes and lands for which answer was not made to the late king, and the earl's goods and chattels in his custody, for the execution of the earl's will, in accordance with the agreement in parliament that those who were of the earl's quarrel shall have their lands again, and the issues and arrears of farms, etc., and goods and chattels.

The like to Bertrand Mountbochier.

To Gilbert de Suthworth, late sheriff of Lancaster. Order to deliver to the aforesaid executors all the money levied by him of the debts due to the said earl for the late king's use by reason of the quarrel aforesaid, for which answer has not been made to the late king, and all goods and chattels of the earl still in his custody, of the time when he was the late king's sheriff in that county.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a cottage in Ravenserod, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Matilda Morkel held it on the day of her death of the king in chief as of the honour of Albemarle, which is in the hands of Queen Isabella, by the service of 6*d.* yearly for all service, and that Cicely, Nicholaa, and Constance, daughters of Isabella Morkel, Matilda's sister, are her next heirs and of full age.

June 17.
York.

To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to cause thirty oaks to be felled in the forest of Bocholte and carried to Ambresbury every year, for the use of Mary, a nun of Fontevrault, the king's aunt, staying at Ambresbury, for so long as she shall stay there, out of the issues of his bailiwick, in accordance with the grant of Edward I., her father, of twenty oaks from that forest for her fire in her chamber so long as she should stay at Ambresbury, and of ten oaks in addition for the same purpose, the said king having granted that the sheriff of Wilts for the time being should cause the oaks to be felled and carried to Ambresbury.

To the same. Order to find carriage for ten tuns of wine yearly from Southampton to Ambresbury when required by the said Mary or any one on her behalf, in accordance with the late king's grant to her, in part payment of 100 marks that he had previously granted to her in aid of her maintenance, of ten tuns of wine yearly, by the hands of his butler or of him who supplies the butler's place in Southampton, out of his right prise in that port, to wit each tun of the value of 40*s.*, for her life, and his grant that the sheriff of that county should find carriage for the same from Southampton to Ambresbury. The sheriff is also ordered to pay her the arrears of 20*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* yearly, which the late king granted to her for life by the hands of the sheriff of that county, and to pay her that sum yearly henceforth out of the issues of that county.

June 16.
York.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain Elizabeth, abbess of Elnestowe, for fealty for the lands that she holds of the king, as she has done fealty to the king.

June 20.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to John de Tumby and Robert But, in their account of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Boston, 200*l.* paid by them to Peter de Besatz, in execution of the king's order [as at page 73 above], as appears by Peter's letters of acquittance, which he has acknowledged in chancery in person.

June 25.
York.

To the chancellor of Ireland. Order to order the treasurer and chamberlains of the king's exchequer there, by writs of liberate under the king's seal, to pay to the Friars Minors of that land such alms as they were wont to receive in the late king's time, from the time of the king's accession.

The like in favour of the Friars Preachers.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain Ralph, abbot of Préaux, who dwells in parts beyond sea, for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king in England, as he has done fealty to the king.

The like in favour of the following :

Thomas de Grenham.

Matilda, late the wife of William de Lodelowe.

The abbess of St. Mary's, Winchester, for fealty, etc.

June 27. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause to be allowed to Gilbert de Suthworth, late sheriff of the late and present kings in co. Lancaster, in the arrears of his account, as much of his usual fee for the time of his office as they shall find has been allowed to other sheriffs of that county at the exchequer.

June 30. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause a third of a messuage in York that belonged to William de Useburn of York to be assigned and delivered to Alice, late the wife of the said William, as the king has assigned the said third to her in dower, because he learns by inquisition taken by Henry le Scrop and Adam de Hoperton, in the presence of Edmund le Maryner, keeper of the messuage, that William enfeoffed the late king of the said messuage after his marriage with Alice, and that the messuage is now in the king's hands, and that Alice did not remit or quit-claim her dower of that messuage to anyone, and did not receive any lands from anyone in recompence for her dower, and that the messuage is worth 21*s.* yearly in all issues, and Alice has prayed the king to cause dower of the same to be assigned to her.

June 16. To John de Ros. Order not to intermeddle in any way with the goods and chattels or corn of Robert de Morby in the manor of Thuramnhall (sic), co. York, which manor belonged to Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and which the king committed to Robert on 7 February last, from Michaelmas preceding to Michaelmas next, when the king granted to him all his corn growing in the manor and all other goods and chattels therein, on condition that Robert should answer for the goods and chattels at the exchequer, and to permit Robert to dispose of the goods and chattels, and corn without impediment, as it was not the king's intention when he granted the manor to John for life on 20 March that John should intermeddle in any way with Robert's goods and chattels therein, or with the corn growing therein.

July 1. To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order to cause lands in the manor of Somerford Kaynes to be assigned to Eleanor de Kaynes, late the wife of Robert de Kaynes, to the yearly value of 78*s.* 10*½d.*, in addition to the third part of that manor assigned to her in dower, by virtue of the king's late order to assign and deliver to her a third of that manor and a third of the manor of Cheleworth, of the yearly value of 103*s.* 4*½d.*, and a third of 10 marks of yearly rent in Piryton and Cheleworth, as the king assigned the manor of Cheleworth and the rent to Queen Isabella for life before the said order could be executed, and he wills that lands to the above value in the manor of Somerford shall be assigned to Eleanor in lieu of the third of the manor of Cheleworth and of the rent aforesaid. By C.

July 3. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas it is found by certificate made by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer that, in the 469 sacks and 5 nails of wool of divers person noted in an indenture (dividenda) made of the wool and hides taken in the city of London into the hands of

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king is given to understand that divers men, natives and aliens, bring into the realm a certain money counterfeit to the sterling, weighing less and having the same circumscription, and that they use the said money commonly in the realm; the king orders the treasurer and barons to cause such remedy to be applied for this deception as shall seem fitting to their discretion.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a cottage in Raveneserod, which the king lately ordered him not to intermeddle with because it was found by inquisition taken by the escheator that Matilda Morkel held the cottage on the day of her death of the king as of the honour of Albemarle, which honour is in the hands of Queen Isabella, by the service of 6*d.* yearly for all service, by which inquisition it was found that Cicely, Nicholas, and Constance, daughters of Isabella Morkel, Matilda's sister, are her nearest heirs and are of full age, as the escheator has signified to the king that Thomas de Burgh, then the late king's escheator, at the time of Simon's substitution in the office, delivered to Simon by indenture the said cottage, asserting that it was in the late king's hands after the death of John Morkel, a bastard, who held it of the late king in chief as of the aforesaid honour, and that Simon found

By bill of the treasurer.

July 5.
Aldwark.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Matilda, late the wife of Robert de Rithre, to whom the king committed the custody of two parts of Robert's lands, in his hands by reason of the heir's minority, of the extent of the manor of Scarthecroft, charging her with the extent of the manor of Rithre, as the king lately ordered Simon de Grymmesby, escheator this side Trent, not to intermeddle further with the manor of Scarthecroft and to restore the issues thereof, retaining in the king's hands the manor of Rithre, because it was found by inquisition taken by the escheator that the said Robert held at his death the manor of Rithre of the late king as of the honour of Pontefract, and that he held the manor of Scarthecroft of John de Rithre by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee, and that William, son of the said Robert, is his next heir and is aged twelve years.

July 12.
Topcliffe.

To Adam de Stirkelond, late keeper of the manors of Hathelseye, Tempelhirst, and Berlaye. Order to deliver to William de la Pole by indenture all the money levied from the said manors in Adam's hands, in part payment of a sum of money due to William from the king by letters patent.

By bill of the treasurer.

Northallerton.

To the sheriff of York. Order to cause 33*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* to be paid to John de Ebor[aco], if that sum have not been paid to him, which he expended out of his own money in divers provisions made for the maintenance of John de Hanon[ia] and his men now in the king's service, for which he has not obtained payment, as the king learns.

bailiffs to deliver the remainder of the wine or its price to the said merchants, and if the said 19 tuns and 4 pipes had come to the hands of others, so that they could not satisfy the merchants therefor, they were to certify the king to whose hands the wine had come, and for what reason, etc., and how much the 19 tuns and 4 pipes were worth at the time of the arrest; and the bailiffs have now returned that of the 19 tuns and 4 pipes that remained in the custody of John de Vaus, late bailiff of that town, the said John had delivered to divers men 17 tuns and one pipe by virtue of divers writs of the late king under his privy seal, the transcripts whereof the bailiffs sent to the king with their return, and that each of the tuns was worth 4 marks at the time of the arrest, and the merchants have prayed the king to allow them 25*l.* 7*s.* 0*d.*, due from them to the king for the aforesaid custom, to wit for 247 tuns and 13 pipes of wine brought into the realm by them, in the money in arrear to them for the 17 tuns and 1 pipe aforesaid: the king therefore orders the said James and his fellows to permit the said merchants to be quit of the said 25*l.* 7*s.* 0*d.* for the custom aforesaid, and not to molest or aggrieve them by the arrest of their bodies or goods or otherwise for this reason. The king has ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to cause the aforesaid 25*l.* 7*s.* 0*d.* to be allowed to James and his fellows in their ferm. By pet. of C. [10339].

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the aforesaid 25*l.* 7*s.* 0*d.* to be allowed to the said James and his fellows in their ferm of the custom.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to John Lestraunge, son and heir of Fulk Lestraunge, tenant in chief of the late king, in the debts due from him to the exchequer for the custody of the lands of his inheritance, lately in the late king's hands, and for his marriage, which were granted to him by the late king, 90*l.* for timber felled by the late king in John's wood of Chalkton when John's lands were in the late king's hands by reason of his minority, as John has besought the king to cause allowance to be made to him as above, because it was found by an inquisition taken by the sheriff of Southampton and the prior of Suthwyk, by the king's order in response to John's petition, that the late king caused 184 oak-trees of the best (de electo) of the aforesaid wood to be felled, to John's damage of 90*l.*, and that he caused them to be carried to Porchester castle. July 1.
York.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order to amove the king's hand from a messuage and a carucate of land in Alford, and to restore the issues thereof to the prior of St. Katherine's without Lincoln, as the king learns by inquisition taken by Matthew Broun, late escheator in co. Lincoln, that the prior acquired the messuage and land to him and his house from Gilbert de Riggesby long before the publication of the statute of mortmain, which messuage and land the escheator of that time took into the late king's hands, pretending that the prior had acquired them to him and his successors from Walter de Skreyngnam after the publication of the said statute without licence from the late king or any of his progenitors, and they are still in the king's hands for this reason.

July 14.
Northallerton.

To Richard Damory, justice of Chester, or to him who supplies his place. Order to cause Richard Brune, late mayor of Chester, whom he has lately arrested, to be kept safely in the king's prison, so that he be not delivered thence in any wise until the king have otherwise ordained and the justice have special order from the king.

earl of Lincoln, for the arrears of 20*l.* yearly for the time when Simon was the late king's sheriff of the said county, and to pay them that sum yearly for so long as he shall be sheriff, as the late king, on 20 September, in the 16th year of his reign, ordered Simon to cause Alesia to have the court of the fee of La Haye, the bailey before the gate of Lincoln castle, and 20*l.* for the third penny of the county of Lincoln, and the king learns that Simon has deferred paying the said 20*l.* to Alesia after the aforesaid date, although he has delivered to her the court and bailey aforesaid.

To the sheriff of Lincoln. Like order.

July 6.
York.

To the mayor, bailiffs, and whole community of the town of Oxford. Order not to presume to attempt anything to the prejudice of the right of the king or of his mother concerning the honour of St. Valery, by pretext of any liberties granted to them by the king, which liberties, if they may prejudice him or his mother, he decrees have been granted without his full knowledge (preter concieniam), as the king is given to understand that they, by pretext of certain liberties newly granted to them by the king, have usurped certain things pertaining to the said honour, which the king's progenitors used to have and receive when the honour was in their hands, and which his mother has hitherto been wont to have and receive from the time when the honour was assigned to her for life in dower. If they do otherwise, the king will punish them.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to compel all keepers, fermors, and bailiffs of the castles, honours, manors, etc., that the king has granted and assigned to his mother to make their proffers of the issues and fermes of the same at her exchequer at Westminster twice a year, in the same way as proffers are made by the king's bailiffs at his exchequer.

By p.s.

To the same. Order to permit the king's mother to receive the yearly fermes granted to her by the king on 1 February last due for Easter term last in full, and to cause the fermes to be allowed to the fermors for that term, as the king is given to understand that they hinder her receiving the entire fermes for Easter term last, making allowance to the fermors only for the proportion of the same between 1 February and Easter.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the late king, by reason of certain falsities in the account of Alexander de Bykenore, archbishop of Dublin, rendered at the exchequer, for the time when he was treasurer of Ireland, caused the temporalities of the archbishopric and the archbishop's goods and chattels and debts to be taken into his hands by consideration of his court, and the king now understands that the archbishop has entered the temporalities and has occupied the goods and chattels aforesaid; the king orders the treasurer and barons to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer concerning the premises, and to certify him of what they find, as he wishes to know whether any order to restore the temporalities, goods and chattels to the archbishop emanated from the late king or from him under the exchequer seal. As he is given to understand that, notwithstanding the falsities found in the said account, such as in false writs and forged letters of acquittance, and divers other concealments whereof certain persons were convicted at the exchequer, they intend to allow the writs and false letters of acquittance to the archbishop in his account, and not to charge the said concealments in any way; the king orders them to have consideration of the things that were done at the exchequer before the late king and his council concerning the premises, and to conduct themselves so carefully in the premises that the judgment rendered in this matter upon another occasion may not be weakened in any way without the king being consulted.

By K. &amp; C.

To the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer of Dublin. Order to cause all the money in the treasury in their custody, both of the issues of Ireland and the issues of the archbishopric of Dublin, and from the tenth for two years, to be kept safely without diminution, in order to provide therewith victuals at the king's order for the Scotch expedition and for the defence of that land against attacks of the Irish, who, the king understands, endeavour from day to day to destroy and waste the lands of the king and of his subjects there. The treasurer is ordered to cause all money due to the king to be levied with all possible speed, and to cause it to be kept safely in the treasury for his use until further orders.

To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king. Whereas King John by his charter, which the king has inspected, disafforested the whole forest of Whervedale from all things pertaining to a forest and foresters, and ordered that the whole of the forest and the men dwelling within it should be disafforested for ever from him and his heirs, and that they should be quit and absolved from all things pertaining to a forest or foresters, and the king—upon learning from the men and tenants in Whervedale, by their petition before him and his council, that the country of Whervedale was disafforested by the said charter, and that the constable of Queen Isabella's castle of Knaresburgh and keeper of her forest there have exacted puture from the said men and tenants by reason of their lands in Whervedale as if they had been within the forest of Knaresburgh, and have distrained them for this reason, and have impeded them so that they cannot fell in their woods, assart their soil there, or otherwise make their profit of their woods and soil, and have amerced the men felling in the said woods, levying the amercements for the said queen's use, and inflicting other oppressions and grievances upon them daily—ordered the said constable and keeper to desist from inflicting such exactions, distrains, and grievances upon the said men and tenants, and to cause their foresters to desist, and to permit the men and tenants to make their profit of the woods and soil aforesaid at their will without hindrance, and not to intermeddle with anything pertaining to a forest and foresters in Whervedale, contrary to the charter aforesaid, or to be before the king in the octaves of Midsummer last to shew cause why they (sic) had not obeyed his orders; and it is now shewn to the king, on the part of William, archbishop of York, the abbot of Fountains, the prior of Boulton, Robert de Insula, and Robert de Sancto Audeno, men and tenants of Whervedale, that although the constable and keeper at the said day answered in person before the king that he (sic) had made no exactions, distrains, or grievances, etc., upon the men and tenants in any wise contrary to the charter aforesaid, but had continued the seisin of the late king and of his progenitors and of other lords of Knaresburgh of their free chace in Whervedale and of the charges incumbent upon the said chace, both for the keepers of the chace and for other charges pertaining to the chace, in the same manner as the late king and his progenitors and other lords of that honour had been wont by reason of their free chace in Whervedale, and not by reason of the forest, from time out of mind; and although the said archbishop, abbot, prior, Robert and Robert came before the king on the said day, and asserted that the king's said progenitor first afforested a part of the country of Whervedale, and held that part in the forest for some time, and that he afterwards disafforested that part by his charter, and that before his time there was never a free chace or forest there, and that after he had disafforested the said part there was no free chace or forest there, and that no exactions or extortions were made upon the men and tenants there by reason of the free chace or forest, until one William de Irreby, sometime constable of that castle, in the time of Henry III., to wit in the 28th year of his reign, first exacted and extorted, of his own deed and wrong, puture from the men and tenants of Whervedale by reason of their lands and tenements in Whervedale, and distrained them, and hindered them from felling in their woods there, assarting their soil, and making their profit of the woods and soil, and that these exactions and extortions were continued by the constable and ministers of the castle until the present king ordered them to desist, as is aforesaid, and that there was never before the time of the king's said progenitor a free chace or forest there, and that no exactions or extortions were made upon the said men and tenants by reason of a chace or forest in any other way than is above said, and they offered to verify the premises in the ways and manners that the court shall consider, nevertheless the aforesaid justices have deferred proceeding to the final discussion of the matter aforesaid; wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed in the matter aforesaid, and to cause to be done therein what ought to be done of right and according to the law and custom of the realm.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas amongst the manors granted by the king to Alesia, late the wife of Edmund, late earl of Arundel, in aid of the maintenance of herself and her boys, the king granted the manor of Berton, co. Southampton, as of the yearly value of 34*l.*, the manor of Stanvord, co. Berks, as of the yearly value of 130*l.*, the manor of Rotherisfeld, co. Sussex, as of the yearly value of 106*l.*, and he is given to understand on Alesia's behalf that the manor of Stanvord is in the seisin of Henry, earl of Lancaster, the manor of Rotherisfeld is in the seisin of Hugh Daudele, and the manor of Berton is of the inheritance of the heir of John de Berewyk, who is now of full age, and she has prayed the king to cause the value of the aforesaid manors to be assigned to her out of the manors, hundreds, and fermes contained in a schedule, which the king sends to them enclosed in the presents, and out of other manors, lands and rents in the king's hands: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause the value aforesaid to be assigned to her as above by letters patent under the exchequer seal, so conducting themselves in this behalf that renewed complaint may not come to the king, certifying the king of the manors, hundreds, lands, fermes, and rents assigned to her, and of the value thereof, so that the king may thereupon cause to be done what shall seem fit by his council.

By K. & C.

To Thomas fitz Johan, justiciary of Ireland. Whereas the king is given to understand that Richard de Clare held on the day of his death the castle of Boneret with the lands of Tothemond in fee-tail, and that the castle and land ought to remain to the king and his heirs, because Richard died without an heir of his body, wherefore the king has ordered the enrolment of the charters made by his progenitor to Richard's ancestor to be searched,

To Peter Foun. Order to bring to the chancery for cancellation the king's letters patent whereby he committed to Peter, for a fine of 100 marks, the custody of the lands that belonged to Robert de Wolryngton, tenant in chief of the late king, in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Elizabeth, Eleanor, Isabella, and Alice, his daughters and heiresses, during their minority with their marriages, as the king has caused the commission to be revoked, because he was deceived (circumventi) in demising the custody, as appears clearly to him.

To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, or to him who supplies his place in the port of Kyngeston-on-Hull. Whereas the king frequently ordered him to amove the king's hand from the prises of W. archbishop of York in the port of Hull, and to permit the archbishop to have the same prises without impediment (for the reasons given at page 51 above), and he has done nothing in the matter, wherefore the king again ordered him to amove his hand from the said prises, or to be before the king in the octaves of Holy Trinity last to shew why he contemned the king's orders aforesaid; at which day he came before the king, and asserted, on the king's behalf, that he was prepared to shew by divers reasons that the prises of wines in the said port pertain to the king as of the right of his crown and not to the archbishop; to which the archbishop alleged before the king that Richard had day before the king only to answer to the king for the contempt aforesaid, adding that the consideration by reason whereof the king's order was issued had been agreed upon in parliament, and that it ought not to be revoked elsewhere than in parliament, and that he ought not to answer to the king concerning his right to the said writ in this behalf until he should be replaced in possession of the prises according to the form of the consideration; and the king afterwards ordered Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before him, by writ of privy seal to be so advised in proceeding in this matter that nothing should be done to the king's prejudice or the disinheritance of his crown, and that if there were any doubt, they should shew it before the king and his council, so that the king, being fully informed concerning his right in this matter, may proceed the more advisedly and securely to the final discussion of this matter; and the justices brought before the king the record and process of the matter had before them, which the king delivered to J. bishop of Ely, his chancellor, ordering him to convoke all the king's council in chancery, and there, after the record and process have been recited, to do justice further in the matter; and afterwards the archbishop and Richard came before the chancellor and H. bishop of Lincoln, the treasurer, and the justices and others of the council assembled in chancery, and, after the record and process had been recited, Richard said as before that the prises pertain to the king as the right of his crown, and not to the archbishop, adding that manifest errors had intervened in the record and process had in parliament, to which the archbishop answered as before that Richard had day only to answer to the king for contempt, asserting that he ought not to answer to any reasons concerning his right to the prises or to any errors that there may be until he be placed in possession of the prises aforesaid by virtue of the said consideration, wherein the king's right is saved in all things, and that it may not be determined by warrant of the said writ to Richard: as the consideration was made in parliament, from which consideration emanated the writ to Richard to make execution, and because Richard had day only to answer to the king for his contempt, and the king's right is saved both in the consideration and in the writ, and it cannot be determined by this writ, and it is not consonant with right or reason that the archbishop should answer to the king upon his right in the premises before he be placed in possession of the aforesaid prises in the same manner as was considered in the parliament aforesaid, saving always the king's right, it seems to the whole council that the making of execution according to the consideration is not to be superseded in this behalf, the king now orders Richard to remove his hands from the prises, and to permit the archbishop to have them without hindrance, according to the tenor of the king's orders aforesaid, saving the king's right in all things. He is informed that he is grievously amerced for not executing the king's orders aforesaid, and that the king will punish him if he do not execute this order fully.

To the mayor and sheriffs of London. The king understands from the frequent complaint of divers men that many malefactors and disturbers of the peace in that city binding themselves together lie in wait for the justices and servants of the king's Bench, the barons and clerks of the exchequer, and other subjects of the king coming to the city and dwelling there, and wander about the city by day and night in armed force, beating, wounding, and maiming certain of the king's subjects for pay at the procurement of others, taking, imprisoning, and maltreating certain others, extorting from them, under threats of death, grievous and intolerable ransoms, and perpetrating divers homicides, robberies, and thefts, and other evil-deeds daily, in contempt of the king's peace, etc., and although he has frequently ordered the mayor and sheriffs to provide a remedy and to make due punishment of the malefactors, as pertains to them, they have not yet done anything, wherefore it is feared that more grievous evils and perils may arise to the king and his people unless a remedy be quickly provided: the king therefore orders the mayor and sheriffs to cause inquisitions to be made by the oath of men of the city and suburbs concerning the names of such malefactors and their evil deeds without delay, laying aside all excuses, and to cause all those found guilty by the said inquisitions to be taken and kept safely in prison until the king shall make further order. They are enjoined to cause these things to be done and fulfilled, as they tender the honour of the king and of themselves and the quiet of the king's people and the city, and as they wish to save themselves harmless, with all possible diligence and speed, so bearing themselves that the king may not have to apply his hand otherwise through their default or negligence.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Robert de Kyrkhame, son and heir of Nicholas de Kyrkham, tenant, as he says, by knight service of the bishop of Exeter and other lords, has shewn the king that although the said Nicholas died in the time of James de Berkeley, late bishop of that place, and Robert, as his next heir and of full age, did to the bishop what he ought to have done for the lands thus held of the bishop, and entered the lands during the bishop's life, and held them peacefully, nevertheless the king, at the prosecution of certain persons wishing to aggrieve Robert, asserting in chancery that Nicholas held of the king in chief, ordered the escheator to take into his hands all the lands whereof Nicholas was seised at his death in his demesne as of fee, and to cause the same to be kept safely until further orders, and to cause inquisition to be made concerning the lands held by Nicholas in chief, etc., by reason whereof the lands are still detained in the king's hands, wherefore Robert has prayed the king to amove his hand from the said lands, since it is found by the inquisition that Nicholas held no lands at his death in chief of the king, but that he held of the said bishop certain lands in Blakeden by the courtesy of England of the inheritance of Agatha, his late wife, by knight service, and certain other lands in his demesne as of fee of other lords by divers services, and that Robert is his next heir and is of full age: the king therefore orders the escheator not to intermeddle further with the said lands, and to restore the issues thereof to Robert, if he find by inquisition to be taken by him or otherwise that the premises are true.

To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Whereas, on 25 April last, the king granted to John Darcy 'le neveu,' in consideration of his good service, the custody of the manors of Aldeby and Folsheam, co. Norfolk, which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of William son and heir of Hawisia, one of the daughters and heiresses of William le Mareschal, tenant in chief of the late king, a minor in the king's wardship, to have during the king's pleasure as of the value of 200 marks yearly, until the king should provide him with lands of the value of 100*l.* yearly for life, to have for his stay with the king; and afterwards, because it was found by the rolls of the late king's chancery that the late king assigned to Ela, late the wife of John le Mareschal, tenant in chief of the late king, in dower amongst other fees of the said John, one knight's fee in Aldeby, in the aforesaid county, which Joan, late the wife of William Rosselyn, held, which Joan is now dead, the fee being of the yearly value of 100*s.*, the king ordered the escheator to deliver to Robert son of Payn, who married the said Ela, and to Ela the lands that the aforesaid Joan held of them by reason of Ela's dower, together with the issues received therefrom by the escheator; and the king now learns from John Darcy that the escheator has erroneously delivered the manor of Aldeby to Robert and Ela under pretext of the said order: as it is found by an inquisition taken by the escheator that Joan held the manor of Aldeby for life of Hawisia's inheritance, and that it is held of the king in chief as parcel of the barony of the manor of Rye, and that William son of Hawisia is her next heir of the manor, the king orders the escheator to resume the manor of Aldeby into his hands, and to deliver it to John Darcy, together with the issues received thence since the aforesaid 25 April, to hold according to the tenor of the letters aforesaid.

If the escheator have delivered the aforesaid lands to David by virtue of the said order, he is to cause them to be resumed into the king's hands, and to be delivered to Isabella, together with the issues received thence.

Sept. 21. To the sheriffs of London and Middlesex. Whereas the late king in Lincoln. August, in the 10th year of his reign, being then at Lincoln on his way to the north against the Scotch rebels, who had then entered the realm, enjoined W. archbishop of Canterbury, J. elect of Ely, Walter de Norwico, then his treasurer, Hervey de Staunton, J. then bishop of Norwich, W. then bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, and Roger le Brabazon, now deceased, and others of his council to go to London, so that they should be there on the morrow of St. Bartholomew following, to provide money and victuals for the late king's use for the expenses of the Scotch war, and they sought out divers ways for providing the money, but found no men at that time who would make a loan of victuals or money, except the mayor, aldermen, and certain men of the city whose names are contained in a roll in the possession of the treasurer and chamberlains in the exchequer, who, by urgent request, delivered 1,000*l.* to the treasurer and chamberlains for the above purpose, and the treasurer and chamberlains promised the mayor, aldermen, and men that the said sum should be paid to them before All Saints following by all means, but payment was not made before that feast, by reason whereof great outcry came to the late king, who therefore granted and assigned to them the whole ferm of the city and all issues to be exacted or levied within the city and county by summons of the exchequer for his use for aids and tallages or for any other cause, to be received by the hands of his sheriffs and other ministers appointed to levy the aforesaid aids and tallages, until the said mayor, aldermen, and men should be satisfied, and that meanwhile the ferm or issues aforesaid should not be assigned to any one

To the bailiffs of the city of York. Order to pay to Master John le Pavilloner, the king's serjeant, 60*l.* out of their ferm and other issues of the city without delay, as the king has granted this sum to him out of compassion, because he was captured by the Scots whilst coming to the king by his orders when he was in the north, and was put to ransom, for which his wife and son are detained by the Scots.
By p.s. [1292.]

Sept. 23.
Lincoln.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow the aforesaid 60*l.* to the said bailiffs, receipt whereof John has acknowledged in person before the king in chancery.

Sept. 25.
Lincoln.

To the same. Order to allow to Reginald de Donyngton, in his account for the time when he was sheriff of Lincoln, 25*l.* paid by him to Ebulo Lestraunge, in execution of the late king's order to pay to him and Alesia, his wife, daughter and heiress of Henry de Lascy, sometime earl of Lincoln, the arrears of 20*l.* yearly for the third penny of the county of Lincoln.

Sept. 24.
Lincoln.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Wellebury, and to restore the issues to Margaret, late the wife of William Sayer of Hertipol, as the escheator has returned to the king that he took the manor into the king's hands by pretext of an order to take into the king's hands all the lands that belonged to the said Margaret, because it was said that she had died and that she held of the king in chief, and he has returned that she is alive and holds the manor for her life, and she has prayed the king to cause the manor and issues to be delivered to her.

Sept. 20.
Lincoln.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The king learns from the complaint of Robert de Kelleseye that Robert de Brandon and Nicholas le Cornmanger of London lately took and carried away at London by armed force in the night divers charters, deeds of covenants and obligations, and other his muniments, and the rolls of his accounts of the time when he was keeper of certain lands of alien men of religion in the late king's hands, which they detained from him, and that they threatened to slay him, whereby

Sept. 23.
Lincoln.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Reginald de Donyngton, late sheriff of Lincoln, to have allowance for 26*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* paid by him to William de Skynan, carter, as appears by an indenture made with him, for the wages of himself and groom and hay, oats, and other necessaries for the horses with him, in execution of the late king's order to pay to William, who was staying at Somerton castle with a cart and four horses of the said king to carry stone and timber to that castle, his wages of 4*½d.* a day for the wages of himself and groom and to deliver to him hay and oats, and other necessaries for the horses.

Sept. 20.
Lincoln.

To Philip de Hardeshulle, keeper of certain lands in Coule, in the king's hands. Whereas it was found by inquisition taken by the late king's order by Philip de Aylesbury and John de Chetewode that Robert de Tiryngton, late parson of the church of Preston and all his predecessors, parsons of that church, had been seised from time out of mind in their demesne as of the right of their church of a bovate and six acres of land in Coule until the 10th year of the said king's reign, and that William Tuchet, in that year, disseised the said Robert of the same unjustly and without a judgment, and that the land was taken into the late king's hands with other lands of the said William because he adhered to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and it is still in the king's hands; wherefore Edmund de Grymesby, now parson of the said church, has besought the king by his petition before him and council at Westminster to cause the land to be delivered to him as the right of his church; to which petition it was answered by the council that Edmund should sue at common law for the land against William's heir, who had been restored to his inheritance in parliament; and afterwards Edmund gave the king to understand that the heir did not care to sue the land out of the king's hand, so that he could not have process against the heir according to the answer to his petition, and he has prayed the king to provide a remedy; and the king therefore ordered the sheriff of Buckingham to warn Richard Tuchet, brother and heir of the said William, to be before the king in chancery on the morrow of the Assumption last, to shew cause why the land should not be delivered out of the king's hands to Edmund as the right of his church; and the sheriff warned Richard accordingly, as he returned before the king at the said day, when Richard appeared in person before the king and asserted that he had no right in the land, affirming that it was the frankalmoin of the church aforesaid, and prayed the king to deliver the land to Edmund as the right of his church in discharge of the soul of his brother, the said William: the king therefore orders the keeper to deliver the land to Edmund or his attorney, if it be in the king's hands solely for this reason.

To Matthew Broun, late escheator in cos. Lincoln, Northampton, and Rutland. Order to deliver to Ebulo Lestraunge all the issues received by the escheator from the constabulary of Lincoln castle and the bailey before the gate of the castle since they were taken into the late king's hands, as the escheator has returned to the king that he did not take the constabulary and bailey, which belong to Ebulo and Alesia, his wife, into the late king's hands, but that John Walewayn, the late king's escheator this side Trent, took them into the said king's hands because it was said that Alesia, who held them to her and her heirs in fee of the said king in chief, demised them while she was single to John Talbot, to have during his good behaviour towards her, rendering to her 20 marks yearly, and the king—because it appeared to him by the rolls of the late king's chancery that the said king rendered the constabulary and bailey to Alesia from 20 September, in the 16th year of his reign, as her right and inheritance—ordered Matthew not to intermeddle further with the constabulary and bailey and to restore the issues thereof to Ebulo and Alesia, and he now learns from the complaint of Ebulo and Alesia that Matthew detains the issues, although he has delivered to them the constabulary and bailey, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy.

Sept. 26.
Lincoln.

To John Peynel, chamberlain of Chester. Order to permit William le Clerk of Chester to pay 100 marks, the balance of a fine of 200 marks for divers trespasses in those parts made by him before Richard Daumary, justice of Chester, at the rate of 20 marks yearly, and to cause these terms to be enrolled, as the king has granted him these terms in response to his petition.

Dec. 2.* Nottingham. To the sheriff of Southampton. Whereas at the prosecution of Elias de Stubton, citizen of Lincoln, suggesting to the king that, some time before the dispute between the men of the king of France and the men of the late king, he loaded a ship of his called 'La Bonane' of Boston with salt and other things and merchandise to the value of 460*l.*, in order to take the same to Normandy for the purpose of trade, and he arrived with the ship in the port of the town of Leire, and that the ministers of the king of France of that town arrested without cause the said ship, price 140*l.*, with divers goods and merchandise in her, to wit salt, price 100*l.*, 10 tuns of wine, price 40*l.*, two lasts of hides, price 60*l.*, Irish cloth, price 20*l.*, Spanish iron, price 13*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.*, two weighs (pecis) of wax, price 6*l.*, 17 beds and 17 coffers, containing robes, jewels, and silver by tale, to the value of 66*l.* 5*s.* 0*d.*, armour, price 8*l.*, and victuals, such as corn, meat, fish, and flour, to the value of 6*l.*, and detained the same unjustly, and the king frequently requested the king of France to cause the ship and goods to be released from arrest and restored to the said merchant, and the king of France has not made any restitution or satisfaction, although the said merchant presented to him the king's letters and diligently pressed him for restitution or satisfaction, and the said king has altogether failed to do him justice, as appears by the letters testimonial of the mayor and community of the city of London exhibited before the king, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the sheriff to arrest all goods and wares of the men and merchants of the power of the king of France from Normandy to the value of 100*l.*,† and to cause them to be kept safely until the said merchant have been satisfied for the aforesaid 460*l.* and for his damages, or until otherwise ordered, certifying the king of his proceedings. The king has ordered each of the sheriffs of Suffolk, Dorset, and Devon to arrest goods in like manner to the value of 100*l.*, and the bailiffs of Shorham to arrest goods to the value of 60*l.*‡

Oct. 11. Nottingham. To the bailiffs of Bishop's Lenne. Whereas lately, at the prosecution of Geoffrey de Betele, Robert de la Chapelle of Ely, John de Walsyngham, Walter Lambesone, Robert de Ketteleston, and John Beke, merchants of Lenne—suggesting to the king that they loaded a ship called 'La Laurence' of Lenne, whereof Stephen de Waynflete was master, at Lenne

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Whereas Christiania, late the wife of John de Segrave, lately before William de Bereford and his fellows, the late king's justices of the Bench, demanded against Alesia, late the wife of Stephen de Segrave, a third of the manor of Dalbychaucoume, of 18 messuages, 2 tofts, a windmill, 2 carucates, and 16½ virgates of land, 13 acres of wood, and of 17*s.* 1*d.* of yearly rent in Dyseworth and Wheston, a third of a messuage and of 2 carucates of land in Assheburn in Le Peek, a third of 10*l.* of rent in Melton Moubray and Oleby near Melton Moubray, a third of 10 messuages, 9½ virgates of land, 16*d.* of rent and of a rent of a pound of cumin and of four horse-shoes in Thurlaxton, and a third of the manor of Northpidele, which belonged to the said John, as her dower; and Alesia there in court vouched to warranty John son of the said Stephen, the kinsman and heir of the aforesaid John, which heir's body and lands were then in the late king's wardship; and it was afterwards considered in the king's court by William de Herle and his fellows, justices of the Bench, because the plea was re-summoned for pleading before them, that Alesia should hold in peace the tenements demanded against her, and that Christiania should have the value of the tenements out of the heir's land in the king's wardship, as appears by the record and process, which the king has caused to come before him under William's seal; and the king, at Christiania's petition, has assigned to her the following lands, with the assent of Thomas, earl of Norfolk, the king's uncle, to whom the king has committed the custody of certain of Stephen's lands during the heir's minority: the manor of Peune, of the yearly value of 6*l.* 3*s.* 0½*d.*; certain lands in Segrave, of the yearly value of 10*l.* 7*s.* 6½*d.*; certain lands in Kyuston, of the yearly value of 4*s.* 10*d.*; certain lands in Chateriz, of the yearly value of 8*s.* 8*d.*; and 9*l.* 19*s.* 8*d.* of yearly rent in Thorp Sechevill; 18*d.* of yearly rent in Barowe; 5*s.* of yearly rent in Keggeworth; 11*s.* 1½*d.* of yearly rent in Alespathe; 2*s.* of yearly rent in Flekenho; 20*s.* of yearly rent in Thorp Bosard; 4*s.* of rent in Fenstanton; and 4*l.* from the manor of Kynton, which is in the custody of Thomas de Hastang by the king's commission, of the same inheritance: the king therefore orders the escheator to cause the manor, lands, etc., to be assigned and delivered to Christiania.

Order not to intermeddle Nottingham further with 44 acres of land in Westhamptenette, if they are in the king's hands for the reason stated below, and to restore the issues thereof to the prior of Boxgrave, as, upon the prior's suggestion that his predecessors acquired full and peaceful seisin of the said land long before the publication of the statute of mortmain, and that the escheator took them into the king's hands asserting that the prior had acquired them after the publication of the statute, the king ordered the escheator to make inquisition concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition that Walter, sometime prior of that place, acquired 40 acres of the said land to him and his house in fee from Roger de Colevyle and the other 4 acres from Geoffrey de Ludeseye and Alice his wife, long before the publication of the said statute.

Oct. 30. To the sheriff of Sussex. Whereas, at the complaint of John de Barton Nottingham and his fellows, merchants, suggesting that they arrived with a ship and goods and wares in the port of Fécamp in Normandy, within the lordship of the abbot of Fécamp, and that Roger Furmertyu, a man of the abbot's and of his lordship, power, and jurisdiction, entered the ship whilst lying at anchor in the port on Sunday before Lent, 1321, by force and arms whilst John and his fellows were absent in the town in order to buy victuals, and attacked and slew Richard de Barton, John's brother, whom he left in the ship to keep it, and broke open the chests of the merchants and mariuers of the ship, and took and carried away 800 golden florins of the lamb, price 4s. each, and 20l. sterling, the late king requested the abbot to cause restitution and satisfaction to be made to the merchants, and because the abbot did not do so, as appears by the letters patent of the constable, bailiffs, and community of Scardeburgh, he ordered the sheriff of Suseex to arrest goods and wares of the men and merchants of the lordship, power, and jurisdiction of the abbot to the value of 100l. sterling; and John has given the king to understand for him and his fellows, by his petition before the king and his council in the late parliament, that the aforesaid order has not yet been executed, and he has prayed the king to cause it to be executed, asserting that the goods and wares thus taken came to the abbot, and are still detained by him; the king therefore ordered the sheriff to warn the abbot or his proctor to be before the king in chancery in three weeks from Easter last to shew cause why the said writ should not be executed, and the sheriff has returned that he warned the abbot; at which day the said John, for himself and his fellows, and the abbot by his attorney came into chancery; and, the matter being adjourned by their consent until a month from Michaelmas, the said John and the abbot by James de Kyngeston, his attorney, came into chancery at Lenton at that time, and John prayed to have execution of the arrest on the goods and chattels of the abbot and of his men, and the abbot said nothing why such execution should not be made, wherefore it was considered that execution shall be made accordingly:

Order to pay to Hugh de Mortuo Mari, constable of Beaumaris castle, Henry de Mortuo Mari, constable of Coneweys castle, Richard de Munemuth, constable of Crukith castle, and John de Wode, forester of Snoudon in Wales, their usual wages until otherwise ordered.

Nov. 3. Nottingham. To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain the abbot of Pipwell for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done fealty to the king.

Nov. 10. Nottingham. To the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer of Dublin. Order to pay to Roger de Birthorp the arrears [of his fee] for the time when he was secondary justice of the late king's bench of Dublin, according to the late king's writs of liberate in their possession.

Nov. 10. Nottingham. To the sheriff of Nottingham. Order to cause Richard son of Hugh Foulter of Misterton, Robert son of William son of Richard de Misterton, Thomas de Hayton, John de Carewell, and Robert de Cridelyng, who were taken and are imprisoned at Nottingham for disobedience to Simon de Beltoft and his fellows, arrayors of men in that county, to be released upon their finding mainpernors to have them before the king to stand to right.

Nov. 8. Nottingham. To the sheriff of Essex. Whereas the king ordered the late sheriff of that county to cause to be delivered to Margaret, late the wife of Bartholomew de Badelesmere, all the lands of Bartholomew and Margaret that had been taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and the late sheriff signified to the king that he could not deliver the manor of Thakstede, which belonged to Bartholomew and Margaret, by reason of the resistance made to him therein, wherefore the king ordered the late sheriff to take with him the posse of the county and go to the manor, and to cause it to be delivered to Margaret, according to his former orders; and afterwards, because the attorneys of Hugh Daudel, who was then in the king's service in parts beyond sea, and of Margaret his wife asserted in chancery that Bartholomew had no other estate in the manor than for life by the demise of Gilbert de Clare, sometime earl of Gloucester, of whom Margaret, Hugh's wife, is one of the sisters and heiresses, and that the reversion of the manor after Bartholomew's death was assigned to Hugh and Margaret in her purparty of the earl's lands, and that they entered the manor as her right and inheritance, the king ordered the late sheriff to supersede until further orders the execution of the order to take the posse of the county and to deliver the manor to Margaret, late the wife of Bartholomew; and the king now learns from the complaint of Hugh and Margaret that the present sheriff intends, by colour of a writ directed to to him at the prosecution of Margaret, late the wife of Bartholomew, for the delivery of her lands to her, no specification being made therein of the aforesaid manor, to resume the manor into the king's hands, and to deliver it to her, and to amove Hugh and Margaret his wife therefrom, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy, especially as they are prepared to verify their right therein in the king's court: the king therefore orders the sheriff to supersede until further orders the execution of the said order as to the delivery of the manor by pretext of such general orders, sending to the king under his seal a transcript of his writ, so that the king may cause to be done what he shall see fit.

Nov. 9.
Nottingham.

To William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent. Whereas the late king ordered his escheators to deliver to the executors of the will of Walter, late bishop of Exeter, all the goods and chattels of the bishop, because they had found mainprise to satisfy him for all debts due from the bishop, so far as the goods extended; and the king now learns that the escheator, asserting that it was determined in the late parliament at Westminster that Walter was a traitor to the king and his realm, wherefore his goods pertained to the king as forfeited, ordered his sub-escheators, without special order from the king, to arrest all the sown corn of the bishop in their bailiwicks and his other goods and chattels, and to cause them to be kept safely, so that they might answer to the escheator for them, at which order the king is astonished: he therefore orders the escheator, if it be so, to cause all the corn and other goods of the bishop to be delivered to the executors without delay.

To John de Stonore, John de Bousser, and William de Fulbourn. Whereas the king lately appointed them his justices to take an assize of novel disseisin that Elizabeth, late the wife of John de Burgo, arraigned before them against John de Handlo and others named in the original writ concerning tenements in Stepelclaydon; and afterwards, at Elizabeth's suggestion that John alleged in pleading that he held the tenements put in view for his life by the deed of Hugh le Despenser, the elder, and that they ought to revert to the king after his death by reason of Hugh's forfeiture, wherefore the justices deferred proceeding to take the assize, the king ordered them to proceed to take the assize notwithstanding this allegation, provided that they did not proceed to render judgment without consulting the king; and afterwards, because it appeared by the said deed, shewn before the king in chancery, that Hugh granted the manor of Stepelclaydon, which was placed in view, to the aforesaid John for life, whereby the reversion pertains to the king by reason of Hugh's forfeiture, the king ordered the justices to supersede the taking of the assize until the treaty held at Lincoln on the morrow of the Exaltation of the Holy Crocs last, so that he might then cause to be done what should seem good after deliberation, and the justices superseded the taking of the assize accordingly; and afterwards, at Elizabeth's petition before the king and his council in the said treaty, the king ordered the justices to proceed to take the assize notwithstanding John's allegation and the king's previous order, provided that they did not proceed to render judgment without consulting him; and it is now found by the tenor of the assize thus taken, which has been sent to the king, that the manor was at one time in the seisin of

To the sheriffs of London. Whereas at the prosecution of Alan Gille, Robert le Roper, and Adam Strangswere, citizens of that city, suggesting that William de Kauntepy, merchant of Cretey, of the power of the king of France, loaded at Cretey a ship of his called 'La James' of Cretey with wheat and other victuals, in order to carry the same to the duchy [of Aquitaine], and that Reymund Spyran of Bayonne and other malefactors, his accomplices, entered the ship at sea by armed force, and took the ship and goods and victuals and brought them to the Pool (La Pole) of London, and when William followed Reymund and his accomplices to the Pool, they, fearing they would be there convicted of the robbery aforesaid, gave the ship to the late king, so that might thus conceal (coonerirent) their deed, the custody of which ship the late king committed to the said Reymund, and that William did not obtain delivery of the ship, although he prosecuted against the late king for it, wherefore the king of France, at his suit, caused three ships of the said Alan, Robert, and Adam, laden with divers sorts of corn and victuals to the value of 80*l.*, to be arrested in the town of St. Valery, and caused them to be delivered to William in recompence for his aforesaid ship, the king ordered the mayor of London and the aforesaid sheriffs to inquire the truth of the premises; and it is found by the inquisition taken in the matter that the aforesaid ship was taken at sea about the Purification, in the 17th year of the late king's reign, by Reymund and other malefactors unknown, who brought her to the Pool in the port of London, and gave her to the late king, who committed the custody thereof to Reymund, and thus she came again to Reymund's hands, and that she is worth with her tackle 50*l.*, and that she was afterwards attached by the sheriffs at the suit of Alan, Robert, and Adam, and is still in the sheriffs' custody, and that about Midsummer, in the aforesaid year, the aforesaid three ships, laden with corn and other victuals to the value of 80*l.*, were arrested in the town of St. Valery by order of the king of France at William's suit, and were delivered to him in satisfaction of the ship aforesaid; and it also appears by the letters patent of the mayor and échevins of the town of St. Valery sent to the mayor and sheriffs of London, which the king has inspected, that the king of France caused the three ships to be arrested and delivered to William in the manner above stated: the king therefore orders the sheriffs to deliver the said ship and all her tackle and gear to Alan, Robert, and Adam, in part satisfaction for their three ships and chattels, upon their finding security to save the king harmless against all persons concerning the said ship.

placed themselves in the church, and still stay there, and that the other five Scots, after the wrecking of the ship, escaped suddenly before dawn and fled, and that the bailiffs caused the bodies of the said merchants and the goods found with them to be arrested, because the Scots were in their society and the merchants were going to Scotland with the ship and the goods in her to communicate with the king's Scotch enemies: the king, not wishing that any men of Flanders shall be molested or disquieted pending the truce between him and the men of Flanders, orders the bailiffs to cause the said Hugh and his fellows to be released, if they have been arrested solely for this reason, and to permit them to go whither they will, and to cause their goods and chattels to be delivered to them. They are enjoined to place the Scotch friars who have fled to the said church under such diligent custody as they can without injury of the liberty of the church, so that they may not escape from the realm.

To the sheriff of Lancaster. Order to cause all the lands of Robert de Holand in his bailiwick to be taken into the king's hands, in whose hands soever they may be, and to cause them to be delivered to Robert, as the king lately, in response to Robert's petition for restitution of his lands, ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer and to certify the king of the reason for the taking of Robert's lands into the late king's hands, and it is found by their certificate that the said king, in the 15th year of his reign, caused the lands, goods and chattels of Robert, together with those that belonged to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and to Roger de Clifford, to be taken into his hands by certain sheriffs and other of his ministers, and that answer was made to him at the exchequer for the issues of Robert's lands in the same way as for the issues of the lands of the said earl, and that Robert's lands are in the king's hands for this and no other reason, and it was agreed in the last parliament at Westminster that those who were of the earl's quarrel and those whose lands were taken into the late king's hands without any certain cause being expressed shall have restitution of their lands.

To the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk. The burgomasters, échevins, consules, and community of the town of Bruges have signified to the king by their letters that certain burgesses of that town lately loaded two ships of Flanders, the master of one being John de Turnay of Sluys (Escluse) and of the other John Babbard, with their goods and wares, for the purpose of carrying them to divers parts to trade therewith, and that certain men of Great Yarmouth, pretending that the goods in the ship belonged to men of Scotland, which they did not, entered the ships by armed force as they were sailing by the sea coast near Great Yarmouth, and took and carried away the goods and wares aforesaid, which they detain, contrary to the truce between the king and the men of Flanders, which goods and wares and ships are still under arrest within the sheriff's bailiwick, as the king is given to understand, wherefore the burgomasters, échevins, consules, and community have prayed the king to cause the goods to be delivered to Nicholas de Leek, their fellow-burgess, whom they have sent to the king in this behalf: the king therefore orders the sheriff to cause all the goods and wares aforesaid arrested in his bailiwick that Nicholas can prove to belong to the burgesses of the said town to be released together with the said ships, and to cause them to be delivered to Nicholas, notwithstanding that men of Scotland or their goods and wares were then in the same ships. If any of the said goods have been eloiigned, the sheriff is to cause inquisition to be made concerning them, and to cause them or their price to be delivered to Nicholas, so far as he can prove that they belonged to the said burgesses, certifying the king of his proceedings. It is provided that the goods and chattels belonging to men of Scotland that were arrested on this occasion shall be kept safely without diminution until further orders. By K. & C. [Fædera.]

Topcliffe.

To John de Bousser, Gilbert de Toutheby and John de Cantebrigge. Order to proceed to take the assize of novel disseisin arramed before them by David son of Alice de Caunton against Mary, late the wife of Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, and others named in the original writ concerning tenements in Periton and Kemyton, and to proceed to render judgment therein with all speed, notwithstanding the king's late order not to proceed to render judgment without consulting him, which order he made because Mary alleged before them that the late king by his charter, which she produced, gave the tenements, to wit the manor of Peryton, to the said Aymer, and that they were assigned to her in dower. By K.

July 15.
Durham.

To the bailiffs of the city of Hereford. Notification that the king excuses them from choosing and sending to him on horseback armed men from that city for the defence of the realm against the Scots, ordering them to cause the city to be kept safely by the men of the city. By K.

Enrolment of deed of Thomas de Fryvill, witnessing that, whereas Robert de Lascy and Ellen his wife have granted to John de Hothum, bishop of Ely, for the term of their lives the manor of Kelingthorp, which they lately held of Thomas for their lives at a yearly rent of 7l., Thomas hereby grants that the bishop and his assigns may hold the manor for the said term at the aforesaid rent, quit of all other service, and he undertakes to quit the bishop of all services due to the lord of Driffeld from the aforesaid manor. Dated at York, on Sunday before St. Margaret the Virgin, 1327. Witnesses: Sir John de Heselarton, Sir Roger de Somervill, Sir Geoffrey de Sancto Quintino, knights; Simon de Hugate, Thomas Dreng.

Memorandum, that Thomas came into chancery at York, on the said day, and acknowledged the above deed.

July 18.
Durham.

John de Bernak acknowledges that he owes to William de Bernak and Nicholas de Bernak 20l.; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. York.

John de Boyland, knight, puts in his place Geoffrey de Forde to defend the execution of a recognisance for 80l. made by him in chancery to John de Vienna.

The abbot of Fécamp in Normandy puts in his place James de Kyngeston and John de Pokelington, clerks, in a suit before the king in chancery between Stephen Aleyn, citizen and merchant of London, and the aforesaid abbot, for the abbot to shew cause why execution should not be made of an arrest adjudged against him in the late king's chancery for the goods and chattels of the abbot and of men and merchants of his lordship in England.

The same abbot puts the said James and John in his place in a suit before the king in chancery between John de Barton and the abbot, to shew cause why execution should not be made of an arrest adjudged in like manner.

Thomas de Grymstede and Richard Daneseye put in their place William de Emeldon, John de Briggewater and Nicholas de Ledrede to sue in chancery for their purparties of the lands that belonged to John Giffard of Brymmesfeld.

John Lestrange puts in his place Richard Spigurnel and Theobald Poleyn to sue in chancery for his purparty of the said lands.

James Dandele, a minor in the king's wardship, puts in his place his keepers, to wit Robert de Prestbury and Roger du Pree, to sue in chancery for his purparty of the said lands.—The chancellor received the keepers.

July 20.
Tudhoe. John de Ripariis of Lovershale, Laurence de Coupemanthorp of co. York, and William de Hirthington of co. Cambridge acknowledge that they owe to the king 12 marks; to be levied, in default of payment, of their lands and chattels in co. York.

Memorandum, that this recognisance was made for having the marriages of Elizabeth, Eleanor, Isabella, and Alice, daughters and heiresses of Robert de Wolerington, tenant in chief of the late king, and of Margery, late the wife of the said Robert.

July 18.
Durham. To John de Stonore and his fellows, justices to take assizes in co. Wilts and Southampton. Order to adjourn the assizes of novel disseisin arramed before them by Richard de Stapeldon against Oliver de Ingham and John son of Robert de Ingham concerning tenements in Westdoene and Estodeford, until a time when Oliver may have returned from Gascony, where he is now staying in the king's service. By K. & C.

July 22.
Auckland. Henry de Mustiers acknowledges that he owes to William de Mustiers, parson of the church of Kirtelington, 100 marks; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. Nottingham.

July 18.
Durham. To Bartholomew de Burgherssh, constable of Dover castle and warden of the Cinque Ports, or to him who supplies his place in the port of Dover. Order to permit the abbot of Whallay, who is going to the chapter-general of his order at Cîteaux by the king's licence, to cross to parts beyond sea from that port, with 20*l.* for the expenses of himself and his household.

To Peter Foun. Order to bring into chancery to be cancelled the king's commission to him of the custody of the lands that belonged to Robert de Wolryngton, tenant in chief of the late king, in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Elizabeth, Eleanor, Isabella, and Alice, Robert's daughters and heiresses, during their minority, together with their marriages, as the king has caused the commission to be revoked because he was circumvented in making the demise. The king wills that Peter shall be discharged of the fine of 10 marks for the commission. By C.

July 23.
Auckland. William de Plesseleye of Shelford, 'taillour,' acknowledges that he owes to Benedict de Normanton, clerk, 30*s.*; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. Nottingham.

William de Osgodby, parson of the church of Haversham, and Robert de Osgodby, his brother, acknowledge that they owe to Hugh son of Ralph de Turvill of Normanton 46*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*; to be levied, in default of payment, of their lands and chattels in co. York.

Hugh son of Ralph de Turvill of Normanton acknowledges that he owes to Robert de Osgodby and William his brother 100 marks; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. Leicester.

July 28.
Haydon.

Brother Thomas Larcher, prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England, acknowledges that he owes to Master Byndus de Bandinellis, parson of the church of Havont, 1,860*l.*; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands, chattels, and ecclesiastical goods in co. Lincoln.

Cancelled on payment.

Enrolment of deed of Bindus de Bandinellis, rector of the church of Havonte, granting that the aforesaid recognisance shall be cancelled upon payment of 930*l.* at terms specified. Dated at York, on Tuesday 28 July, 1327.

Memorandum, that Bindus came into chancery at York, on the said day, and acknowledged the above deed.

Aug. 1.
Stanhope.

To the burgesses and men of the town of St. Edmunds. Prohibition of their doing anything to the breach of the king's peace or to the grievance of the abbot and convent of St. Edmunds hereafter; under pain of forfeiture of their bodies and goods, as the king, upon learning of the disputes between the abbot and convent and them and that both parties made assemblies of men-at-arms, inhibited by divers writs the abbot and convent and the burgesses and men from doing so, and received the abbey and town into his hands and protection, committing the custody of the same to John de Tendryng and Ralph de Bockyng, and afterwards enjoined the burgesses and men and the abbot and convent to send to him proctors to treat and agree upon reform of peace in the premises, and although the king, upon the appearance of the abbot and convent by their proctors and the burgesses and men by two burgesses of the town, their proctors, before him and his council, strictly enjoined the said burgesses, in the name of all and singular of the town, that none of them should presume to attempt sought to the disturbance of the king's peace or the grievance of the abbot and convent, under pain of forfeiture of all that they might forfeit, nevertheless the burgesses and men have, whilst the king is, as they know, in the marches of Scotland with his army, beaten and wounded certain men and servants of the abbot and convent, and have taken and imprisoned some of them, detaining them in prison until they made fines, and have mowed the meadows of the abbot and convent, and have felled their trees, fished in their ponds, and carried away the fish, trees, and grass, and other goods and chattels of the abbot and convent to the value of 200*l.*, notwithstanding the prohibition aforesaid. The king does not intend refraining from proceeding with rigour against them for their offences aforesaid according to their demerits.

custody of the manors of Aldeby and Folsheam, co. Norfolk, which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of William, son and heir of Hawisia, one of the daughters and heiresses of William le Mareschal, tenant in chief of the late king, a minor in the king's wardship, to have during the king's pleasure as of the value of 200 marks yearly, until the king should provide him with lands of the value of 100*l.* yearly for life, to have for his stay with the king; and afterwards, because it was found by the late king's rolls of chancery that the late king assigned to Ela, late the wife of John le Mareschal, tenant in chief of the late king, in dower among other fees of the said John, one knight's fee in Aldeby, in the aforesaid county, which Joan, late the wife of William Rosselyn, held, which Joan is now dead, the fee being of the yearly value of 100*s.*, the king ordered the escheator to deliver to Robert son of Payn, who married the said Ela, and to Ela the lands that the aforesaid Joan held of them by reason of Ela's dower, and the issues received therefrom by the escheator; and John Darcy has now given the king to understand that although the said William le Mareschal acquired the manor of Aldeby from Thomas de Kerdeston, to have after the death of William Rosselyn and Joan, long before the assignment of the aforesaid dower, to him and his heirs by fine levied in the late king's court, by reason whereof the custody of that manor ought to pertain to the king by reason of the said heir's minority, nevertheless the escheator has delivered the manor to Robert and Ela by pretext of the order aforesaid; whereat the king wonders: he orders the escheator to make inquisition whether William acquired the manor as alleged by John, and when he acquired it, and whether it is held of the king or of Robert and Ela by reason of the assignment of dower aforesaid, and if of the king, by what service, and whether the manor ought to remain to the aforesaid William son of Hawisia by virtue of the fine aforesaid, and whether the custody thereof ought to pertain to the king by reason of the heir's minority, and what is the heir's age; and if he find that the manor is held of the king, and that the custody thereof ought to pertain to the king by reason of the heir's minority, he is then to resume the manor into the king's hands, and to deliver it, together with any issues thereof, to the said John, and to warn Robert and Ela to come to chancery to prosecute any right they may have therein, if they think fit.

Master Richard de Haveryngg', canon of St. Peter's church, York, acknowledges that he owes to Master Robert de Ripplingham, chancellor of the same church, 50 marks; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. Wilts.

June 26.
Tudhoe.

To the sheriff of Salop. Order to cause diligent search and exploration to be made throughout his whole bailiwick for James Turmyrn and others of his confederacy, and to take and imprison them, so that they be not delivered without the king's special order, as the king understands that James and certain others of his confederacy, who lately went to Scotland in the company of Donald de Mar, the king's enemy and rebel, have now returned to this realm, and are going through the sheriff's bailiwick to the marches of Wales to do and procure the doing of what evils they can against the king and his subjects.

The like to the mayor of Shrewsbury.

speed, notwithstanding any inquisitions made in the time of Edward I., and to send the perambulations to be made by them into chancery before Christmas, in accordance with the said appointment, as it is now shewn to the king by the community of the county that, although the said Thomas, John, John, and John have caused inquisitions to be made concerning the metes and bounds of the forests in that county by virtue of the said appointment, nevertheless they have deferred making perambulations according to the metes and bounds in the said inquisitions by pretext of certain inquisitions of the metes and bounds made in the time of Edward I., wherefore the community have prayed the king to apply a remedy. The king wills, however, that the perambulations to be thus made shall not be put into execution before they are returned into chancery and before the inquisitions thus taken in the time of Edward I. have been examined, and until what shall seem fit have been done by the king's counsel.

July 26.
Haydon.

To Robert de Wodhous, keeper of the wardrobe. Order to audit the account of Robert Ingram, sheriff of Nottingham and Derby, of his costs and expenses about the buying of certain victuals for the Scotch war and about the carriage of the same, and if he find that Robert expended 100*l.* in this behalf, he is ordered to cause him to be discharged of 100*l.* that he received from the keeper as imprest of the wardrobe to make provision of the said victuals, and to cause Robert's letters obligatory of the receipt of the same to be restored to him, as the sheriff has prayed the king to cause him to be discharged of the said 100*l.*, because he bought and provided the victuals as directed and delivered them to the sheriff of York by the king's order.

Aug. 5.

To the sheriff of Nottingham. Order to take Thomas Basely of Radclif and Walter de Bukton, his servant, John son of Thomas de Radclif, Geoffrey de Hoveryngham, William de Seleston, Robert de Foleville, William Pymme, Robert Kay, Thomas son of Ralph de Clifton, Simon de Foleville, Thomas de Willeye, Thomas son of Thomas de Radclif, and Robert Jorz of Gedelyng, and to cause them to be kept safely in prison, so that they be not delivered thence without the king's special order, taking with him, if need be, the posse of the county, and to certify the king from time to time of his proceedings, as the king understands that the aforesaid men wander about in divers counties with a multitude of malefactors, beating, wounding, and maiming men in cities, boroughs, market towns, markets and fairs, and other public and private places, elaying some of them, etc., committing homicides, robberies, etc.

July 26.
Haydon.

To the bailiffs of Scardeburgh. Order to cause a ship laden with herrings and other wares of Peter Haynson's of Brele, a merchant of the lordship of the count of Hainault, to be released, together with the said herrings and wares, and to be delivered to the said Peter, in accordance with the king's previous order, issued upon Peter's complaint that the bailiffs had arrested his ship and cargo without reasonable cause, they having signified to the king that they did not arrest the ship, and that the burgesses of Scardeburgh claim by their charters to take distrains (namiare) for their debts, and that one Adam Beaufront, their fellow-burgess, executor of the will of Adam Beaufront, his father, distrained (namiauit) the said ship with the herrings and other wares aforesaid for a debt of 7*l.* due to his father for a loan from William son of John, Peter son of Hugh, John son of William, and other neighbours of theirs of Brele, and that the ship was arrested for this reason and for no other, which reason the king deems insufficient.

Memorandum, that on Wednesday before St. Peter ad Vincula, 1 Edward III., before the king's council, in the palace of W. archbishop of York, wherein queen Isabella was lodged, in the presence of the archbishop and of J. bishop of Ely, the chancellor, and H. bishop of Lincoln, the treasurer, and J. bishop of Winchester, Geoffrey le Scrop and others of the king's council, Nicholas de Langeton, mayor of the city of York, and Nicholas de Sexdecim Vallibus, the clerk of the city, sought in person from the archbishop that he would cause his place called 'the old bailey' to be kept at his charge against the Scots, in the same way as they cause the walls of the city to be kept, asserting that he and his predecessors were wont to keep and guard that place in time of war in the past; and the archbishop asserted that the mayor and community of York hold the city of the king at perpetual ferm, to be kept at their peril both in time of war and in peace, no place within the city being excepted, to wit neither the bailey aforesaid nor any other place, and that the bailey is parcel of the city aforesaid and is within the ditches of the city, and that he is not bound to keep it, and that his predecessors were not wont to keep it, but that upon another occasion, by reason of the great peril then threatening the city, he caused that place to be enclosed, and placed certain men for the defence of the same during the peril, and concerning this an indenture was made between the archbishop and the mayor and bailiffs and community of the city, containing that what the archbishop had thus done of his liberality and grace should not prejudice him or his successors in the future, and should not be drawn into a precedent; and the mayor and clerk did not deny the said indenture, but said that the place aforesaid is not parcel of the city or within the ditches of the city, but that the ditches about the said place are the archbishop's own ditches, and that the mayor and community of the city have not to intermeddle with that place in any way, and that the archbishop and his successors ought to keep the place at their peril and [that he and his predecessors] were wont to keep it at all times past. And afterwards the archbishop, because the premises could not be then discussed and determined, said that he would place some of his men to keep the said place upon this occasion, because of the stay of the queen and her son and daughters within the city; provided that, if peril should threaten the city from the Scots, the mayor and men of the city shall ordain for the defence of that place with his men, as for the defence of the other places of the city, as shall seem fit; provided also that what he thus does of his grace at this time for the aforesaid reason shall not prejudice him or his successors in future. And the mayor and clerk granted that they will ordain concerning the custody of the said place with the archbishop's men, if great peril shall threaten, as shall seem best for the security of the city, and that what the archbishop thus does shall not prejudice him or his church or his successors hereafter; saving the mayor and citizens their claim in this behalf when they will speak concerning it. Aug. 12.
York.

To the prior of St. Mary of La Charité. Brother Walter de Duluydz, late prior of Bermundeseye, has come to the king and shewn to him that whereas he lately obtained the priory of Bermundeseye by the promotion of the said prior of La Charité, and held the same for a long time, Master Robert de Baldok, then the late king's chancellor, falsely and maliciously charged upon Walter that he was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, to pursue Hugh le Despenser, and that he had harboured in the priory Peter de Monte Martini, Percival de Arenton and James (Jakeninum), his brother, who, it was said, had conspired for the death of Robert by reason of the said quarrel, and Robert caused Walter to be taken and detained in the Tower of London until he, under fear of perpetual imprisonment, resigned the priory and promised to go out of the realm with all speed; under which pretext Walter was amoved from the priory and another was substituted in his place, although he protested as much as he was able that his resignation had been made by him under coercion and not spontaneously. As it was ordained in the late parliament at Westminster that all persons who were of the said quarrel shall be restored to their possessions and things from which they were removed by reason of the quarrel, the king, considering the good behaviour of Walter, who laboured watchfully and diligently about the relief of the estate of the priory when he had the rule thereof, requests the prior of La Charité to restore Walter to his possession of the aforesaid priory, according to the said statute, having consideration of the fact that Walter at the time of the resignation was in prison and in the hands of those from whom he could not escape unless he obeyed their will in all things. The prior of La Charité is enjoined to conduct himself so in this behalf that it shall not behove the king to ordain another remedy through his default. The king hopes that the estate of the priory of Bermundeseye, which is impoverished and wasted for want of good government, will be improved by Walter's prudence and will receive wholesome increase. The prior of La Charité is desired to write back by the bearer hereof what he will cause to be done in this matter.

2 EDWARD III.

MEMBRANE 39.

1328.

Jan. 25.
York.

To the sheriff of York. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Simon Lovel, whom the king has caused to be amoved from office because he is insufficiently qualified.

By testimony of Thomas Wake.

To the sheriff of Norfolk. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Henry de Walpol, who is incapacitated by infirmity and age.

Jan. 25.
York.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Joan, late the wife of Henry son of John, tenant in chief, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

To the same. Order to deliver to the aforesaid Joan, mother of John son of the said Henry, as next friend of the heir, a moiety of the manor of Whittingeham and of the hamlets of Throunton and Barton, to be kept for the use of the heir, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that the said Henry held on the day of his death the said moieties in chief by the service of rendering a sore-coloured sparrow-hawk or half a mark yearly for all service, and that he held no other lands of the king in chief on the said day by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, and that the said John is his next heir and is aged two years.

Jan. 27.
York.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Geoffrey de Skefington, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by William Trussel, late escheator beyond Trent, that Geoffrey held no lands in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king.

Jan. 26.
York.

To the sheriff of Lancaster. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Thomas de Osbaldeston, who is incapacitated by illness and infirmity.

Jan. 27.
York.

To Thomas Wake, keeper of the Forest beyond Trent, or to him who supplies his place in the forest of Cannock (Cannoco). Order to cause Philip de Somervill's wood of Alrewas, which is within the metes of the said forest and which was taken into the king's hands for trespass of vert, to be replevied to the said Philip.

Jan. 26.
York.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order to cause Robert de Clifford, brother and heir of Roger de Clifford, to have seisin of his brother's lands in the escheator's bailiwick, the king having taken his homage for his brother's lands on 20 August last, and ordered Simon de Grimesby, escheator this side Trent, to cause him to have seisin of his brother's lands in Simon's bailiwick.

Jan. 21.
York.

To the same. Order not to distrain William Bard of Butterwyk for his homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as the king has taken his homage and fealty.
By p.s. [1509.]

Jan. 27.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance to be made to the executors of the will of Alan de Cobeldik, late keeper of the manor of Wilghton, co. Lincoln, which belonged to the Templars, for the wages and stipends and the arrears thereof of John de Whyttington, clerk, paid by Alan in execution of the king's order of 15 April, in the 17th year of his reign [as in this Calendar, 17 Edward II. p. 108].

Jan. 28.
York.

To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London. Order to pay to John de Hanon[ia] 500 marks out of the issues of the custom for Michaelmas term last, if they have not already paid him that sum, any order of the king's to pay the issues elsewhere notwithstanding, the king having, on 7 February last, granted to the said John 1,000 marks yearly from the issues of the custom in that port, to be received until the king should provide him with 1,000 marks of land yearly within the realm, and the king caused 500 marks for Easter term last to be paid out of the treasury.

To the same. Like order to pay 50 marks to Philip de Castro for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the king's grant to him of 100 marks yearly from the issues of the custom in that port, to be received until the king should cause him to be provided with 100 marks of land yearly within the realm, the king having caused 50 marks to be paid to him for Easter term last out of the treasury.

Feb. 3.
Knarborough.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance to be made to Robert But and John de Multon, son of Alexander de Hippetoft, collectors of the custom at Boston, for 535*l.* paid by them to Peter de Besaz, proctor of certain men of the duchy [of Aquitaine], to whom Edward I. owed 735*l.*, being the balance of that sum, receipt whereof Peter has acknowledged in chancery in person.

Jan. 28.
Ycrk.

To the sheriff of Salop. Whereas the king lately, understanding that Master Thomas de Eyton, dean of Briggennorth, which is a free chapel of the king's exempt from all ordinary jurisdiction, had died, granted the deanery to Henry de Harley, clerk, and ordered the sheriff to induct him into corporal possession thereof; and afterwards, because Thomas appeared before the king in the enjoyment of bodily health, the king revoked the grant to Henry and frequently ordered the sheriff to amove Henry from possession of the deanery, and to restore Thomas thereto; and because the sheriff returned that he could not execute the order because Henry kept himself in possession of the deanery with a force, not permitting him to be moved thence by the sheriff, the king ordered the sheriff to amove Henry from the deanery and to restore Thomas thereto, taking with him for this purpose the posse of the county, if necessary; and afterwards the king, upon being given to understand that Thomas and Henry had gathered a multitude of armed men and footmen by colour of the king's orders, and prepared to attack each other, ordered the sheriff to prohibit both of them or any other from collecting men-at-arms or doing anything in this matter by armed force, and, if necessary, to cause proclamation to be made to this effect, and to supersede until otherwise ordered the king's order to amove Henry and to restore Thomas, and to summon Henry and Thomas to be before the king in the quinzaine of Martinmas last with the king's letters and other evidences touching the premises, to propound their reasons and to do and receive what the king's court should consider in the premises; and both Thomas and Henry appeared in chancery on the said day, and, after adjournment from day to day and after the reasons on both sides had been heard, the said Henry said nothing why he should not be amoved from possession of the deanery and why Thomas should not be restored to the same: the king orders the sheriff to amove Henry from possession of the deanery without delay, and to restore Thomas to the same, taking with him the posse of the county, if necessary, and to take and imprison any whom he may find resisting him in the deanery or the houses pertaining to the same, so that they be not delivered from prison without the king's special order, certifying the king of their names.

To the sheriff of Hereford. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of William de la Wers, who is insufficiently qualified.

Like order to cause a coroner for the same county to be elected in place of John de Wonneton.

Feb. 5.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. John de Lancastria has shewn the king that whereas the late king committed to him during pleasure the custody of certain lands in co. Lancaster, which formerly belonged to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and to others in that county, and the treasurer and barons caused him to come to the exchequer to render account to the king of the issues aforesaid, and he paid to the exchequer at various times 1,400*l.*, and he expended a great sum of money, as he is prepared to verify, about the taking of the said money from that county through cos. Chester, Stafford, Leicester, and other counties to the exchequer, which was then at Westminster, in the expenses of divers men-at-arms, both footmen and horsemen, whom he sent to Westminster with the said money for its protection by reason of the dangers of the ways, and in the carriage of the same money, nevertheless the treasurer and barons defer making him any allowance therefor in his account, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to account with John for his reasonable expenses in this behalf, and to cause him to have allowance therefor.

Feb. 5.
York.

To the same. Order to cause the executors of Dougall Makdowell to be discharged of the arrears of 10*l.* yearly from 4 August, 20 Edward II., until 23 February following, the late king having, on the 4 August, granted to Dougall the custody of the lands that belonged to Henry de Malton, tenant in chief of the late king, in cos. York and Cumberland, which were in the late king's hands by reason of the minority of Henry's heir, to have from Michaelmas following until the heir came of age, rendering therefor 30*l.* yearly, out of which sum the said king willed that Dougall should be allowed the 20*l.* yearly that he received from him during his pleasure, and the present king, on the said 23 February, remitted the remaining 10*l.* yearly to Dougall for his good service to the late king, and the executors have now shewn to the king that the treasurer and barons distrain them for the arrears of the said 10*l.* between 4 August and 23 February, and they have prayed the king for a remedy, and the king has remitted the said arrears to them.

To the same. William, son and heir of William de (sic) Latymer, has shewn the king that his father at his death was bound to the late king in divers debts, which are exacted from the son for the king's use, and the late king was indebted to William's father in divers sums for various causes, and he has prayed the king to cause the latter sums to be allowed to him in the debts due to the late king: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to call before them the said William, and to examine any letters, bills, and other evidences in his possession concerning the debts aforesaid, and to account with him, and to allow to him the sums that they shall find were due to his father in the said debts due to the exchequer, and to certify the king of the sums in excess of the allowances found to be due from the son, and for what reason they are due, superseding the distraint meanwhile for the said debts.

To the sheriff of Suffolk. Order to deliver to John de Barton the goods and chattels of the abbot of Fécamp to the value of 99*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* arrested by him in execution of the king's order to arrest goods to the value of 99*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.* [for the reasons stated at pages 181, 191 above], the sheriff having satisfied John for 180*l.* 6*s.* 1*d.* which the abbot paid to him for his goods previously arrested, and to arrest goods of the abbot and men to the value of 8*s.* 7*d.*, the remainder of the above sum of 99*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.*, and to cause them to be kept safely until John be satisfied for that sum, certifying the king of his proceedings.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to examine the late king's letters of privy seal to the treasurer and chamberlains ordering them to pay to Master William de Weston, who was then going to the Roman court in his service, 100 marks from the treasury towards his expenses, and to account with William for his wages ordained by the late king for the days during which he was in the said service, and to allow him what they shall find to be due to him in the said 100 marks and in 50 marks that he acknowledged before the barons of the late king's exchequer to have received from the treasurer as imprest, and to cause all other things necessary for the final issue of his account to be done speedily, as he has prayed the king to cause his account to be audited and allowance to be made to him for his expenses, and he has shewn to the king that he expended the above sums and more about the affairs aforesaid.

To the sheriff of Cornwall. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Osbert Hamelyn, who is incapacitated by age and infirmity.

Feb. 1.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the executors of Hervey de Staunton to have an assignment where they may be speedily paid for 800*l.*, for the money of the said Hervey in St. Edmund's abbey that the king, after the arrival of him and Queen Isabella, caused to be taken as imprest and to be administered for his affairs, for which Hervey or his executors have not been satisfied.

To Richard Dammari, justice of Chester, and to John Paynel, chamberlain there. Whereas at the prosecution of Oliver de Burdegala and Matilda his wife—suggesting that they were seised of the manor of Smalwode, co. Chester, as of her right until the death of Joan, late the wife of Nicholas Daudele, and that the king's ministers in that county before his accession seised the manor into his hands after Joan's death, and detained the same until the king caused it to be delivered to Oliver and Matilda by process therein made by them against him, to hold as they held it before, and that the king's ministers received the issues of the manor for his use during all the time of its detention, which issues remained in the king's possession upon the delivery of the manor, and praying the king to cause restitution of the issues to be made to them—the king ordered the said justice to enquire by inquisition what the manor is worth yearly, and how long it was detained in the king's hands, and it is found by the said inquisition that the manor is worth yearly in all issues 32*l.* 4*s.* 8½*d.*, and in addition to this value the bondmen of the manor render every third year at Whitsuntide 4*l.* for a custom called 'le couyeld,' and that the aforesaid Joan died before St. Peter ad Vincula, 16 Edward II., and the manor was taken into the king's* hands immediately after her death by his escheator in co. Chester before his accession, and that the manor was detained in the king's hands from the day of its taking until 12 April, 17 Edward II., and the king took the issues and profite of the manor in rents, customs, and fermes, together with 4*l.* of the aforesaid custom that fell due at Whitsuntide, in the 16th year of the reign: the king therefore orders the justice and chamberlain to cause Oliver to have the issues received from the manor from the time of its taking into the king's hands until the said 12 April.

To the sheriff of Essex. It is shewn to the king on behalf of Hugh de Audele and Margaret his wife, one of the sisters and heiresses of Gilbert de Clare, sometime earl of Gloucester, that although they entered the manor of Thaxstede,—which Bartholomew de Badelesmere held for life of the said earl's demise, and which was assigned to the said Margaret after Bartholomew's death in her purparty of the earl's lands—by virtue of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, according to the statute in the last parliament at Westminster, by writ directed to the sheriff of that county, as Margaret's right and inheritance, and they thus hold it at present, nevertheless the said sheriff intends amoving them thence by virtue of a writ directed to him at the prosecution of Margaret, late the wife of the said Bartholomew, asserting that she is of the said quarrel, to resume her lands into the king's hands and deliver them to her; the king, not wishing Hugh and Margaret his wife to be wronged, orders the sheriff to have respect to the fact that Hugh is of the aforesaid quarrel, and to the right claimed by him and his wife in the manor and to their long seisin thereof, and not to attempt anything to their prejudice by virtue of such general orders.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, and to the chamberlains. The bailiffs and community of Great Yarmouth have shewn to the king that whereas the late king sent to Yarmouth Adam de Bridelyngton, clerk, with 300*l.* to be carried to John Lesturmy, his admiral towards the north, for payment to certain men of the admiral's bailiwick by Adam's advice upon security being found for repayment of the same to the said king, and the said John, about St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 20th year of the reign, ordered the bailiffs and community to prepare their ships to set out in the said king's service at sea in aid of the fishermen of England, who were daily robbed and slain, and hereupon delivered to the bailiffs and community 230*l.* of the said 300*l.* in Adam's presence, and the bailiffs and community made their letters obligatory to the said king for the said sum received as a loan, no mention being made in the letters that they had received the aforesaid sum towards the expenses of the mariners setting out as above in the said king's service, and they fear that the said 230*l.* may be exacted from them eventually, wherefore they have prayed the king to cause them to be acquitted of this sum and to cause their said letters to be restored to them: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons and chamberlains to cause the bailiffs and community to be acquitted of the above sum, if they ascertain by inquisition or otherwise that they received it for the above service and that they did the service, notwithstanding that the letters contain that they received the said sum as a loan, and to cause the letters to be restored to them.

To the prior of Spaldyng. Order to pay to the abbot of St. Nicholas, Angers, or to his proctor, 40*l.* yearly from the time when the king restored to the abbot his lands, fees, and advowsons, which the late king took into his hands by reason of the war between him and the king of France, and to cause that sum to be paid to the abbot hereafter, if they are bound to pay him that sum yearly, as the abbot has shewn to the king that a composition was made between a late abbot, his predecessor, and the convent and a late prior of Spaldyng and the convent for the settlement of divers disputes, whereby the prior and convent of Spaldyng are bound to the abbot and convent in 40*l.* yearly, to be paid to the abbot or his proctor at Spaldyng in the octaves of Midsummer, and that the prior of Spaldyng, supposing that this sum is an apportum by reason of certain words concerning an apportum contained in the king's writ for delivery of the abbot's lands, etc., has detained the aforesaid sum from the abbot from the time of the delivery of the lands, etc., wherefore the abbot has prayed the king to provide a remedy. The king makes this order because such a rent to be paid to any one at a certain place within the realm ought not to be called an apportum. It is provided that the prior shall satisfy the king for the said yearly sum for the time when the abbot's lands were in the hands of him and his father.

It was agreed by the justices.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to account with the executors of the will of John, late bishop of Norwich, for the sum delivered to the bishop at the exchequer towards his expenses in going to France by the late king's order with others for the reformation of peace with the king of France, and for his expenses for the days during which he was employed in the said service in going thither, staying there, and returning, and to allow to them as much for a day as was ordained by the late king and his council at another time, and to allow him for his expenses for crossing the sea and for any envoys he may have sent in this behalf, and to cause to be done what ought to be done for the final issue of the account, in accordance with the executors' petition to the king.

To the same. Order to cause Humphrey de Bassingburn to be discharged of 10*l.* of the issues of Hugh de Audele's manors of Rothewell, Whiston, Perneweldon, and Navesby, cos. Northampton and Rutland, which he has paid to Hugh in execution of the king's order to deliver to him any issues remaining in his hands from the above manors, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and which were in Humphrey's custody by the late king's commission.

To Otto de Grandisono, keeper of the islands of Gernereye and Jereseye, Serk, and Aureneye, or to him who supplies his place in the islands. Order to restore the lands of men of religion and others of the power of the king

To Mary, late the wife of Aymer de Valencia, earl of Pembroke. Order to pay to the abbot and convent of Sallay the arrears of a yearly rent of 10 marks for the time that the manor of Temple Neusum has been in her hands by the king's grant, and to pay them the said rent yearly for so long as the manor shall be in her hands, as it was found by an inquisition taken by the late king's order by Richard de Aldeburgh and Adam de Hoperton that Stephen, abbot of Sallay, and the convent of the same a hundred years ago demised at ferm for ever to Alan Marcell, then master of the order of the Temple in England, and to the brethren of the same order five carucates of land and five parts of all the wood of Halton, and quit-claimed to them five bovates of land in the same town, rendering therefor to the abbot and convent 10 marks yearly, and that the abbot and his successors were seised of this rent from that time continuously by the hands of the master and brethren of the order during its existence, and that after the condemnation of the order the abbot and convent received the rent when the said lands were in the late king's hands and when they were in the hands of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, who entered them as lord of the fee when the late

Warwick, Laurence de Hastyng', and James de Audele, and also upon the issues of the bailiwick of his justiciary of Wales, for the arrears of 6,000 marks due to him from the late king, as he has given the king to understand that the late king was indebted to him in the aforesaid sum for his costs and expenses when he supplied the said king's place in Ireland, and that the said king assigned to him 2,000 marks to be received at the exchequer of England, 2,000 marks at the exchequer of Kaernervan, and 2,000 marks at the exchequer of Dublin, and that he received 500 marks for the marriage of Thomas de Beauchamp sold to him, 225 marks at the exchequer of Kaernervan, and 348 marks at the exchequer of Dublin, and he has prayed the king to cause him to be satisfied for the remainder of the above sum.

By p.s. [1627.]

To the same. Order to cause allowance to be made to Thomas Doyn, the late king's chamberlain of South Wales, in his account, for the usual fees and wages of constables and other ministers of the said king, as has usually been done in the accounts of other chamberlains.

March 2. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to expend up to 20 marks in repairing York. the houses within the castle of Old Sarum. By C.

Feb. 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to John York. Travers, the late king's constable of Bordeaux and receiver of the said king's moneys and victuals in the duchy [of Aquitaine], in his account of the issues of the duchy, all the payments and expenses made by him by the order of Edmund, earl of Kent, supplying the place of the late king in the duchy, and by the order of the late king's seneschals there, for the safe-keeping of the duchy and for other affairs touching the said king in the duchy.

The like in favour of Nicholas de Hugat, the late king's receiver of his money and victuals in the duchy aforesaid.

March 3. To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain York. Thomas de Coudray for homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king in chief, as the king has taken his homage and fealty.

By p.s. [1652.]

Feb. 25. To John Giffard, steward of Queen Isabella's lands this side Trent.
York. Whereas Henry de Lacey, sometime lord of Blakeburnshire, granted by charter to God and Saint Mary and to Alexander, then abbot of Kirkestall, and to the monks there the manor of Bernolweswyk, co. York, towards the foundation (in fundationem) of the said abbey, to hold in frankalmoin free and quit from all customs and worldly services, and the king lately, at the prosecution of the present abbot by petition before him and his council, —suggesting that although the manor is outside Queen Isabella's free chace of Blakeburnshire, nevertheless Richard de Merclesdon, her chief forester of that chace, and certain others of her ministers of that chace have exacted puture from the abbot on Friday in every week by reason of the said manor, endeavouring to charge him therewith, contrary to the tenor of the said charter—frequently ordered the aforesaid steward to cause the exaction of the puture aforesaid to be superseded if the manor is outside the said chace, or to certify the king if there was any reason why he should not obey these orders; and the steward has returned amongst other things that although the manor is outside the said chace he dare not supersede the exaction of the puture without consulting the king and Queen Isabella, because he has enquired and learned from the said queen's ministers and by others that the aforesaid Richard and the other foresters aforesaid and their predecessors have been wont to receive the aforesaid puture from the abbot and his predecessors at the said manor from old time, to wit in the time and throughout the time when John de Lacy, sometime earl of Lincoln, Edmund his son, Henry son of Edmund, Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, the late king, and the present king, and Queen Isabella were successively lords of Blakeburnshire, as pertaining to the foresters aforesaid for the custody of the chace, and that the aforesaid Richard has the chief custody of the chace for the term of his life by the king's grant, but that he had not yet ascertained whether or not the foresters of the aforesaid John's ancestors in the chace were seised of the puture aforesaid, because he did not find any one living who remembered any lord of the chace before John's time: the king, not wishing to aggrieve the abbot, orders the steward to cause Richard and the other foresters to desist from the exaction of such puture from the abbot, notwithstanding the cause aforesaid, which is naught, and to release any distresses levied from the abbot for this reason. By pet. of C.

March 1. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause William York. de Ros of Hamelak to be discharged of 304 marks 6s. 8d., which he owed to the late king for his relief, if they find that he did homage to the late king before 10 November, in the 10th year of his reign, when the said king granted that William should pay his debts to the exchequer by yearly instalments of 20 marks, which sum and debts the present king pardoned him on 26 September last, as the king is given to understand on William's behalf that they defer discharging him of the aforesaid sum for his relief because his relief was not acknowledged in the exchequer before the said 10 November, although he did homage to the late king before that day.

To the same. Order to allow to Simon de Grymesby, to whom the king has committed the office of escheator this side Trent during pleasure, such fee as they shall find was allowed to other escheators in their accounts.

March 4. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain York. Nicholas de Langeford for his homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done homage and fealty to the king.

By p.s. [1655.]

Feb. 5. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause William York. David, late fermor of the manor of Yoxhale, whereof Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, was seised in his demesne as of fee on the day of his death, as appears by inquisition taken by William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, to be discharged of the ferm, issues and profits of the manor for the time when he was fermor thereof for which answer has not been made to the late king or to the present king, so that he may answer therefor to Henry, earl of Lancaster and Leicester, brother and heir of the said Thomas, to whom the king has granted all issues and arrears of fermes of Thomas's lands, and the king has ordered the fermors and keepers to deliver the issues and arrears to Henry.

March 10. To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-Pontefract. meddle in any way with the manor of Wynchingfeld near Odiham, co. Southampton, which was taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Juliana de Leyburn, and to restore the issues thereof, as—upon its being found by inquisition taken by the escheator that Juliana held no lands in chief at her death, but that she held the manor of Eselyng of the heir of Bartholomew de Badelesmere, a minor in the king's wardship, as of the barony of Chilham by the service of one knight's fee, and a messuage and 80 acres of land in Overlonde of the archbishopric of Canterbury, void and in the king's hands, by the service of 13s. 4d. yearly to the archbishop's manor of Wengham for all service, and that she held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Juliana, daughter of Thomas de Leyburn, her kinswoman, whom Thomas le Blount married, was her next heir and of full age—the king took the fealty of Thomas le Blount for the lands thus held of the aforesaid heir and archbishop, and ordered the escheator to deliver the lands to Thomas and Juliana upon Thomas finding security for payment of the relief, and not to intermeddle with the lands held of other lords, and the king afterwards, understanding that Juliana held at her death in her demesne as of fee the aforesaid manor of Wynchingfeld and other lands in co. Southampton of the king in chief by knight service, ordered the escheator to take inquisition concerning the same, and it is found by the inquisition that Juliana at her death held the manor in her demesne as of fee of the abbot of Certeseye by knight service, and that she held no other lands of the king in chief in that county.

- March 8. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause York. Thomas de Ros, son and heir of William de Ros of Kendale, tenant in chief of the late king, to have seisin of his father's lands, as he has proved his age before the escheator and the king has taken his homage. By p.s. [1682.]

Memorandum, that Thomas acknowledged in chancery upon oath that he holds the lands of the king in chief by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee.

- March 1. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, and to the chamberlains.
York. Order to cause satisfaction to be made to Roger de Swynnerton, banneret, by payment or assignment for 145*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.*, which is due to him from the king for his wages of war against Scotland in the first year of the reign, and for the like wages in coming in the company of Queen Isabella and the king in the 20th year of the late king's reign, as appears by a bill under the seal of Robert de Wodehous, keeper of the wardrobe, in Roger's possession. By K.

- March 2. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Edmund York. de Assheby, late sheriff of Leicester, to be discharged in his account of 31*l.* 18*s.* 0*d.* yearly for the ferm of the hundred of Framelond from 26 May, 12 Edward II., when that king committed the hundred to Roger Beler, for the time that the hundred was in Roger's hands, as it is found by certificate of the treasurer and barons sent into chancery that answer was made to Henry III. in the 19th year of his reign for 31*l.* 8*s.* 0*d.* (sic) by the sheriff of Leicester for the hundred aforesaid, and that the late king granted the hundred to the said Roger and his heirs in fee, rendering therefor yearly 12*l.* 18*s.* 5½*d.* to the exchequer by their own hands, and that Roger paid the ferm during his lifetime by his own hands.

The like in favour of Oliver le Waleys, late sheriff of the said county.

MEMBRANE 33.

Here J. bishop of Ely, then the chancellor, delivered the great seal to the king, as appears in the memorandum on the dorse of this roll.

- March 3. To Peter atte Stok. Order to be intendent to the abbess of Gynes in York. Artoys hereafter for the ferm of the churches of Newenton, Brensete, and Promhell, co. Kent, and to deliver to her her goods and chattels found therein and the arrears of the ferm for which answer has not been made to the king or his father, in accordance with the agreement made by the king and his council in the parliament at Westminster for alien men of religion, as the abbess has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, for restitution of the said churches and goods, which the late king caused to be taken into his hands with the lands of other alien men of religion of the power of the king of France, which churches he delivered to Peter by letters patent under the exchequer seal for a certain yearly ferm.

By pet. of C. [2451.]

- March 6. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to cause John de Eton, attached and York. imprisoned by him for counterfeiting the king's privy seal, to be conducted to Oxford with his attachment and other things touching it, there to be delivered to the sheriff of Oxford, whom the king has ordered to receive him and to bring him to the king in three weeks from Easter next, to do and receive what the king's court shall consider.

By K. on the information of John de Mautravers, his steward.

March 3. To the sheriff of York. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be York. elected in place of William Clarel, who is incapacitated by infirmity.

March 7. To the sheriff of Buckingham. Order to cause a coroner for that county York. to be elected in place of Richard de Kynebell, who is insufficiently qualified.

March 7. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-York. meddle further with the lands of Hugh Tevereye, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Bolyngbrok, the late king's escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, and Lancaster, that Hugh held no lands of the late king in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services.

March 8. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the men York. of Baumburgh to have respite until Whitsuntide next for the 26 marks due from them at Easter next for the ferm of the town, as the king has granted them this respite in consideration of the damages sustained by them through the frequent comings of the Scotch rebels into those parts.

By K. on the information of Richard de Ayremynn.

March 8. To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain York. Robert son of Nigel for homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done homage and fealty to the king. By p.s. [1688.]

York. To the sheriff of Stafford. Order to deliver to Ebulo Lestraunge and Alesia de Lacy his wife, late the wife of Thomas, earl of Lancaster, the manor of Caldon, in that county, which is of Alesia's inheritance and which was taken into the late king's hands upon the said earl's death, and to deliver to them the issues received thence by him, as the late king ordered Roger de Waltham to deliver the manor to Alesia together with the issues thereof from the time when it was taken into the late king's hands, which order has not yet been executed, as the king learns from the complaint of Ebulo, who has married Alesia, and of Alesia.

March 9. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to William de Herle, York. who was lately sent from Nottingham to Baumburgh to treat with the Scots there, without delay 26*l.*, which the king owes to him for his wages for 52 days in May, June, and July in the first year of his reign, as appears by a bill sealed by Robert de Wodehous, keeper of the king's wardrobe, in William's possession.
By K.

March 3. To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-York. meddle further with the lands of John Giffard of Weston, and to deliver the issues thereof since 6 July last to John de Cherleton, as the king on that day committed to him the custody of the said lands during the minority of John Giffard's heir.

March 9. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John, York. bishop of Ely, the late chancellor, to be discharged of the fee and issues of the great seal from 26 January, in the first year of the king's reign, until 1 March last, both days being included, as the king, in consideration of the bishop's labours and expenses in the company of Queen Isabella and of the king after his arrival in England, and of the charge and expenses of the office of chancellor, granted to him the fee of the great seal wholly from

To the same. Whereas the king, at the prosecution of Walter de Islep, the late king's treasurer of Ireland, by petition before him and his council—suggesting that he and the barons of the exchequer of Dublin sent the rolls of the account of Alexander de Bykenore, late treasurer of Ireland, to the exchequer of Westminster by the late king's order, and the late king, because some falsifications were found on examination of the account, caused Walter's lands, goods and chattels in Ireland to be taken into his hands by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer of Dublin for the sealing of the account under the seal of that exchequer, and although Walter made fine with the late king in 500 marks for pardon of the trespass aforesaid, and paid 300 marks thereof to the late king in his wardrobe, whereupon the said king ordered Walter's lands and goods to be delivered to him, nevertheless the treasurer and barons of the exchequer of Dublin sold the greater part of Walter's goods and chattels in Ireland, which he asserts were of the value of 500*l.*, at a fourth or a fifth penny less than they were worth, and received the money arising therefrom, and detained the rest of his goods in their possession by reason of said 200 marks, the residue of the aforesaid fine, and the said 200 marks are nevertheless exacted from his lands and chattels in England by summons of the exchequer—ordered the chancellor of Ireland to inspect the petition sent to him by the king, and to cause some of his subjects of those parts to be appointed to enquire the truth concerning the contents of the petition, and to send him the inquisition under the seals of those by whom it had been taken; the king orders the treasurer and barons to supersede until the quinzaine of Midsummer next the exaction made upon Walter in his lands for the aforesaid 200 marks, so that the king may in the meantime cause to be done what is right and reasonable.

March 3.
York.

To the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in Ireland. Order to deliver to Hugh de Audeleye and Margaret his wife their lands and all appurtenances, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and which are still in the prior's custody, together with the issues and arrears of farms thereof for which answer has not been made to the late king, and their goods and chattels found in the same, excepting lands that belonged to the Templars, in accordance with the agreement in the late parliament at Westminster for restitution to those who were of the aforesaid quarrel.

March 8.
York.

To Gilbert de Borughdon, keeper of the lands that belonged to Robert de Umframvill, late earl of Anegos, in co. Northumberland, in the king's hands by reason of the minority of his heir. Order to pay to Henry de Percy the arrears of 4 marks yearly for the time that Gilbert has had the custody of the said lands, and to pay him the same yearly henceforth, as it was found by inquisition taken by Simon de Grymesby, the late king's escheator in cos. York, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmoreland, that the said earl held at his death certain lands in Shyrmunde, Alwenton, Faudon, Clenhill, Bidlesden, Boroudon, Sharperton, Thirnom, Nederton, and Angram, co. Northumberland, of Henry de Percy as of the barony of Alnewyk, by the service of 4 marks yearly, whereupon the late king ordered Roger Mauduyt, then keeper of the lands aforesaid, to pay to Henry the arrears of the said 4 marks for the time that he had had the custody, and to pay him the same thereafter.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas Anthony Grymbaldi de Kerio of Genoa, merchant, appeared before the king in chancery on 9 March last, and acknowledged that the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England had satisfied him for 300*l.* in which the prior was bound to him by a recognisance made to him in the late king's exchequer, in January, in the 10th year of his reign, and Anthony Malocelle of Genoa, merchant, acknowledged before the king in chancery, on the same day, that the prior had satisfied him for 250*l.* in which he was bound to him by a recognisance made in the late king's exchequer in the said year, and the said Annotus (sic) and Anthony then acknowledged jointly that the prior had satisfied them for 500*l.* in which he was bound to them by a recognisance made to them in the late king's exchequer in March, in the 18th year of his reign, and they granted that the aforesaid recognisances shall be cancelled and annulled in the rolls of the exchequer: the king therefor signifies the premises to the treasurer and barons and orders them to do what they shall see fit for the discharge of the prior from the sums thus acknowledged before them in the exchequer.

March 8.
York.

To Walter de Radeswell. Order to pay to the prior of Colne the arrears of 10*s.* yearly for the time that Walter has had the custody of 30 acres of land, pasture, and alder-holt in Fordham, and to pay to the prior that sum yearly for so long as he shall have the custody of the said land, as the late king made like order to Master John Walewayn, late escheator beyond Trent, and to John de Blomvill, afterwards escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex and Hertford, because it was found by inquisition taken by Richard de Rodeneye, the said king's escheator beyond Trent, that the prior and his predecessors received the said sum yearly from the above land, which is parcel of the manor of Fordham, then in the said king's hands by reason of the minority of the heir of John de Argenteyme, tenant in chief of the said king, at the time of the said John's death, and for a hundred years and more before that time.

March 2.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, and to the chamberlains. Order to pay to Robert de Monte Alto 6,700 marks, or to cause him to have satisfaction therefor by assignment upon the twentieth and tenth granted to the king, or otherwise as may be convenient, being the balance of 10,000 marks that the king owed to Robert for his grant of his lands in England and Wales after his death and the death of Emma his wife, in case he die without an heir male of his body, to Queen Isabella, John de Eltham, the king's brother, and to the king, for payment whereof John, bishop of Ely, and Henry, bishop of Lincoln, made a recognisance to Robert in chancery at the king's request, the king having caused 200*l.* to be paid to Robert in his wardrobe and afterwards caused 3,000 marks to be paid to him by writ of liberate, and having ordered the treasurer and barons to pay the remaining 6,700 marks to Robert or to cause him to have an assignment therefor upon the twentieth and tenth, as Robert has now given the king to understand that they caused part of the aforesaid sum to be assigned to him from the twentieth in cos. Bedford and Buckingham, and that he has been unable to obtain any payment thereof because the collectors had delivered all the money collected by them to the exchequer before the assignment to Robert was delivered to them, wherefore he has restored the writs to the exchequer.

The king has ordered the bailiffs of Raveneserod to cause goods of the said men and merchants to be arrested in like manner to the value of 200*l*.

Mandate in pursuance to the said bailiffs.

- March 3.
York. To the sheriff of Nottingham and Derby. Order to pay to Nicholas de la Dispense, the king's yeoman, 20*l*. yearly out of the issues of his bailiwick, as the king has granted this sum to Nicholas during pleasure or until he shall provide him with 20*l*. of land yearly, which grant was made because the late king granted to Nicholas, in recompence for his long service, the said sum yearly to be received from the lands that belonged to William de Bredon, in co. Derby, in aid of the maintenance of himself, his wife and children, and the said lands have been taken out of Nicholas's hands and restored to the said William by common consent of parliament.
- March 6.
York. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of John le Barber, who is incapacitated by age and infirmity.
- March 3.
York. To John de Cromebwell, keeper of the Forest this side Trent, or to him who supplies his place in the forest of Ingelwode. Order to cause Anthony de Lacy, keeper of the manor of Penreth and of the king's mills there, or his attorney to have ten oaks fit for timber from the said forest for the repair of the mills, as the king understands that the mills are broken down and in great need of repair. The king has ordered Anthony to receive the oaks from the said John and to cause the mills to be repaired therewith.
- March 7.
York. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent, in his account 10 marks for this Easter term paid by him to Joan de Torthorald by the king's order.
- March 23.
Lincoln. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain John de Bohun of Midhirst for his homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done homage and fealty to the king.
By p.s. [1715.]
- The like to Walter Wogan, escheator in Ireland.
- March 23.
Lincoln. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Simon de Kynardesey, sheriff of Lincoln, 100 marks paid by him, by virtue of the king's order, by writ of privy seal, of 22 October last, to John de Neusum, king's clerk, and other keepers of certain of the king's horses staying in his bailiwick for their wages and for the maintenance of the horses, as appears by indentures, which John has acknowledged in chancery.
- March 27.
Barlings. To the chamberlain of Chester. Order to cause all the king's victuals in his castles within the chamberlain's bailiwick to be surveyed, and to cause such as cannot be kept conveniently to be changed by the view of Oliver de Ingham, the king's justice there, or of those to be deputed by him.

MEMBRANE 31.

March 9. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to cause payment or assign-York. ment to be made to Richard de Bernyngham for 40*l.*, which the late king ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to Richard for the time when he was his justice of assize in divers counties in the 12th and 13th year of his reign, for the 20*l.* yearly granted to him by the said king in aid of his expenses, if they ascertain that this sum has not been paid to Richard, who has given the king to understand that the late king's order has not been executed.

March 9. To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the York. king. Whereas the king lately—at the prosecution of the abbot of Mont St. Michel, suggesting to him that Edward I. demanded against the abbot's predecessor before Henry de Guldeford and his fellows, then justices in eyre in the Island of Jeresye and the adjoining islands, the manor of St. Clement in the said island, which place the abbot and his predecessors had held from time out of mind as the priory of St. Clement pertaining to their abbey and not as a manor, and that the priory was taken into the said king's hands in the name of a manor by order of the said justices, and that it is still in the king's hands, and that although error intervened in the record and process and in the taking aforesaid and the abbot prosecuted for remedy in divers parliaments of the late king, who caused the record and process to come before him and sent them to Henry Spigurnel and his fellows, his justices in eyre in the islands, and caused an inquisition concerning the abbot's right to be made by them, and they returned the inquisition and record and process before the late king, and the abbot hereupon had adjournments there, nevertheless the abbot did not obtain justice in this matter by reason of the diversity of the names of the priory and manor and by reason of the disturbance in this realm, and for other reasons—ordered the said Geoffrey and his fellows to examine the said record and process and, if need be, the inquisition, and to proceed to correct any errors found therein and to proceed to the full discussion of the matter, provided that they did not proceed to render judgment without consulting the king; and the abbot has now prayed the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, to order judgment to be rendered herein since the matter was discussed before him up to the rendering of judgment: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed to render judgment, notwithstanding his order aforesaid. By pet. of C. [14304.]

March 4. To the chamberlain of North Wales. Order to permit David ap Howell, York. of the county of Anglesey in North Wales, to pay the 20*l.* due from him to the late king for the term of the mills of Anglesey, which sum he ought to have paid at Michaelmas, 20 Edward II., in instalments of 10*l.* at Michaelmas next and at the following Michaelmas, upon his finding security for payment, as the king has granted him these terms in response to his petition before him and his council in parliament. By pet. of C. [7604.]

To the justice of Chester, or to him who supplies his place. Roger de Grey has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that the king's men of the land of Engelfeld, which adjoins Roger's land of Dreffrencloyt, have usurped to themselves land from Dreffrencloyt to the estimated amount of 20 acres, whence disputes and strife have arisen between the men of the said lands through the lack of bounds between the said lands, and he has prayed the king to cause bounds to be acknowledged between the said lands: the king therefore orders the justices to call before him the men of the land of Engelfeld and others of his bailiwick by whom such bounds may be best made, and to cause bounds to be made to endure for ever between the lands.

By pet. of C.

To the chamberlain of South Wales. Order to pay to Master Rhys Appowel, the late king's justice in South Wales and West Wales, the arrears of the accustomed fee for that office for the time when he was justice.

By C.

Feb. 26.
York.

To the sheriff of Sussex. Order to deliver to the abbot of Holy Trinity, La Luzerne, or to his attorney all his lands, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the disputes between him and Charles, late king of France.

The like to Walter Beryl and Master Roger de Blokesworth in favour of Clemencia, late the wife of John de Vesey, for her lands in Sturmynstremareschal.

March 4.
York.

To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Geoffrey de Elferton, who is incapacitated by age and infirmity.

March 3.
York.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Dedham, which he has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Hervey de Staunton, clerk, and to restore the issues thereof since Hervey's death to the executors of his will, as the late king—upon its being found by inquisition taken by Master John Walewayn, late escheator beyond Trent, that John de Stotevill, tenant in chief of the said king, held no lands in chief at his death, but that, long before his death, he demised by the said king's licence the aforesaid manor, which he held of the said king as of the honour of Reines, to the aforesaid Hervey for life, and it appeared by an indented deed exhibited before the said king in chancery by Hervey that John, on the last day of April, in the 7th year of the said king's reign, demised the manor to Hervey in form aforesaid, and that Hervey should hold it for the first eight years without doing any service or paying any rent to the said John or his heirs, and that Hervey should render them 20 marks yearly after the end of that term, which expired on 17 January, in the 16th year of the late king's reign, for which reason the said 20 marks remained to be paid after that date—ordered the said Master John not to intermeddle with the manor in any way, willing that Hervey should pay to the exchequer 20 marks yearly for the manor for so long as John's heir should remain a minor in the said king's wardship.

March 8.
York.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Thomas Doyn has shewn the king that whereas he was the late king's chamberlain of Kaermerdyn in the 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, and 19th years of his reign, and during that time the said king appointed divers ministers and fermors of commotes, cantreds, and other places in South Wales pertaining to the said office of chamberlain, and also Edmund, late earl of Arundel, the late king's justice of those parts and supplying his place there, deputed bedels, reeves, and divers other ministers in the same commotes, cantreds, and other places at his will and without the assent of the said Thomas, and although the said ministers and fermors have not yet fully answered to Thomas at the exchequer of Kaermerdyn for the issues of the bailiwicks committed to them and for the farms, and divers sums remained in their hands unpaid, so that Thomas was unable to answer to the late king for the arrears of the ministers and fermors, nevertheless the treasurer and barons charge him in his account rendered at the exchequer with the issues and farms aforesaid as if the ministers and fermors had answered to him for the same in full, although he had applied all possible diligence in levying the arrears aforesaid for the late king's use, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide him with a remedy: the king therefore orders them to appoint the prior of Kaermerdyn, now chamberlain of Kaermerdyn, and one other person of those parts to enquire what sums remain in the hands of the ministers and fermors aforesaid, whose names Thomas will deliver to them at the exchequer, and to enquire all particulars concerning the same, and to levy the said sums for the discharge of Thomas, and to cause Thomas to be discharged of all sums found remaining in the hands of the said ministers and fermors.

March 9.
York.

To Robert de Hornclif, constable of Baumburgh castle. Whereas it was lately found by inquisition taken by Roger Heron, Richard de Emeldon, and Robert de Tughale that Robert le Porter of Baumburgh was seised at his death in his demesne as of fee of 36 acres of land and 5 acres of meadow in Baumburgh, and of the custody of the gate of the castle, taking 2*d.* a day for the custody, and that he and his ancestors were seised of the said land, meadow, and custody from time out of mind, and that after his death Ralph le Porter his son was seised thereof in like manner as his next heir for twelve years, until John de Cambhou, the constable of Edward I. of that castle, and John de Dudden, then sub-escheator in co. Northumberland, in the 22nd year of the said king's reign, amoved Ralph from the said land, meadow and custody, charging him with the slaying of one Robert de Fletham, and in this way disseised him of the land, meadow, and custody, which they took into the said king's hands on Sunday in the first week of Lent in the said year, and that Ralph was never convicted of the said death, and that he died in the late king's faith and peace at Baumburgh, on Monday after the Invention of the Holy Cross, 15 Edward II., and that Robert son of Robert le Porter is his brother and next heir and is aged fifty, and that neither Ralph nor Robert son of Robert remitted the land, meadow, and custody to the king's grandfather or father or to Roger de Malberthorp, who held them for life by demise from Edward I., or changed their estate therein in any way, and that the land, meadow, and custody were in the king's hands for this reason only, and that they are held of him by the service of keeping the gate of the castle and of finding a watchman every night in time of peace and war on a gate called 'Smythyate' in the castle, and of rendering yearly 6*s.* 8*d.* to the king's exchequer of the castle of Newcastle-on-Tyne, and 4*s.* 5*d.* yearly to the town of Baumburgh: and the king thereupon took the homage of the said Robert son of Robert on 4 May last, and ordered the land, meadow, and custody to be delivered to him: the king now orders the constable to pay to the said Robert son of Robert the arrears of the aforesaid 2*d.* a day from the 4th May, and to pay him that sum daily hereafter for so long as the constable shall remain in that office.

March 22.
Lincoln.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain the prior of Newstead for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he had done fealty to the king.

April 12. The like to Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent, in favour of Stamford. Ralph de Wedon, for homage and fealty. By p.s. [1750.]

April 4. To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to pay to Wenthlana, daughter Semperingham. of Llewelyn, late prince of Wales, a nun of Sempyngham, 10*l.* for Easter term last past, in accordance with the king's grant to her of 20*l.* yearly from the issues of that county for her life. [Fœdera.]

April 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the Semperingham. aforesaid 10*l.* to be allowed to the sheriff in his account.

April 4. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain Semperingham. Thomas de Carreu for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done fealty to the king.

April 6. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order to pay to Semperingham. Meliora, late the wife of Gilbert de Glyncarny, 10*l.* for Easter term last from the issues of his bailiwick, as the king, who lately granted the manor of Milham, co. Norfolk, to Gilbert, for life, in aid of the maintenance of himself, his wife and children, has granted to Meliora, because she has no lands to maintain her, 20*l.* yearly by the hands of the escheator beyond Trent from 1 September last.

April 7. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 10*l.* to be Semperingham. allowed to the aforesaid escheator, which he has paid to Meliora in execution of the preceding order.

To Thomas de Blaston, chamberlain of Chester. William de Done-castria, citizen of Chester, has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that the late king is indebted to him in 80*l.*, which he lent to Stephen de Chestount, then chamberlain of Chester, for divers works in Chester castle, as appears by a telly in his possession, and he owes to the king 30*l.* for a fine made by him before Richard Damori, late justice of Chester, for a trespass charged upon him, and he has prayed the king to cause the said 30*l.* to be allowed to him in the aforesaid 80*l.*: the king, wishing to be certified concerning this matter, orders the chamberlain to search the rolls and memoranda of the said exchequer [of Chester] for the time of the said Stephen and Richard, which are in his custody in the treasury of Chester, and to certify the king in a month from Easter next whether the said 80*l.* were lent to Stephen by William for the above purpose or not, and whether the said 30*l.* is owing to the king by William, and for what cause it is owing, superseding in the meantime the demand upon

April 26. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas divers liberties Northampton. and acquittances were granted to John, bishop of Ely, and the prior and convent of that place by the charters of Sir Edgar and St. Edward and others of the king's progenitors, sometime kings of England, and the king has confirmed the charters by his charter, and has further granted that the bishop, prior and convent may use and enjoy each and all of the said liberties and acquittances, although they may not hitherto have used them, and moreover, as the bishop and his predecessors and the prior and convent and their predecessors have had, by pretext of general words contained in the charters of Edgar and St. Edward and others of the king's progenitors, in the two hundreds within the Isle of Ely, and within the hundred and a half of Midford, and within the five hundreds and a half of Wyckelawe, the Thred-ling (Trillyng) of Wyneston year and waste, the chattels of felons, fugitives, and condemned persons, and other forfeitures whatsoever that might have pertained to the king or to his progenitors, or that he or his progenitors might claim as pertaining to them in any way, as well of the men and tenants of others and of alien fees as of their own men and tenants and of their own fee, and as soon as the felons were convicted, or fled, or refused to stand to judgment, whereby they ought to lose their chattels, the bishop and his predecessors and the prior and convent and their predecessors placed themselves in seisin of the said chattels and retained them, and the king impeached them concerning the same in times past because express mention thereof was not made in the said charters, the king has granted that the bishop and his successors and the prior and convent and their successors may receive and have for ever all such forfeitures as above, and that they may have and receive them as above without hindrance, as is contained in his charter: he therefore orders the treasurer and barons to permit the bishop, prior and convent to have such chattels, year and waste, both before and after the time of the making of his charter without hindrance, and to allow to them in the exchequer all the aforesaid liberties and all and singular the other liberties and acquittances contained in the charters of the king's progenitors and in the king's charter, causing any distresses that have been levied in this connexion to be released.

MEMBRANE 30.

April 9.
Stamford.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the prior and convent of Osolveston abbey and their servants to have reasonable maintenance from the rents and profits of the abbey during the voidance, as was usual in times of other voidances of the abbey, as the prior and convent have given the king to understand that the escheator has deferred paying them anything for their maintenance from the time of the last voidance, although they have no certain sum (certum) for the maintenance of themselves and their servants in times of voidance, and although they have been wont to be maintained out of the rents and profits of the abbey during voidance in times past.

April 9.
Stamford.

To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of William de Apethorp, whom the king has caused to be amoved from office because he is incapacitated by illness and infirmity.

April 11.
Stamford.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to permit Thomas de Rappes to pay the 33*l.* due from him to the exchequer for the arrears of the ferm of the manor of Aylesham, demised to him at ferm by the late king, half at Michaelmas next and half at Midsummer following. By K.

April 8.
Stamford.

To the sheriff of York. Order to pay to Margery, late the wife of Duncan de Frendraght, 24 marks 6*s.* 8*d.* for Easter term last out of the issues of his bailiwick, in accordance with the king's grant to her of 49 marks yearly from the issues of the sheriff's bailiwick from 16 August last, in recompence for the manor of Briggestoke, co. Northampton, which she held during the king's pleasure in aid of her maintenance and which the king assigned on the aforesaid day to Queen Isabella for life.

April 13.

manor into his hands after Joan's death, and detained it until the king caused it to be delivered to Oliver and Matilda by process had by them against him, and that his ministers received the issues of the manor for his use all the time of the detention, which issues remained in his possession at the time of the delivery of the manor, and praying that he would cause restitution of the issues to be made to them—the king ordered Richard Damari, then his justice of Chester, and John Paynel, then his chamberlain, to pay the said issues to Oliver, and 16*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* only of the issues aforesaid have been paid to Oliver by pretext of the said order, as the said John has signified to the king in chancery by his letters: the king orders the justice and chamberlain to pay to Oliver the arrears of the said issues over and above the aforesaid sum.

April 10. To the bailiffs of the city of York. Order to pay to William de Roos of Hamelak 75 marks from the ferm of that city for Easter term last, in accordance with the late king's grant, of 22 August, in the 16th year of his reign, of 150 marks yearly from the ferm of that city, and of the like sum from the ferm of the city of York, until he should provide him with 300 marks of land yearly between the Thames and the Tees.
Stamford.

The like to the bailiffs of Lincoln.

April 14. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance for 75 marks to be made to the bailiffs of York, which sum they have paid in execution of the preceding order.
Stamford.

The like in favour of the citizens of Lincoln.

April 4. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to pay to Semperingham. Richard le Mareschal 25*l.* out of the issues of his bailiwick for Easter term, in accordance with the late king's grant, of 23 September, in the 11th year of his reign, of 50*l.* yearly in aid of Richard's maintenance from the issues of the escheatry this side Trent, because he was ruined by the Scots.

April 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance Semperingham. to be made to the aforesaid escheator for 25*l.*, paid by him in execution of the preceding order.

April 22. To Roger de Mortuo Mari. Order to deliver to Eleanor, late the wife of Oundle. Hugh le Despenser, the younger, the lands of Gloumorgan and Morgannou, and all castles, manors and lands of her inheritance, which are in the king's hands and in Roger's custody by reason of the forfeiture of the said Hugh, together with all lordships, royalties, knights' fees, advowsons, etc., as Eleanor has prayed the king to cause her lands, etc., to be restored to her, and the king does not consider it consonant with reason that her lands should be deemed forfeited by Hugh's forfeiture. By p.s.

April 27. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to supersede Northampton. entirely the taking into the king's hands of the manor of Tonge near Sidyngburn and the advowson of the church of that manor and the manor of Kyngesdoun, and to permit Bona, late the wife of Thomas le fitz Bernard, to hold them without hindrance, as the late king caused them to be delivered to her by process made before him and his council, by virtue of a fine levied in the court of Edward I. before Ralph de Hengham and his fellows, justices of the Bench, between Ralph le fitz Bernard, demandant, and Ed. le fitz Bernard, deforciant, concerning the manor and advowson of Tonge, and by virtue of a fine levied in the late king's court before William de Bereford and his fellows, justices of the Bench, between Thomas le fitz Bernard and Bona, his wife, demandants, and John de Northwod, the elder, deforciant, concerning the manor of Kyngesdoun, which manors and advowson the late king had caused to be seised into his hands with the lands that belonged to Bartholomew de Badelesmere, deceased, and the king is given to understand on Bona's behalf that the escheator intends taking the manors and advowsons into the king's hands by virtue of the king's writ to take into his hands the lands that belonged to Bartholomew at his death. By C.

April 30. Northampton. To the sheriff of York. Order to pay to Thomas de Gray 10*l.* for Easter term last, in accordance with the king's grant, of 8 March, in the first year of his reign, to Thomas during pleasure of 20*l.* yearly by the hands of the sheriff of York, which grant was made in lieu of the late king's grant of 6*d.* a day from the sheriff of York to Thomas, in aid of the maintenance of himself, his wife and children.

April 28. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the collectors of the old and new custom in the port of Boston and of the imprest there to have allowance in their account for 1,001*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.*, which they have paid to Richard de la Pole and William his brother, in execution of the king's order to pay all the issues of the custom and imprest to Richard and William up to the above amount, in part satisfaction for the 2,001*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.* that they lent to the king by the hands of H. bishop of Lincoln, the treasurer, in order to pay the wages of John de Hanonia and the other men-at-arms in his company returning home, receipt whereof Richard and William have acknowledged in chancery.

The like in favour of the collectors of the old and new custom at Kyngeston-on-Hull for the remaining 1,000*l.*

April 30. Northampton. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas the king was indebted to his servants Richard de la Pole and William his brother in 500*l.*, which they had lent to the wardrobe for the expenses of the household, and the king ordered the prior of St. Katharine's without Lincoln, one of the collectors of the tenth of the clergy in the diocese of Lincoln, to pay 300*l.* of the above sum and the abbot of St. Mary's, York, a collector of the said tenth in the diocese of York, to pay the remaining 200*l.* to Richard and William out of the money of the tenth, and the said collectors have hitherto deferred paying the said sums to them because they did not bring tallies of the receipt of the exchequer for the sums aforesaid, as Richard and William have given the king to understand: the king therefore orders the treasurer and chamberlains to cause tallies for these sums to be made and delivered to Richard and William.

To the same. Order to cause tallies to be made and delivered to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, for the sums specified below, the king having ordered Roger Deyncourt and Richard Curzon, collectors of the twentieth in co. Derby, to pay to Richard 100*l.*, Thomas de Boulton and Geoffrey de Sancto Quintino, collectors of the twentieth in the East Riding of co. York, to pay to him 100*l.*, Thomas de Shefeld and Roger de Nunwyk, collectors of the twentieth in the North Riding of that county, to pay to him 170*l.*, Robert de Reygate and William Clarel, collectors of the twentieth in the West Riding of the same county, to pay to him 30*l.*, and the prior of Thurgarton, one of the collectors of the tenth of the clergy in the diocese of York, to pay to him 100*l.*, so that he might buy wines therewith for the expenses of the king's household, and he has given the king to understand that the collectors have deferred paying him the above sums because he did not bring to them tallies of the receipt of the exchequer for the money.

April 27. Northampton. To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to take with him some of the men of his bailiwick and to survey the wall of the king's park of Northampton, and to cause the defects therein that ought to be repaired by the king to be repaired by their view and testimony, and to distrain those who are bound to repair defects in the wall to do so, as the king understands that there are many defects in the wall greatly needing repair.

April 28. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Drogo de Barentyn, late sheriff of Oxford and Berks, what they shall find he has paid to Hugh Beaurepeir by virtue of the order of Queen Isabella and the king before his accession to pay to Hugh money for the maintenance of the colts in Hugh's custody and for the wages of those keeping the colts, Queen Isabella and the king having ordered brother John de Radmere, keeper of the late king's stud this side Trent, to cause to be withdrawn (trahi) all the foals that could be withdrawn in that season from the said stud and to deliver them to Hugh, as Drogo says that he has paid Hugh 50*l.* in execution of the said order.

April 28. To the same. Order to cause the said Drogo to have allowance for Northampton. 80 quarters of oats, price 9*l.* 6*s.* 10½*d.*, which he caused to be bought and carried to Westminster and there delivered to Gilbert de Sonynghull, clerk of Queen Isabella's marshalsea, who was deputed to receive this provision by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, which provision Drogo made in execution of the late king's writs to cause 1,000 quarters to be bought and provided for the munition of the Tower of London, there to be delivered to the keeper of his victuals, the said king having afterwards ordered him, by writ under the exchequer seal, to complete the provision with all speed and to send the oats to Westminster without delay.

May 3. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter- Northampton. meddle further with a messuage, 140 acres of land, 3 acres of meadow, and 8*s.* of rent of Robert de Briche in Great Briche, and to restore the issues thereof, as the escheator has returned that he took the premises into the king's hands because Robert acquired them from Hamo de Briche in fee without the king's licence, the tenements being held of the king as of the honour of Hagenet by knight service, and it is contained in the articles granted by the king at the late parliament at Westminster that no one shall be molested by reason of the acquisition of lands that are held of him as of honours.

May 3. To Thomas de Blaston, chamberlain of Chester. Order to permit William Northampton. de Donecastria, the elder, citizen of Chester, to pay the 20*l.* due from him to the exchequer of Chester, for a fine made by him before Richard Damori, late justice of Chester, for a trespass, at the rate of 10 marks yearly. The king has ordered Oliver de Ingham, justice of Chester, to permit William to have these terms.

Mandate in pursuance to Oliver de Ingham.

By the treasurer.
By the treasurer.

May 4. To Roger de Gildesburgh and Nicholas de Acton. Order not to inter- Northampton. meddle further with the custody of the priory of Bermundeseye, which the king committed to them by reason of the dispute between brother Walter de Dulvyd, pretending to be the prior thereof, and brother John de Cusancia, the prior, and to permit the prior to dispose of the priory and its possessions and goods as shall seem fit to him, as concord has been established between Walter and the prior.

May 3. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter- Northampton. meddle further with the castle of Tamworth, which he has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Alexander de Fryvill, and to restore the issues thereof, as it appears to the king by part of a fine levied in the late king's court before William de Bereford and his fellows, his justices, in the 17th year of his reign, between Baldwin de Fryvill, demandant, and the said Alexander and Joan his wife, deforciant, concerning the said castle, which part was shewn in chancery, that Baldwin granted and rendered the castle to Alexander and Joan in court for their lives, to hold of the said king by the services therefor due and accustomed.

May 6. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain Northampton. Lapinus Roger for homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done homage and fealty to the king. By p.s. [1796.]

May 7. To Otto de Grandissono, keeper of the islands of Gernereye, Jereseye, Northampton. Seerke, and Aureneye, or to him who supplies his place there. Order to cause to be delivered to the abbot of St. Sauveur in Normandy all his lands, possessions, and tithes in the island, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the war between him and the king of France, as peace has been established between the king and the king of France, and the abbot has besought the king to restore to him his lands, etc.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of David, late bishop of St. Davids, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that David held no lands of him in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Thomas de Carru, his kinsman, is his next heir and is of full age.

May 7. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain Northampton. John de Pateshull for homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done homage and fealty to the king. By p.s. [1808.]

The like to Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent.

The like in favour of the following:

John de Sancto Amando, for homage and fealty.

[By p.s. 1807.]

The abbot of Waltham Holy Cross, for fealty.

John de la Marche, for homage and fealty.

Roger de Beauchamp, for homage and fealty.

William, abbot of St. Mary, Gresten, for fealty.

May 8. To the sheriff of Buckingham. Order to cause a coroner for that county Northampton. to be elected in place of Richard de Kynebell, whom the king has caused to be removed from office because he is charged with the death of John de Burefeld, slain in that county.

To the sheriff of Oxford. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Ralph Loveday, who is insufficiently qualified.

To John de Chyverdon, chamberlain of Karnarvan. Order to pay to Gilbert de Ellesfeld, to whom the king has granted the custody of the castle of Beaumaris in Wales for life, the usual wages and fees for the custody of the said castle.

MEMBRANE 28.

April 26. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause John Northampton. de Kyngeston, son and heir of Jordan de Kyngeston, tenant in chief of the late king, to have seisin of his father's lands, as he has proved his age before the escheator and the king has taken his homage. By p.s. [1760.]

April 24. To the sheriff of York. Order to pay to Joan Comyn of Boghan 20l.
Northampton. for Easter term last, in accordance with the king's grant, of 27 March, in the first year of his reign, of 40l. yearly to her from the issues of that county in aid of her maintenance until he should provide for her estate.

April 26. To John de Waldeshef. Order to deliver to Peter, abbot of Cluny, the Northampton. manor of Offord Cluny, co. Huntingdon, which is in John's custody by the king's commission, and the issues thereof from 12 February last, when the king took Peter's fealty for the lands held by him of the king in England, which were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the death of the late abbot.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to distrain the abbot of Ravenston for his fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as the king has taken his fealty.

To W. archbishop of York. Order to appoint some trustworthy men to survey the benefices pertaining to Whiteby abbey that have been destroyed by the Scots, and to cause those that have not been newly taxed for this reason to be newly taxed according to their true value, so that the tenth of the clergy may be levied according to such taxation, as the abbot has besought the king to cause the benefices to be newly taxed, because the abbey and the benefices are much impoverished by the frequent invasions of the Scots, so that the benefices are unable to pay the tenth according to the old taxation.

April 28. To the sheriff of Worcester. Order to cause a verderer for Feckenham Northampton. forest to be elected in place of Richard de Hodynton, deceased.

April 30. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Philip de Northampton. Aylesbury, sheriff of Buckingham, to have allowance in his account for 110 marks for Easter and Michaelmas terms, in the first year of the king's reign, and for 55 marks for Easter term last, paid by him to John de Medebourn, attorney of Robert de Fenles, by virtue of the king's order of 12 February, in the first year of his reign, to the sheriff of Buckingham to pay to Robert 110 marks yearly from the issues of the county, in accordance with the late king's grant of that sum yearly to Robert for life, as appears by the exemplification of the grant under the king's seal.

April 28. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter- Northampton. meddle further with the manor of Lasseberewe, and to restore the issues thereof to Robert de Goldhull, as the king learns by inquisition taken by John de Annesle and Robert Daston that Hugh le Despenser, the elder, in the 13th year of the late king's reign, entered the manor after the death of William de Dene, who held it of him by knight service, in name of wardship by reason of the minority of Joan and Isabella, daughters and heiresses of William, and in no other manner, and that Hugh, on 10th May, in the same year, demised the manor to Geoffrey de Weston until the heiresses came of age, and that Geoffrey was seised of the manor by reason of this demise from that day until Sunday the feast of St. Clement, in the 19th year of the said king's reign, when Geoffrey granted the manor to Robert de Goldhull, to have in form aforesaid, and that Robert was seised of the manor in name of custody from that day until 22 July last, when William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, pretending that the manor belonged to Hugh and ought to pertain to the king by his forfeiture, took it into the king's hands and thus ejected Robert thence, and that the manor is in the king's hands for this reason and for no other, and that William de Dene held the manor of Hugh on the day of his death by the service of one knight's fee, and that it is worth in all issues 111s. 8d. yearly.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Roger de Aylesbury to be acquitted of 31l. 18s. 0d. yearly for the time when he was sheriff of Leicester for the ferm of the hundred of Framelond, as it appears by their certificate in chancery that answer was made to Henry III. in the 19th year of his reign for 31l. 18s. 0d. for the said hundred by the hands of the sheriff of Leicester, and that the late king, on 26 May, in the 12th year of his reign, committed to Roger Beler the hundred aforesaid, to have to him and his heirs in fee, rendering therefor 12l. 18s. 5½d. to the exchequer yearly, and that Roger paid this ferm by his own hands during his life.

May 3. To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Northampton. elected in place of Henry de Greywelle, deceased.

May 2. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to seize into the king's hands the goods Northampton. and chattels of Robert Myles, clerk, and to cause them to be kept safely until otherwise ordered, as Robert is bound to render divers accounts to the king, and owes him divers debts of the time when he was receiver of the issues of the lands of Queen Isabella when in the hands of the late and the present kings, and for other reasons, and Robert is now dying, as the king learns.

Vacated, because on the Fine Roll.

May 2. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John de Northampton. Crombwell, to whom the late king granted the custody of the Forest beyond Trent for life, to have allowance for such fee as has been usually allowed to other keepers of the said Forest for the time of his office.

To the collectors, present or future, of the old and new customs in the port of Ipswich. Order not to take any custom, old or new, without the view and testimony of John Irp of Ipswich, to whom the king granted the office of controller of the customs aforesaid and of the increment of the same, and the custody of the second part of the king's seal called 'coket' in that port, during his good behaviour, so that John may enrol the money received by them and charge them with it, as the king understands that although they receive the old custom in John's presence, they receive the new in his absence, so that he cannot enrol the money received therefrom. If they do not obey this order, the king will punish them. Et erat patens.

May 4. To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to cause a coroner for that county Northampton. to be elected in place of Richard Salle, deceased.

May 6. To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to supersede entirely the taking Northampton. of the castle of Thorp Watervill into the king's hands by virtue of the king's order to take into his hands and to deliver to Robert de Holand the latter's lands, as Mary de Sancto Paulo, countess of Pembroke, has asserted that she holds the said castle, which belonged to the said Robert, to her and the heirs of her body and of Aymer de Valencia, her late husband, of the late king's grant, and she has besought the king, by her petition before him and his council, not to cause her to be ousted therefrom before she be summoned according to law and custom. By pet. of C. [510.]

May 3. To Thomas de Blaston, chamberlain of Chester. Order to pay to Northampton. Richard de Weford the arrears of his usual wages as chief rider in the forest of Wirrehale from the time of the chamberlain's appointment, and to pay to him the same wages henceforth, as the king appointed Richard to this office for life at the request of Queen Isabella before his accession, in consideration of Richard's service to her, which appointment the king accepts, willing that Richard shall have the office for life, provided that he conduct himself well in the bailiwick.

May 7. To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, or to him who supplies his place Northampton. in the port of London. Order to cause the monks of St. Peter's, Westminster, to have a tun of wine of the king's right prise at London for this year, in accordance with the grant of Henry III.

May 8. To the sheriff of Surrey. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Northampton. elected in place of John Daperdeleye, who cannot attend to the duties of the office because he is occupied with the affairs of divers magnates.

To John de Chyverdon, chamberlain of Kaernarvan. Order to pay to William ap Lethyn the arrears of 60s. yearly from the time of the chamberlain's appointment, and to pay him that sum yearly henceforth, as the late king granted to William, in consideration of his good service and because he was maimed in his service, the said sum yearly for life, to be received at the exchequer of Kaernarvan by the hands of his chamberlain there from the issues of the bailiwick of Penthyn Ismelogh.

May 10. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause all cardinals of the Roman church beneficed in England to be discharged of the sums due from them for their benefices for the tenth of the clergy granted to the king, as the king has pardoned them all such sums. By K. & C. [Fœdera.]

May 11. Northampton. To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Richard Bisshop, who ought not to execute the duties of the office as he is indicted of divers felonies, robberies, and other trespasses. By pet. of C.

May 10. Northampton. To the sheriff of Huntingdon. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Richard de Stretford, deceased.

To Thomas de Hyndryngham, late sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk. Order to pay to Rhys son of Rhys ap Mereduk, a Welshman imprisoned in Norwich castle, the arrears of the wages that he used to receive in the times of Edward I. and Edward II. for the time of the said sheriff's office, out of the issues of his bailiwick still in his hands.

May 14. Northampton. To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler. Order to cause Mary, a nun of Aumbresbury, the late king's sister, to have the arrears of ten tuns of wine yearly in Southampton, in accordance with the late king's grant, from the time of the butler's appointment, and to cause her to have ten tuns yearly hereafter.

May 12. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the issues and profits of the temporalities of the bishopric of Norwich levied by Thomas de Hyndryngham and John Claver, the late keepers of the temporalities, that have not been paid to the late king to be paid to William, bishop of Norwich, in accordance with the king's order to the said keepers [as at page 24 above], and to ordain as they shall see fit concerning the auditing of the keepers' account, as the bishop has given the king to understand, by petition in the present parliament at Northampton, that the keepers defer paying the issues and profits to him, and he has prayed the king to cause restitution thereof to be made to him and to compel the keepers to account with the bishop for the same. By pet. of C.

May 14. Northampton. To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler. Order to deliver to Master Henry de Clyf, keeper of the great seal, the usual fee of wine for the inn of the clerks of the chancery for the time that Henry has held the inn and for so long as he shall hold it hereafter. By K. & C.

May 12. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer of Dublin. Order to send someone of their place (placea) to survey the defects of the houses and towers of the castle of Leixlip (de Saltu Salmonis) in Ireland in the presence of Thomas de Warilowe, the constable of the castle, and to expend up to 20*l.* if necessary upon the repairs of the same, as the king learns by a petition of the said Thomas, exhibited before him and his council in parliament, that divers houses and towers of the castle are threatened with ruin and are uncovered, and that the defects can be more easily amended with 20*l.* now than with a greater sum hereafter. By pet. of C. [507.]

[May] 2. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John de Crombwell, to whom the late king granted the custody of the Forest beyond Trent for life, to have allowance for such fee as has been usually allowed to other keepers of the said Forest.

May 16. Northampton. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the burgesses of Newcastle-on-Tyne to be satisfied for their houses occupied by

May 11.
Northampton.

To John de Bousser, Gilbert de Thoutheby, and John de Cantebrigg, justices to take assizes in co. Sussex. Edward de Sancto Johanne and Eva his wife have shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that they recovered in the late king's court before the justices of the Bench, by consideration of the court, their seisin of two parts of the manors of Westhamptenette, Wolbedyng, Pynkehurst, and La Fure, in the aforesaid county, and were seised thereof in the name of Eva's dower, and they afterwards arramed an assize of novel disseisin concerning the same against Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, John de Hastyng', Ralph de Bockyng', John Bernard, chaplain, Edmund de Kendale, Robert de Norton, and certain others, because they had been disseised thereof unjustly, before the late king's justices to take assizes in the said county, and the said Aymer died pending the assize, and they therefore arramed another assize before the same justices against the aforesaid John, Ralph, John, Edmund, Robert, and others, and although they have arramed another assize before the aforesaid John, Gilbert, and John against Laurence de Hastyng', son and heir of the said John de Hastyng', and against the aforesaid Ralph, John, Edmund, Robert, and others named in the original writ, because the said John de Hastyng' died pending the said assize, nevertheless the said John, Gilbert, and John have hitherto deferred taking the assize because Laurence is a minor in the king's wardship, wherefore they have prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed to take the assize with all speed, provided that they do not proceed to render judgment without consulting him.

By pet. of C. [11953.]

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain Eleanor la Despenser for her homage and fealty for the lands that she holds of the king, as she has done homage and fealty.

By p.s.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the church of Saham, which the abbot of Rewley (de Regali Loci) held at ferm by the late king's demise, to be delivered to the abbot of Le Pin (de Pinibus), of the power of the king of France, who holds it appropriate, in accordance with the king's restitution in the parliament of Westminster, in the first year of his reign, to men of religion of the power of the king of France of their possessions, which had been taken into the late king's hands by reason of the war between him and Charles, late king of France, and to cause the abbot of Rewley to be discharged of the ferm and of the arrears of the same, in accordance with the said restitution in parliament.

May 13.
Northampton.

To the same. Order to allow to William de Sancto Mauro, sheriff of Northampton, 31*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.*, which he has paid to Thomas de Borhunt, the king's huntsman, whom the king sent to the parts of Northampton, Oxford, and Southampton with two berners, a ventrer, and a 'kaceken,' and 30 running dogs and 9 greyhounds to destroy wolves, foxes, and cats in his parks and forests in those counties, in execution of the king's order by letters of privy seal, dated 14 September, in the 1st year of his reign, to the sheriff of Northampton to pay to the said Thomas his wages, to wit 12*d.* a day for himself, 1*½d.* a day to each of the berners and ventrers, and 1*d.* a day to the 'kacekyn,' ½d. a day for the food (putura) of each of the dogs and greyhounds aforesaid, from the said 14 September for so long as they should stay there.

arrears from the time of the sheriff's appointment of 20*l.* yearly for the third penny of the county of Lincoln, and to pay to them that sum yearly hereafter, in accordance with the late king's order of 20 September, in the 16th year of his reign, in Alesia's favour.

To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to take anew in his county [court] the oaths of the verderers elected in the late king's time for the forests of Rokyngham, Sauce, and Whitlewode, in that county, which Queen Isabella holds for life, who are sufficiently qualified, and to cause others to be elected in the place of those who are insufficiently qualified.

The like to the sheriff of Buckingham for the forest of Bernewode.

The like to the sheriff of Huntingdon for the forest of Wanberge.

May 17. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port Northampton. of London. Order to allow to William de Burcestre, burgess of Oxford, and to John Blundel, his fellow, 20*l.* 11*s.* 10*d.* out of the next customs due from them for wool, hides, or wool-fells taken by them out of the realm from that port, as William has prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause such allowance to be made to him for the aforesaid sum, due to him for money lent to the king in the first year of his reign, as appears by the king's letters patent sealed with his seal called 'coket' of London.
By pet. of C. [1806.]

May 13. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause to be Northampton. delivered to the abbot of Ivry (de Ibreio) all his lands, fees, and churches, and advowsons pertaining to the abbey, and his goods and chattels, and the issues thereof from 11 April, in the first year of the king's reign, when peace was established between the king and the king of France, the late king having caused the possessions of men of religion of the power of the king of France to be taken into his hands by reason of the war between him and the king of France, and having committed their lands to them at a certain ferm, retaining their knights' fees and advowsons of churches, and having delivered to them their goods and chattels by mainprize, and to discharge the said abbot of his ferm for his lands, and of the arrears thereof from the said day, and to acquit him and his mainpernors of his goods and chattels.

May 16. To William de Scothou. Order to pay, out of the money received by Northampton. him from the horses of the men of Hainault that remained in his hands for sale by the king's order when the said men returned home, to Bartholomew de Burghersh, constable of Dover castle, 40*l.* towards the repair of the houses and other buildings in Dover castle. By pet. of C.

May 14. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to William Northampton. de Sancto Mauro, sheriff of Northampton, 14*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.*, paid by him in execution of the king's order by letters of privy seal, dated 27 May, in the first year of the reign, to pay to Thomas de Borhunt, the king's huntsman, whom the king lately sent to the parts of the sheriff's bailiwick with greyhounds and other running dogs, 12*d.* a day, and to Peter Bole, berner, 1½*d.* a day, and to John de Suthwyk, ventrer, 1½*d.* a day, and to Walter Cacekene 1*d.* a day, and to Simon Bacoun, berner, 1½*d.* a day, for their wages, and to find them ¾*d.* a day for the food of each of thirty buckhounds (canum damariciorum) and ¼*d.* a day for the food of each of nine greyhounds, from Tuesday, 2 June following, for so long as they should stay there, the sheriff having paid them the aforesaid sum for the said wages and food from 2 June aforesaid until 13 September following, both days being included.

May 18. To John de Carleton, keeper of the king's victuals in Newcastle-on- Northampton. Tyne. Order to deliver to Richard de Emeldon, mayor of Newcastle-on Tyne, victuals of the king's to the value of 100*l.* by appraisement, in payment of the arrears of 196*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* due to him from the late king for wages of men-at-arms and hobelers retained by Richard in Dunstanburgh castle when he was keeper thereof, as appears by a bill of the late king's wardrobe under the seal of Roger de Waltham, then keeper of the wardrobe, as the king wishes to satisfy Richard for the arrears in consideration of his long service to him and his progenitors. By p.s. [1878.]

May 8. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king lately Northampton. granted to Alesia, late the wife of Edmund, earl of Arundel, in aid of the maintenance of her and her boys, the manor of Fairford, co. Gloucester, the manor of Caversham, co. Oxford, and 100*l.* that Walter Turk is bound to render yearly at the exchequer for the ferm of the manors of Merlawe and Bolstrode, co. Buckingham; and the king lately rendered the manors of Fairford and Caversham and the said rent to Eleanor, late the wife of Hugh le Despenser, the younger, with other lands of her inheritance; and Alesia has now prayed the king, by petition before him and his council, to cause the value of the manors and rent thus delivered to Eleanor to be assigned to her out of lands, rents and fermes in his hands: the king, wishing to be certified what lands he can assign to her in recompence, orders the treasurer and barons to examine the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer of the lands, rents and fermes in his hands, and to certify him thereof without delay, so that he may cause to be done what ought to be done according to the said grant. By K. & C.

May 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the issues Northampton. and profits of the temporalities of the bishopric of Norwich that had not been paid to the late king on 6 February, in the first year of the king's reign, to be paid to William, bishop of Norwich, and to ordain as they shall see fit concerning the rendering of the account of Thomas de Hyndryngham and

To William le Blount 'le neveu,' keeper of the manors of Bagworth and Lyndrich. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors aforesaid, as the king—at the petition of Robert de Holand, suggesting that the late king caused his lands to be seised without reasonable cause, and that they are still in the king's hands for this reason, and praying for restitution—ordered the treasurer and barons to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer concerning the matter and to certify him of the cause for the taking of Robert's lands into the late king's hands, and it is found by their certificate that the late king, in the 15th year of his reign, caused Robert's lands, goods and chattels to be taken into his hands, together with the lands, goods and chattels that belonged to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, by certain sheriffs and others for certain causes, and that answer was made to the late king for the issues of Robert's lands in the same way as for the issues of the earl's lands by the keepers of the lands in their accounts, and that Robert's lands are in the king's hands for this reason and no other, and it was agreed in the late parliament at Westminster, that those whose lands were taken into the late king's hands for certain causes without any certain cause being expressed should have their lands again, and the king has caused his hand to be amoved from all Robert's lands in his hands by his council. Dated at Worcester, 24 December, in the first year of the reign.

To the same. Order to pay to Robert de Clipston—to whom the king, on 12 January last, committed the custody of the manor and park of Clipston during pleasure, so that he should answer for the issues thereof and should maintain the manor at the king's charge and the paling of the park at his own charge, receiving timber for the repair of the paling from the dry wood in the park, and taking 7d. a day for six parkers and makers of the paling aforesaid by the hands of the escheator beyond Trent—the arrears of the aforesaid 7d. a day from the said 12 January, and to pay him that sum daily henceforth for so long as he shall have the custody aforesaid.

May 28.
Hereford.

To the same. Order to pay to Henry de Wytheton, the chaplain celebrating divine service in the king's chapel within the manor of Clipston, the arrears of two marks yearly from 26 May, in the first year of the king's reign, when the king accepted the late king's grant of 5 December, in the 9th year of his reign, to the said Henry of two marks yearly by the hands of the escheator beyond Trent, in addition to the 40s. yearly that he was wont to receive for the chantry in the said chapel, and in addition to the other emoluments that he was wont to receive because he celebrated sometimes in St. Edwin's (Odwin's) chapel, and granted that Henry should receive the said 2 marks yearly as above during pleasure.

May 26. To Simon de Berford, escheator this side Trent, or to him who supplies Northampton. his place. Whereas John Mayne, parson of the church of Drayton Beauchamp, acquired in the late king's time 2 messuages, 5 carucates of land, 26 acres of meadow, 15 acres of pasture, 66 acres of wood, and 6*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.* of yearly rent in Masseworth, Saundersdon, Wedon, Agmundesham, and Burnham to him and his heirs from Ralph de Wedon, who held them in chief of the late king as of the honours of Walingford and Berkhamstede, as it is said, and the said Ralph afterwards acquired the aforesaid tenements to him and his heirs from the said John, and John and Ralph entered the tenements by virtue of the acquisitions aforesaid without royal licence, which tenements were taken into the king's hands by reason of their trespasses aforesaid, and the king pardoned the trespasses and granted to Ralph that he should have the tenements aforesaid again, and should hold them to him and his heirs of the king by the services therefor due and accustomed without let or impediment, as contained in the king's letters patent, and the king hereupon ordered the aforesaid escheator not to intermeddle further with the tenements and to restore the issues thereof to Ralph; and the escheator has signified to the king that Ralph held the manors of Wodenhall, Wedon near Aylesbury, Masseworth, and Wengrave of his own inheritance, and Saundersdon, Drayton Beauchamp, and Helpesthorp of the inheritance of Elizabeth his wife, of the late king in chief by knight service, as was found by an inquisition of office taken before the escheator, and that he alienated the manors in fee six years ago to John Mayne, parson of the church of Drayton Beauchamp, who, after he had had seisin thereof for some time, re-ensfeoffed Ralph of the manors of Wodenhall, Wedon, Masseworth and Wengrave, to hold to him and his heirs, and re-ensfeoffed Ralph and Elizabeth of the manors of Saundersdon, Drayton, and Helpesthorp, to hold to them and to the heirs of Ralph, without obtaining any licence for the feoffments or re-ensfeoffments from the king or his father, wherefore the escheator took the manors into the king's hands, and that it seemed to the escheator that he ought not to deliver them to Ralph by virtue of the order aforesaid because he did not find that they are held of the king as of the honours contained in the said writ, but of the crown, as is aforesaid; and afterwards Ralph, asserting that the manors and tenements are held of the king as of the honours aforesaid and not in chief as of the crown, as contained in the escheator's certificate, has besought the king to cause the truth of the premises to be inquired diligently, and to cause to be done in this behalf what shall be just; and the king thereupon appointed Ralph fitz Richard, John Beuer, and Roger le Mareschal to make inquisition concerning the premises in co. Buckingham in the presence of the escheator or his sub-escheator in that county; and it is found by their inquisition that Ralph holds the manors of Wodenhull, Wedon near Aylesbury, and Wengrave by hereditary succession of the king in chief as of the honour of Berkhamstede by the service of one knight's fee of the small fee of Mor-teyn, and not of the king in chief as of the crown, and that Ralph ought to do suit at the court of Berkhamstede from three weeks to three weeks for the said tenements, and that they are worth yearly in all issues 9*l.* 12*s.* 2*d.*, and that he also holds the manor of Masseworth by hereditary succession of the king in chief as of the honour of Walyngford by the service of a fifth of a knight's fee and by suit at the court of Walyngford from month to month, and that it is worth yearly in all issues 8*l.*, and that he also holds the manor of Saundersdon by acquisition from the aforesaid John Mayne, who enfeoffed him and Elizabeth, his wife, and his heirs thereof, of the king in chief as of the honour of Walyngford by the service of a third of a quarter of a knight's fee and by suit at the court of Walyngford from month to month, and that it is worth yearly in all issues 11*l.*; and that he also holds the manors of Drayton Beauchamp and Helpethorp by acquisition from the aforesaid John Mayne, who enfeoffed him and Elizabeth, his wife, and his heirs thereof, of Sir John de Wolverton by the service of one knight's fee, and not of the king in chief as of the crown or of honours, and that it is worth yearly in all issues 36*l.* 4*s.* 0*d.*: the king therefore orders the escheator not to intermeddle further with the tenements aforesaid, and to deliver to Ralph any issues received thence, notwithstanding his aforesaid return, so conducting himself that renewed complaint may not come to the king for want of justice.

To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king. It is shewn to the king on behalf of Robert son of Robert fitz Payn and Ela, his wife, by their petition before him and his council, that the late king—at the prosecution of Robert son of William Burnel, suggesting that the manor of Whisshale ought to remain to him by virtue of a fine levied in the court of Edward I. before Thomas de Weylonde and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, in the 11th year of his reign, between John de Brewes and Eva, his wife, and Beatrice, daughter of the said John and Eva, and the said Robert son of William, demandants, and Robert, bishop of Bath and Wells, deforciant, concerning the said manor, the tenor of which fine the late king caused to come before him, and suggesting that Robert son of Robert and Ela had deforced him of the said manor—ordered the sheriff of Surrey to warn Robert son of Robert and Ela to be before him in fifteen days from Martinmas, in the 19th year of his reign, to shew cause why Robert son of William ought not to have seisin of the manor aforesaid according to the said fine, and that because the said sheriff returned that he had warned Robert son of Robert and Ela accordingly, and that they did not appear on the aforesaid day, it was considered that Robert son of William should have seisin of the manor aforesaid, and although the said Geoffrey and his fellows, at the prosecution of Robert son of Robert and Ela suggesting that they had not been warned as the sheriff returned, caused the warners returned to the late king's said writ by the sheriff to come before the king, and caused them to be examined as to whether they had warned Robert son of Robert and Ela or not, they nevertheless deferred proceeding to judgment upon the examination: as it is agreed by the king and his council in the present parliament at Northampton that a writ of

To Eleanor, late the wife of Hugh le Despenser, the younger. Order to permit Alesia, late the wife of Edmund, earl of Arundel, to make her profit of her goods and chattels in the manors of Fairford, co. Gloucester, and Caversham, co. Oxford, and of her corn sown in the same, which manors the king assigned to her on 13 March, in the first year of his reign, as it was not the king's intention when he restored the said manors to Eleanor, with other lands of her inheritance, that prejudice should be done to the countess concerning her goods and corn sown in the manors.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas the late king granted to Master Pancius de Controne in aid of his maintenance certain lands, which were taken out of his hands by common assent in the last parliament at Westminster, and the king, on 10 March, in the first year of his reign, granted to him, in consideration of his good service to the late king and to Queen Isabella, 100*l.* yearly from the ferm of the town of Northampton until he should be provided with 100*l.* of land yearly for life, from which ferm he received nothing because it was assigned to Queen Isabella before any payment thence became due, and the king, on 1 March last, granted to Pancius in recompence the manor of Gutyng, co. Gloucester, which belonged to Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and which was in the king's hands by reason of his rebellion, for life, and Pancius, on 11 May last, restored to the king the said manor and his estate therein; the king orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to Pancius the arrears of the said 100*l.* from Michaelmast last until 11 May aforesaid, deducting what he has received from the aforesaid manor between the said 1 March and 11 May.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a moiety of the manor of Bysshopesdon and the advowson of the church of that town, and to restore the issues received therefrom, as the king at the prosecution of Roesia, daughter of Cicely, late the wife of Richard de Bere,—suggesting that James de Bourne granted before John de Metyngham and his fellows, justices of the Bench of Edward I., by fine levied before them at Westminster, in the 19th year of the said king's reign, to the aforesaid Richard and Cicely the aforesaid moiety and advowson for their lives, with remainder to John son of the said Cicely and the heirs of his body, with remainder to Nicholas, brother of the said John, and to the heirs of his body, with remainder to William, brother of Nicholas, and to the heirs of his body, with remainder to the said Roesia and the heirs of her body, and that although the aforesaid Richard and Cicely and John were seized of the moiety and advowson by virtue of the fine, and Richard and Cicely died, and John, Nicholas, and William died without heirs of their bodies, wherefore the moiety and advowson ought to remain to Roesia and the heirs of her body by the form of the fine, nevertheless after John's death William Trussel, then escheator this side Trent, took the moiety and advowson into the king's hands as if they were held of him in chief, and that the said Simon still detains the moiety and advowson in the king's hands under this pretext—ordered Simon to make inquisition concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition that the said Richard de Bere and Cicely, his wife, and John, son of Cicely, were seised of the moiety and advowson by virtue of the fine aforesaid, and that Richard and Cicely died, and that the said John, Nicholas, and William died without heirs of their bodies, so that the moiety and advowson ought to remain to Roesia by virtue of the fine, and that Richard and Cicely, John, Nicholas, and William, or any of them, did not grant their estate in this behalf to any one, and that the moiety and advowson are not held of the king in chief but of the bishop of Hereford by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee, and that the moiety is worth 6*l.* yearly and the church 10*l.* yearly.

MEMBRANE 24.

May 18. To Richard Caleware. Order not to intermeddle with the custody of the king's stannary in co. Devon and with the custody of the water of Dertemor, by virtue of the king's grant thereof to him for life, until the expiration of the term for which the custody was granted to the abbot and convent of Tavistok, the late king having, on 14 December, in the 19th year of his reign, committed the custody of the stannary and water to the prior and convent of Tavistok, the abbey being then void, and to the future abbot for the term of seven years from Michaelmas preceding, rendering therefor to him 113*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* [yearly], which grant the king has confirmed. By pet. of C.

May 14. To Roger de Mortuo Mari, keeper of the lands that belonged to Guy de Northampton. Bello Campo, late earl of Warwick. By K.

May 16. To William de Langeford, keeper of the manor of Bistlesham, co. Berks. Northampton. Order to expend up to 10 marks in repairing the king's water-mills in that manor, as the king is given to understand that they are broken down and partly carried away by floods. By K.

May 12. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to supersede the exaction of 30*l.* from Northampton. Ingelram Berenger for divers causes upon his finding security to answer for the same at the sheriff's next proffer, as he asserts that he has paid this sum at the exchequer.

May 16. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to supersede entirely the exaction of the Northampton. king's writ to levy 50 marks from the goods of Reginald de Pavely, by virtue of a recognisance for that sum made by him in chancery to the late king, as it is notorious that Rogo Gacelyn was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and that he died in prison, and William de Herlaston, late keeper of the late king's privy seal, has testified before the king's council that the aforesaid recognisance was made because Reginald acknowledged before the late king that he bought from Rogo's wife oxen and sheep that belonged to Rogo, and for no other reason, wherefore the king has caused the recognisance to be cancelled in the rolls of chancery.

To Queen Isabella. Whereas lately at the prosecution of John Dardern and Agnes his wife—suggesting, by their petition before the king and his council, that Henry de Leyburn acquired the manor of Bifete from Geoffrey de Lucy, and that Henry afterwards enfeofed Hugh de Smerhull of 54 acres of lands, 2 acres of meadow, and 4 acres of wood in Busselegh, which is a member of the said manor, and that Hugh afterwards enfeofed Amice de Chabeham and Thomas her son of the said land, meadow, and wood, and that Amice and Thomas granted them to the aforesaid John and Agnes by fine levied in the late king's court, to them and the heirs of their bodies, and that they were seised thereof by virtue of the fine for a long time, until Thomas le Longe, the late king's bailiff of the manor aforesaid, ejected them from the land, meadow, and wood, and took them into the late king's hands—the king appointed Hugh de Burgh, William de Weston, and William de Huse to enquire concerning the premises in the presence of the keeper of the manor, and it is found by their inquisition taken in the presence of Simon le Clerk of Bifete, then keeper of the manor, that the aforesaid Henry acquired the manor from the said Geoffrey in the 22nd year of the reign of Edward I., and that he afterwards enfeofed Hugh de Smerhull of the said land, meadow, and wood in Busselegh, which is a member of the said manor, in the 26th year of the said king's reign, and that Hugh granted them to the said Amice and Thomas in the 33rd year of the said king's reign, and that Amice and Thomas afterwards granted them to John and Agnes in the 12th year of the late king's reign by fine levied in his court, to have to them and the heirs of their bodies, and that they were seised thereof for six years, until the said Thomas le Longe, in the 18th year of the late king's reign, ejected John and Agnes from them, and took them into the late king's hands, and that John and Agnes did not remit the tenements to the late king or change their estate therein in any way, and that they are held, together with the said member, of the abbot of Certeseye, and that they are worth yearly in all issues 20s., and it appears by part of the fine shewn before the king in chancery that Amice and Thomas granted the land, meadow, and wood, to John and Agnes, to them and to the heirs of their bodies, and Queen Isabella has sent to the king a petition delivered to her by John and Agnes concerning the premises and also a transcript of the aforesaid inquisition, and has requested the king by her letters to cause justice to be done to them herein: the king therefore orders Queen Isabella to order the land, meadow, and wood to be delivered to John and Agnes, which came to the king's hands after his father's death and are in Queen Isabella's hands as parcel of the member aforesaid by his assignment. The king will cause lands to be assigned to her elsewhere in recompence.

9th year of the late king's reign by the said John de Grey, under the said king's seal of the exchequer of Caernarvan, granted by his charter to the burgesses aforesaid, and that they have found by the said extent and by other information from the accounts of the sheriffs of that county that certain lands mentioned below, called 'lands of the extent,' were placed through ignorance in the charter aforesaid amongst the escheated lands then in the said king's hands, and were thus called 'lands of escheat' when they were not, but were lands of extent, to wit 12s. 6d. yearly from the pasture of Nancoil, for three pots (varis) of butter that were thus extended, and 10s. from three bovates of land that belonged to Master Ior[verth] Moildonyok, who died without an heir, which were thus extended and were called 'land of extent,' and 5s. from half an acre of land of the Welsh with a meadow, and a pasture called 'Glassenys,' whereof Llewelyn, late prince of Wales, died seised, which were thus extended and were called 'land of extent,' and 10s. from (et) three parts of an acre of land of the Welsh that two fermors held in the manor of Styngwerne, whereof the said prince died likewise seised, which were thus extended and were called 'land of extent,' the total whereof amounts to 37s. 6d., which are contained in the aforesaid sum of 22l.: the king, having consideration to the fact that the 37s. 6d. are contained in the said 22l., and that the burgesses have not paid the former sum to the late king or to him since the making of the charter, orders the justice and chamberlain to discharge the burgesses of the said 37s. 6d., receiving from them the aforesaid 22l. yearly.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to inform themselves by inquisition or otherwise of what lands Richard de Grey of Sandiacre had on the day when he became liable (devenit) for the debts of the king's progenitors mentioned below, and in whose hands the lands upon which they were charged are now, and if they find that Richard then had other lands than those that William, his son and heir, now holds, they are to charge the tenants of such lands with a proportion of the said debts according to the quantity of the lands held by them, and if they find that Richard had no other lands, they are to cause the debts to be attorned to William according to their discretion, as William has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas all his lands are worth only 8l. 8s. 11d. yearly, as appears by the extent thereof made and returned into the exchequer, 528l. 0s. 9d. wherewith his lands are charged for divers debts of the times of Henry III. and Edward I. are now exacted from him for the king's use, so that his lands lie uncultivated by reason of divers distresses made therein for the debts by sheriffs and other ministers of the king, and he has prayed the king to cause the said debts to be attorned to him at a moiety of the extent of the lands aforesaid.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Whereas the late king ordered John de Blomvill, his escheator in co. Norfolk, to certify him of the cause of the taking into his hands of a messuage of Philip de Erlam in Norwich, and John returned that he took the messuage into the said king's hands because it was found by an inquisition taken before him that Roger Hardyng, tanner, committed a felony for which he was hanged, and that he had a messuage in Norwich, which he held on the day of his conviction of the said king in chief, and the king afterwards—upon learning from Philip that the messuage was of the inheritance of Clemencia, formerly Roger's wife, and that Roger had nothing therein at the time of the commission of the felony except as husband of Clemencia, so that he could not forfeit it—ordered William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, to make inquisition concerning Roger's estate in the messuage, and the king learns by the inquisition that the messuage was taken into the late king's hands by the said John, and that it was in Roger's hands at the time of the commission of the felony, and that Roger and Clemencia held the messuage at that time to them and their heirs of the feoffment of Gerardin (Jerardini) le Wadder, and that Roger had no other estate therein, and that the said Philip acquired the messuage to him and his heirs of the aforesaid Clemencia, who survived Roger and held the messuage, and it appears by a charter whereby Roger and Clemencia acquired the messuage from Gerardin, exhibited before the king in chancery on Philip's behalf, that Roger and Clemencia acquired the messuage in form aforesaid, and the king ordered the treasurer and barons to examine the rolls whereby John rendered his account in the exchequer of time when he was escheator and other memoranda touching his account, and to certify the king of what they found concerning the cause of the taking of the messuage into the late king's hands, and the king learns by their certificate that the messuage was taken into the late king's hands by John by reason of Roger's felony, wherefore Philip has besought the king to move his hand from the messuage: the king therefore orders the escheator to move his hand from it, and not to intermeddle further with it.

July 9.
Wenlock.

To the same. Hugh de Curtenay has shewn to the king that whereas Ralph de Gorges, lately deceased, held of Hugh certain lands in Wrockeshale, co. Somerset, by knight service, and the late king moved his hand from all Ralph's lands because he held no lands in chief as of the crown, whereby Hugh entered the said lands in Wrockeshale in name of wardship, to hold until Ralph's heir came of age, nevertheless the escheator has taken the lands in Wrockeshale into the king's hands, by pretext of an inquisition of office taken before him, pretending that Ralph held at his death a third of the manor of Braunton, co. Devon, of the said king, which he did not, wherefore Hugh has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the escheator to make inquisition whether the said third of the manor is held of him in chief or of another, by what service, what is its value, etc., and to send to him the inquisition. If Hugh find the escheator security to answer to the king for the issues of the said lands in Wrockeshale in case they ought to pertain to the king, the escheator is to deliver the lands to him, together with the issues received therefrom.

July 8.
Bridgnorth.

To the same. The aforesaid Hugh has shewn the king that whereas he acquired the manor of Cadeleg, co. Devon, from John de Mohun, who held it of Hugh as of the honour of Plympton, the escheator, pretending that John held the manor of the king in chief, and that Hugh had entered it without the king's licence, has taken it into the king's hands, wherefore Hugh has besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the escheator to make inquisition whether John held the manor of him or of Hugh, by what service, and what is its value, etc., and to send the inquisition to the king. The escheator is ordered to deliver the manor and the issues thereof to Hugh, upon his finding security to answer for the issues thereof in case it ought to pertain to the king.

July 20.

To W. archbishop of York. Order to supersede the king's late order to sequestrate the ecclesiastical goods of Robert Milis, clerk, which order was made by the king because he understood that Robert was dying, as Robert has recovered from his illness.

To Robert de Barton, late keeper of the bishopric of Carlisle, void and in the late king's hands. Order to cause the fruits and obventions of the churches of Penreth and Dalston, which churches are appropriated to the bishopric, to be delivered to William, archbishop of York, then keeper of the spiritualities of the bishopric, to whom the fruits and obventions ought to pertain by reason of the custody aforesaid, in accordance with the agreement in the late parliament at Westminster that the keepers of void archbishoprics, bishoprics, abbeys, and priories shall only intermeddle with the temporalities and not with appropriated churches, prebends, or other spiritual things.

MEMBRANE 19.

July 8.
Bridgnorth.

To Richard de Wyngefeld. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of John Bovill, tenant in chief of the late king as of the honour of Eye, by knight service, which are in Richard's hands by the late king's commission, as Margaret Bovill, John's daughter and heiress, whom William Carbonel has married, has proved her age before Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent, and the king has granted the honour with the knights' fees and all appurtenances to Queen Isabella for life.

June 29.
Pontefract.

To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Newcastle-on-Tyne. Order to pay to John de Emeldon, clerk, son of William de Emeldon, the arrears of the usual fee for the office of controller of the custom in that town and port from 28 October last, when the king granted the office to him during pleasure, until 13 June following, when the king granted the office to Michael de Presfen, clerk.

Aug. 4.

To the sheriff of Cambridge. Order to supersede until the Exaltation of the Holy Cross the execution of the king's order to levy 130*l.* from the men of the hundred of Stowe, by reason of the robbery of Richard de Wolleford and Geoffrey de Weston, as the king learns from the said men that many of the malefactors who committed the robbery were arrested within forty days after the robbery at the suit of the men of those parts, and are still imprisoned at Cambridge, so that the men of the hundred are not bound to answer for the robbery according to the statute of Edward I., and the king has ordered the mayor and bailiffs of Cambridge to certify him before the said feast of the names of the malefactors, and upon what day and at whose suit they were taken.

Aug. 7.
York.

To Simon de Grymesby, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Margery, late the wife of Henry de Trewyk, tenant in chief of the late king, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

Aug. 8.
York.

To the sheriff of York. Order to cause William son of Thomas de Heton to have seisin of a messuage, a toft, and 3 acres of land in Erdeslawe, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that John Maufesour of Erdeslawe, who was hanged for felony, held them of William, and that they have been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that Henry Russel has had the king's year, day, and waste thereof, and ought to answer to the king for the same.

To the sheriff of Norfolk. Whereas it was agreed in the parliament at Westminster that those who were of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, should have their lands again that were taken into the late king's hands by reason of the quarrel aforesaid; and at the prosecution of Thomas Roscelyn—asserting that he was of the quarrel aforesaid, and that William le Power of Leryngsete, Thomas le Milliers, and William Jonesservant Darcy, and other malefactors had broken his houses at Eggefild by force and arms, had felled his trees, fished in his ponds, and had taken and carried away timber from his houses and other his goods and chattels to the value of 200*l.*—the king appointed Robert Baynard, Simon de Hedersete, and Thomas de Hindryngham his justices to hear and determine the trespass aforesaid; and afterwards at the prosecution of John Darcy—suggesting that the late king granted to him the said manor, which had belonged to the said Thomas Roscelyn and which was in the said king's hands for certain causes, to have until he should have levied from its issues a sum of money due to him from the said king, and that the aforesaid William, Thomas le Milliers, and William, and John de Ormesby, knight, John le Pouere, parson of the church of Stodeye, Geoffrey, parson of the church of Hunworde, Robert de Beggate, William Bonyng, and Ed. Cort, who were indicted of the aforesaid trespass before the said justices, took the goods and chattels, etc., that Thomas Roscelyn asserted they took by force and arms, as the issues of the manor in the name of the said John Darcy, whilst the manor was in his hands, as his bailiffs and servants, and he prayed that the king would provide for their indemnity—the king, considering that answer was made to the late king for the goods and chattels aforesaid, especially as John Darcy received them in the name of a debt due to him from the late king by virtue of the said king's grant, as he has acknowledged before the king, and that thus Thomas Roscelyn ought not to have the said goods and chattels by virtue of the agreement aforesaid, and willing that the matter should be brought (deduct) before him because it concerned him, the king ordered the aforesaid Simon to send to him in fifteen days from Michaelmas next the record and process before him and the said Thomas de Hindryngham had in the premisses, and ordered the sheriff to supersede in the meantime the taking of the said William, Thomas le Milliers, William, John de Ormesby, John le Pouere, Geoffrey, Robert de Beggate, William, and Ed., upon their finding mainpernors to have them before the king at the said day, and to release any of them whom he might have arrested: as, however, the king ordered Robert, Simon, and Thomas to proceed to hear and determine the trespass, notwithstanding the king's order to send before him the record and process, he orders the sheriff to supersede entirely the said order to supersede the taking of the said men and to release them on mainprise, etc.

To the men of Great Yarmouth. Whereas the matter between John de Britannia, earl of Richmond, his men and tenants of the town of Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, on the one part, and the men of Great Yarmouth, on the other, concerning the port of the sea descending at the latter town, which port Edward I. by his charter, confirmed by the late and the present kings, declared pertained to Great Yarmouth, and because Edward I. granted to the men of Great Yarmouth by the same charter that all merchandises and wares whatsoever, whether of fish or of other things, brought within their said port in ships or boats or otherwise for the purpose of being traded with shall be unloaded at their town and not elsewhere within the port, has been pending undecided for some time before Geoffrey Lescrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king, the process whereof Geoffrey had, by the king's order, before the king and his council in the treaty summoned to be held at York, and it still pends before the king and his council, and the king could not proceed to the final discussion of the matter without greater deliberation by reason of certain difficulties arising in the matter, and he therefore gave to the men of Great Yarmouth and to the earl and his men and tenants a day to be before him and his council in the next parliament, to hear and do and receive what his court shall consider in the premises, and he ordered Robert de Drayton, Henry Randolf, Robert Elys, William Maynard, William Thurkil, and William de Gasele, men of Great Yarmouth, lately sent by the men of that town to the treaty for this matter by the king's order, to permit the men of Little Yarmouth and Gorleston to load and discharge their ships and goods at their said town without impediment, and to arrive there with their ships, and to sell their goods, until the aforesaid matter shall be finally determined by him and his council, and he also ordered William Man, William de Gapton, William de Gap', William de Spetteshale, Geoffrey de Corton, and William atte Water, men of the said towns of Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, to permit the men of Great Yarmouth to use and enjoy their charter aforesaid in respect to other persons without hindrance, until the matter be determined as above; and he has also inhibited the said Robert, Henry,

To the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer of Dublin. Order to admit John Darcy 'le neveu,' justiciary of Ireland, and the chancellor of Ireland to survey the king's treasury and things therein twice a year when summoned, as the king wills that the justiciary and chancellor shall survey the same twice a year, so that they may certify him when necessary and when required by him. By K. & C.

To John Darcy 'le neveu,' justiciary of Ireland. The king has been besought by divers men of Ireland to grant by statute that all Irishmen wishing to use the English laws may do so, and that it shall not be necessary for them to sue out charters for this purpose; the king wishing to be certified whether he may grant the premises without prejudice to any one, orders the justiciary to cause the will of the magnates of that land to be carefully examined in the next parliament, and to certify him of what he shall find, together with his counsel and advice. To Simon de Bereford, escheator beyond Trent. Whereas the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Alexander de Fryvill and Joan his wife held jointly on the day of Alexander's death the castle of Tamworth and a third of the manor of Middleton, co. Warwick, for their lives of the gift of Baldwin de Fryvill by fine levied in the late king's court, and that the castle is held of the king in chief by the service of coming to his coronation armed all over (universaliter) with royal arms of the king's livery, sitting upon the king's principal destrier, and offering to make proof for the king against all withstanding the king's coronation, and that the said third is held of the church of St. Edith, Tamworth, by the service of 2*s.* 2*d.*, and that [Alexander] did not hold any other lands of the king in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers other lands of other lords by various services, and that Baldwin de Fryvill, his son, is his next heir and is of full age, and the king has taken Joan's fealty for the castle aforesaid; the king therefore orders the escheator to deliver the castle to Joan, and not to intermeddle further with the other lands thus held of other lords, and to restore the issues thereof.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king, in response to the petition of the abbot of Egleston, ordered W. archbishop of York to appoint certain men to survey the spiritualities and temporalities of the abbot in that diocese wherefrom the tenth granted by the clergy of that diocese used to be given, and to cause them to be taxed anew, so that the tenth might be levied according to such new taxation, the abbot having suggested that the spiritualities and temporalities of the abbey had been so wasted and destroyed by the frequent comings of the Scots that they were insufficient to levy the tenth therefrom according to the last taxation; and although it is found by the archbishop's certificate sent to the exchequer that the abbot's goods had been so wasted and burnt by the Scots that they were insufficient for the maintenance of the abbot and his brethren nowadays, and that many of the brethren have been sent to other places by order of the late king and of the present king, and that nothing is found there to be taxed whence any tenth may be exacted or levied, nevertheless the collectors of the tenth in the said diocese exact the tenth from the abbot, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king, pitying the poverty of the abbot and convent and wishing to spare them in this behalf, orders the treasurer and barons to view the certificate aforesaid, and, if they find it is so, to cause the abbot to be discharged and acquitted of the tenth at the exchequer on this occasion. Sept. 12. To John Mautravers, the younger. Order not to molest John de Boston. Weston, constable of Bordeaux, in his person or goods by virtue of the king's late appointment of him to cause John de Weston to be arrested and brought before the king, as the king wills that John de Weston shall return without delay to the duchy [of Aquitaine] and shall execute the said office of constable. By K.

Aug. 30. To John de Roches, keeper of the islands of Gernereye, Jereseye, Serk, Clipstone. and Aurneye. The king learns that the construction of a castle called 'Girburgh' was lately commenced in the island of Gerneseye for the greater safe keeping of those parts, and that it is not completed, and that the late king ordered it to be finished out of the issues of the aforesaid islands and from certain other goods: the king therefore orders John, if it be as stated, to cause the castle to be made from such issues and goods as speedily as possible by the view of men of those parts. By K. & C. [Fadera.]

To the same. Order to cause the castles of the islands aforesaid to be provided with victuals, arms, and other necessities as shall seem fit out of the issues of the islands by the view of some approved men of those parts, as the king learns that they are not provided with victuals, arms, and other necessities, whereby danger may arise to the king and those parts. The king has ordered the sheriffs of London to cause 120 shields (targeas), 100 foot-crossbows, and 20 crossbows with windlasses (ad troll), and the sheriff of Southampton to cause a hundred thousands of small firewood (talshid), and two thousands of charcoal to be bought and provided in their bailiwicks and carried to Portesmuth and delivered to John, for the munition of the castles aforesaid. By K. & C. [Ibid.]

Sept. 19. To the sheriff of Southampton. Whereas, at the complaint of Roger de Walsingham. la Hurne and Richard de Cockle of Southampton, and other merchants of that town and of the town of Great Yarmouth and elsewhere that certain malefactors of France, Normandy, and Poitou had attacked them in warlike manner when they had gone to the ports of Bune in Poitou and Leyre in Normandy, and had slain them (sic), burnt their ships, and taken and carried away their goods and chattels in the ships, the king ordered the sheriff to cause all goods and chattels and debts of the men and merchants

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Richard de la Pole and William his brother have shewn the king that they have received divers sums of money at the exchequer and from the king's wardrobe and from the issues of the customs by assignment made to them, in order to purvey wines and other things for the king's use, for which sums they have not yet fully accounted, and they lent to the king divers sums for the expenses of his household, as they promised (assumpserunt) under a certain form at the instance of the treasurer and barons, and for the expedition of divers affairs of the king's, and they have prayed the king to cause account to be made with them for all the receipts, payments, and expenses aforesaid, and to order satisfaction to be made to them for what shall be found due to them: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to account with them or their attorney to be appointed for this purpose by their letters patent, which attorney the king wills shall be admitted for this purpose, for all the receipts, payments, and expenses aforesaid, and to cause to be done what pertains to the final account, and to cause satisfaction to be made to them by assignment or payment for any surplus there may be at the end of the account.

By C.

To the same. Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, has shewn the king that whereas it was ordained by the late king and his council that purveyances of wine for his use should be made by the view and testimony of approved men and the bailiffs of the towns of the parts where the purveyances should be made to be appointed by him, and that the men thus appointed

To the justice of the Bench. Eleanor, late the wife of Herbert son of John, has shewn the king, by her petition before him and his council, that whereas she lately demanded before the justices a third of the manor of Lechamstede, co. Berks, against Robert de Sapy as the third whereof the said Herbert dowered her at the church door when he married her, by the assent and will of John son of Reginald, his father, of whom he was the heir, and hereupon she produced a deed before the justices, the said Robert alleged before the justices in the Bench that he held the manor for life by demise from Peter de Gavelston by Peter's deed, which he exhibited, and that the reversion of the manor after his death pertained to the king by Peter's forfeiture, so that he ought not to answer to Eleanor without consulting the king, by reason whereof the justices have deferred proceeding further in the suit, and she has prayed the king to cause justice to be done to her in this matter: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed in the suit to the final discussion thereof, and to cause justice to be done to the parties notwithstanding Robert's aforesaid allegation, provided that they do not proceed to render judgment without consulting the king.

By pet. of C. [2680.]

To the same. The aforesaid Eleanor has shewn the king that whereas she lately demanded before the justices a third of the manor of Swerford, co. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The abbot and convent of Glastenbury have shewn the king, by their petition before him and his council, that the abbey has been much impoverished and wasted in times of voidance by the duress of the ministers who have had the custody thereof heretofore, from which no benefit accrued to the king's progenitors, and they have prayed the king to grant to the prior and convent, for the indemnity of the abbey, that they and their successors shall have the custody of the abbey and all things pertaining thereto in all voidances for a fixed sum (certo) to be rendered to the king for the time of the duration of the voidance; the king, in order that he may grant their request, wishes to be certified of what was answered to the late king and to his other progenitors for each voidance of the abbey, whether by fine made therefor or otherwise, and for what time, and how, and in what manner [answer was made], and whether the abbot has acquired any lands since the last voidance for which answer was not made to the king's progenitors, and what such lands are worth: he therefore orders the treasurer and barons to search the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer touching the premises, and to take information by inquisition or otherwise in this behalf, and to certify him under the exchequer seal of what they find. To William de Leycestria and John de Braideston, keepers of the goods that belonged to Walter, late archbishop of Canterbury. Simon, archbishop of Canterbury, has shewn the king that the executors named in Walter's will have refused to assume the administration of his goods or to intermeddle therewith for the execution of his will, wherefore the administration of Walter's goods ought to pertain to Simon as the ordinary, and he has prayed the king to cause the goods to be delivered to him to dispose of them as shall seem good for the health of the deceased's soul: the king, wishing to grant the archbishop's request, and as the archbishop has undertaken and promised before the king and his council to satisfy the king at the exchequer for all debts due to him from Walter at his death, in so far as the goods suffice for payment thereof, orders the said keepers to pay the 300*l.* that the king ordered them to pay to Reginald de Cobham for certain of his affairs in parts beyond sea, and to deliver to the archbishop all the remaining money and all the jewels, corn, goods and chattels of the aforesaid Walter by indentures, and to bring their parts of the indentures to the chancery as speedily as possible for their discharge; provided that if the king wish to have any of the jewels at the price, the archbishop shall cause them to be delivered to him at the price when summoned. By K. & C.

Memorandum, that the king willed and granted that the said 300*l.* shall be allowed to the archbishop out of the tenth granted to the king at Leicester and out of other debts, if any be found to be due to the king from Walter by account to be made at the exchequer, and if nothing be due from Walter, then the excess of the said 300*l.* over the tenth shall be allowed to the archbishop out of the money that he shall owe to the king for the king's corn and hay in the manors of the archbishopric, if he buy them from the king.

Nov. 28. To William de Cleydon. The king learns from the petition of John de Westminster. Grymsted, exhibited before him and his council, that William, when he was supplying the place of Hugh le Despenser, the elder, the late king's justice of the Forest this side Trent, amerced John in 14*l.* because he felled certain trees for his own use in his demesne wood of Grymsted, and that the sheriff of Wilts has distrained and distrains John for that sum by pretext of William's estreats returned to the exchequer, and John has besought the king to provide him with a remedy: the king, wishing to be certified whether John was amerced before William for the aforesaid reason or for any other, orders William to certify him accordingly before the parliament to be held at Westminster in the octaves of the Purification next. The king has ordered the sheriff to supersede the distraint for the said 14*l.* upon John finding him security to answer therefor at the exchequer at the aforesaid octaves. By pet. of C.

To John de Stonore and John de Cantebrigg, justices to take assizes in co. Southampton. Giles de Farlyngton has shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that he arramed an assize of novel disseisin before the said John de Stonore, and John Inge and Thomas de Louthe, late justices to take assizes in the said county, against John de Chaucombe, Cicely his wife, and John de Scures, putting the manor of Asshele in view, and John de Chaucombe and Cicely, as tenants of the manor, alleged that they held the manor for their lives by the king's demise by his charter, which they proffered before the said John, John, and Thomas, and that thus the reversion of the manor pertained to the king, and that they ought not to answer concerning it without consulting the king, wherefore the said John, John, and Thomas have hitherto deferred proceeding to take the assize, and Giles has therefore besought the king to provide a remedy: the king accordingly orders the justices to proceed to the final discussion of the matter notwithstanding the allegation aforesaid, provided that they do not proceed to render judgment without consulting him.

To the sheriff of Cambridge. Whereas the king lately ordered him to supersede until the Exaltation of the Holy Cross next the execution of the king's late order to cause execution of the statute of Winchester to be made as to 130 $\frac{1}{2}$ , the value of the goods of Richard de Welleford and Geoffrey de Weston, merchants of London, whereof they were robbed in the king's highway between Arnyngton and Caxton, in the hundred of Stowe, in that county, which order to supersede the king issued because he learned from the men of the said hundred that many malefactors were taken and imprisoned for the robbery within forty days of its perpetration at the suit of the men of those parts, and were detained in prison at Cambridge, and he ordered the mayor and bailiffs of Cambridge to certify him before the said feast of the names of the malefactors aforesaid, etc., and he ordered the sheriff and the coroners of the county to send him the indictment, if one had been made, for the robbery; and the parties appeared by their attorneys in chancery on the said day, and the king prefixed a day for them to be before him in parliament at Salisbury on Sunday after the quinzaine of Michaelmas last; at which day Richard and Geoffrey offered themselves by John de Norton, their attorney, against the men of the hundred, and prayed that execution should be made of the men's goods and chattels according to the statute, and the king gave the parties a day to be before him in the quinzaine of Martinmas last, because the men alleged that the returns of the aforesaid writs addressed to the sheriff and coroners and to the said mayor and bailiffs were false; and the king sent the inquisitions, together with the sheriff's return and the returns of the coroners and of the mayor and bailiffs sent before him in chancery, and the petition of the men exhibited in chancery to Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before him, sub pede sigilli, and ordered the justices to inspect them and to cause justice to be done to the said merchants according to the statute; at which quinzaine the said merchants and the said men, to wit William Avenel, knight, and certain other men of the hundred, appeared, and the men said, as before, that the returns of the said writs were false, and that Ralph le Thresshe and certain other thieves were taken and detained in prison at Cambridge within forty days after the commission of the robbery, and this they proffered to verify, wherefore a day was given them until the morrow of the fourth day of the said quinzaine; at which day the merchants came, and the men of the hundred, being solemnly called, did not come, and did not prosecute their verification aforesaid, and the merchants prayed that execution may be adjudged to them according to the statute for the recovery of their stolen goods and chattels, because it appears plainly by the returns of the sheriff and the coroners and the mayor and bailiffs that no indictment was made before the sheriff and coroners for the robbery, and that no thief was taken and imprisoned at Cambridge for the robbery within forty days after the commission of the robbery: as it was considered by the said justices that the merchants shall return to chancery and there prosecute to have execution for their goods, since the matter was sent out of chancery before the king because the said men pretended their said verification in chancery and did not prosecute it before the king, as appears by the record and process of the whole matter remitted into chancery, the king orders the sheriff to cause execution of the statute as to the said 130 $\frac{1}{2}$ . to be made without delay, and to cause Richard and Geoffrey to have that sum, certify in the king in the octaves of St. Hilary of his proceedings.

To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to cause all goods of the men and merchants of France, Normandy, and Poitou, except of the men and merchants of Amiens, arrested by the sheriff in execution of the king's order to arrest and detain such goods until John Pike and John Gyme of London and other merchants of the realm be satisfied for the damages inflicted upon them by malefactors of the said lands, to be appraised in the presence of the owners of the goods, and to cause the goods, to the value of 226*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, to be delivered to the said John and John, in part payment of 426*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, upon their finding security to answer to the king for the said goods or their price when summoned by him, certifying the king of his proceedings, as the king afterwards, in response to the petition of John and John to cause justice to be done to them, appointed John Randolph, John de Tichebourn, Robert de Hungerford, and Ralph de Bereford to make inquisition concerning the losses of the said John and John, by the oath of merchants trading beyond sea and of others in co. Southampton, and it is found by the proof taken before them and returned into chancery that malefactors of France, Normandy, Poitou, and elsewhere in the realm of France took, burned, and had their will of a ship of the said John and John called 'La Nicholas' of London, with the tackle of the same, price 200*l.*, and other goods and chattels of the said John and John to the value of 126*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, and 100*l.* in ready money found in the ship, in addition to the slaying of men and the damages sustained in this behalf, wherefore John and John have besought the king to cause the said goods and chattels to be delivered to them so that they may not be wasted or eloigned. The king has ordered the bailiffs of Ipswich to cause goods and chattels arrested in like manner to the value of 200*l.* to be appraised and delivered to the said John and John.

To W. archbishop of York. Summons to attend a parliament at Northampton in three weeks from Easter next, as certain great and arduous affairs were propounded in the parliament at York that could not then be determined by reason of the absence of the certain prelates and other magnates and proceres, and the king has ordained to have colloquy concerning these and other matters with the archbishop and the other prelates, magnates, and proceres at Northampton at the aforesaid date. The king signifies that he does not intend to admit any proctor for the archbishop or for any other prelate or magnate, by reason of the arduous nature of the affairs aforesaid. The archbishop is ordered to summon the dean of his church of York and the archdeacons of his diocese to be present at the said day and place, and to summon the chapter of the said church and the clergy of his diocese to attend by their respective proctors. As the matters to be treated in such parliaments have been hindered heretofore because some of the magnates came with a multitude of armed men, and the people of the parts where the parliaments were held were damaged and aggrieved, the king wills and orders that all persons of what estate or condition soever they may be coming to the parliament shall come in due manner and without any such multitude, under pain of forfeiting all that they may forfeit, so that the affairs aforesaid may not be retarded, or the country be unduly charged. To the abbot of Clairvaux. Whereas the Welsh abbot and monks in the monastery of Ystrad Marchel (Strata Marcelle), of the Cistercian order, were removed by the abbots of Dore, Hayles, and Thame, commissaries lately deputed by the abbot of Cîteaux and the diffinitores of the chapter-general of Cîteaux in the abbot's chapter-general at the king's request, the said Welsh abbot and monks having left the observance of religion and leading a dissolute life, wasting the goods of the monastery, and English monks were substituted in their place in the monastery, the office of visitation and correction being reserved to the abbot of Cîteaux and the diffinitores until they should cause ordinance to be made concerning it, and the king has now requested the abbot of Cîteaux and the diffinitores that they would grant the office of visitation—which lately pertained by the abbot of Clairvaux's commission to the abbot of Whiteland (Albe Domus) in Wales, who has not yet done anything in visiting the house, but has rather afforded occasion of expense—to the abbot of Buldewas, where wholesome observance and regular institution flourishes, by whose wisdom and industry it is believed that the estate of the monastery of Ystrad Marchel may be improved, and the worship of God increased: the king requests the abbot of Clairvaux to grant the said office of visitation and correction to the abbot of Buldewas, in response to the king's prayers and love. The king makes these prayers the more fervently because they do not tend to the injury to the abbot and his house, since the abbey of Buldewas, like the abbey of Whiteland, is affiliated to the abbot and his house.

Jan. 24.
St. Albans.

To H. bishop of Lincoln. Whereas Thomas de Pabenharn, believing that he had the right of presentation to the church of Farndishe, in the bishop's diocese, presented Henry Seyer, clerk, to the bishop to that church, and Elizabeth, late the wife of John de Pabenharn, likewise presented John de Wynchecombe, clerk, to the bishop to the same church, and because a suit concerning the presentation was moved in the king's court between the aforesaid parties at the suit of Thomas, the king prohibited the bishop from admitting any parson to the church until it had been discussed in the said court to whom the advowson of the church pertained; as, however, Thomas has acknowledged in person in chancery that he has not the right of presenting to the church upon this occasion, and has besought the king to cause his writ of prohibition aforesaid directed to the bishop at Thomas's suit to be revoked, the king signifies the premises to the bishop, so that he may execute what pertains to his office at Elizabeth's presentation, notwithstanding the prohibition aforesaid.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands that Gilbert de Culewenne held of other lords than the king, and to restore the issues thereof, retaining in the king's hands the manor of Wirkyngton, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Gilbert at his death held the aforesaid manor in his demesne as of fee of the heir of Thomas de Multon, tenant in chief of the late king, a minor in the king's wardship, as of the honour of Egremound by homage and fealty and by the service of 43s. 4d. to be paid yearly for cornage, and that he held no other lands of the king as of the crown by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Gilbert de Culewenne, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

March 8.
Guildford.

To the treasurer and barons. Whereas the late king pardoned Walter de Islep, in consideration of a fine of 500 marks, the trespass made by him, when he was treasurer in Ireland, in sealing with the seal of the exchequer of Dublin the rolls of the account of Alexander de Bikenore, archbishop of Dublin, of the time when Alexander was treasurer of Ireland, in which rolls divers falsifications were found by examination before the treasurer and barons of the same exchequer, whereof Walter was convicted before them, and restored to him his lands, goods, chattels and debts, which had been taken into the said king's hands for this reason, as contained in his letters patent; and the said king — because he had granted by other letters patent, on 10 December, in the 19th year of his reign, to Elias de Asseburn for life a messuage and three carucates of land in Dunbro and Hunteton in Ireland, which belonged to the said Walter and which had been taken into his hands by reason of the trespass aforesaid, as of the value of 10*l.* yearly, so that if the said king wished to resume them into his hands, he should cause 10*l.* of land yearly to be assigned to Elias for life in Ireland — granted to the said Elias 100 marks of the 348 marks 10*s.* 10*d.* then due to him from Walter of the aforesaid fine, willing that so soon as Walter had satisfied Elias for the 100 marks, or had found him security therefor, that the messuage and three carucates should be restored to Walter, notwithstanding the grant thereof to Elias, willing and granting that all goods, chattels and debts of Walter's that had been taken into his hands should be sold and levied by his attorneys and servants to be deputed for this purpose by the view and testimony of some faithful man of those parts, and that the money thence arising should be sent to Walter in England, so that he might satisfy the said king for the 248 marks 10*s.* 10*d.*, the remainder of the fine aforesaid, as contained in other letters patent of the said king;

whereupon the said king ordered John Cogan, then treasurer, and the chamberlains of the exchequer of Dublin to cause all Walter's lands in Ireland, except the messuage and three carucates of land aforesaid [granted] to Elias, and his goods, chattels and debts to be delivered to Henry de Badewe, William de Hatfeld, Nicholas de Snyterby, Thomas de Lynhale, vicar of the church of Swerde, and to William de Weston, Walter's attorneys, and to permit them to sell the goods and chattels and to levy the debts and to send the money thence arising to Walter in England, and to cause the messuage and carucate to be resumed into the said king's hands so soon as Elias should be satisfied for the aforesaid 100 marks, or so soon as security had been found for him before the said treasurer and chamberlains, and to cause them to be delivered to Walter or his attorneys aforesaid, and to restore to Walter and his attorneys any money that the treasurer and chamberlains might have received or levied of the debts, goods and chattels, as appears by the rolls of the said king's chancery, and John has given the king to understand that although he restored to Walter's attorneys 90*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*, levied by Adam de Herewynton, supplying the place of the late king's treasurer, from Walter's goods and delivered by Adam to John in the treasury, by virtue of the order aforesaid, as appears by the letters of acquittance in his possession, nevertheless the treasurer and barons defer allowing him this sum in his account at the exchequer, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders them to cause John to have allowance for the aforesaid sum, if they ascertain that he paid it as stated above.

To the same. Order to cause the said John to have allowance for 10*l.*, paid by him, when he was the late king's treasurer of Ireland, to Henry de Hambury, the said king's justice to hold pleas following the justiciary of Ireland, for his fee for Michaelmas term, in the 20th year of the said king's reign, which sum John paid by virtue of the late king's order of 26 April, in the 17th year of his reign, when he appointed Henry his justice to hold the said pleas, to cause the usual fee to be paid to Henry, as John has given the king to understand that the treasurer and barons defer allowing the aforesaid sum to him in his account at the exchequer.

March 2.
Eltham.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the custody of the temporalities of St. Edmund's abbey, and to permit the prior and convent to have the custody thereof without hindrance, restoring to them any issues thereof, as the prior and convent have shewn the king that they ought to have the custody of the abbey during voidance according to the grant of Edward I., of 20 May, in the 32nd year of his reign, by his letters patent, which the king has inspected, and that brother Richard, the abbot, has been lately captured by some of his enemies at Chevynton, co. Suffolk, and has been taken thence to places unknown, and that, although they have no certain knowledge of the abbot's life or death, the escheator and his ministers have entered certain manors and lands of the temporalities of the abbey, pretending that the abbot is dead, and the prior and convent have prayed that they may have the custody of the temporalities aforesaid, on condition that they shall answer for the voidance according to the grant of Edward I. if the abbot be dead, and that the issues and profits thereof, if he be living, shall remain to the abbot, prior, and convent.

March 7.
Guildford.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors and lands specified below, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Thomas le Blount, deceased, and Juliana his wife, on 12 June last, enfeoffed Walter, parson of Leyburn church, and Martin, parson of Esschetesford, of the manor of Wynchesfeld, co. Southampton, and of the manors of La Gare, Langel[e], and a third of the manor of Heriatesham, with 3½ messuages, 6½ carucates of land, 150 acres of pasture, and 80 acres of wood in Esling', Ospreng', Hertelepe, Renham, Elmele, Asshe, Sydingburn, Tonge, Milstede, Morston, Rodmeresham, Kyngesdoune, Upchurche, Bordenne, and Middilton, co. Kent, and of the manors of Overlond and Eylmereston, in the same county, which were of the said Juliana's inheritance, and that Walter and Martin, having had seisin of the aforesaid manors and lands, granted them to the aforesaid Thomas and Juliana, to them and to Juliana's heirs, whereupon divers fines were levied in the king's court before the justices of the Bench by the king's writs, and that Thomas and Juliana were jointly seised of the manor of Wynchesfelde from 26 July last, and of the said manors of La Gare, Langel[e], Overlond, Elmerston, and a third of the manor of Heriatesham, and of the messuages, land, pasture, and wood aforesaid from Sunday after St. Mary Magdalene following, until the death of the aforesaid Thomas, and continued their seisin thereof peacefully, and that Thomas had no other estate in the manors and lands on the day of his death.

March 18.

To the sheriff of Devon. Whereas the king, at the complaint of Philip Lovecok, Thomas Gervays, and Thomas le Fourbour, and other merchants of this realm—suggesting that certain malefactors of France, Normandy, and Poitou had attacked them and other merchants of this realm going to parts beyond sea for the purpose of trade, and had taken and carried away their ships and other goods, and had slain some of the merchants and mariners in the ships—ordered the sheriff to arrest the goods and debts of the men and merchants of the said lands, and to cause them to be kept safely until the said merchants of this realm should be satisfied for their damages and wrongs; and afterwards, at the suit of the said Philip, Thomas, and Thomas, praying for justice to be done to them, the king appointed Henry de Pomeris, James de Cokynton, Henry Bokerel, and Matthew de Crouthorn to take proof concerning the premises by the oath of merchants plying the sea and of other men of that county, and it is found by such proof that certain malefactors of France, Normandy, and Poitou, and elsewhere in the realm of France took, burned, and had their will of a ship of the said Philip and Thomas Gervays called 'La Cogge Nostre Dame' of Exmuth, with all her tackle, price 140*l.*, and their goods and wares in her to the value of 40*l.*, and a ship of the said Thomas le Fourbour called 'La Rodecogge' of Exmuth, with all her tackle, price 80*l.*, and his goods and wares in her to the value of 30*l.*, besides the slaying of men and the damages sustained by the merchants in this behalf: the king, wishing to aid the aforesaid merchants, orders the sheriff to cause all the goods of the men and merchants of the said lands arrested by him to be kept safely without destruction, and to cause all goods and wares of the men of the said lands and their debts, excepting the men and merchants of Amiens, to be arrested by the view and testimony of two burgesses or other approved men of the places where they are found, and to cause them to be kept in like manner, until the said Philip, Thomas, and Thomas and other merchants of this realm have been satisfied for their damages and injuries, or until otherwise ordered, causing indentures to be made with the burgesses or men concerning the goods arrested, certifying the king of his proceedings and sending to him transcripts of the indentures.

March 11.
Guildford.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance to be made to the collectors of the customs and of the new imprest in the port of Kyngeston-on-Hull for 500 marks paid by them to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, by the king's order, in part payment of 1,000 marks granted to him by the king for his good service, receipt whereof Richard has acknowledged in chancery in person, the king having ordered the collectors in Boston to pay to him the remainder of the aforesaid sum.

To the same. Like order in favour of the collectors of the port of Boston.

March 16.

To the chancellor of Ireland. The abbot of St. Mary's near Dublin has shewn the king that whereas a predecessor of his, in the 19th year of Edward I., impleaded John de Ardern in the court of Geoffrey de Geynyll, lord of Trym, by Geoffrey's writ concerning a messuage, a mill, and a carucate of land in Balycur within the liberty of Trym, and John rendered all the said lands to the abbot as his right in the same court in good faith and not in fraud of the statute of mortmain, before that statute was published in Ireland, and the abbot, in consideration thereof, granted a moiety of the said lands to John and his heirs in fee, nevertheless, a certain escheator in Ireland, pretending that the abbot had acquired the moiety of the lands retained by him contrary to the aforesaid statute, took the moiety into the king's hands, and they are still in the king's hands, wherefore the present abbot has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the chancellor to inform himself of the matter by inspection of the record and process of the plea aforesaid and otherwise, and if he find that the render was made before the publication of the said statute in Ireland or after the publication thereof in good faith, he is to cause letters patent to be made under the great seal of that land pardoning the trespass thus made to the abbot, and granting that he may have again the aforesaid moiety to hold to him and his successors according to the form of the surrender, notwithstanding the aforesaid statute, receiving from the abbot a reasonable fine for the trespass.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with Thomas de Manneby's manor of Thorgramby, and to restore the issues thereof, as the escheator has returned that he took the manor into the king's hands because he found by inquisition of office that Ranulph de Manneby, who held it of the king in chief, had alienated it to Thomas for the term of his life without the king's licence, and the king afterwards—at Thomas's suggestion that the manor is held of William Plaiz and not of the king in chief—ordered the escheator to make inquisition concerning the same, and it is found by such inquisition that the manor is held of the aforesaid William by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee, and not of the king in chief.

king, wherefore the king ordered the escheator to deliver the manor to Hugh together with the issues thereof; and it appears by letters patent of the late king, which Hugh has exhibited in chancery, that the said king granted licence to Hugh de Courteney to grant 400 marks yearly of land and rent in his manors of Crukerne and Asshecumbe, co. Somerset, Newenham Curtenei, and Honiton, co. Devon, Ebriton, co. Dorset, Crowelle and the aforesaid manor of Newenham, co. Oxford, which were held in chief of the said king, to the aforesaid Hugh son of Hugh, and to Margaret, daughter of Humphrey, late earl of Hereford and Essex, to have to them and to the heirs of the body of the said Hugh son of Hugh: the king therefore orders the escheator to remove his hand from the manor of Newenham, if he took it into the king's hands because Hugh son of Hugh entered it without royal licence, and to permit Hugh son of Hugh and his mainpernors aforesaid to be discharged of the issues of the manor for the time when it was in the king's hands.

Feb. 16. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Hugh Westminster. Sampson and Geoffrey Howels, collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Southampton, in their account 54*l.* 1*9s.* 6*½d.*, which they have paid to Reymund Arnald, attorney of the communities, inhabitants, and merchants of Bourg (Burgh), Blaye (Bleyves), St. Sever (Seint Sever), St. Quitterie (Seint Quinterie), Bonnegarde (Rone Garde), Sorde (Sordes), La Batud, Peyrehorade (Peresforate), Pouillon (Poillon), and Hure (Huyre), and of the merchants of Bordeaux, in execution of the king's order to pay to the aforesaid Reymund the arrears of a sum of money due to them from Edward I.

Feb. 20. To the same. Order to allow to the aforesaid Hugh and Geoffrey in Westminster. their account 500 marks, which they have paid in execution of the king's order to pay to James Nicholas, Peter Reyner, and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi of Florence, or to Francis Grandon[is], merchant of the said society, all issues of the custom both of their own wool and of the wool of others and from the imprest made to the king by them up to the aforesaid sum, in part payment of 1,000 marks due to them from the king, to wit 800 marks lent by them by the hands of Henry, bishop of Lincoln, then the king's treasurer, in aid of the expedition of the Scotch war, and 200 marks paid by them at the king's request to William, bishop of Norwich, at Paris towards his expenses in going in the king's service to Gascony, as appears by the letters patent of John, bishop of Winchester, A. bishop of Hereford, and the aforesaid William made to the said merchants, which they have restored to the chancery for the king's discharge, the king having assigned to them 500 marks in like manner from the issues of the customs in Kyngeston-on-Hull, receipt of which sum from Hugh and Geoffrey the said James has acknowledged in chancery.

March 15. To Henry, earl of Lancaster. Order to pay to John de Warennia, earl Wycombe. of Surrey, out of the 6,000*l.* of the king's money found by Henry in Neeth castle when he took that castle into the king's hands, 1,600 marks, which the king owes to John for his fee for his stay with him. By K.

March 17. To the abbot of Abyndon. Order to pay to the warden of the Conversi Wycombe. of London or to Richard de Caldebek and Nicholas de Oxon[is], conversus, the warden's attorneys, the 50 marks in which the abbot made fine with the king for licence to acquire the manor of Bayworth to him and his successors, as the king has assigned this sum to the Conversi in part payment of the sum that they receive yearly at the exchequer of his alms.

wood by the late king's commission sixty oak-trees, price 6s. 8d. each, and caused them to be delivered to Henry Pauly, then sub-constable of Peveneseye castle, to be felled for divers works of the said king in that castle, which oak-trees Henry de Cobbeham afterwards caused to be felled and the timber thereof to be carried to that castle for the said king's use by the said king's commission, and that the said Henry sold the residue that was worthless for timber for the late king's profit, and that no satisfaction therefor has been made to the said John de Assheburnham by the late king or by the present king.

April 11.
Wallingford. To John Mautravers, keeper of the Forest this side Trent. Order to cause as much timber to be felled in Cheut forest as shall be necessary for the enclosing of the king's launds in Clarendon park, as the king understands that the enclosures are broken down so that his deer (fere) can go out of the park. He has ordered the sheriffs of Wilts and Southampton to cause the timber to be carried to the aforesaid place. He wills that no agistment shall be made in the park aforesaid, but that the said keeper shall cause coppice-wood (copicia) to be made in the park and in the forest of Clarendon in places where he shall see fit, and that he shall cause men to be appointed to sell underwood in the said forest and park, and to cause to be paid to Giles de Bello Campo, keeper of the park, 10*l.* out of the money arising from the sale, at which sum the herbage of the park is extended, for his fee, and to cause the palings and hedges (haies) of the park to be made with the rest of the money.

Mandates in pursuance to the sheriffs aforesaid.

April 14.
Wallingford. William de Estheved, imprisoned at Lancaster for the death of Henry son of Elias le Ken of Torbok, has letters to the sheriff of Lancaster to bail him until the first assize.

April 18.
Wallingford. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain William de Maundevill for his homage and fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done his homage and fealty. By p.s. [2572.]

April 16.
Wallingford. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Robert Waryn of Portesmouth, who is incapacitated by blindness.

April 17.
Wallingford. To the sheriff of Leicester. Order to deliver to Philip de Folevill all his lands, goods and chattels, which the king ordered the sheriff to take into his hands, and the issues received therefrom, as the king has restored to Philip his lands, goods and chattels, which he lately caused to be taken into his hands for certain trespasses, excesses, and disobediences. By K.

April 7.
Wallingford. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Isabella, late the wife of Peter Carbonel, and to John their son the manor of Chaddesle, which the escheator took into the king's hands by reason of Peter's death and of the trespass committed by Peter, Isabella, and John in acquiring the manor for their lives from Aymer de Valencia, late earl of Pembroke, who held it in chief of the late king, and in entering the same without royal licence, rendering therefor 6 marks yearly to David de Strabolgi, earl of Athole, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Peter, Isabella, and John held the manor jointly on the day of Peter's death for their lives by demise of the said earl, and that the manor ought to remain after their deaths to Elizabeth de Comyn and her heirs, and that it is held of the king in chief, and the king has pardoned Isabella and John the trespass aforesaid in consideration of a fine made with him by them.

Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, and Lancaster, that Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, patron of Bredon priory, which is a cell of the priory of St. Oswald, Nostell, or any other patrons did not intermeddle in any way with the said cell or with any issues or profits thereof in time of voidance, and did not receive any issues and profits of the cell, and that the earl in his time and other patrons in their time had a gatekeeper at the priory gate in such voidances, who received his maintenance only from the canons, for an acknowledgment of his lordship, without receiving any other profit—ordered the said escheator not to intermeddle with the cell or anything pertaining to it, beyond placing a gatekeeper there as aforesaid, and the king afterwards restored to Henry, now earl of Lancaster, brother and heir of the said Thomas, all the lands of the said Thomas with the advowsons of abbeyes, priories, and churches.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas Margaret, late the wife of William Graundyn, acknowledged by fine levied in the late king's court, in the 6th year of his reign, before William de Bereford and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, between John de Ifeld, demandant, and the said Margaret, deforciant, concerning two parts of the manor of Wykham in Stenyng near Brembre that the said two parts were the right of the said John, and granted that the said two parts, which David Cubbel, chaplain, held for life of her inheritance, should remain to John and his heirs after David's death, and David made his fealty to John in this behalf in court, as appears by part of the fine exhibited before the king and his council; and it is now shewn to the king by John that David afterwards demised the said two parts for his life to Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and they were taken into the late king's hands with other lands of Hugh by his forfeiture, and afterwards, because it was found by an inquisition taken by John Daburnoun and William de Northho that the said two parts ought to remain to John by the said fine, the said two parts were demised to John by the treasurer and barons at a yearly rent of 4l., at which they were extended by the inquisition, and although John prayed for delivery of the said two parts by petition before the king and his council in parliament at New Sarum, because David is dead, and has prosecuted until this time before the king and his council, he has not yet obtained execution of his petition, wherefore he has prayed the king to cause the demand for the arrears of the extent aforesaid from the time of David's death to be superseded pending the discussion of the said matter: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to supersede until the next parliament the demand for the said arrears and also the levying of the ferm.

To the sheriff of Southampton. At the complaint of Hugh Sampson of Southampton and of other merchants of that town and of the town of Great Yarmouth and elsewhere in the king's realm that certain malefactors of the parts of France, Normandy, and Poitou attacked them and their ships when they went to the ports of Bune in Poitou and Leyre in Normandy for the exercise of their merchandise, and slew them (sic), burnt their ships, and carried away their goods and chattels to a great value, the king ordered the sheriff to cause all the goods and debts of the men and merchants of the said lands to be arrested, and to be kept safely until the aforesaid merchants should be satisfied for their damages, and the king afterwards appointed John Randolph, John de Tichebourn, Robert de Hungerford, and Ralph de Bereford to take proof concerning the premises by the oaths of merchants plying the sea and of other men of that county, and it was found by the proof taken before John and John that certain malefactors of the parts of France, Normandy, and Poitou and elsewhere from parts beyond sea took, burned, and had their will of ships and other goods of Hugh's to the value of 786*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*; and the king thereupon ordered the sheriff to cause goods and debts of the men and merchants of the said lands, excepting those of the men and merchants of Amiens, to be arrested, by the view and testimony of two burgesses or approved men of the places where the goods should be found, to the value of 486*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, in part satisfaction of the aforesaid sum, and to cause the same to be kept safely until Hugh should be satisfied for his damages and wrongs or until otherwise ordered, certifying the king of his proceedings; and Robert atte Barre, bailiff of Southampton, whom the sheriff caused to have return of the king's writ aforesaid, arrested in

To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to supersede the king's late order to deliver to Elias de Stubton a ship of Hugh de Colne of Calays called 'the ship of St. John' of Calays, and her tackle, arrested at Portesmouth [as at page 450 above], and to deliver the ship to Hugh, upon his finding security to answer to the king for the price thereof, if he will speak against him concerning the same, as the king has set out for France, and the king of France has requested him to restore the said ship to Hugh. Witness: J. de Eltham, earl of Cornwall, keeper of the realm. By p.s.

To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause the abbot of Abyndon to have seisin of a messuage in Abyndon, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that William le Bowware of Abyndon, who was hanged for a felony, held the messuage of the abbot, and that it has been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that John de Brumpton, late sheriff of that county, had the king's year, day, and waste thereof, and ought to answer to the king for the same.

June 12.
Dover. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to William de Orlaston, in his account of the time when he was sheriff of Kent, 20*l.*, paid by him to Waresius de Valoyns, then captain and admiral of the king's fleet of all the ships from the mouth of the Thames to the west, for his wages, in execution of the king's order to pay to Waresius 5*s.* a day for the wages of himself and a clerk and two grooms during the time that they should be employed in choosing in co. Kent mariners and other men for the ships of the Cinque Ports and other ports then about to set out in the king's service for Scotland.
- To the same. Like order for allowance to the said William of 28*s.* 0*½d.*, paid by him to William de Harwe, in execution of the king's order to pay to the said William de Harwe, whom the king had ordered to come to him with one of the king's carts and six of his cart-horses, for the maintenance of the horses and for repairing the harness of the horses and carts.
- June 14.
Canterbury. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors of Waye and Pydele, co. Dorset, and to restore the issues thereof to Isabella, late the wife of Peter Rabayn, as the king learns by inquisition taken by William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, that Peter and Isabella held the manors to them and the heirs of their bodies on the day of Peter's death by fine levied in the late king's court by his licence, and that the manors are held of the king in chief by the service of one knight's fee, and the king has taken Isabella's fealty for the manors.
- June 16.
Canterbury. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to cause 91 pipes of wine of Constantine de Rasero, Reymund de Garrit, and John de Bastida of Mont Abon, arrested by him in a ship of Richard le Stotter, in execution of the king's order to arrest goods of the men and merchants of France, Normandy, and Poitou, at the prosecution of Hugh Sampson, to be appraised in the presence of the said Constantine, Reymund, and John, and to cause the wines to be restored to them upon their finding security to answer to the king for what the wines are worth beyond the freight, any order of the king's to the contrary notwithstanding, certifying the king of the security and of the price of the wines, as a treaty is to be held shortly between the king and the king of France concerning the damages inflicted upon both sides.

To Queen Isabella's bailiffs of Cippenham. Order to pay to the abbot of Westminster the arrears of a yearly rent of 50*s.* from that manor from the time that it came to Queen Isabella's hands, and to pay the same rent to the abbot yearly hereafter for so long as the manor shall be in her hands and in their custody, as the late king—upon its being found by an inquisition taken by the keeper of the manor, which was then in his hands, that the abbot of Westminster ought to receive and have from the manor the said yearly rent, because the manor is held of him as of the chief lord by the service of rendering the aforesaid rent yearly for all service, and that the abbot and his predecessors were always seised of the rent aforesaid from time out of mind, as well by the hands of the earl of Cornwall as by the hands of others who held the manor, until the Annunciation, in the 6th year of the said king's reign, at which time the manor came to his hands, since which time nothing had been paid to the abbot—ordered the keeper of the manor to pay to the abbot the arrears of the rent from the time when it came to his hands, and to pay the rent thereafter, and the manor is now in Queen Isabella's hands by the king's grant, and the abbot has not obtained payment of the rent from the time that the manor thus came to her hands. July 4.
Reigate.

To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause Henry Husee, knight, to have seisin of 50 acres of land, 20s. of rent, and a third of a messuage in West Wyttenham, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that Ingelram le Spicer of Abyndon, who was outlawed for felony, held the premises of Henry, and that John de Brumpton, late sheriff of that county, had the king's year, day, and waste thereof, and ought to answer to the king therefor.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the mayors of the city of London to be charged with wardships and marriages and all other things pertaining to the office of escheatry in that city from 6 March, in the first year of the king's reign, when he granted by charter to the citizens that no escheator or other minister of his should exercise the office of escheatry in the city, but that the mayor of the city for the time being should execute that office.

To the same. Order to cause allowance to be made to Simon de Bereford, whom the king appointed escheator this side Trent on 13 December, in the first year of his reign, in his account for as much for his fee from that day and hereafter as has been usually allowed to other escheators for their fee hitherto.

July 8.
Chichester.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to restore to John de Norwico, son and heir of Walter de Norwico, all issues received from the manors of Bradefeld and Dalham from the time of Walter's death, as the king, on 20 February last, ordered the escheator to take into his hands all the lands that belonged to Walter, who was then dead, and it was found by inquisition taken by the escheator that Walter held no lands in chief of the king on the day of his death, but that he held the aforesaid manors at fee-ferm, rendering therefor 40*l.* to the exchequer yearly, and the king took John's fealty for the manors on 7 April, and ordered them to be delivered to him, and John has now shewn the king that the escheator defers delivering to him the issues of the manors although he is charged with the ferm thereof from the time of Walter's death.

July 11.
Chichester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Richard de la Pole and William his brother of 1,001*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.* paid to them by the collectors of the custom in Boston and of 1,000*l.* paid to them by the collectors of custom in Kyngeston-on-Hull, in execution of the king's order of 24 August, in the first year of his reign, which sums they have allowed to the collectors [as at page 277], as the king understands that they charge Richard and William with the aforesaid sums because the collectors did not deliver to them the king's letters ordering the payment, which letters the treasurer and barons are to receive from them.

May 25.

To the sheriff of Rutland. Order to cause a verderer for the forest of Roteland to be elected in place of Peter le Venour, deceased.

July 15.
Chichester.

To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause the abbot of Abyndon to have seisin of a messuage in Abyndon, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that Adam le Barbour of Abyndon, who was hanged for felony, held the messuage of the abbot, and that it has been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that John de Brumpton, late sheriff of that county, had the king's year, day, and waste thereof, and that he ought to answer the king therefor.

William de la Wode of Tittle, imprisoned in Hereford castle for the death of William son of John de la Halle, has letters to the sheriff of Hereford to bail him until the first assize.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order to amove the king's hand from the land, fishery, and rent in Wolston specified below, and to permit the abbot of Shrewsbury to hold them without hindrance, and to restore to him any issues received therefrom, as the escheator has returned to the king that he did not take into the king's hands a rent of 20s. and a tithe of sheaves of the abbot in Wolston, but that Simon de Grymesby, late escheator beyond Trent, delivered to him, at the time of his appointment, by indenture a plot of land called 'Wyldegrene' containing a carucate of land, a fishery in Mersee, and 20s. of rent from the manor of Wolston, co. Lancaster, asserting that they were in the king's hands because one of the king's progenitors gave the land, fishery, and rent to a certain abbot of Shrewsbury, in order to find a monk celebrating divine service in the chapel of Wyldegrene for the souls of the kings of England, and that the present abbot withdrew the said chantry, and that the tenements are still in the king's hands for this cause, and the king is given to understand by the abbot that he and his predecessors from time out of mind held the land, fishery, and rent of the gift of Ranulph, sometime earl of Chester, quit and discharged of all service and exaction, and he exhibited the earl's charter to this effect in chancery.

To Simon de Beresford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with Clemencia de Vescy's manor of Stapelford, co. Leicester, and to restore the issues thereof to her, as she has shewn the king that the escheator has taken the manor into the king's hands pretending that she had died, wherefore she has prayed the king to provide a remedy, and the king learns upon trustworthy testimony that she is in good health.

To the sheriff of Lancaster. Order to cause a coroner to be elected in place of Robert de Hitton and John de Bradekerke, verderers of Lancaster forest belonging to Henry, earl of Lancaster, whom the king has amoved because he learns that they are insufficiently qualified.

To Simon de Beresford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Christina, late the wife of Adam de la Forde, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that she held no lands of the king in chief at her death by reason whereof the custody of her lands ought to pertain to the king, but that she held divers lands of other lords by various services.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the tenements specified below, and to permit the master of the house of Ospreng to receive the rent named below, and to restore any issues received from the tenements, as the king—at the prosecution of the said master, suggesting that Peter, formerly master of that house, demised at fee-term to Thomas le Keu 15 acres of land in Ospreng forty years ago, rendering therefor to the master eight quarters of barley, and also to the abbot of L'Île Dieu a messuage and 15 acres of land in Opchirche for a term of years for eight loads of barley to be rendered to the master, and that, although the tenements were demised at their true value, so that the demise was not to the damage of the king or any other, or to the diminution of the estate of the house, the escheator has taken the lands into the king's hands by reason of such demise, detaining them so that the master could not receive the rent aforesaid—ordered the escheator to make inquisition concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition that the aforesaid Peter, in 15 Edward I., demised to Thomas 15½ acres of land in Ospreng, to him and his heirs for ever, rendering therefor to Peter and his successors 8 quarters of barley, and that the said Peter granted and demised to the abbot of St. Mary's, L'Île Dieu, in the year 1289, 8 acres of land in the town of Opchirche for a term of 100 years, rendering therefor to the master and his successors 4 quarters of barley, and that Alexander, late master of the said house, in the year 1309 demised to the said abbot and his successors a messuage and 100 acres of land in Opchirche for the term of 80 years, rendering therefor to the master and his successors 4 quarters of barley yearly, and that the tenements in Ospreng are held of the king in 'gavelkende' as of the manor of Ospreng by suit at the said manor from three weeks to three weeks, and that the tenements in Opchirke (sic) are held of the king in 'gavelkende' as of the manor of Midd' in frankalmoin, except three acres thereof, which are held of John de Broke by the service of 12*d.* yearly, and that all the tenements are worth nothing beyond the rent aforesaid, and that the demise of the tenements is not to the damage of the king or any one else or to the diminution of the estate of the said house.

To Robert de Poleye, king's yeoman. Order not to intermeddle further with the office of the assay of ulnage of 'Worstedes' in the city of Norwich and elsewhere in co. Norfolk, which office the king granted to him for life at Queen Isabella's request, and to bring the king's letters patent of appointment to the chancery to be cancelled, as the king has caused the grant to be revoked by the counsel and assent of the prelates and magnates of the realm, because he understands that such assize of cloths of Worstedes was not wont to be made in the times of his progenitors, and that the workers of that cloth withdraw themselves from their work by reason of the grant of the assize aforesaid, whereby they and the merchants and others who were wont to buy such cloth are damnified and impoverished, concerning which matter divers complaints are daily brought to the king by prelates, magnates, and others of the realm.

Memorandum, that Robert came into chancery at London, on 1 August, and brought the said letters thither to be cancelled, and they are cancelled.

July 30.

To the sheriff of Rutland. Order to take anew the oaths of those verderers for the forest of Roteland elected in the late king's time who are sufficiently qualified, and to cause others to be elected in the places of those who are insufficiently qualified, causing to be elected those who best know and can execute the office, certifying the king of the names of those thus remaining in office and of those to be thus elected.

July 29.
Windsor.

To the sheriff of Norfolk. Order to cause proclamation to be made that all workers of cloths of 'Worstedes' shall work them and sell them without an assy being made thereof, according to the custom in the times of the king's progenitors, notwithstanding the king's commission of the office of the assay of the ulnages of Worstedes to Robert de Poleye, as the king has caused the commission to be revoked for the reasons stated in the next preceding order, and has ordered Robert to bring the letters of appointment to the chancery to be cancelled.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king was given to understand that in the manor of Bustlesham, which belonged to Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and which is in the king's hands by his forfeiture, there are many defects in the houses, mills, walls, and ponds, and that they greatly need repair, and wishing to be certified by the sheriff of Berkshire what defects—Incomplete.

Vacated.

To the same. Order to cause William de Langeford, to whom the king committed the aforesaid manor during pleasure, to have allowance in his account at the exchequer for the expenses about the repair of the houses, mills, walls, and ponds of the manor, examining the inquisition that the king caused to be made by the sheriff of Berks concerning the defects in the houses, etc., whereby it appears that William caused certain of the defects to be repaired, which inquisition the king sends to them sub pede sigilli, as William has besought the king to cause allowance to be made to him for such expenses.

July 30.
Reading.

To the sheriffs of London. Order to cause Neugate gaol to be repaired by the testimony of John de Stonore and Robert de Wodehous, as the king is given to understand that the gaol is so weak and threatened with ruin that the prisoners cannot be kept therein unless it be speedily repaired.

As the king understands that the aforesaid men with Henry Man, Henry Oldman, Richard Dekne, Henry de Bloundeston, Thomas Jermeyn, John Taverner, Richard Dennyman of Blundeston, Bartholomew Cappe, John Red, and Richard Braunche, who are indicted for the trespass aforesaid before the justices, are placed in exigent to be outlawed in that county because they did not come to answer to Queen Isabella, the king has ordered the sheriff to supersede entirely their exaction in this behalf.

July 27.
Windsor.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Henry de Percy, to whom the king, on 13 August last, committed the custody of the castle of Scardeburgh during pleasure, to have 40 marks yearly for his fee for the custody from the issues, prises and profits of the castle, and from the ferm of the town of Scardeburgh, as he has prayed the king to cause this sum to be paid to him, asserting that other constables of the castle received 40 marks for the custody in the times of the king's progenitors.

July 27.

To William de Okle, keeper of the manor of Ellesmere. Order to associate with him John de Hinkle, sheriff of Salop, and obtain information concerning the bounds placed round the manor in the late king's time, and if he find that any purpresture has been made within the said bounds, to cause that whereof the purpresture is made to be resumed into the king's hands, and to cause the manor to be kept bounded in the same state as it was previously, as the late king, when the manor was in his hands, understanding that many men having lands adjoining the lands of the manor made purpresture in divers manners upon the lands and other things pertaining to the manor, ordered the keeper of the manor to cause it to be bounded by certain bounds, which was done, and the manor is now in the hands of Queen Isabella by the king's grant, and the king is given to understand on her behalf that divers men having lands adjoining the said manor have made purpresture upon the lands of the manor in the time when the manor was in the king's hands and after it came to her hands, and do so still.

To Oliver de Ingeham, justice of Chester. Whereas at the prosecution of Oliver de Burdegala and Matilda his wife—suggesting that they were seised of the manor of Smalwode, co. Chester, as of Matilda's right until the death of Joan, late the wife of Nicholas Daudele, and that the king's ministers in that county before his accession seised the manor into his hands after Joan's death, and detained it until the king caused it to be delivered to Oliver and Matilda by process made by them against him, and that the said ministers received all the issues thereof all the time that it was thus in the king's hands, which issues remained in the king's possession upon the delivery aforesaid, and praying for restitution of the issues aforesaid—the king ordered the justice of Chester of that time to make inquisition concerning the value of the manor and how long it was in the king's hands, and it was found by the inquisition taken by the said (sic) Richard that all the lands of the manor are in the hands of bondmen and render yearly 22*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.*, and that there is a water-mill there in the hands of the bondmen, for which they render yearly 106*s.* 8*d.*, and that the bondmen render yearly at Martinmas 79*s.* 8½*d.* of a custom called 'le yeelde,' and 4*l.* at Whitsuntide every third year for a custom called 'le couyeld,' and that the pleas and perquisites of the hallmoot (hallemote) of the manor are worth yearly 6*s.* 8*d.*, and that the aforesaid Joan died about the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula, 16 Edward II., and that the manor was taken into the king's hands immediately after her death by his escheator in co. Chester before his accession, and that it was detained in his hands until 12 April, 17 Edward II., and that the king meantime took the issues and profits of the manor, such as in rents, customs, and ferma, together with 4*l.* of the said custom called 'le couyeld' that fell due at Whitsuntide, 16 Edward II., wherefore the king ordered the aforesaid Richard and John Paynel, then chamberlain of Chester, to pay to Oliver the issues of the manor up to the said 12 April; and Oliver has only received, as he says, 26*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* of the said issues, which amount to 68*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.* for the said time, as is contained in the inquisition: the king orders the justice to take information of the sum received by Oliver of the said issues by virtue of the king's orders aforesaid, and to cause the arrears thereof to be paid to him.

Order to pay to Robert de Neuwerk and Meliora his wife, late the wife of Gilbert de Glenkarny, 10*l.* from the bailiffs' ferm for Michaelmas, as they have prayed the king to cause the 20*l.* yearly granted to Meliora by the hands of the escheator beyond Trent [as at page 327 above] to be paid to them by the bailiffs of that town, since in the past they have been unable to obtain prompt (paratam) payment thereof.

Sept. 18.
Gloucester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order for the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to William de Roos of Hamelak 200*l.* out of the money first paid into the exchequer, or for the treasurer and barons to cause him to have an assignment for that sum, notwithstanding any order to the contrary, and to pay him or to cause assignment to be made to him for 100*l.* yearly until he have been paid 633*l.* 17*s.* 4*d.* due to him from the king, as appears by a bill in his possession under the seal of Robert de Wodehous, archdeacon of Richmond, late keeper of the king's wardrobe.
By p.s. [2947.]

Oct. 3.
Worcester.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with lands of Robert de Holand, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Robert at his death held no lands of the king in chief by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Robert de Holand, his son, is his next heir and is aged seventeen years.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause to come before them at the exchequer all clerks who were receivers of the moneys, jewels, and other things pertaining to the late king's chamber, to render their accounts thereof before the treasurer and barons.
By O.

Sept. 16.
Gloucester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to pay to John de Warenn, earl of Surrey, 2,000*l.* out of the first profits of wards, marriages, and escheats pertaining to the king as they fall in, which sum the king has granted to him for his good service.
By p.s. [2945.]

Oct. 4.
Worcester.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of John de Markham, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that he held no lands at his death in chief of the king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Elizabeth and Cicely, his daughters, are his next heirs.

Oct. 3.
Worcester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to admit Henry de Lameleye, clerk, in place of Nicholas de Teukesbury, king's clerk, to execute during Nicholas's pleasure what pertains to the office in the exchequer that Nicholas de Acton, clerk, lately had, which office the king lately committed to Nicholas de Teukesbury for life, as Nicholas de Teukesbury has prayed the king to grant that he may substitute Henry to execute the office, because he is unable to exercise the office in person at present owing to certain affairs.

Oct. 6.
Worcester.

To the same. Order to allow to John de Bolyngbrok, to whom the king committed the office of escheatry beyond Trent during pleasure on 16 August, in the second year of his reign, such fee for that office in his account as has been usually allowed heretofore to other escheators in that office.

Oct. 3.
Worcester.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of John de Holt, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that he held no lands at his death of the late king in chief by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held certain lands in Bened as of the castle and honour of Cliderhowe, which belonged to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, by the service of paying 18*d.* yearly to that castle for all service, and that William de Holt, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

To the same. Like order concerning the lands of Ralph de Clayton, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Ralph at his death held no lands in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held certain lands in Dytton as of the honour of the castle of Clyderhowe, which belonged to Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, by the service of paying 5*s.* yearly to the castle for all service, and that Henry de Clayton, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

Oct. 3.
Worcester.

To the same. Like order concerning the lands of John son of Walter de Bradhill, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Walter at his death held no lands in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held certain lands in Wlypshire of William de Wysewell by certain services, and that Walter, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

To the same. Like order concerning the lands of Henry de Shuttelesworth, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Henry at his death held no lands in chief of the late king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held certain lands in Shuttelesworth of John de Thornehull by certain services, and that Henry, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

Hereford.

To Richard de Aldeburgh. Order to intend what pertains to the office of king's serjeant in the aforesaid eyre at Northampton, as the king wills that he shall be his serjeant in the eyre, and he has ordered the justices to admit him to that office.

By K. & C.

Sept. 3.
Gloucester.

To the sheriff of Nottingham. Order to cause the great house within the outer bailey of Nottingham castle and other houses in the same bailey that shall be necessary for the session of the aforesaid justices to be repaired by the view and testimony of Hugh de Stapilford and John de Driffeld, and to cause all other things necessary for the session to be made anew, and to cause new houses necessary for the session to be constructed there.

By K. & C.

To the sheriff of Northampton. Like order to cause the great hall within the castle of Northampton and other houses in the same bailey (sic), etc., to be repaired.

By K. & C.

Oct. 4.
Worcester.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to cause the rolls of the two last eyres in co. Northampton and the rolls of the two last eyres in co. Nottingham to be searched, and to cause the rolls of the former county to be delivered to Geoffrey le Scrop and the rolls of the latter county to be delivered to William de Herle by indenture.

By K. & C.

Sept. 3.
Gloucester.

To John de Stonore, chief justice of the Bench. Order to cause pleas touching the men of co. Northampton pending undecided before him to be adjourned before Geoffrey le Scrop and the other justices in eyre aforesaid, as has been usual heretofore in the like case, and to cause proclamation to be made in the Bench aforesaid that the men of that county shall prosecute their records of the pleas aforesaid, if they think fit.

To the same. Like order for adjournment of all pleas touching men of co. Nottingham before William de Herle and other justices in eyre aforesaid.

Sept. 3.
Gloucester.

To Peter de Ludyngton, keeper of the king's writs in the common bench. Sept. 16.
Gloucester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Robert Poair, late chamberlain of the king and of his father in North Wales, has shewn the king that many debts are due to the king in those parts of the time when Robert was chamberlain from sheriffs and other bailiffs there deputed by royal commissions, with which debts Robert remains charged in his account before the treasurer and barons, and the king thereupon ordered Roger de Mortuo Mari, earl of March, justice of Wales, to certify him concerning the aforesaid debts, and the justice certified that 545*l.* (quingaginta, quadraginta et quinque libre) 16*s.* 7½*d.* are due to the king in those parts from sheriffs and other ministers of the time aforesaid for divers causes, as appears by the certificate, which the king sent to the exchequer under his great seal, and Robert has prayed the king to cause allowance to be made to him of the sum aforesaid in his account rendered or to be rendered before the treasurer and barons: the king therefore orders them to inspect the certificate, to which the king gives credence, and to cause Robert to be discharged and acquitted of the sum aforesaid: provided that that sum he levied from the sheriffs, bailiffs, and ministers aforesaid. By p.s. [2946.]

To the same. Order to cause the aforesaid Robert to be discharged and acquitted of 300*l.* in the arrears of his account, as he has shewn the king that he served the king and his father in the office of chamberlain of North Wales for four and a half years, and that he incurred great costs and expenses during that time for the rule of that office beyond the appointed fee, especially for the preservation of the king's peace, which was much disturbed in those parts at the time when Queen Isabella and the king landed in England with an armed force to pursue Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and the earl of Arundel, then justice of North Wales, and other enemies of the king, by reason whereof and for other causes touching the king's profit Robert incurred great expenses to the total of 300*l.* and more, and he has prayed the king to cause suitable allowance to be made to him for the expenses aforesaid, and the king learns from trustworthy testimony that Robert at that time held good place with the king, and he has pardoned him the aforesaid 300*l.* for his expenses aforesaid in consideration of his good and lawful service and discreet rule in that office. By p.s. [2949.]

Sept. 20.
Gloucester.

To Bartholomew de Burgherssh, constable of Dover castle and warden of the Cinque Ports, or to him who supplies his place in the port of Dover. Order to permit the abbot of Licques (Lishens) of the Premonstratensian order, who lately came into the realm by order of the abbot of Prémontré to visit some churches of that order in England subject to him, to cross from Dover with his men, horses, and equipments.

Vacated, because on the dorse.

To the same. Order to permit the abbot of Langedon, of the Premonstratensian order, who is going by the king's licence to his chapter-general at Prémontré, to cross the sea from Dover with 20 marks for the expenses of himself and his household.

[Vacated as above.]

MEMBRANE 8.

Oct. 8. To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Worcester. elected in place of Robert atte More, who is incapacitated by illness and age.

Sept. 30. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Worcester. meddle further with the lands of Walter de Nevill, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Walter held no lands in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of other lords by various services, and that Agnes de Nevill, his daughter, is his next heir and is aged fourteen years and one month.

Oct. 13. To John de Insula, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to cause the Brackley. king's chaplains celebrating divine service in the chapel of that castle to have bread, wine, oil, and other small necessities for the celebration of divine service from Michaelmas last until next Michaelmas.

Oct. 6. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Worcester. meddle further with the lands of Robert Poer, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Robert at his death held no lands of the king or of the heir of Simon de Arch', tenant in chief of the late king, a minor in the king's wardship, by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held divers lands of Robert de Bousser by the service of 2s. yearly, and that John, son of the aforesaid Robert Poer, is his next heir and of full age.

Oct. 12. Richard de Paytefyn and Thomas de Bulmer, imprisoned at York for Worcester. trespass of venison in the forest of Galtres, have letters to bail them until the first assize.

William le Forester of Lynton, William son of Peter de Alne, and Henry le Yunge of Clifton, imprisoned at York for trespass of vert in the aforesaid forest, have letters to bail them until the first assize.

Oct. 15. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Dunstable. Alice, late the wife of John de Sancto Johanne of Basyng, tenant in chief, the manor of Basyng, co. Southampton, except the park of the same, and 77 acres of meadow in the same, which manor, with the exception of the park and meadow, is extended at 21*l.* 1*s.* 3*d.* yearly, and the parks of Prevet and Shireburn, in the same county, which are worth nothing beyond the maintenance of the deer, and a third of certain lands in Sottewell, co. Berks, extended at 6*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.* yearly, which the king has assigned to her in dower.

Memorandum, that this assignment was made by the assent of Robert de Monte Alto, to whom the king granted the custody of the said John's lands during the minority of his heir, and that the aforesaid parks of Shirburn and Prevet were assigned to Alice because there are many other parks remaining in the heir's possession. It is also granted that dower shall be saved to her of the lands that John held at his death, if there be any, whereof no mention is made in the inquisitions taken after John's death, when the inquisitions thereof shall be returned into chancery, and that dower shall be saved to her of the lands that John held to him and Isabella, formerly his wife, and to the heirs of their bodies, if she ought to be dowered thereof according to the law and custom of the realm. And it is agreed that Alice shall be charged with a third of the charges falling upon the said manors and other lands whereof she is dowered.

Oct. 6. Richard son of John de Hasken of Dunholand, imprisoned at Lancaster Worcester. for the death of Simon son of Thomas de Lydyate, has letters to bail him until the first assize.

Oct. 19. To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Dunstable. meddle further with the lands of Thomas de Veer, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Thomas at his death held no lands in chief of the king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, and that John son of Alfonso de Veer is his next heir and is aged seventeen years.

Oct. 6. To the same. Order to deliver to John de Meysy the manor of Merston Worcester. Meysy, co. Wilts, as the king, at the prosecution of John by petition before him and his council in the parliament at Westminster—suggesting that Hugh le Despenser, the elder, had unjustly disseised him of the manor aforesaid, and that [when] he wished to prosecute his right concerning the same against Hugh in the late king's court, [Hugh] caused him to be indicted for being of the quarrel of Thomas, late of earl of Lancaster, by reason whereof John went to parts beyond sea, where he stayed until he returned in the king's company, and he has prayed the king to restore to him the manor, which is in the king's hand by Hugh's forfeiture—appointed Adam Walrond, Philip atte Beche, William de Sharesull, and Robert de Hungerford to make inquisition concerning the premises in the presence of the keeper of the manor, and it is found by their inquisition, taken in the presence of Thomas de Beauver, keeper of the manor, that Hugh unjustly disseised John of the manor in the 31st year of the late king's reign, and that John was seised thereof in peace in his demesne as of fee before the disseisin, and that Hugh manifestly threatened John because John sued out a writ of noval disseisin against him in prosecuting his right to the manor, asserting that John was of the said earl's quarrel, and that he would have attached John wheresoever he could have found him, by reason whereof John went to parts beyond sea and durst not return during Hugh's life, and that John did not release his right in the manor to Hugh or to any one else at any time, and did not make any estate thereof to Hugh, and that the manor is in the king's hands by Hugh's forfeiture and for no other reason, and the treasurer and chamberlains have certified that they have searched the treasury by the king's orders, and that they found nothing touching the manor amongst the muniments that belonged to Hugh in the treasury.

By p.s. and pet. of C.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with a message and a virgate of land in Yaverlonde, in the Isle of Wight, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Miles Daniel of Yaverlonde held them in his demesne as of fee of Theobald Russel, then a minor in the late king's wardship, as of the manor of Yaverlonde by the service of 5s. yearly to that manor and by doing suit at the manor at two views of frankpledge yearly for all service, and that Roger Daniel his son is his next heir and is of full age.

Oct. 19.
Dunstable.

To the sheriff of York. Order to pay to Joan Comyn of Boghan 20*l.* out of the issues of his bailiwick for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the king's grant, of 27 March, in the first year of his reign, to her of 40*l.* yearly from the sheriff of that county in aid of her maintenance.

Oct. 20.
Dunstable.

To the sheriff of Warwick. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of William de London of Herdewyk, who is incapacitated by age and infirmity.

Oct. 8.
Worcester.

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to cause a tally to be levied and delivered to the sheriff of Cumberland for 140*l.*, which he has paid to Anthony de Lucy in execution of the king's order to pay to Anthony all issues of the county of Cumberland until he should be satisfied therefrom and from the issues of the castle of Carlisle, the manors of Penreth, Soureby, and Oulfdale, in that county, for 577*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.*, due to him for the wages of himself and of the men-at-arms and hobelers that he retained in his company for the custody of the castle and town of Carlisle and the marches of cos. Cumberland and Westmoreland, as appears by a bill under the seal of Robert de Wodehous, late keeper of the wardrobe, which Anthony delivered into chancery and which the king sends to the treasurer and chamberlains enclosed in the presents.

Oct. 20.
Dunstable.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a toft, two virgates of land, two acres of meadow, and a fishery in Loden and La Legh near La Hurst, and to restore the issues thereof to the abbot of Abyndon, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Buckenham held the premises in villeinage of the abbot as of the right of the abbot's church of St. Mary, Abyndon, and that John was unable to make the customs and services therefor due, and left the tenements, and that the abbot, wishing to provide for his indemnity and the preservation of the right of his church, entered the tenements, as was lawful for him to do, and did not acquire aught in fraud of the statute of mortmain, and that Thomas de Harpeden, the late king's escheator, seised the premises into the said king's hands, and that they are in the king's hands solely for this reason.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with 5 acres of land in La Legh near La Hurst, and to restore the issues thereof to the abbot of Abyndon, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that John atte Leye, who held them of the abbot in villeinage, alienated them to William de Elsefeld contrary to law and custom, and that the abbot, wishing to provide against the damage to him and the peril of disinheretance of his church arising from such alienation, entered the land as he was entitled to do, and thus held it, and that he did not acquire aught in fraud of the statute of mortmain, and that Thomas de Harpeden, the late king's escheator, seised it into the said king's hands, and that it is thus in the king's hands.

To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to cause a verderer for the forest of Dene to be elected in place of William Gamage, who is insufficiently qualified.

Oct. 22.
Dunstable.

To John de Bolyngbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands that John de Thornton of Stokes[ey] held of other lords than the king, and to restore the issues thereof, retaining in the king's hands until otherwise ordered the lands that he held in the town of Sutton in Galtres, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that the said John and Mary his wife, who still survives, held at John's death to them and John's heirs certain lands in Sutton of the king in chief by homage and the service of the two-hundredth of a knight's fee, and that he held no other lands of the king in chief by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, but that he held on the same day divers other lands of other lords by various services, and that Ivo de Thornton, his son, is his next heir and is of full age.

To the bailiff of the liberty of Tyndale. Order to cause to be assigned to Edmund, earl of Kent, and Margaret his wife, late the wife of John Comyn of Badenagh, tenant in chief of the late king, the dower due to Margaret of the said John's lands, according to the extents made by Simon de Grymesby, late escheator beyond Trent, the tenor whereof the king sends to the bailiff sub pede sigilli, or according to others to be made if necessary, in the presence of Richard Talbot, to whom the king has committed the custody of John's lands, if he wish to be present.

Oct. 21.
Taddington.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Robert de Ufford and Margaret his wife, late the wife of Thomas de Kayli, tenant in chief of the late king, to be discharged of 20*l.*, which are exacted from them for a fine made by Margaret with the late king for licence to marry wheresoever she wished, as the king has pardoned them this sum.

By p.s. [3007.]

William son of Robert de Grenefeld, executors of the will of Master William de Grenefeld, sometime archbishop of York, of the goods and chattels of the said William, and if they find that 689 marks 5s. 5d. from the same came to the hands of the late king, and that the executors have not been satisfied for that sum, to allow to the executors in that sum the debts exacted from them by summons of the exchequer, as the executors have shewn the king, by petition before him and his council, that, after the archbishop's death, the keepers of the temporalities of the archbishopric, then in the late king's hands by reason of the voidance of the archbishopric, took into the said king's hands goods and chattels of the archbishop to the value of the aforesaid sum, and that no payment therefor has been made to the executors, although they have rendered their account, and they have prayed the king to cause the debts aforesaid to be allowed to them in the sum aforesaid.

To John de Crombewelle, keeper of the Forest beyond Trent, or to him who supplies his place in the forest of Shirwode. Order to deliver John Peytevyn, imprisoned at Nottingham for trespass of vert and venison in Shirwode forest, to twelve mainpernors who shall undertake to have him before the next justices in eyre in co. Nottingham [for forest pleas].

May 15.
Canterbury.

To John Giffard of Wonewastowe. Order to deliver to James de Andele son and heir of Nicholas de Andele, kinsman and co-heir of William Martyn, tenant in chief of the late king, the lands that belonged to Nicholas and his purparty of William's lands, which are in John's custody by the late king's commission, as the king has rendered to James all his lands although he is not yet of full age. By p.s.

Oct. 17.
Dunstable.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain William de Whitewell for fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done fealty to the king.

To the sheriff of York. Order to pay to Margery, late the wife of Duncan de Frendraght, 24 marks 6s. 8d. from the issues of his bailiwick for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the king's grant to her, on 6 October, in the first year of his reign, of 49 marks yearly from the issues of the sheriff's bailiwick from 16 August preceding, in recompence for the manor of Briggestok, co. Northampton, which she held during the king's pleasure in aid of her maintenance and which the king assigned on that day to Queen Isabella.

Sept. 24.
Gloucester.

To John de Inaula, keeper of the manor of Lughteburgh. Order to pay to Richard de Whiteside, chaplain, the arrears of 5 marks 1s. 6d., and to pay him that sum [yearly] henceforth out of the issues of the manor, and to cause him to have eight cartloads of brushwood [yearly] from the wood of the manor for so long as the manor shall be in John's custody, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff of Leicester, by the king's order by privy seal, and returned into the wardrobe, that Richard has a chantry within the said manor of the gift of Hugh le Despenser, late earl of Winchester, receiving yearly from the issues of the manor for the chantry five marks, and for wine and wax 18d., and eight cartloads of brushwood in the wood of the manor. By p.s. [2971.]

Oct. 16.
Dunstable.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Geoffrey de Vylers, in his account of the issues of the lands forfeited to the late king in co. Warwick, whereof he was receiver, what they shall ascertain that he paid out of the issues in execution of the late king's order to him by letters of privy seal dated 14 November, in the 17th year of his reign, to receive by indenture from William Davy, formerly the late king's receiver of the said issues, two of the said king's carters with two carts and twelve cart-horses, and to pay to each of the carters for himself and his groom 4½*d.* daily, and to deliver to them the necessaries for the maintenance of the horses and the repair of the carts, from Sunday then last past for so long as they should stay there, by indenture to be made between him and the carters, and Geoffrey paid to them 11*l.* 11*s.* 3½*d.* from the said Sunday until 11 January next following, to wit for forty days, the last day being counted, as appears by indenture made between them.

Oct. 6.
Worcester.

To the same. Order to cause the account of Robert de Notingham, baron of the exchequer, of the moneys received by him of the debts due to the king in the northern parts for victuals at Newcastle-on-Tyne, sold to divers men of those parts in the time of the king and of his father, which debts the king lately appointed Robert to levy and collect, to be audited and to cause to be done what shall be necessary for the final issue of his account, receiving from him any letters obligatory concerning such debts that he may have in his possession, causing the sums therein contained to be levied.

Oct. 3.
Worcester.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede until a month from Easter next the exaction of 100*l.* from John de Louth, son and heir of Richard de Louth, knight, by reason of a recognisance for that sum made in the late king's chancery by Richard, on 4 April, in the 16th year of the said king's reign, to Hugh le Despenser, the father, which sum is exacted for the king's use by reason of Hugh's forfeiture, so that the king may in the meantime cause to be done before him at John's prosecution what ought to be done according to the statute in the late parliament at Westminster, whereby it is provided that all recognisances made to Hugh le Despenser, the father, and Hugh le Despenser, the son, by force and duress after their exile shall be annulled, etc., as the king—at the prosecution of the said John, suggesting that Richard made the recognisance by force and duress after the exile, and praying the king to cause him to be discharged thereof—sent the tenor of the recognisance to Robert de Malberthorp and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king, enclosed in a writ, and ordered them to inspect the tenor and the statute and to cause to be done for John's discharge what ought to be done according to right and according to the form of the statute.

Oct. 20.
Dunstable.

William Ayete, imprisoned at York for trespass of vert in the forest of Galtrea, has letters to bail him until the first assize.

To Robert de Monte Alto, keeper of the lands that belonged to John de Sancto Johanne of Basyng', tenant in chief, in the king's hands by reason of the heir's minority. Order to pay to Nicholas de Venuz two parts of a rent of 53*s.* 4*d.* out of the ferm of the said lands for so long as they shall remain in Robert's custody, as the king has pardoned Nicholas, in consideration of a fine, the trespass made by him in acquiring for life the said rent of 53*s.* 4*d.* from the manor of Basynges from the said John, who held it of the king in chief, without the king's licence, and has granted that he may have and hold of him the rent for life by the services therefor due and accustomed. The king has ordered Alice, late the wife of John, to pay to Nicholas a third part of the rent out of the issues of the manor, which she holds in dower.

To the justices of the Bench. David, bishop of St. Asaph, has shewn the king that John de Cherleton and Hawisia his wife impleaded the bishop before the justices by the king's writ directed to the sheriff of Salop of this, that the bishop should permit John and Hawisia to present to the church of La Pole, and by another writ to the same sheriff that he should permit them to present to the church of Meyvot, and by a third writ that he should permit them to present to the church of Guldesfeld, and it was so far proceeded in these pleas that the parties have placed themselves upon inquisitions of the country, and although the aforesaid churches and the manor of La Pole, to which John and Hawisia assert that the advowsons pertain, are in the land of Pouwys without the body of the aforesaid county or the body of any other county, and those things that concern that land ought to be inquired by men of four like liberties or cantreds next adjoining that land, and not by men of the said county, nevertheless the justices intend to proceed to take the inquisitions aforesaid by the men of that county and by writs addressed to the sheriff as if the land was within his bailiwick, to the damage of the bishop and in peril of the disinheritance of his church of St. Asaph, wherefore he has prayed the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the justices, if they ascertain by inquisition, the assertion of the party complaining, or otherwise that the churches and manor are in the land of Pouwys without the body of the said county or any other county, as is aforesaid, to adjourn (continuatis) the matter between the parties from time to time according to their discretion, and to send to the king the tenor of the record and process aforesaid and this writ, so that he may assign some of his subjects to enquire into the premises by the oath of men of the like liberties and cantreds next adjoining the aforesaid land, so that, when the inquisitions have been returned, what ought to be done according to right may be done herein.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Elizabeth de Burgo, late the wife of Roger Damary, to be discharged and acquitted of 2,000 marks, for a fine in consideration whereof the late king, on 28 May, in the 12th year of his reign, granted to Roger the custody of the lands of Robert de Wylughby, tenant in chief of the late king, which were in the said king's hands by reason of the minority of John son and heir of Robert, and the marriage of the heir, which sum the treasurer and barons are exacting from Roger's lands, which Elizabeth now holds, although the late king, on 4 January, in the 15th year of his reign, caused the custody and marriage to be taken into his hands with the other lands, goods and chattels of Roger, because he was of the quarrel of Thomas, late earl of Lancaster, and although the said king received the profit of the custody and marriage in full, wherefore Elizabeth has besought the king to provide a remedy. It is provided that answer shall be made to the king for the custody of the lands from 28 May until 4 January aforesaid, according to the extent of the lands, which are extended at 36*l.* 13*s.* 7*d.* yearly after deducting the dower of Margaret, late the wife of the said Robert, as appears by the inquisition taken after Robert's death.

To John de Bolingbrok, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to Alice, late the wife of Roger Beler, and mother of Roger son of the said Roger, to whom the king has committed the custody of Roger's lands during the minority of her said son, the manors of Tibesshelf and Wynefeld, which the escheator has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of John de Heriz, and to deliver to her the issues thereof, to be kept for the use of her son aforesaid and of Margaret, daughter of Richard de la Rivere, the elder, receiving from her security to answer to the king for the issues in case they ought to pertain to him, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Heriz at his death held the manors aforesaid for life of the grant of Thomas de la Forde, clerk, and of Robert de Couland by fine levied in the late king's court, and that after his death the manors ought to revert to the said Roger son of Roger Beler and to the said Margaret, and to the heirs of their two bodies, and that the manor of Tibesshelf is held of the king by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee, and that the manor of Wynefeld is not held of the king.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Like order concerning the manor of Wydemerpol, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that the aforesaid John de Heriz held it for life in like manner, and that it ought to remain to Roger and Margaret as aforesaid, and that it is held of the king as of the honour of Peverel by the service of a quarter of a knight's fee.

Dec. 18.

To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of John de Cotes, who is insufficiently qualified.

*MEMBRANE 3.*Sept. 20.
Gloucester.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order to permit William de Grandi Sono* to have respite for his homage until Easter next, as the king has granted him this respite because he learns upon trustworthy evidence that he is so infirm and aged that he is unable to come to the king to do homage. By p.s. [2955.]

Nov. 12.
Kenilworth.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Rouerigge, co. Devon, and to restore the issues thereof, as the king—at the prosecution of Eleanor, late the wife of Nicholas de Cheygny, asserting that she and her husband acquired the manor from Gilbert de Knovill, to them and to Nicholas's heirs, and that the escheator has taken the manor into the king's hands, pretending that it is held of the king and that Nicholas and Eleanor had acquired it without the king's licence, although it is held of the dean and chapter of Rouen and not of the king in chief—ordered the escheator to make inquisition concerning the premises, and it is found by the inquisition that St. Edward the king granted by charter to the dean and chapter in frankalmoin the manor of Otery St. Mary's, whereof the said manor was a parcel, and that in the time of Henry III. the dean and chapter demised the manor of Rouerigge to William de Cheigny and Felicia his wife, to them and their heirs, by the service of one pound of wax at Michaelmas for all service, and that the said manor is worth 40s. yearly in all issues, and that it was taken into the king's hands solely for the aforesaid reason.

Nov. 17.
Kenilworth.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the late king, on 23 January, in the 5th year of his reign, granted to Robert de Holand the office of justice of Chester and the castles of Chester, Rothelan, issues thereof, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that John at his death held no lands in chief by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king.

Nov. 28.
Kenilworth.

To the same. Order to deliver to Alice, late the wife of Henry de Ditton of Harewell, as nearest [friend] of his heir, a messuage, a virgate of land, and two acres of meadow in Harewell, to be kept for the use of the said heir, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Henry at his death held the premises in chief by the service of rendering 1*d.* yearly for all services, and that he did not hold any other lands of the king by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king, and that Henry de Dutton, his son, is his next heir and is aged nine years.

Oct. 28.
Kenilworth.

To the same. Whereas the king learns by inquisition taken by the escheator that Robert, sometime archbishop of Canterbury, granted by charter to Elias le Pote 10 acres of land in Maideneston, rendering therefor 33*s.* 4*d.* to the archbishop in the manor of Maideneston, and that Walter, the late archbishop, granted to Master Michael de Bereham 80 acres of land in Bourn, rendering therefor 40*s.* yearly to him in the manor of Bourn, and that the lands thus granted were of the demesnes of the said manors, which are of the temporalities of the archbishopric, and that the lands are held of the king in chief as parcels of the said temporalities, and that the lands do not attain to the value of the rent wherewith they are thus charged: the king therefore orders the escheator not to intermeddle further with the said lands if they are in the king's hands solely by reason of the entry that Elias and Michael made in them, and to restore the issues thereof.

Nov. 25.
Kenilworth.

To the men of Bruge North. Order to deliver to Henry de Mortuo Mari, the king's yeoman, or to his attorney, of the king's gift, a book called 'porthers' that belonged to Richard de Shipton, chaplain, who slew himself in that town, as was found by an inquisition taken before the coroners of co. Salop, which book is forfeited to the king with other goods and chattels of Richard, and which was delivered to the said men by the coroners aforesaid to answer therefor to the king in the next eyre of the justices in those parts.

the king has restored them to Robert of his special grace. The sheriff is ordered not to molest him in any way by reason of the trespasses, etc., aforesaid. By K.

To the sheriff of Bedford. Like order, with additional clause ordering him to supersede the execution of the exigent to be outlawed, if Robert have been placed in exigent for the above reasons. By K.

To the sheriff of Lincoln. Like order for restitution of Robert's lands and issues, with additional order to release him if he have been arrested for the above reasons. By K.

Dec. 12.
Kenilworth.

To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London. Order to pay to John de Hanon[ia] or Dinus Forsetti and Peter Byne, and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi of Florence, his attorneys, 500 marks for Michaelmas term last, notwithstanding any other assignment upon the customs, the king having granted to him 1,000 marks yearly, on 7 February, in the first year of his reign, from the issues of that custom, and he wishes to provide for John's security, so that payment thereof to him shall not be hindered by any assignments.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent, or to his sub-escheator in co. Berks. Order not to distrain Robert, prior of St. Frideswide's, Oxford, for his fealty for the lands that he holds of the king, as he has done fealty.

The like to the said Simon, or to his sub-escheators in cos. Oxford and Buckingham.

Dec. 12.
Kenilworth.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause to be levied for the king's use all sums of money due by recognisances made in the late king's chancery to Edmund, late earl of Arundel, Hugh le Despenser, the elder, Hugh le Despenser, the younger, and Master Robert de Baldok, the king's enemies and rebels, which pertain to the king by reason of their forfeiture, the tenors of which recognisances the king caused to be delivered to them at the exchequer by Master Henry de Clyf, keeper of the rolls of chancery. Jan. 2.
Kenilworth.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to permit Robert de Staunton to pay the debts specified below by yearly instalments of 20*s.*, and to cause these terms to be enrolled, as he has shewn the king that he is indebted to him in 6*l.* for an imprest of the wardrobe, and 4*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* for divers amercements of the time when he was the late king's sheriff of Lincoln, and 10*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* for the arrears of the fermes that he was wont to render to the king for lands that he holds of the king in co. Derby, and he has prayed the king to grant that he may pay these sums at the aforesaid rate.
By p.a. [3178.]

Jan. 1.
Kenilworth.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the castles, manors, etc., specified below, which he has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Robert de Monte Alto, and to restore the issues thereof to Emma, late the wife of the said Robert, as the king granted licence to Robert to enfeof Master Henry de Clif, king's clerk, of the manor of Walton-on-Trent, co. Derby, of the manor of Cheilesmore, co. Warwick, of 107*l.* of yearly rent from the prior of Coventre, of the homage and service of the prior and his successors, of the castle and manor of Bisynge, co. Norfolk, and of the manor of Cassinglonde, co. Suffolk, which are held of the king in chief, and he also granted licence to Robert and Emma to enfeof the said Henry of the manors of Snetesham and Kenyngdale and of a quarter of the tollbooth (tolbothe) of Lenne, co. Norfolk, and of the manor of Frammesden, co. Suffolk, which are also held of the king in chief, and also granted special licence to Henry to give the premises, after he had had seisin thereof, to Robert and Emma and the heirs male of Robert's body, with remainder after their death, in default of such an heir, to Queen Isabella for her life, and after her death, to John de Eltham, the king's brother, and to the heirs of his body, with remainder over to the king, and fines to this effect were levied between Robert, Emma, and Henry before the justices of the Bench.

Like order to Nicholas de Acton, escheator in North Wales, concerning the castle, town, and manor of Mold (de Monte Alto) in Wales, which are held of the king in chief.

Jan. 1.
Kenilworth.

To the justices of the Bench. Joan, late the wife of Robert fitz Wauter, has shewn the king that she demands before the justices against John de Wanton, knight, a third of the manor of Wymbissh, co. Essex, as her dower of the freehold of her late husband, and John appeared before the justices by his attorney and said that Robert granted the manor to him for life, and bound him and his heirs to warranty, and he vouched to warranty John son and heir of the said Robert, a minor in the custody of Henry de Percy, and Henry, as keeper of the heir, afterwards came before the justices and said that he has the custody to two parts of the lands of the said Robert, tenant in chief, which are in the king's hands by reason of the heir's minority, during the heir's minority, rendering therefor 500 marks yearly to the exchequer, and proffered the king's letters patent before the justices testifying this, and alleged that he could not answer to the aforesaid John de Wanton concerning the warranty in the heir's name without the king, and hereupon he prayed for aid from the king, and that the justices have deferred proceeding further in the suit by reason of this allegation, wherefore Joan has besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed to do justice to the party, notwithstanding the said allegation.

By C.

The like to the said justices for Joan against William de Skelton and Constance his wife concerning a third of two messuages and of 200 acres of marsh in Burnham, co. Essex.

Dec. 29.
Kenilworth.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with 30 acres of waste of the abbot of Hales Owayn in Hales Owayn, and to restore the issues thereof to the abbot, as the escheator has returned that he found by an inquisition of office that the abbot and convent appropriated to them and their house the said waste after the publication of the statute of mortmain without royal licence, wherefore he took the waste into the king's hands, and the king afterwards ordered the escheator to make inquisition whether the abbot appropriated the said waste after the publication of the statute or whether his predecessors approved (appropiaverint) themselves thereof as of the wastes of their manor of Hales Owayn before the publication of the statute, and the escheator has returned that the abbot's predecessors approved themselves of the said 30 acres in their aforesaid manor lying in four plots near Rouleye before the publication of the statute, and not of the soil of the king's demesnes of Rouleye.

1330.

Jan. 1.
Kenilworth.

To Thomas de Chorlton, escheator in co. Chester. Order not to intermeddle further with the castle, manors, and stewardship specified below, which he has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Robert de Monte Alto, and to restore the issues thereof to Emma, late the wife of the said Robert, as the king granted licence to Robert to enfeof Master Henry de Clif of the castle and manor of Hawardyn with the stewardship of Chester and other appurtenances, and of the manors of Lee and Bosele, in the same county, which are held of the king as of that county, and he granted licence to Robert and Emma to enfeof Henry of the manor of Neston, in the same county, which is held of the king in chief, and also granted special licence to Henry to give the premises, after he had had seisin thereof, to Robert and Emma and to the heirs male of Robert's body, with remainder after their deaths, in default of such an heir, to Queen Isabella for her life, and after her death to John de Eltham, the king's brother, and to the heirs of his body, with remainder over to the king, and a fine to this effect has been levied in the king's court at Chester.

1329.

Dec. 28.
Kenilworth.

To John de Insula, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to pay to the janitor of both gates [of the castle] 4*d.* a day; to Alexander le Peyntour, one of the viewers of the king's works, 2*d.* a day; to Thomas le Rotour, another viewer of the king's works, 2*d.* a day; to John, the gardener of the king's garden without the castle, 2½*d.* a day; to four watchmen of the castle, 2*d.* a day each; to Robert de Wodeham, captain-forester of Wyndesore forest, 12*d.* a day; to Ralph de la More, clerk of the king's works in the castle, 2*d.* a day; to Ralph de Weston, keeper of Kenyngton park, 1½*d.* a day: being their wages and stipends from Michaelmas last until Michaelmas next.

been fully satisfied for the debts aforesaid, to permit Richard to hold the custom until they be fully satisfied, and also to cause Richard to have an assignment upon the custom, after the aforesaid debts have been satisfied, for the value of 300 tuns of wine, which the king lately ordered to be provided for the expenses of his household by Richard. By p.s. [3176.]

Jan. 11.
Worcester.

To the sheriff of Berks. Order to cause the abbot of Abyndon to have seisin of a messuage in Abyndon that John le Tannere held, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that John, who was outlawed for felony, held it of the abbot, and that it has been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that the abbot now holds it and has had the king's year and day thereof, for which he ought to answer to the king.

To the same. Order to cause the said abbot to have seisin of two messuages and 76s. of rent in Abyndon, as the king learns by inquisition taken by the sheriff that two messuages and 100s. of rent in Abyndon that John le Spicer of Abyndon, who was outlawed for felony, held have been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that John held the messuages and 76s. of the aforesaid rent of the abbot of Abyndon, and that the abbot now holds the messuage and the 76s. of rent, and that he has had the king's year and day thereof, and that he ought to answer to the king therefor.

Eltham.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of John de Sancto Johanne, tenant in chief, which he has taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Robert de Monte Alto, and to restore the issues thereof to Emma, late the wife of Robert, Roger de Watvill, Roger de . . . burgh, and William Goscelyn, executors of Robert's will, and to permit the executors to dispose of the said lands, so that they may answer to the king for the extent thereof, as the king granted the custody of the lands to Robert during the minority of John's heir, rendering therefor to the exchequer yearly the extent of the same.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Great Cotes, co. Lincoln, and the advowson of the church thereof, and to restore the issues thereof, as the escheator has returned that he learned from the information of trustworthy men that the manor with the advowson is held of the king in chief by knight service, and that Simon de Kinardele, now deceased, entered the manor without the king's licence, wherefore he took the manor into the king's hands, and that he afterwards superseded levying the issues thereof until further orders from the king because, having searched the book of fees of the exchequer, he found in that book that the manor is not held of the king immediately.

To the count of Flanders. The king has received complaint from Hugh Sampson, burgess of Southampton, that whereas he lately caused a ship of his called 'La Katherine' of Bayonne (Bayon), whereof Reymund Spiap was master, to be freighted with 180 tuns of wine of certain merchants of Gascony at Leyburn in Gascony, in order to carry the same to Le Swyne in Flanders, and the master and mariners of the ship took the ship and wines to that port, Peter Aymet and certain men of Normandy, pretending that the ship was theirs, procured its arrest with all its tackle without reasonable cause; and, as the king learns, there is a suit in the count's court before the burgomasters and échevins of La Muwe on La Swyne in Flanders concerning the purparty of the said ship, lately called 'La Portepaise' of Southampton, now 'La Katherine' of Bayonne, between the said Hugh and Peter and the men aforesaid, and it was so far proceeded in the action that the ship was judicially delivered to Hugh according to the law merchant, as appears by the process therein, and it is not consonant with right that judgments properly rendered should be brought back again into dispute; the king therefore requests the count to order the said process to be examined, and if he find that the ship was thus judicially delivered to Hugh, to cause the ship and its tackle to be released from arrest and delivered to the said merchant or his attorney in this behalf, so conducting himself in this matter that it may not behove the king to provide the merchant with another remedy through the count's default, certifying the king of his proceedings therein by his letters and by the bearer of the presents.

To the duke of Brittany. The king learns from the frequent complaints of the men and mariners of his realm that, after the reformation of peace between Charles, king of France, and the king, and after the proclamation made throughout their realms by the two kings that merchants might come into their realms with their goods without challenge or arrest, the duke's men and subjects have caused many merchants of the king's realm in passing the sea to the duchy and in returning thence to be arrested without reasonable cause, extorting grievous ransoms from them for their release, and do still presume to attempt the like, contrary to the form of the agreement aforesaid, whereat the king is moved, especially as it was agreed between the king of France and the king, as he believes the duke is aware, that certain persons should be appointed on both sides to enquire concerning the damages inflicted at sea heretofore, and to do speedy justice to those who are damaged, which matter is now being begun: the king therefore requests the duke to compel his men and subjects to desist wholly from inflicting such damages and grievances upon the king's subjects, and to compel them to restore those things that they have taken contrary to the form of the agreement aforesaid, and to inhibit them from inflicting damage upon merchants or others of the king's realm coming to places in the duke's dominions. If any of the duke's men wish to complain of damages inflicted upon them by men of the king's power, they are to come before the justices thus to be assigned, to expound their complaints and to receive justice, according to the form and effect of the agreement aforesaid. The king desires the duke to accede to this request with effect, so that contention may not arise, and that there may be no need to solicit the king of France for this cause, certifying the king by the bearer of these presents of his proceedings. To the king of Aragon. The king of Aragon's subject Reymund Cornelli has come to the king and has announced to him the prosperous estate of the king of Aragon's affairs, whereat the king rejoices, desiring to hear frequently of the good health of the king of Aragon. He informs the king of Aragon that at the date of the presents all was prospering with him and his subjects, as Reymund may explain more fully by word of mouth. As Reymund has always been a well-wisher to the king's house, as the king learns for certain, and was ready to serve efficaciously when opportune, the king has retained him of his council and familiarity by certain fixed stipends, saving always his fealty due to the king of Aragon, and has opened to him the secrets of his heart concerning certain things to be explained by him to the king of Aragon, whom the king desires to give credence to Reymund, and to write back to the king when he shall see fit. To Robert de Malberthorp and John de Cantebrigg, justices to take assizes in co. Lincoln. Gilbert de Aton has shewn the king that whereas he lately arraigned an assize of novel disseisin before the said justices against John de Britannia, earl of Richmond, and others named in the original writ concerning tenements in Manneby, Grymolby, and Salfetby, and Little Carleton, the earl, in pleading before them by his bailiff, alleged that he held the tenements of the grant of the late king, and hereupon profered certain letters patent dated 20 February, in the 8th year of the said king's reign, containing that the said king granted to him the manors of Manneby, Grimolby, and Salfetby, co. Lincoln, which belonged to William de Vescy of Kildare, deceased, tenant in chief of the said king, which were in the said king's hands, and which the earl prayed the said king to deliver to him as his escheat, because William held the said manors of him by knight service and died without an heir, to be held by the earl until other ordinance should be made, so that he should answer to the said king for the issues thereof, in case they ought to pertain to the said king, by reason whereof the earl asserted that he ought not to answer to Gilbert without the king; by pretext whereof the justices have deferred proceeding in the assize, wherefore Gilbert has prayed the king to provide a remedy; and it appears by the rolls of the late king's chancery that the said king, on 7 November, in the 20th year of his reign, took the homage of the said Gilbert, kinsman and heir of William de Vescy, the elder, then lately deceased, for all the lands that William de Vescy of Kyldare held of the said king in chief at his death, which ought to remain to the right heir of the said William the elder because William died without an heir of his body (de se), and that the late king rendered the lands to Gilbert: the king therefore orders the justices to proceed in the assize, and to do justice to the parties, notwithstanding the allegation aforesaid.

Dec. 3. To W. bishop of Norwich. Whereas the king has ordained, by the Kenilworth. advice of his council and out of the confidence that he has in the bishop's circumspection and fidelity, that the bishop shall go to France again upon the king's affairs wherewith he was charged at another time and whereof he has full knowledge, and the king has appointed with him Henry, earl of Lancaster, to whom he has written by letters of privy seal to intend to this matter together with the bishop, according to the information that the king will send to the bishop under his privy seal as speedily as it may be done in good manner by deliberate counsel, and the king has decided to send to the bishop and earl Master John Waleweyn and Master John de Shordich to assist them with counsels and aids: the king orders the bishop to prepare himself to set out for France, as the king ordered him at another time by letters under his privy seal, laying aside all excuse, so that he may be there at the day prefixed, as the bishop wrote to him more fully at another time. As to the other things contained in the bishop's letters, the king, in order to have fuller information concerning them, has ordered the prelates, magnates, and others of his council to be assembled at a certain day before Christmas next, and, when he has had their counsel and advice, he will ordain answers concerning all the articles contained in the bishop's letters, which answers he will send to the bishop in writing, together with letters committing power to the bishop and earl in this behalf.
As the king has, by reason of the shortness of time, sent his courier (cursorem)
John de Waltham with letters to the king of France in order to prorogue further the day aforesaid, and has enjoined John to be at Dover with the answer of the king of France seven or eight days before Christmas, the king wills that the bishop shall receive from John, when the latter shall arrive there or when he shall meet the bishop elsewhere, the letters that he shall bring from the king of France, and that the bishop shall open them upon this occasion, and that he shall make dispositions in all things for his journey according to what he shall find in the letters, whether the aforesaid day be prorogued or not, transmitting to the king by the said courier the said letters with his counsel and advice, and certifying the earl thereof as he shall see fit. In case prorogation of the day cannot be obtained, the king has explained his will to John de Insula, whom the king sends to him in this behalf, and who will explain it orally to the bishop, who is desired to give him credence. Concerning the expenses of the bishop and the others who are setting out for the said affairs, the king has ordered the treasurer to satisfy the bishop and them duly, so that the said affairs may not be delayed in any manner. By K.

To Simon de Bereford, escheator this side Trent. Whereas, upon its being found by inquisition taken by the escheator that Matilda, late the wife of James de la Plaunche, held for life at her death the manor of Haveresham, and that the manor ought to remain to William de la Plaunche, her son, and to the heirs of his body, by fine levied in the late king's court, and that it is held of the king as of the honour of Peverel by the service of one knight's fee of Mortain, and that she held no other lands of the king at her death, the king took William's homage for the manor, and rendered it to him, and ordered the escheator to deliver to him the manor, which was taken into the king's hands by reason of Matilda's death, and ordered him not to intermeddle further with the lands that she held at her death of other lords, and to restore the issues received from the lands thus held of other lords: the king now, for certain reasons, orders the escheator to supersede the demand made upon William for the issues of the manor whilst in the king's hands, upon William finding security to answer therefor at the exchequer at the quinzaine of Easter next.

CALENDARS OF STATE PAPERS, &c.

[IMPERIAL 8vo., cloth. Price 15s. each Volume or Part.]

As far back as the year 1800, a Committee of the House of Commons recommended that Indexes and Calendars should be made to the Public Records, and thirty-six years afterwards another Committee of the House of Commons reiterated that recommendation in more forcible words; but it was not until the incorporation of the State Paper Office with the Public Record Office that the Master of the Rolls found himself in a position to take the necessary steps for carrying out the wishes of the House of Commons.

On 7 December 1855, he stated to the Lords of the Treasury that although "the Records, State Papers, and Documents in his charge constitute the most complete and perfect series of their kind in the civilized world," and although "they are of the greatest value in a historical and constitutional point of view, yet they are comparatively useless to the public, from the want of proper Calendars and Indexes."

Their Lordships assented to the necessity of having Calendars prepared and printed, and empowered the Master of the Rolls to take such steps as might be necessary for this purpose.

The following Works have been already published in this Series:—

THE CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

[ROYAL 8VO. Price 10s. each Volume or Part.]

On 25 July 1822, the House of Commons presented an address to the Crown, stating that the editions of the works of our ancient historians were inconvenient and defective; that many of their writings still remained in manuscript, and, in some cases, in a single copy only. They added, "that an uniform and convenient edition of the whole, published under His Majesty's royal sanction, would be an undertaking honourable to His Majesty's reign, and conducive to the advancement of historical and constitutional knowledge; that the House therefore humbly besought His Majesty, that He would be graciously pleased to give such directions as His Majesty, in His wisdom, might think fit, for the publication of a complete edition of the ancient historians of this realm."

The Master of the Rolls, being very desirous that effect should be given to the resolution of the House of Commons, submitted to Her Majesty's Treasury in 1857 a plan for the publication of the ancient chronicles and memorials of the United Kingdom, and it was adopted accordingly.

Of the Chronicles and Memorials, the following volumes have been published. They embrace the period from the earliest time of British history down to the end of the reign of Henry VII.

1. THE CHRONICLE OF ENGLAND, by JOHN CAPGRAVE. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

Capgrave's Chronicle extends from the creation of the world to the year 1417. As a record of the language spoken in Norfolk (being written in English), it is of considerable value.

2. CHRONICON MONASTERII DE ABINGDON. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1858.

This Chronicle traces the history of the monastery from its foundation by King Ina of Wessex, to the reign of Richard I. The author had access to the title deeds of the house, and incorporates into his history various charters of the Saxon kings, of great importance as illustrating not only the history of the locality but that of the kingdom.

3. LIVES OF EDWARD THE CONFESSOR. I.—La Estoire de Seint Aedward le Rei. II.—Vita Beati Edvardi Regis et Confessoris. III.—Vita Aduuardi Regis qui apud Westmonasterium requiescit. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1858.

The first is a poem in Norman French, probably written in 1245. The second is an anonymous poem, written between 1440 and 1460, which is mainly valuable as a specimen of the Latin poetry of the time. The third, also by an anonymous author, was apparently written between 1066 and 1074.

4. MONUMENTA FRANCISCANA. Vol. I.—Thomas de Eccleston de Adventu Fratrum Minorum in Angliam. Adæ de Marisco Epistolæ. Registrum Fratrum Minorum Londoniæ. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. Vol. II.—De Adventu Minorum; re-edited, with additions. Chronicle of the Grey Friars. The ancient English version of the Rule of St. Francis. Abbreviatio Statutorum, 1451, &c. Edited by RICHARD HOWLETT, Barrister-at-Law. 1858, 1882.

The first volume contains original materials for the history of the settlement of the order of St. Francis in England, the letters of Adam de Marisco, and other papers. The second volume contains materials found since the first volume was published.

5. FASCICULI ZIZANIORUM MAGISTRI JOHANNIS WYCLIF CUM TRITICO. Ascribed to THOMAS NETTER, of WALDEN, Provincial of the Carmelite Order in England, and Confessor to King Henry the Fifth. Edited by the Rev. W. W. SHIRLEY, M.A., Tutor and late Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford. 1858.

This work gives the only contemporaneous account of the rise of the Lollards.

6. THE BUIK OF THE CRONICLIS OF SCOTLAND; OR, A METRICAL VERSION OF THE HISTORY OF HECTOR BOECE; by WILLIAM STEWART. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by W. B. TURNBULL, Barrister-at-Law. 1858.

This is a metrical translation of a Latin Prose Chronicle, written in the first half of the 16th century. The narrative begins with the earliest legends and ends with the death of James I. of Scotland, and the "evil ending of the traitors that slew him." The peculiarities of the Scottish dialect are well illustrated in this version.

7. JOHANNIS CAPGRAVE LIBER DE ILLUSTRIBUS HENRICIS. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

The first part relates only to the history of the Empire from the election of Henry I. the Fowler, to the end of the reign of the Emperor Henry VI. The second part is devoted to English history, from the accession of Henry I. in 1100, to 1446, which was the twenty-fourth year of the reign of Henry VI. The third part contains the lives of illustrious men who have borne the name of Henry in various parts of the world.

8. HISTORIA MONASTERII S. AUGUSTINI CANTUARIENSIS, by THOMAS OF ELMHAM, formerly Monk and Treasurer of that Foundation. Edited by CHARLES HARDWICK, M.A., Fellow of St. Catharine's Hall, and Christian Advocate in the University of Cambridge. 1858.

This history extends from the arrival of St. Augustine in Kent until 1191.

9. EULOGIUM (HISTORIARUM SIVE TEMPORIS): Chronicon ab Orbe condito usque ad Annum Domini 1366; a monacho quodam Malmesbiriensi exaratum. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by F. S. HAYDON, B.A. 1858-1863.

This is a Latin Chronicle extending from the Creation to the latter part of the reign of Edward III., and written by a monk of Malmesbury, about the year 1367. A continuation carries the history of England down to the year 1413.

10. MEMORIALS OF HENRY THE SEVENTH: Bernardi Andreæ Tholosatis Vita Regis Henrici Septimi; necnon alia quædam ad eundem Regem spectantia. Edited by JAMES GAIRDNER. 1858.

The contents of this volume are—(1) a life of Henry VII., by his poet Laureate and historiographer, Bernard André, of Toulouse, with some compositions in verse, of which he is supposed to have been the author; (2) the journals of Roger Machado during certain embassies to Spain and Brittany, the first of which had reference to the marriage of the King's son, Arthur, with Catharine of Arragon; (3) two curious reports by envoys sent to Spain in 1506 touching the succession to the Crown of Castile, and a project of marriage between Henry VII. and the Queen of Naples; and (4) an account of Philip of Castile's reception in England in 1506. Other documents of interest are given in an appendix.

11. MEMORIALS OF HENRY THE FIFTH. I.—Vita Henrici Quinti, Roberto Redmanno auctore. II.—Versus Rhythmici in laudem Regis Henrici Quinti. III.—Elmhami Liber Metricus de Henrico V. Edited by CHARLES A. COLE. 1858.

12. MUNIMENTA GILDHALLÆ LONDONIENSIS; Liber Albus, Liber Custumarum, et Liber Horn, in archivis Gildhallæ asservati. Vol. I., Liber Albus. Vol. II. (in Two Parts). Liber Custumarum. Vol. III., Translation of the Anglo-Norman Passages in Liber Albus, Glossaries, Appendices, and Index. Edited by HENRY THOMAS RILEY, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1859-1862.

The Liber Albus, compiled by John Carpenter, Common Clerk of the City of London in the year 1419, gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of that City in the 12th, 13th, 14th, and early part of the 15th centuries. The Liber Custumarum was compiled in the early part of the 14th century during the reign of Edward II. It also gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of the City of London in the 12th, 13th, and early part of the 14th centuries.

13. CHRONICA JOHANNIS DE OXENEDES. Edited by Sir HENRY Ellis, K.H. 1859.

Although this Chronicle tells of the arrival of Hengist and Horsa, it substantially begins with the reign of King Alfred, and comes down to 1292. It is particularly valuable for notices of events in the eastern portions of the Kingdom.

14. A COLLECTION OF POLITICAL POEMS AND SONGS RELATING TO ENGLISH HISTORY, FROM THE ACCESSION OF EDWARD III. TO THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1859-1861.

15. 'The "OPUS TERTIUM," "OPUS MINUS," &c. of ROGER BACON. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. 1859.

16. BARTHOLOMÆI DE COTTON, MONACHI NORWICENSIS, HISTORIA ANGLICANA; 449-1298; necnon ejusdem Liber de Archiepiscopis et Episcopis Angliæ. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge, 1859.

17. BRUT Y TYWYSGOGION; or, The Chronicle of the Princes of Wales. Edited by the Rev. JOHN WILLIAMS AB ITHEL, M.A. 1860.

This work, written in the ancient Welsh language, begins with the abdication and death of Caedwala at Rome, in the year 681, and continues the history down to the subjugation of Wales by Edward I., about the year 1282.

18. A COLLECTION OF ROYAL AND HISTORICAL LETTERS DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY IV. 1399-1404. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxford. 1860.

19. THE REPRESSOR OF OVER MUCH BLAMING OF THE CLERGY. By REGINALD PECOCK, sometime Bishop of Chichester. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1860.

The "Repressor" may be considered the earliest piece of good theological disquisition of which our English prose literature can boast. The author was born about the end of the fourteenth century, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in the year 1444, and translated to the see of Chichester in 1460. His work is interesting chiefly because it gives a full account of the views of the Lollards, and it has great value for the philologist.

20. ANNALES CAMBRIÆ. Edited by the Rev. JOHN WILLIAMS AB ITHEL, M.A. 1860.

These annals, which are in Latin, commenced in 447, and come down to 1288. The earlier portion appears to be taken from an Irish Chronicle used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Ulster.

21. THE WORKS OF GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by the Rev. J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. Vols. V.-VII. Edited by the Rev. JAMES F. DIMOCK, M.A., Rector of Barnburgh, Yorkshire. Vol. VIII. Edited by GEORGE F. WARNER, M.A., of the Department of MSS., British Museum. 1861-1891.

These volumes contain the historical works of Gerald du Barry, who lived in the reigns of Henry II., Richard I., and John. His works are of a very miscellaneous nature, both in prose and verse, and are remarkable for the anecdotes which they contain.

The Topographia Hibernica (in Vol. V.) is the result of Giraldus' two visits to Ireland the first in 1183, the second in 1185-6, when he accompanied Prince John into that country. The Expugnatio Hibernica was written about 1188, and may be regarded rather as a great epic than a sober relation of acts occurring in his own days. Vol. VI. contains the Itinerarium Cambriæ et Descriptio Cambriæ; and Vol. VII., the lives of S. Remigius and S. Hugh. Vol. VIII. contains the Treatise De Principum Instructione, and an Index to Vols. I.-IV. and VIII.

22. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE WARS OF THE ENGLISH IN FRANCE DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY THE SIXTH, KING OF ENGLAND. Vol. I., and Vol. II. (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1861-1864.

23. THE ANGLO-SAXON CHRONICLE, ACCORDING TO THE SEVERAL ORIGINAL AUTHORITIES. Vol. I., Original Texts. Vol. II., Translation. Edited and translated by BENJAMIN THORPE, Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences at Munich, and of the Society of Netherlandish Literature at Leyden. 1861.

There are at present six independent manuscripts of the Saxon Chronicle, ending in different years, and written in different parts of the country. In this edition, the text of each manuscript is printed in columns on the same page, so that the student may see at a glance the various changes which occur in orthography.

24. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE REIGNS OF RICHARD III. AND HENRY VII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by JAMES GAIRDNER. 1861-1863.

The principal contents of the volumes are some diplomatic Papers of Richard III., correspondence between Henry VII. and Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain; documents relating to Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk; and a portion of the correspondence of James IV. of Scotland.

25. LETTERS OF BISHOP GROSSETESTE. Edited by the Rev. HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1861.

The letters of Robert Grosseteste range in date from about 1210 to 1263, and relate to various matters connected not only with the political history of England during the reign of Henry III., but with its ecclesiastical condition. They refer especially to the diocese of Lincoln, of which Grosseteste was bishop.

26. DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. I. (in Two Parts); Anterior to the Norman Invasion. (Out of Print). Vol. II.; 1066-1200. Vol. III.; 1200-1327. By Sir THOMAS DUFFUS HARDY, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records. 1862-1871.

The object of this work is to publish notices of all known sources of British history, both printed and unprinted, in one continued sequence. The materials, when historical (as distinguished from biographical), are arranged under the year in which the latest event is recorded in the chronicle or history, and not under the period in which its author, real or supposed, flourished. Biographies are enumerated under the year in which the person commemorated died, and not under the year in which the life was written. A brief analysis of each work has been added when deserving it, in which original portions are distinguished from mere compilations. A biographical sketch of the author of each piece has been added, and a brief notice of such British authors as have written on historical subjects.

27. ROYAL AND OTHER HISTORICAL LETTERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE REIGN OF HENRY III. Vol. I., 1216-1235. Vol. II., 1236-1272. Selected and edited by the Rev. W. W. SHIRLEY, D.D., Regius Professor of Ecclesiastical History, and Canon of Christ Church, Oxford. 1862-1866.

28. CHRONICA MONASTERII S. ALBANI.—1. THOMÆ WALSINGHAM HISTORIA ANGLICANA; Vol. I., 1272-1381: Vol. II., 1381-1422. 2. WILLELMI RISHANGER CHRONICA ET ANNALES, 1259-1307. 3. JOHANNIS DE TROKELowe ET HENRICI DE BLANEFORDE CHRONICA ET ANNALES 1259-1296; 1307-1324; 1392-1406. 4. GESTA ABBATUM MONASTERII S. ALBANI, A THOMÆ WALSINGHAM, REGNANTE RICARDO SECUNDO, EJUSDEM ECCLESIE PRECENSTORE, COMPILATA; Vol. I., 793-1290: Vol. II., 1290-1349: Vol. III., 1349-1411. 5. JOHANNIS AMUNDESHAM, MONACHI MONASTERII S. ALBANI, UT VIDETUR, ANNALES; Vols. I. and II. 6. REGISTRA QUORUNDAM ABBATUM MONASTERII S. ALBANI, QUI SÆCULO XV<sup>mo</sup> FLORUERUNT; Vol. I., REGISTRUM ABBATIS JOHANNIS WHETHAMSTEDE, ABBATIS MONASTERII SANCTI ALBANI, ITERUM SUSCEPTÆ; ROBERTO BLAKENEY, CAPELLANO, QUONDAM ADSSCRIPTUM: Vol. II., REGISTRA JOHANNIS WHETHAMSTEDE, WILLELMI ALBON, ET WILLELMI WALINGFORDE, ABBATUM MONASTERII SANCTI ALBANI, CUM APPENDICE, CONTINENTE QUASDAM EPISTOLAS, A JOHANNES WHETHAMSTEDE CONSCRIPTAS. 7. YPODIGMA NEUSTRIÆ A THOMÆ WALSINGHAM, QUONDAM MONACHO MONASTERII S. ALBANI, CONSCRIPTUM. Edited by HENRY THOMAS RILEY, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1863-1876.

In the first two volumes is a History of England, from the death of Henry III. to the death of Henry V., by Thomas Walsingham, Precentor of St. Albans.

In the 3rd volume is a Chronicle of English History, attributed to William Rishanger, who lived in the reign of Edward I.: an account of transactions attending the award of the kingdom of Scotland to John Balliol, 1291-1292, also attributed to William Rishanger, but on no sufficient ground: a short Chronicle of English History, 1292 to 1300, by an unknown hand: a short Chronicle Willelmi Rishanger Gesta Edwardi Primi, Regis Angliæ, with Annales Regum Angliæ, probably by the same hand: and fragments of three Chronicles of English History, 1285 to 1307.

In the 4th volume is a Chronicle of English History, 1259 to 1296: Annals of Edward II., 1307 to 1323, by John de Trokelowe, a monk of St. Albans, and a continuation of Trokelowe's Annals, 1323, 1324, by Henry de Blanford: a full Chronicle of English History, 1392 to 1406; and an account of the Benefactors of St. Albans, written in the early part of the 15th century.

The 5th, 6th, and 7th volumes contain a history of the Abbots of St. Albans, 793 to 1411, mainly compiled by Thomas Walsingham: with a Continuation.

The 8th and 9th volumes, in continuation of the Annals, contain a Chronicle, probably by John Amundesham, a monk of St. Albans.

The 10th and 11th volumes relate especially to the acts and proceedings of Abbots Whetbamstede, Albou, and Wallingford.

The 12th volume contains a compendious History of England to the reign of Henry V., and of Normandy in early times, also by Thomas Walsingham, and dedicated to Henry V.

29. CHRONICON ABBATIS EYESHAMENSIS, AUCTORIBUS DOMINICO PRIORE EYESHAMIS ET THOMA DE MARLEBERGE ABBATE, A FUNDATIONE AD ANNUM 1213, UNA CUM CONTINUATIONE AD ANNUM 1418. Edited by the Rev. W. D. MACRAY, Bodleian Library, Oxford. 1863.

The Chronicle of Evesham illustrates the history of that important monastery from about 690 to 1418. Its chief feature is an autobiography, which makes us acquainted with the inner daily life of a great abbey. Interspersed are many notices of general, personal, and local history.

30. RICARDI DE CIRENCESTRIA SPECULUM HISTORIALE DE GESTIS REGUM ANGLIE. Vol. I., 447-871. Vol. II., 872-1066. Edited by JOHN E. B. MAYOR, M.A., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1863-1869.

Richard of Cirencester's history, in four books, extends from 447 to 1066. It gives many charters in favour of Westminster Abbey, and a very full account of the lives and miracles of the saints, especially of Edward the Confessor, whose reign occupies the fourth book. A treatise on the Coronation, by William of Sudbury, a monk of Westminster, fills book ii. c. 3.

31. YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD THE FIRST. YEARS 20-21, 21-22, 30-31, 32-33, and 33-35 Edw. I.; and 11-12 Edw. III. Edited and translated by ALFRED JOHN HORWOOD, Barrister-at-Law. Years 12-13, 13-14, 14-15, and 15, Edward III. Edited and translated by LUKE OWEN PIKE, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1863-1891.

The "Year Books" are the earliest of our Law Reports. They contain matter not only of practical utility to lawyers in the present day, but also illustrative of almost every branch of history, while for certain philological purposes they hold a position absolutely unique.

32. NARRATIVES OF THE EXPULSION OF THE ENGLISH FROM NORMANDY, 1449-1450.—Robertus Blondelli de Reductione Normanniæ: Le Reconqurement de Normandie, par Berry, Hérault du Roy: Conférences between the Ambassadors of France and England. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A. 1863.

33. HISTORIA ET CARTULARIUM MONASTERII S. PETRI GLOUCESTRIÆ. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by W. H. HART, F.S.A., Membre correspondant de la Société des Antiquaires de Normandie. 1863-1867.

34. ALEXANDRI NECKAM DE NATURIS RERUM LIBRI DUO; with NECKAM'S POEM, DE LAUDIBUS DIVINÆ SAPIENTIÆ. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1863.

In the De Naturis Rerum are to be found what may be called the rudiments of many sciences mixed up with much error and ignorance. Neckam had his own views in morals, and in giving us a glimpse of them, as well as of his other opinions, he throws much light upon the manners, customs, and general tone of thought prevalent in the twelfth century.

35. LEECHDOMS, WORTCUNNING, AND STARCRAFT OF EARLY ENGLAND; being a Collection of Documents illustrating the History of Science in this Country before the Norman Conquest. Vols. I., II., and III. Collected and edited by the Rev. T. OSWALD COCKAYNE, M.A. 1864-1866.

36. ANNALES MONASTICI. Vol. I.:—Annales de Margan, 1066-1232; Annales de Theokesberia, 1066-1263; Annales de Burton, 1004-1263. Vol. II.:—Annales Monasterii de Wintonia, 519-1277; Annales Monasterii de Waverleia, 1-1291. Vol. III.:—Annales Prioratus de Dunstaplia, 1-1297. Annales Monasterii de Bermundeseia, 1042-1432. Vol. IV.:—Annales Monasterii de Oseneia, 1016-1347; Chronicon vulgo dictum Chronicon Thomæ Wykes, 1066-1289; Annales Prioratus de Wigornia, 1-1377. Vol. V.:—Index and Glossary. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, and Registry of the University, Cambridge. 1864-1869.

The present collection embraces chronicles compiled in religious houses in England during the thirteenth century. These distinct works are ten in number. The extreme period which they embrace ranges from the year 1 to 1452.

37. MAGNA VITA S. HUGONIS EPISCOPI LINCOLNIENSIS. Edited by the Rev. JAMES F. DIMOCK, M.A., Rector of Barnburgh, Yorkshire. 1864.

This work is valuable, not only as a biography of a celebrated ecclesiastic but as the work of a man, who, from personal knowledge, gives notices of passing events, as well as of individuals who were then taking active part in public affairs.

38. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF THE REIGN OF RICHARD THE FIRST. Vol. I.:—ITINERARIUM PEREGRINORUM ET GESTA REGIS RICARDI. Vol. II.:—EPISTOLÆ CANTUARIENSIS; the Letters of the Prior and Convent of Christ Church, Canterbury; 1187 to 1199. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Vicar of Navestock, Essex, and Lambeth Librarian. 1864-1865.

The authorship of the Chronicle in Vol. I., hitherto ascribed to Geoffrey Vincomf, is now more correctly ascribed to Richard, Canon of the Holy Trinity of London.

In letters in Vol. II., written between 1187 and 1199, had their origin in a dispute which arose from the attempts of Baldwin and Hubert, archbishops of Canterbury, to found a college of secular canons, a project which gave great umbrage to the monks of Canterbury.

39. RECUEIL DES CHRONIQUES ET ANCIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BREITAIGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. I. Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. Edited by WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1879. Vol. IV., 1431-1447. Vol. V., 1447-1471. Edited by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1884-1891.

40. A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES AND ANCIENT HISTORIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 668. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. (Translations of the preceding Vols. I., II., and III.) Edited and translated by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1891.

41. POLYCHRONICON RANULPHI HIGDEN, with Trevisa's Translation. Vols. I. and II. Edited by CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Senior Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. Vols. III.-IX. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH RAWSON LUMBY, D.D., Norrisian Professor of Divinity, Vicar of St. Edward's, Fellow of St. Catharine's College, and late Fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge. 1865-1886.

This chronicle begins with the creation, and is brought down to the reign of Edward III. It enables us to form a very fair estimate of the knowledge of history and geography which well-informed readers of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries possessed, for it was then the standard work on general history.

The two English translations, which are printed with the original Latin, afford interesting illustrations of the gradual change of our language, for one was made in the fourteenth century, the other in the fifteenth.

42. LE LIVRE DE REIS DE BRITTANIE E LE LIVRE DE REIS DE ENGLETERRE. Edited by the Rev. JOHN GLOVER, M.A., Vicar of Brading, Isle of Wight, formerly Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1865.

These two treatises are valuable as careful abstracts of previous historians. Some various readings are given which are interesting to the philologist as instances of semi-Saxonised French.

43. CHRONICA MONASTERII DE MELSA AB ANNO 1150 USQUE AD ANNUM 1406. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by EDWARD AUGUSTUS BOND, Assistant Keeper of Manuscripts, and Egerton Librarian, British Museum. 1866-1868.

The Abbey of Meaux was a Cistercian house, and the work of its abbot is a faithful and often minute record of the establishment of a religious community, of its progress in forming an ample revenue, of its struggles to maintain its acquisitions, and of its relations to the governing institutions of the country.

44. MATTHEI PARISIENSIS HISTORIA ANGLORUM, SIVE, UT VULGO DICITUR, HISTORIA MINOR. Vols. I., II., and III. 1067-1253. Edited by Sir FREDERICK MADDEN, K.H., Keeper of the Manuscript Department of British Museum. 1866-1869.

45. LIBER MONASTERII DE HYDA: A CHRONICLE AND CHARTULARY OF HYDE ABBEY, WINCHESTER, 455-1023. Edited by EDWARD EDWARDS. 1866.

The "Book of Hyde" is a compilation from much earlier sources which are usually indicated with considerable care and precision. In many cases, however, the Hyde Chronicle appears to correct, to qualify, or to amplify the statements, which, in substance, he adopts.

There is to be found, in the "Book of Hyde," much information relating to the reign of King Alfred which is not known to exist elsewhere. The volume contains some curious specimens of Anglo-Saxon and mediæval English.

46. CHRONICON SCOTORUM: A CHRONICLE OF IRISH AFFAIRS, from the earliest times to 1185; and SUPPLEMENT, containing the Events from 1141 to 1150. Edited, with Translation, by WILLIAM MAUNSELL HENNESSY, M.R.I.A. 1866.

47. THE CHRONICLE OF PIERRE DE LANGTOFT, IN FRENCH VERSE, FROM THE EARLIEST PERIOD TO THE DEATH OF EDWARD I. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1866-1868.

It is probable that Pierre de Langtoft was a canon of Bridlington, in Yorkshire, and lived in the reign of Edward I., and during a portion of the reign of Edward II. This chronicle is divided into three parts; in the first, is an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth's "Historia Britonum;" in the second, a history of the Anglo-Saxon and Norman kings, to the death of Henry III.; in the third, a history of the reign of Edward I. The language is a curious specimen of the French of Yorkshire.

48. THE WAR OF THE GAEDHIL WITH THE GAILL, OR THE INVASIONS OF IRELAND BY THE DANES AND OTHER NORSEMEN. Edited, with a Translation, by the Rev. JAMES HENTHORN TODD, D.D., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, and Regius Professor of Hebrew in the University of Dublin. 1867.

The work in its present form, in the editor's opinion, is a comparatively modern version of an ancient original. The story is told after the manner of the Scandinavian Sagas.

49. GESTA REGIS HENRICI SECUNDI BENEDICTI ABBATIS. CHRONICLE OF THE REIGNS OF HENRY II. AND RICHARD I., 1169-1192, known under the name of BENEDICT OF PETERBOROUGH. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, Oxford, and Lambeth Librarian. 1867.

50. MUNIMENTA ACADEMICA, OR, DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF ACADEMICAL LIFE AND STUDIES AT OXFORD (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. HENRY ANSTRY, M.A., Vicar of St. Wendron, Cornwall, and lately Vice-Principal of St. Mary Hall, Oxford. 1868.

51. CHRONICA MAGISTRI ROGERI DE HOVEDENE. Vols. I., II., III., and IV. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1868-1871.

The earlier portion, extending from 732 to 1146, appears to be a copy of a compilation made in Northumbria about 1161, to which Hoveden added little. From 1146 to 1169—a very valuable portion of this work—the matter is derived from another source, to which Hoveden appears to have supplied little. From 1170 to 1192 is the portion which corresponds to some extent with the Chronicle known under the name of Benedict of Peterborough (see No. 46). From 1192 to 1201 may be said to be wholly Hoveden's work.

52. WILLELMI MALMESBURIENSIS MONACHI DE GESTIS PONTIFICUM ANGLORUM LIBRI QUINQUE. Edited by N. E. S. A. HAMILTON, of the Department of Manuscripts, British Museum. 1870.

53. HISTORIC AND MUNICIPAL DOCUMENTS OF IRELAND, FROM THE ARCHIVES OF THE CITY OF DUBLIN, &c. 1172-1320. Edited by JOHN T. GILBERT, F.S.A., Secretary of the Public Record Office of Ireland. 1870.

54. THE ANNALS OF LOCH CÉ. A CHRONICLE OF IRISH AFFAIRS, FROM 1041 to 1590. Vols. I. and II. Edited, with a Translation, by WILLIAM MAUNSELL HENNESSY, M.R.I.A. 1871.

55. MONUMENTA JURIDICA. THE BLACK BOOK OF THE ADMIRALTY, WITH APPENDICES, Vols. I.-IV. Edited by SIR TRAVERS TWISS, Q.C., D.C.L. 1871-1876.

This book contains the ancient ordinances and laws relating to the navy.

56. MEMORIALS OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VI.:—OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THOMAS BEKINTON, SECRETARY TO HENRY VI., AND BISHOP OF BATH AND WELLS. Edited by the Rev. GEORGE WILLIAMS, B.D., Vicar of Ringwood, late Fellow of King's College, Cambridge. Vols. I. and II. 1872.

57. MATTHÆI PARISIENSIS, MONACHI SANCTI ALBANI, CHRONICA MAJORA. Vol. I. The Creation to A.D. 1066. Vol. II. A.D. 1067 to A.D. 1316. Vol. III. A.D. 1316 to A.D. 1239. Vol. IV. A.D. 1240 to A.D. 1247. Vol. V. A.D. 1248 to A.D. 1259. Vol. VI. Additamenta. Vol. VII. Index. Edited by the Rev. HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, D.D., Fellow of Trinity College, Registry of the University, and Vicar of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge. 1872-1884.
58. MEMORIALE FRATRIS WALTERI DE COVENTRIA.—THE HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS OF WALTER OF COVENTRY. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1872-1873.
The part relating to the first quarter of the thirteenth century is the most valuable.
59. THE ANGLO-LATIN SATIRICAL POETS AND EPIGRAMMATISTS OF THE TWELFTH CENTURY. Vols. I. and II. Collected and edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A., Corresponding Member of the National Institute of France (Académie des Inscriptions et Belles-Lettres). 1872.
60. MATERIALS FOR A HISTORY OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VII., FROM ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS PRESERVED IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM CAMPBELL, M.A., one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools. 1873-1877.
61. HISTORICAL PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM THE NORTHERN REGISTERS. Edited by the Rev. JAMES BAINE, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surtees Society. 1873.
62. REGISTRUM PALATINUM DUNELMENSE. THE REGISTER OF RICHARD DE KELLAWE, LORD PALATINE AND BISHOP OF DURHAM; 1311-1316. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by Sir THOMAS DUFFUS HARDY, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records. 1873-1878.
63. MEMORIALS OF SAINT DUNSTAN, ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1874.

65. THÓMAS SAGA ERKIBYSKUPS. A LIFE OF ARCHBISHOP THOMAS BECKET, IN ICELANDIC. Vols. I. and II. Edited, with English Translation, Notes, and Glossary by M. EIRÍKUR MAGNÚSSON, M.A., Sub-Librarian of the University Library, Cambridge. 1875-1884.
66. RADULPHI DE COGGESHALL CHRONICON ANGLICANUM. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A. 1875.
67. MATERIALS FOR THE HISTORY OF THOMAS BECKET, ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY. Vols. I.-VI. Edited by the Rev. JAMES CRAIGIE ROBERTSON, M.A., Canon of Canterbury. 1875-1883. Vol. VII. Edited by JOSEPH BRIGSTOCKE SHEPPARD, LL.D. 1885.
The first volume contains the life of that celebrated man, and the miracles after his death, by William, a monk of Canterbury. The second, the life by Benedict of Peterborough; John of Salisbury; Alan of Tewkesbury; and Edward Grim. The third, the life by William Fitzstephen; and Herbert of Bosham. The fourth, anonymous lives, Quadri-logus, &c. The fifth, sixth, and seventh, the Epistles, and known letters.
68. RADULFI DE DICETO DECANI LUNDONIENSIS OPERA HISTORICA. THE HISTORICAL WORKS OF MASTER RALPH DE DICETO, DEAN OF LONDON. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1876.

The abbreviations Chronicorum extend to 1147 and the Ymagines Historiarum to 1201.

69. ROLL OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE KING'S COUNCIL IN IRELAND, FOR A PORTION OF THE 16TH YEAR OF THE REIGN OF RICHARD II. 1392-93. Edited by the Rev. JAMES GRAVES, A.B. 1877.

- This Register derives its name from containing the statutes, rules, and orders made or compiled by S. Osmund, to be observed in the Cathedral and diocese of Salisbury.
79. CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vols. I.-III. Edited by WILLIAM HENRY HART, F.S.A., and the Rev. PONSONBY ANNESLEY LYONS. 1884-1893.
80. CHARTULARIES OF ST. MARY'S ABBEY, DUBLIN, WITH THE REGISTER OF ITS HOUSE AT DUNBRODY, COUNTY OF WEXFORD, AND ANNALS OF IRELAND, 1162-1370. Edited by JOHN THOMAS GILBERT, F.S.A., M.R.I.A. Vols. I. and II. 1884, 1885.
81. EADMERI HISTORIA NOVORUM IN ANGLIA, ET OFUSCULA DUO DE VITA SANCTI ANSELMI ET QUIBUSDAM MIRACULIS EJUS. Edited by the Rev. MARTIN RULE, M.A. 1884.
82. CHRONICLES OF THE REIGNS OF STEPHEN, HENRY II., AND RICHARD I. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by RICHARD HOWLETT, Barrister-at-Law. 1884-1890.

Vol. I. contains Books I.-IV. of the Historia Rerum Anglicarum of William of Newburgh. Vol. II. contains Book V. of that work, the continuation of the same to A.D. 1298, and the Draco Normannicus of Etienne de Rouen.

Vol. III. contains the Gesta Stephani Regis, the Chronicle of Richard of Hexham, the Relatio de Standardo of St. Aelfred of Rievaulx, the poem of Jordan Fantosme, and the Chronicle of Richard of Devises.

Vol. IV. contains the Chronicle of Robert of Torigni.

83. CHRONICLE OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY, M.A., F.S.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxon. 1886.

84. CHRONICA ROGERI DE WENDOVER, SIVE FLORES HISTORIARUM. Vols. I.-III. Edited by HENRY GAY HEWLETT, Keeper of the Records of the Land Revenue. 1886-1889.

This edition gives that portion only of Roger of Wendover's Chronicle which can be accounted an original authority.

85. THE LETTER BOOKS OF THE MONASTERY OF CHRIST CHURCH, CANTERBURY, Edited by JOSEPH BRIGSTOCKE SHEPPARD, LL.D. Vols. I.-III., 1887-1889.

The Letters printed in these volumes were chiefly written between 1296 and 1333.

86. THE METRICAL CHRONICLE OF ROBERT OF GLOUCESTER. Edited by WILLIAM ALDIS WRIGHT, M.A., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. Parts I. and II., 1887.

The date of the composition of this Chronicle is placed about the year 1300. The writer appears to have been an eye witness of many events which he describes. The language in which it is written was the dialect of Gloucestershire at that time.

87. CHRONICLE OF ROBERT OF BRUNNE. Edited by FREDERICK JAMES FURNIVALL, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. Parts I. and II. 1887.

Robert of Brunne, or Bourne, co. Lincoln, was a member of the Gilbertine Order established at Sempringham. His Chronicle is described by its editor as a work of fiction, a contribution not to English history, but to the history of English.

88. ICELANDIC SAGAS AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vol. I. Orkneyinga Saga, and Magnus Saga. Vol. II. Hakonar Saga, and Magnus Saga. Edited by GUDBRAND VIGFUSSON, M.A. 1887. Vols. III. and IV. Translations of the above by Sir GEORGE WEBBE DASENT, D.C.L.

WORKS PUBLISHED IN PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY.

DOMESDAY BOOK, or the GREAT SURVEY OF ENGLAND OF WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, 1086; fac-simile of the Part relating to each county, separately (with a few exceptions of double counties). Photozincographed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, by Colonel Sir HENRY JAMES, R.E., F.R.S., &c., DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, under the Superintendence of W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. 35 Parts, imperial quarto and demy quarto (1861-1863), boards.

Domesday Survey is in two parts or volumes. The first in folio, contains the counties of Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Cambridge, Chester, and Lancaster, Cornwall, Derby, Devon, Dorset, Gloucester, Hants, Hereford, Herts, Huntingdon, Kent, Leicester and Rutland, Lincoln, Middlesex, Northampton, Nottingham, Oxford, Salop, Somerset, Stafford, Surrey, Sussex, Warwick, Wilts, Worcester, and York. The second volume, in quarto, contains the counties of Essex, Norfolk and Suffolk.

Domesday Book was printed verbatim et literatim during the last century, in consequence of an address of the House of Lords to King George III. in 1767. It was not, however, commenced until 1773, and was completed early in 1783. In 1860, Her Majesty's Government with the concurrence of the Master of the Rolls, determined to apply the art of photozincography to the production of a fac-simile of Domesday Book.

FAC-SIMILES OF NATIONAL MANUSCRIPTS, from WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR to QUEEN ANNE, selected under the direction of the Master of the Rolls and Photozincographed, by Command of Her Majesty, by Colonel Sir HENRY JAMES, R.E., F.R.S., DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, and edited by W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. Price, each Part, with translations and notes, double foolscap folio, 16s.

Part I. (William the Conqueror to Henry VII.). 1865. (Out of print.)

Part II. (Henry VII. and Edward VI.). 1866.

Part III. (Mary and Elizabeth). 1867.

Part IV. (James I. to Anne). 1868.

The first Part extends from William the Conqueror to Henry VII., and contains autographs of the kings of England, as well as of many other illustrious personages famous in history, and some interesting charters, letters patent, and state papers. The second Part for the reigns of Henry VIII. and Edward VI., consists principally of holograph letters, and autographs of kings, princes, statesmen, and other persons of great historical interest, who lived during those reigns. The third Part contains similar documents for the reigns of Mary and Elizabeth, including a signed bill of Lady Jane Grey. The fourth Part concludes the series, and comprises a number of documents taken from the originals belonging to the Constable of the Tower of London; also several records illustrative of the Gunpowder Plot, and a woodcut containing portraits of Mary Queen of Scots and James VI., circulated by their adherents in England, 1580-3.

FAC-SIMILES OF ANGLO-SAXON MANUSCRIPTS. Photozincographed, by Command of Her Majesty, upon the recommendation of the Master of the Rolls, by the DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, Lieut.-General J. CAMERON, R.E., C.B., F.R.S., and edited by W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. Part I. Price 2l. 10s.

The Anglo-Saxon MSS. represented in this volume from the earlier portions of the collection of archives belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, and consist of a series of 25 charters, deeds, and wills, commencing with a record of proceedings at the first Synodal Council of Clovesho in 742, and terminating with the first part of a tripartite chirograph of the sixth year of the reign of Edward the Confessor.

FAC-SIMILES OF ANGLO-SAXON MANUSCRIPTS. Photozincographed, by Command of Her Majesty, upon the recommendation of the Master of the Rolls, by the DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, Major-General A. COOKE, R.E., C.B., and collected and edited by W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. Part II. Price 3l. 10s.

(Also, separately. Edward the Confessor's Charter. Price 2s.)

The originals of the Fac-similes contained in this volume belong to the Deans and Chapters of Westminster, Exeter, Wells, Winchester, and Worcester; the Marquis of Bath, the Earl of Ilchester, Winchester College, Her Majesty's Public Record Office, Bodleian Library, Somersetshire Archaeological and Natural History Society's Museum in Taunton Castle, and William Salt Library at Stafford. They consist of charters and other documents granted by, or during the reigns of, Baldred, Æthelred, Offa, and Burgred, Kings of Mercia; Uhtred of the Hwiccas, Ceadwalla and Ini of Wessex; Æthelwulf, Eadward the Elder, Æthelstan, Eadmund the First, Eadred, Eadwig, Eadgar, Eadward the Second, Æthelred the Second, Cnut, Eadward the Confessor, and William the Conqueror, embracing altogether a period of nearly four hundred years.

FAC-SIMILES OF ANGLO-SAXON MANUSCRIPTS. Photozincographed, by Command of Her Majesty, upon the recommendation of the Master of the Rolls, by the DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, Colonel R. H. STOTHERD, R.E., C.B., and collected and edited by W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Keeper of Her Majesty's Records. Part III. Price 6l. 6s.

This volume contains fac-similes of the Ashburnham collection of Anglo-Saxon Charters, &c., including King Alfred's Will. The MSS. represented in it, range from A.D. 697 to A.D. 1161, being charters, wills, deeds, and reports of Synodal transactions during the reigns of Kings Wihtred of Kent, Offa, Eardwulf, Coenwulf, Cuthred, Beornwulf, Æthelwulf, Ælfred, Eadward the Elder, Eadmund, Eadred, Queen Eadgifu, and Kings Eadgar, Æthelred the Second, Cnut, Henry the First, and Henry the Second. In addition to these are two belonging to the Marquis of Anglesey, one of them being the Foundation Charter of Bur' on Abbey by Æthelred the Second with the testament of its great benefactor Wulfic.
